Lessons from year-round schools

School buildings that sit idle for nearly three months of every year throughout our land have often resulted in calls for year-round class schedules. Some school districts, often in large, prosperous cities, have eyed such pilot programs, to better utilize facilities being used at only 75% of capacity. However, most school leaders and school boards have resisted changing the traditional 9½-month school year. Since families and, indeed, entire communities build their plans around that familiar schedule, who wants to cause anxiety by rocking the boat and changing the status quo?

The Los Angeles Unified School District is perhaps the largest district in our nation which will institute a year-round school calendar in 1989. The LA folks aren't doing so to increase the educational access for students, however.

This week's THUMB AREA

OUTDOOR REPORT

Some duck hunters are lucky, and then there's Bob Salbenblatt of Saginaw. Bob, a dedicated marsh hunter who spends each weekend duck hunting in the Sebawaing area, had a rare occurrence this duck season. He bagged a nice Greenhead a couple of weeks ago and found it had 2 bands on its leg. The first was the ordinary, silver Fish & Wildlife band most of us have seen on different occasions. The other band was green and besides a number was embossed with the following words: REWARD $400. Bob thought it might be a joke so he called Washington, DC and was pleasantly surprised when they told him the check was in the mail. Bob's only comment was "I guess us city slickers have to come up here and show you locals how to kill the valuable ducks."

Deer hunters are reminded that legislation passed in 1986 provides them with an opportunity to purchase a second buck deer license again this year. This holds true for archery, firearm and muzzleloading seasons in the Lower Peninsula. The second license will cost you $12.85 unless you're a junior archer, then it is only $6.60. Last year, DNR officials estimated 26,000 deer were taken with the second license.

The camping season is near its end and a record 24.2 million people visited Michigan state parks this year. State Park attendance was up 6% over last year and this year's figure broke the 1978 record count of 23.6 million people. The figures revealed that 22% of the visitors were campers.

Faced with a huge classroom shortage, the district will spread out classes over 12 months to get better use of existing buildings -- rather than construct new schools.

But lack of classrooms isn't the only reason to question -- and perhaps change -- our existing school year calendar. The best reason possible to provide more classroom time to better teach youngsters, in preparation for a more successful journey down the road of life.

Every single comparison test pitting our educational system with that of, say, Japan or European countries calls the U.S.A. poorer in school training. In readying students for work or higher education, we're nearly a dozen countries down the list from the very best. And our children deserve better than that!

By trading the luxury of long summer vacations for more learning time, we'll all be much the wiser. Such a plan wouldn't be without expense, though -- since no one now working 9½ months would willingly work two months longer for the same pay. But isn't it worth pursuing?

The 1989 LA school calendar should provide a good test about how youngsters -- and parents -- adapt to a much-reduced summer vacation. It calls for students to attend school for two months, then have 20 days off before returning for another two months.

So, the summer vacation will become a thing of the past -- but the opportunity for greater learning should flourish!

After all, if vacations can be successfully turned into learning times for the sake of better building efficiency, it's also conceivable that more schooling -- featuring better academic opportunity -- will do even more to greatly aid youngsters who need all the help they can get to face the future properly.

Marijuana worth an estimated $840,000 was seized last weekend from a Vassar area address, believed to be the largest pot processing operation ever located in Tuscola County. Sheriff's Deputies say a grading, drying and shipping system in a partly-built house included 20 packing boxes plus more than 1100 bundles of marijuana plants attached to drying ropes.

At least 700 pounds of "grass" was found in the house, with an average street value of $700 per pound. Arrests are being made and investigation is continuing.

Fire caused up to $8000 in damages Thursday to a home owned by William Purcell of Caseville, located four miles northeast of Caseville in Foster's Subdivision. Four miles Firemen were called about 5 p.m., after Purcell's children heard a noise in the basement, believed caused by a water heater leak. No injuries were reported and most damage occurred in the basement, with smoke damage through the house.

A fire apparently started by a faulty electrical cord damaged a bedroom at the Dean Weisenbach home of Cass City's Elkland Township Fire Dept. responded and confined the damage to one room.

This was the second fire the family has endured in the past 15 months, after three Weisenbach children died when the family home burned in Sebawaing Aug. 17, 1986.

Be a part of something good!

Laker FFA students and the people who deliver Meals on Wheels have a lot in common. They both are a part of something good. Next Tuesday, Nov. 3, when the Laker FFA again canvasses the entire school district for CROP and Meals on Wheels, the students will be participating in something good as they raise funds for the hungry.

Meals on Wheels volunteers pick up hot meals ably prepared and packaged by the kitchen staff at Scheurer Hospital. Then they spread out over the community, paying calls on senior citizens who benefit from warm smiles, words of concern and a hot dinner. Their good deeds are made possible by contributions of all kinds, including the over $2,000 that the FFA raised in last year's CROP Drive.

Somewhere in the African country of Mozambique, Thumb area beans are being distributed to needy families. Seventy-five thousand pounds of kidney beans were shipped to that country from Pigeon in late June. Right now Mozambique is listed as the worst place in the world to live. Farmers and families have not been able to plant crops and gardens. There is much terrorist activity throughout the country and one out of every four people is displaced from his or her home. Just think how welcome those sacks of beans must be when they are handed to a mother and father who have no idea where the day's food will come from!

So what have we here? We have an opportunity this Tuesday to be a part of something good! Through meals delivered with a warm smile, through food for relief and development overseas, through a student effort that continues year after year, something good happens not just here in the Thumb, but in countries all over the world.

Be a part of something good this fall. Give to the CROP Drive next Tuesday. Help send beans to the hungry and hot meals to the oldsters in our area. By doing so, you will also be a part of something good!

RECOLLECTIONS or By-Gone Days
By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR: I suppose some people think that I just live in the past and don't get around to see new things. Well, I do get around some to see a few things.

Last week I was in Sebawaing to an auction sale and saw a lot of friends. I knew a lot of people there, although there were a few I didn't know. One lady asked me if I was the gentleman who writes in the paper and I said I was. I even read my own articles once in awhile!

I bought a few things I didn't need but I had a very good time. I saw Walt Rummel there and he bought some things, too. On Sunday I went to church and heard both ends of a good sermon. I had a very good Sunday School lesson on how Sarah had a baby when she was 90 years old. The Bible sure has some very interesting stories that are true. That's more than I can say for a lot of the books I've read.

I went to the VFW Hall for a dinner of pancakes and sausages. When they saw me coming they made me such a big pancake that they had to put it on a tray! People said, "You'll never eat all of that!" Mrs. Frank Strauch sat across the table from me and said, "He'll get it all eaten. Well, if you cut it up it was only about as big as four good-sized cakes."

Mrs. Strauch's father, the late Archie Smith, was my foreman in the quarry back in the 1960s, and was a very good one, too.

I had a nice visit with Paul Strauch about how we used to haul our beans into the barn and thrash them in the winter time, then we stacked them. Back in those days if you didn't haul them in the barn, they said you were lazy and now if you did that, they'd say you were crazy.

They both were right! Don Weiss sat across the table from me and before he was born, I worked for his Dad and his mother and I shucked corn in the Fall of 1926. That's 60 years ago and a lot of things have happened since then.

I drove around a little on Sunday afternoon and went to church on Sunday evening. Michigan Avenue Menomite Church gave us a program on "Worship" and they gave us an opportunity to tell of a worship experience. Well, as long as I can remember, my parents always went to church and saw to it that we children always went, too. Even now if I miss a Sunday in church, the rest of the week doesn't seem right.

It's 'Pumpkin Math'

These second grade students of Mrs. Elaine Weidman and Mrs. Faith Denning at Elkon Elementary had fun learning "Pumpkin Math" on a recent school day.

With the help of mothers, each student learned about their pumpkin in pounds, height, inches around, and then drew faces and carved their pumpkins. Students put the seeds in piles of 10 and found that most of them had over 500 seeds!

Caseville okays contract

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

At last Monday's regular monthly meeting, Caseville School Board approved a new, two-year teacher contract. Caseville teachers will receive a 5.5% increase this year, with a 6% increase to take effect in the 1988-89 school year, according to Superintendent James Stahl. He pointed out the 5.5% raise for the present year was determined by computing the average of five Huron County school districts that have contracts in effect at the present time.

The pay raises will boost salaries to $17,395 for a BA and no experience to $18,594. A BA with 11 years experience will earn $27,561 during the 1987-88 year.

In 1988-89, salaries will range from $18,440 for a BA with no experience to $29,215 for a BA with 10 years experience, Stahl says.

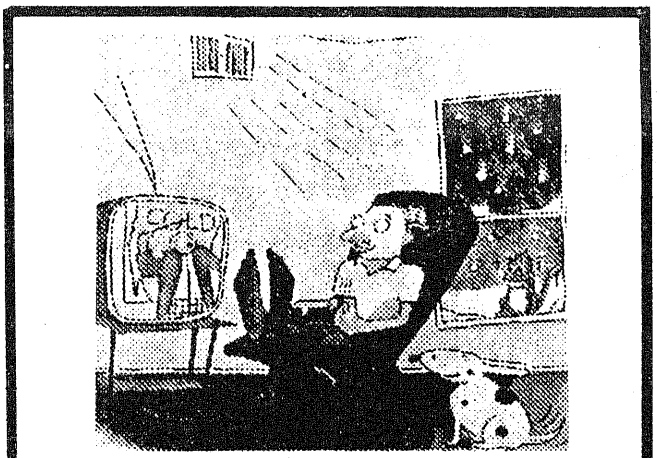

APPOINTED: Board appointed Donald A. Cieslinski to fill the Caseville Board seat vacated by the recent death of Robert Kundinger. Cieslinski is the only person on the Caseville School Board Stahl says he can recall who also attended there as a student.

Hired: Board approved the following coaching assignments: Shawn McGuire, varsity boys basketball; Robert Merlington, JV boys basketball; James Burnor, seventh and eighth grade boys basketball; Cheryl Wascher, varsity volleyball, and Pam Adler, JV volleyball.

NEW BUS: Board accepted the low bid of four received for a new school bus. The bid of $33,441 of McFadden Corporation of Lansing was approved for purchase of a 65-passenger diesel bus with a Wayne body and International chassis.

OTHER BIZ: Board also: Authorized Stahl to seek bids for snowplowing services this winter, and Authorized Stahl to hire security guards for the school property during Halloween week as in past years.

Relax... It's Taken Care Of

Those dog-gone heating problems are over and I'm really waggin' my tail! My master didn't used to be so relaxed and warm. He could never find a reliable service company. And he'd get so mad when the big utility bills came.

When he finally called our local Lennox dealer, they said, "Relax -- it's taken care of!" And it is, with Planned Service. Now our furnace is always clean and tuned up. If we have a problem we get priority service. And my master really saves on energy costs. Yeah, it's really great now. I'm man's best friend -- but so is Planned Service! Planned Service can be your best friend too -- just call today for details.

Big plays lift Lakers to TBA title win

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
"You've Got to Have Heart" is the song that seems to sum up Laker Coach Bill McLellan's feelings about the key to his team's 36-30 grid victory last Friday over league rival North Branch. The victory gave Lakers an outright Thumb B Association championship for the second consecutive year.

"We really found some heart in the second half. That's as hard as we've played in a lot of weeks," said McLellan after the final whistle sounded.

Following two early Laker turnovers, North Branch built an 18-6 lead causing Laker supporters anxious moments. The visiting Broncos also moved the ball steadily up the middle of the field with running plays as North Branch controlled the line of scrimmage.

The second half, however, was a different story as Lakers slowed the Bronco ground game by sheer determination and rebounded from a 24-20 halftime deficit to win the game.

HARD HITS: Despite North Branch bringing a 2-4 league record into the game, the hard-hitting, physical play of the contest followed the pattern of games between the two schools.
"If anybody thought it was going to be any different, they've never been to one of our ball games. I knew they were coming in here gunning," declared McLellan.

A Laker fumble on the second play of the game set up the first North Branch touchdown and bolstered Bronco confidence. The home team struck right back on the next possession with a tying touchdown.

BIG PLAYS: Once again big plays played a key role in the Laker victory. The first Green Machine touchdown was sparked by a 36-yard pass from Jay Anthes to Jeff Sturm. Dean Roested then scampered 16 yards on an option pitch for the touchdown.

The Broncos responded with a 55-yard scoring drive with 1:16 remaining in the opening quarter. They added to their lead seconds later after recovering another Laker fumble just 37 yards from paydirt. They widened the lead to 18-6 early in the second quarter with their first pass attempt of the game which covered 33 yards for a touchdown.

Lakers responded immediately with another big play as Paul Elenbaum took the handoff on the reverse of the ensuing kickoff return and raced up the sidelines for an 80-yard touchdown.
The Broncos then turned the tables with a 69-yard scoring drive to boost the lead to 24-13.

A big Laker play again answered the grinding North Branch ground game as the Green Machine narrowed the deficit. A 65 yard pass from Anthes to Elenbaum pulled Lakers to within four points at halftime.

The big play role for Lakers shifted to Jeff Sturm in the second half. He the go ahead touchdown for Lakers on an 18 yard pass at 4:13 of the third quarter. After the Laker defense stopped the Broncos on their next drive, Sturm set up another Laker score with a 41 yard punt return.

Shawn Parrish covered the final two yards for Lakers' final touchdown.
North Branch scored one last touchdown with 5:29 remaining in the game. The Laker defense then stiffened to prevent any more scoring in the game.

WINNING MARGIN: The game was decided in Lakers' favor on points scored with the clock stopped after touchdowns as both teams crossed the goal line five times. Kendall Wertz booted two points after touchdown and had one blocked. The other four Laker points were scored on two fake PAT kicks and successful passes to Mark Kretschmer.

North Branch was unsuccessful on two PAT kicks, two PAT runs and a PAT pass.
CONTRAST: The importance of big plays to Lakers can be seen in the statistics. North Branch rolled up 204 yards on the ground, compared to just 98 yards for Lakers.

Through the air, Anthes completed 10 of 19 passes for 186 yards and a pair of touchdowns. North Branch quarterback Ron Hunt completed two of seven aeriels for 49 yards and one touchdown.

Shawn Parrish was the leading Laker rusher with 42 yards. The defense was led by Kel Hill with 16 tackles and Jody Caverly with 13.

The contrasting styles was summed up by Bronco Coach Don Smeznik who said, "There was no two ways about it. We were going to beat them off the line and they were going to throw the ball. They beat us last year the same way."
He pointed to bad breaks this season as the reason for his team's losing record this year.
"We have self-destructed in everything that we've lost. Nobody's really beat us. We're a good football team. We're probably the best 26 team around," he added.

McLellan praised his team for refusing to let down after trailing early in the game and also credited North Branch for their powerful running game.
"I knew it was going to be that kind of game. They've been pounding on everybody like that. Early in the year they just got off to a bad start," McLellan said.

THIS WEEK: Lakers could face the same type of game this Friday at Harbor Beach. The 6-2 Pirates feature good runners in a power football attack.
"They're going to be tougher than a bugger," McLellan predicts.

JVs WIN: The Laker junior varsity football successfully battled the weather as well as the Broncos to post a 7-6 victory last Thursday at North Branch.
On a snow-covered field, Lakers trailed for most of the game after a first-quarter North Branch touchdown. A 60-yard touchdown pass from Billy McLellan to Danny Gonzales knotted the score with 1:24 remaining in the game. McLellan then booted the PAT to give Lakers the win.

Dutch Seley was the leading Laker rusher with 75 yards and also registered eight tackles. Danny Dubs was also credited with eight tackles.
The Laker jayvees are now 5-2 in league play and 5-3 overall.

AERIAL ATTACK: Laker quarterback Jay Anthes delivers one of his 19 passes in the game against North Branch.

North Branch traps Laker cagers in battle for league lead

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

The Laker cagers slipped into second place in the Thumb B standings with a narrow, 51-47, defeat at the hands of North Branch last Tuesday. Both teams brought undefeated league records into the game.

Particularly disappointing for Lakers was the fact that they gave up a 31-19 halftime lead after dominating the Broncos in the first half.

DEFENSIVE STRATEGY: North Branch coach Tim Zeeman sandbagged Lakers by saving a half-court trapping defense for the second half. He noted after the game he purposely saved that defensive strategy for the second half in hopes Lakers would forget how to attack it. Waiting to use the trapping defense also prevented Beachy from reviewing player assignments against it at halftime.

Zeeman said he would have been forced to use it in the first half if his team had fallen much further behind.
"Twelve or 14 points I'm not that concerned about. That's a terrible thing to say, but these girls are explosive when they get the opportunity," he noted about his team.

BRONCO CHARGE: The home team just couldn't handle the trapping pressure as the visiting Broncos outscored Lakers 12-4 to knot the game at 35-35 with two minutes remaining in the third quarter. Teresa Smith took charge for the Broncos as she hit a lay-up to give North Branch a 43-41 lead in the fourth quarter. She then scored the next two buckets for give the Broncos a commanding lead and the momentum.

A steal and lay-up by Lakers' Jennie Bollenbacher narrowed the lead to 50-47 just 30 seconds before the final buzzer, but the home team couldn't convert on several three-point attempts.

A half-time tongue-lashing by Zeeman and his trapping defense turned the game around for North Branch. He said he reminded his players they were the defending Thumb B champions and they should play that way.
"In the first half Lakers completely took us out of anything we tried to do. Lakers played hard. They played just like I thought they would and I was just glad to get out of here with a win," said Zeeman.

HEARTBREAK: A crushed Laker coach Paul Beachy agreed the turning point in the game was an effective Bronco half-court trap and his players' frustration when they couldn't overcome it.

"We worked on it (in practice), but we weren't aggressive against it tonight. The score being close like that got to us and we weren't taking our shot. You must have people who are confident in those situations and they must keep their cool. We just got a little bit shook," Beachy said.

LEADERS: Laker junior Connie Schulz led all scorers with 18 points. Lisa Buschlen added 12 for Lakers. Top rebounders for Lakers were Schulz with 11, Marilyn Kranz with eight and Henne with seven.
Stacey Lamphere led North Branch with 14 points and Smith notched 10, seven of which came in the fourth quarter.

OFFENSIVE RECORD: Cass City had the misfortune of being the next team Lakers faced on the scheduled. Lakers pounded the visiting Red Hawks last Thursday, 75-39. The Laker point total eclipsed the former school record of 72 points in a single game.

Coach Beachy attributed the high score to his players' determination and the offensive performance of his substitutes. All but one of the 12 Laker players scored in the contest.
"Cass City caught us on the wrong night. I think the girls wanted to prove something," Beachy said.

The Lady Lakers opened an early 18-4 first quarter lead and widened the margin to 38-11 at halftime. The home team then continued to pull away as the subs continued to put the ball in the hoop.
Laker sophomore Tracie Henne led Laker scoring with 14 points and also pulled down 13 rebounds. Connie Schulz hit 12 and Kim Dubs hit 10 points in the fourth quarter coming off the bench.

The Laker jayvees also upended Cass City by a 48-29 margin. Brenda Buschlen hit 14 points in the game.
Those two wins put Lakers alone in first place in the TBA race with an 8-0 record and a 9-5 overall mark.

An aggressive Laker squad was whistled for 23 fouls and allowed Cass City to score nearly half their points at the free throw line. The Red Hawks earned 17 of 31 foul shots, compared to seven of 14 for Lakers.

THIS WEEK: After hosting Inlay City on Tuesday, Lakers travel to Marlette for an important game. Marlette only lost to Lakers and North Branch in TBA action this season and is the only serious challenger to either of those teams.

JVs WIN: In an exciting game that went right down to the wire, the Laker junior varsity broke a 35-game win streak by North Branch with a 48-46 victory. Lakers was also the last team to beat them (two years ago).
Laker leaders were Brenda Buschlen with 21 points, Kathy Buschlen with 12 points and Hollie Born with 13 rebounds.

BY PERCY ROSS

You may write to Percy Ross in care of The Progress Advance, P.O. Box 35000, Minneapolis, MN 55435. Please include your telephone number with your letter.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

Our local preacher is in desperate need of a minister's robe. His was stolen recently when he was officiating at a wedding.

This man is very dedicated to the Lord and is definitely working for God on faith. He felt called to begin a new church, starting with no funds and no salary. There isn't enough to go around.

Perhaps if you consider this request you could arrange for a new robe rather than the money. He's the type that would feel the church is more deserving than his own needs. — Concerned Parishioners, Santa Ana, Calif.

DEAR PARISHIONERS:

Is this a case where one size fits all? I don't know the first thing about purchasing a minister's robe.

In spite of my handicap, I'm sending you a check with which to make that purchase. The amount is a ballpark figure, but I think you'll find I'm batting on the high side . . . so perhaps you'll have enough to buy two.

—SSSSSSSS—

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I'm laid off most of the time from my construction job. The job market in my area isn't that good, so I find myself doing anything to keep me and my three kids afloat.

I do odd jobs in the neighborhood with my car. My work consists of grocery shopping for shut-ins, moving people and taking kids back and forth to school.

Well, "Old Blue," my '74 Ford wagon's engine finally let go. The motor just won't go another foot and with over 120,000 miles on it — it's no wonder.

I scrounge parts to keep her going, but another engine is just too much for me to handle. That car and I have been through too much for me to send her to the boneyard.

Mr. Ross, another engine will run between $250 and $400. If you could help me out, I'd be eternally thankful and I know "Old Blue" would appreciate her new lease on life. — Mr. P.M., Moline, Ill.

DEAR MR. M.: I admire your attitude of "doing whatever it takes." If getting a new engine does it for you . . . you're back in business.

You can look forward toward saving "Old Blue" from the junkyard and get her running on all eight pins with my check.

—SSSSSSSS—

DEAR MR. ROSS:

This is a very special year for my family. My husband I will be celebrating our 25th wedding anniversary.

Our oldest son will graduate from college with a major in physics. Our second son will turn 21 and receive his officer's commission from the U.S. Army.

Last, but not least, our youngest son, who just turned 18, will graduate from high school. All these special events were not planned.

The last six years it has been all work and no play for my family. Our aim was to get the kids through school and we have now succeeded with this goal — but I have nothing to reward them with.

Could you help me with five round-trip tickets to the Orient? Even though our sons have all been working steadily since the age of 10, we have not been able to save for a family vacation. Our boys are planning to continue their education. I feel it is essential for us to have a relaxing vacation first. — Mrs. A.T., Portland, Ore.

DEAR MRS. T.: It's not that you're underserving . . . your family has probably worked very hard. But when you consider the vast number of hungry families in this country, I feel like sending a shovel and telling you to dig a hole toward China.

I'll refrain because that would be tasteless and just say "No."

Bergman, Rhodes marry in Ohio

Nancy Jo Rhodes and Donald Lee Bergman united their lives in marriage in an evening wedding ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 12 at Second Presbyterian Church, Newark, Ohio.

Rev. Gary Stratman performed the nuptial rites which united the children of Richard L. Rhodes, Jr. and Joyce K. Westfall, both of Newark, Ohio and former Pigeon residents Mr. and Mrs. Melvin P. Bergman, now of Phoenix, Ariz.

Providing special wedding music were soloist Jennifer Rieser, accompanied by organist Richard Black.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a satin gown of re-embroidered French lace, designed with a Queen Anne neckline and a fitted bodice trimmed in heavily beaded lace and pearls. The Elizabethan sleeves of beaded English net and satin were accented with embroidered cut-outs and medallions. The Basque waistline fell to a sheath skirt with embroidered medallions and lace at the hemline. Her cathedral train, attached at the waistline, was trimmed in ruffles and was enhanced by lace appliques for a see-through effect.

Included in her bridal party was matron of honor Mary Margaret Schumaker, assisted by bridesmaids Lisa Rhodes, Jennifer McConnell, Judy Bergman, Amy Rollins and Jennifer Latzy, all attired in white strapless dresses. Flower girl was Meghan Yoder, niece of the bride.

The groom asked his brother, Ronald Bergman, to be his best man, assisted by ushers Dennis Bergman, Mark Bergman, Jeffery Rhodes, David Rhodes, Craig Armstrong and Frank Letherby, all wearing black dinner tuxedos.

The newlyweds celebrated the occasion with 275 family members and friends at a reception conducted at the Mount Builders Country Club. Attending the guest book was Tamra Balding.

Mr. and Mrs. Bergman left for a week's honeymoon to Cancun, Mexico, before returning to their home in Cincinnati.

The bride, a student at Ohio State University majoring in Public Relations, is employed at Charlie's in Montgomery, Ohio. Her husband, a 1985 graduate of Central Michigan University, is employed by Stauffer's Restaurants as Manager of James Tavern in Blue Ash, Ohio.

Woods & Waters The woods walk

"...I had a chance to enjoy an absolutely perfect woods walk. The weather was fine, some of the shooting spectacular, and the company of men extraordinary..."

Many different shooting organizations try to create hunting-like situations while target practicing. Bowhunters hone their skills on roving archery, bird hunters prefer quail walks, duck hunters have their high-low towers, and black powder shooters cater to the woods walk.

The woods walk is a simple arrangement. Shooting stations are set up a safe distance apart, (the better ones have all stations facing the same direction.) At each station the shooter shoots 3 times, usually from different positions. The targets are metal swingers, or clangers and most often represent the head of a turkey, the heart of a deer, a small rabbit near the ground or perhaps a squirrel climbing a tree. In each case, they try to depict actual shooting conditions one may encounter in the woods. However, the muzzleloader adds another facet to his shooting game, he tries to dress in period costumes for his woods walk.

Last month, at a fall rendezvous near Sterling, I had a chance to enjoy an absolutely perfect woods walk. The weather was fine, some of the shooting spectacular, and the company of men extraordinary.

We started a long steep climb leading to the first target through ferns saturated with morning dew. The party was small, mostly observers. Randy, a builder from Elkton, was accompanied by his daughter and one of her friends, my wife and I made up the remainder of the group.

Randy was dressed as a colonial merchant. His navy blue knickers and waistcoat, set off with rows of shining pewter buttons, were matched with white knee socks, a white linen shirt, and a tri-corn hat.

I, the other shooter in the group, wore the garb of an early English trapper. Buckskin pants, with red and blue leg ties, a pewter blue shirt, brown tri-corn hat and moccasins.

At the first target we were joined by 2 other shooters and that is where the fun began. Gene, from Harrisville was also dressed as a trapper, but Joe, his brother-in-law from Clio, appeared as an officer in the Colonial Army. In reality, Joe is a 3rd Lieutenant in the 13th Pennsylvania Regiment, an active reenactment brigade that travels all over the country.

Joe wore white knee britches, knee-high calf skin boots, a buckskin hunting frock over a white shirt, and at his neck was the traditional neck stock with black ties.

As we introduced ourselves, I further found out that Joe was a nationally-known engraver and scrimshaw artist with work appearing on the cover of the 1985 Gun Digest. His rifle was a work of art and all of his accouterments were very authentic in detail.

The first target of the day was a paper tie-breaker. Randy, the shooter of the group and eventually the top gun for the entire weekend, plunked 3 shots a little low of center. At the next target, a deer with clangers for his nose, tail and heart, Randy missed the tail and then discovered he was using the wrong powder measure. After a final adjustment, he never missed again that morning.

The walk itself could have been made in 20 minutes, but when you take in account the time necessary to load and fire 4 muzzleloaders 18 times, the time is soon expanded to 2 hours. Then add the re-fighting of the entire Revolutionary War and you have the better part of 3 hours.

Joe, a machinist in real life, was an expert on early American History. On the walk between stations we discussed weapons, clothing, military strategy and hunting in general. At the stations, we kibitzed each others' shooting, shared powder, discussed cleaning methods for our weapons, hit a few targets and missed many more. All of us, that is, except Randy.

When the walk was over we descended a low gradual road leading back to the main range. Later in the day, one of my friends who observed us claimed it could have been a scene from history. An Officer and 3 militiamen, rifles draped over our shoulders, powder horns and bullet bags slapping at our sides, returning from battle, or in our case, a woods walk....

NATIONAL AUTHORS' DAY

National Authors' Day on Nov. 1 is a time to show appreciation for all the men and women who have contributed to American Literature.

Everyone seems to have a favorite author. With young children, parents can reinforce the idea that the author is the person who wrote the book and can show where the author's name is found and then can brainstorm a list of favorite books. Older children may become inspired to become authors on this Authors' Day.

Who is YOUR favorite author?

SUPERSTITION

The term "supernatural" is often taken to mean beliefs concerning magic supernatural invisible forces or natural lore, including witchcraft, the evil eye, omens, signs, ghosts and a variety of spirit beings. Some of these beliefs may seem strange today.

Here are a number of "superstitions" which have been passed down through the ages:

- Avoid the number "13" or a crack in the sidewalk.
- People with large ears live longer than those with small ears.
- It's unlucky to spill salt.
- A black cat crossing your path means bad luck.
- Friday the 13th.
- Walking under a ladder.

CHILDREN'S HALLOWEEN FUN REMINDS US TO MEND OUR WAYS

We'll see them coming down the street
And hear the patter of their feet,
As voices holler, "Trick or treat!"
To live up the scene;
Remembering our childhood days,
Before we had outgrown this phase
And taken up some evil ways
That soon became routine.
But some day we will feel the need
To learn the lessons of our creed;
And thus to help our lives succeed,
The Lord must intervene.
So let's resolve to do what's right,
Since evil's just a great delight
For children, on this spooky night
That's known as Halloween.

60 SECONDS 'Good morning, Lord!'

READ PHILIPPIANS 4:7

Evening and morning, and at night will I pray and cry aloud, and He shall hear my voice. Psalm 55:17

Sometimes the first ones we see in the morning are ourselves reflected in the bathroom mirror.

That image may be frightening to us, it may startle us, it may be a grave disappointment to us.

That image may be changed immeasurably if, upon awaking, we first of all bid our Lord, as our Friend, "Good Morning," inasmuch as this is a day that He has made.

An old custom followed by some is to have the dated certificate of their baptism lying somewhere on their dresser to remind them that because of their baptism this is a new day.

It is a new day in which we start out with a clean heart and soul, made so by the Lord at our baptism.

The day of opportunity to love and serve Him and one another.

Go on are the sins of yesterday as we accept our gracious God's forgiveness with each new morning.

When we look into that bathroom mirror, what a joy to meet the one whom God has made His own and upon whom He would shed His every gift in the next 24 hours!

Away with fear, away with anxiety, away with guilt! Let the light of the Son flow into our life for a good day.

LORD JESUS, help us to begin every day with You, aware of Your presence and constant companionship. AMEN.

Men invited to Community Breakfasts

Since 1974 the men of First United Methodist Church, Pigeon, have been hosts for Community Breakfasts to be held during the winter months. That tradition will continue this year, beginning Wednesday, Nov. 4 at 7 a.m. with the final breakfast on Wednesday, April 6.

Following a breakfast of pancakes, eggs, sausage, juice, coffee, etc., the group is led in prayer, a hymn or two, then a devotional message, which is offered by a pastor or area layman.

The morning event is completed by 8 a.m. and a free will offering is taken to cover the cost of the food.

The 1987-88 Mens' Community Breakfasts will follow this schedule:

■ Nov. 4 — Rev. Ken Dietzel, associate pastor at

Pigeon River Mennonite Church and coordinator for the WIC program at the Huron County Health Department;

■ Dec. 2 — Rev. John Hamilton, pastor of Casewille United Methodist Church;

■ Jan. 6 — Rev. Jeff Maxwell, pastor of Unionville and Kilmanagh United Methodist Churches;

■ Feb. 3 — Edwin Eichler, vice president of Pigeon Telephone Co.;

■ March 2 — Bruce Kuhl, Huron County Commissioner, and

■ April 6 — Clark Elftman, owner of Elftman's Hardware, Pigeon.

All area men are invited to join in the Christian fellowship of these Mens' Community Breakfasts, organizers say.

2000 and incorporated as Wallace Stone Company. At the present time, the quarry is part of Burroughs Materials Corporation.
BUILDING PRODUCTS: Building stones were fashioned from the dolomitic limestone outcropping at site originally owned by M.L. Webber. That stone was used for buildings in the Thumb and also locations such as Saginaw, Tuscola and Huron Railroad. School buildings in Bay Port and Uby, as well as the Saginaw Courthouse still stand as examples of the local building material.
The stone plant now produces crushed stone used on railroad tracks and agricultural lime. Building stones are no longer formed due to prohibitive labor costs.
EDUCATIONAL: Although the business has operated at the site for more than 100 years, that time span is overshadowed by the age of the stone being handled. Bronson points out the quarry is a popular location for several types of educational groups. Several thousand students, ranging in age from elementary to college levels, visit the site.
HISTORICAL ROCK: College geology students are particularly interested in the stone found at the quarry because it helps to trace the path of glaciers which covered Michigan in the ice age. As the glaciers inched forward year after year they pushed topsoil off the limestone below, leaving gouges in the rock. The directions of those streaks, better known as glacier polishings, indicate the direction the glacier path took.
One of those "glacier polished" rocks is appropriately used by Bronson as the base to which the historical plaque is attached. He says the stone was picked because because it was polished by glaciers 100,000 to a million years ago. The shape of the stone also roughly approximates the shape of Michigan as recorded on historical maps.

SOUND-OFFS generally are for personal comments. People wanting to make advertising comments promoting their businesses are invited to buy a reasonably priced ad to get their message across, not through SOUND-OFF at no charge. Thanks!!

Remember, the Clubesch Haunted House will be open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. this Saturday and from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., at 58 S. Caseville Road, Pigeon, just south of the IGA. If you haven't attended, you should, because it's fun and donations go for a very good cause. Thank you.

Since Porky's and Lefty's have closed, can anyone tell me where I can get a good money hot dog with all the trimmings? I miss that.

Jim Kiertzner on channel 5 on the weekends is much better than this young kid who reads the news every night. Is he even 18 yet? Where do they get these people?

I would like to comment about phone sales people. Everyone has a job to do and the only reason they call in the early evening is to get the people at a good time. Sales people have to make a living too and it is not easy. We never call past 8 o'clock in the evening. Give us a chance too!

About this permit for the pig factory, this W. Township Board thinks it MUST okay it? How come they are all YES men? The O. Township thinks it over and goes according to the Golden Rule. They have compassion and a good conscience and don't do unto others what they don't want done unto them.

I agree about the weathermen. They get so many forecasts wrong because they don't even know where our area is on their national map.

I think the best truck drivers should be thanked. They've done very well to keep most mud off the road, with so much of it around lately from this year's flood rains.

I would like to make a correction on the Paul Geiger comment last week: He got the Huron County's largest buck according to Pope and Young, not Boone and Crockett. Thank you.

To the person who mistakenly took my daughter's blue jean jacket on Thursday, Oct. 15 at the girls' junior high basketball game at Lakers: it's a size 10, Sear with the initials K.E. inside. Call 453-2186 if you have it. Thank you very much.

I'd like to say Jill C. is the best friend in the whole entire world. Signed, L.M.E.

Who are they trying to kid with the 65 mph speed? Our lawmakers have taken so much time deciding that we can legally drive what most people already are driving that it will cost more for making the law than the new fines will bring in.

Yes, we're all talking about how nice and pretty fall is, but does anyone really look forward to winter? Probably some do, but who? Please call SOUND-OFF if you do.

Regarding Caseville native's letter on 9-30-87 to Mr. M., I have lived here three years and have been coming to the area for 15 years, choosing Caseville because I liked it. I am of the opinion that a "native" has no more right than a newcomer to voice their opinion. We are all paying the same taxes.

I did not attend a Council meeting until I had lived here nearly three years and became involved because I felt the general public was not being heard. I am not trying to run our town, just trying to inform the majority of our residents that they are not being fairly represented on the council. I would be happy to meet with Caseville native, to discuss the issue further if he would make himself known.

I was also not aware that you had my voting record. If you are opposed to "newcomers," perhaps you aren't aware that the reason for the proposed airport, according to our village president, is to bring in more people and new businesses. Signed, Frank Matosky, Caseville.

As of today, I have my Christmas shopping all done. Can anyone else make that claim?

I am wondering why so many local residents, especially in the country, do not have their house numbers painted or nailed up. If there were a fire, or ambulance emergency, they might not be able to find you. Think about it.

Last week a caller said the farmer is the biggest gambler in the world. Not true. Lady Godiva put everything she had on a horse. That's gambling!

What, if anything, can you do with the chestnuts falling everywhere? Is there a use for them, maybe roasting by the fire?

Retirees meet in Caseville

CASEVILLE RETIREMENT CLUB

A total of 127 members and guests were present at the Oct. meeting of the Caseville Retirement Club at the American Legion Hall. A new member, JoAnn Kugner, was welcomed.

President Tom Beadle asked all to stand and greet their neighbors, before leading in the Lord's Prayer. The Pledge to the Flag opened the meeting. Fifty blood pressure readings were taken.

Marion Fournier announced that a Dinner-Theatre featuring "Mame" has been set for Nov. 14. Reservations will be taken at the Oct. 27 meeting.

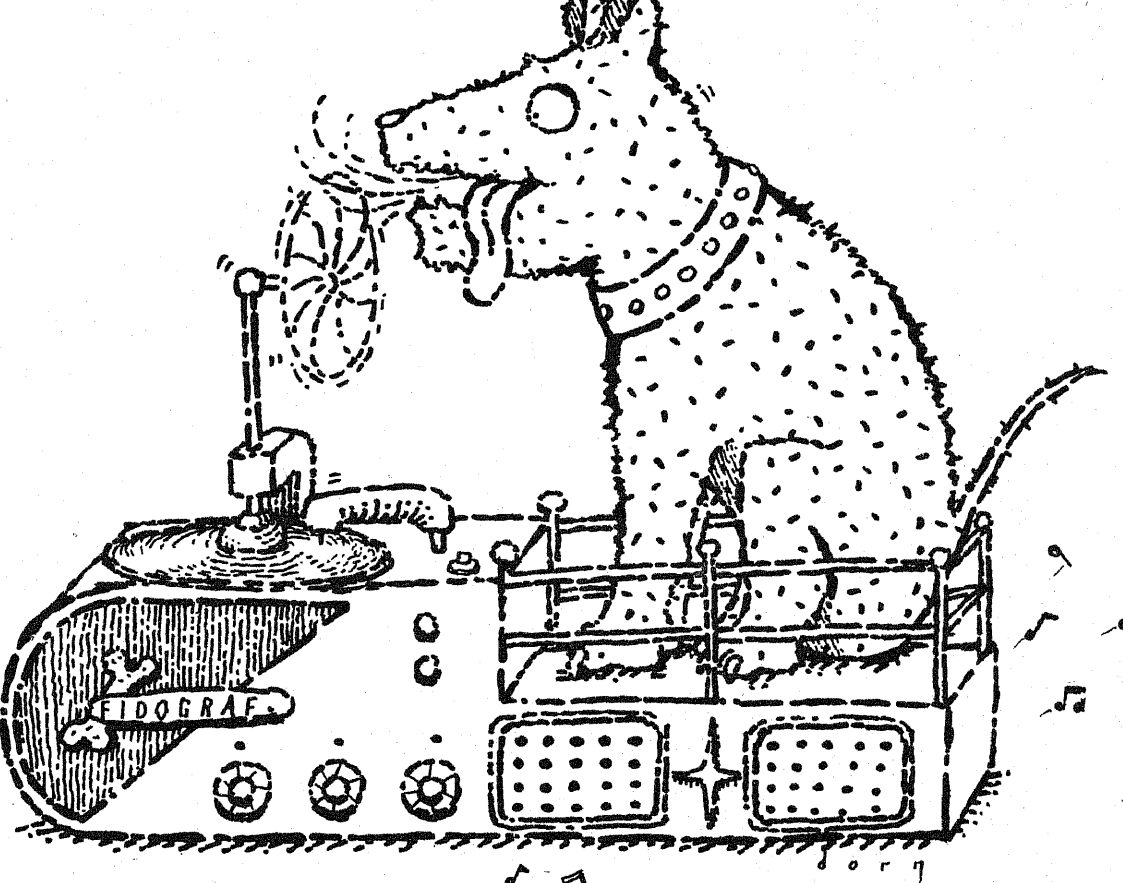

Beadle thanked Helen Kolowich, Peg Hill, Stella Budrick, Virginia Zielinski, Rose Morosini and Hazel Oldford for the "earlybird" goodies.

It was reported that Stan Garwood has returned to the hospital and that Cy Carollo had a hip replacement.

Celebrating birthdays were Ethel Mueller, Richard Sullivan, Dorothy Fogle, Virginia Kapcia, Hazel Oldford and Vi Hall. Feted for anniversaries were Joseph and Martha Feger, Edward and Helen Belanger, Russ and June Poisson and Ray and Louise Gerrard.

The meeting was adjourned for cards and bingo. The bingo coverall winner was Noreen Klonowski. Pinochle winners were Lucille Elbing, Helen Schultz and Doris Fisher. Euchre winners were Jim Keena, Al Potter and John King.

Halloween safety tips

Halloween is a time of fun and imagination, but it can also be a time when even the simplest safety rules can be forgotten.

To help safeguard loved ones from accident and/or injury, experts offer parents these following tips, to be shared with their children:

- Wear light reflective colors so you can be seen in the dark. Reflectors and fluorescent decals are helpful.
- Wear non-flammable costumes and make sure mask holes are large enough to see through easily.
- Travel in a large group accompanied by at least one adult.
- Approach only those houses in familiar areas that are well lit.
- Use a flashlight or "lightstick" while going door-to-door.
- Walk only on sidewalks. Exercise caution when crossing streets. Streets should be crossed only at corners and never between parked cars or diagonally at intersections.
- Return home by 8 p.m. or by the curfew set by the local village or township.
- Don't eat any treats until your parents check them first. Many communities will check the contents of children's trick or treat bags by X-ray or other means. Contact your local police department for further information.

Wetlands report being awaited

With a question concerning wetlands under discussion locally, there is more-than-usual interest here in a new 22-page report from a special wetlands committee report by the state Department of Natural Resources.
Director Gordon E. Guyer of the DNR released the report by the Wetlands Permit Process Review Committee which calls for major changes in the administration of the Wetland Protection Act of 1979.
THUMB IMPACT: The topic has special interest now, as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and DNR are looking into deposition of about 4000 cubic yards of Michigan Sugar Company beet soil into Saginaw Bay marshland along property owned by Bay Shore Camp, near Sebewing.
The governmental agencies are trying to determine if state laws have been broken and if they will demand the soil be removed.
The report on the 1979 act was prepared by 17 members from business, industry, local governments, environmental groups, developers and others who were asked by Guyer to review the wetlands permit process.
OVERHAUL NEEDED: Guyer indicated that "a great deal of work needs to be done to overhaul the system to make it more responsive."
