Dave Armbruster does something now that he's never done before while living his whole life in Pigeon - his family locks the door to their house.

"We're wondering who did this, and why," the 21-year-old farmer says, as Michigan State Police and state ag officials continue investigating why 100 out of Armbruster’s 150-head cattle died from poisoning last Sunday and Monday. The past week has been the most horrible in his life, he says, but now Armbruster is looking ahead to spring time and a chance to again start raising a young herd, as well as food crops including sugar beets, navy beans, corn, wheat, and a few oats.

STEREO-TYPED LIFE: Armbruster noticed some of his cattle appeared sick about midnight last Sunday. As many as 10 to 16 of his 100-odd cattle had died - ultimately to total 100 - from what investigators say was an intentional poisoning of his herd. The insecticide Difonol, used to kill corn root worms, and another insecticide, chlorpyrifos, were found mixed with the feed and xylazine, a tranquilizer he used to calm the cattle about 7-7.5 p.m. Sunday.

Armbruster does not use either of the toxic substances in his farming operations, and they are not normally found together in farm pest control work. Investigators say as little as "four or five pounds" of the insecticides were likely used - and the ready-to-use market steer's worth about $80,000 lay dead in the feed area and barn.

LOOKING AHEAD: Anyone who knows Dave Armbruster realizes he's not going to get ruined or defeated by this setback, although he admits it will take "two or three years" to rebuild the herd.

"I can't understand why anyone would do this, but you can't dwell on that. You've got to go on. There's plenty of other things to do," he said Monday.

Family members and friends pitched in Friday and Saturday to load four semi-trailers with the animal carcasses. They were shipped to an approved landfill in Belleview near Ann Arbor, as were several hundred pounds of contaminated feed. Investigators had completed that phase of their work, and Armbruster says he's got to have his herd further cleaned before it can be used again. The insecticides break down organically to harmless substances, authorities say.

MIDWEST STORY: The media exposure which exploded into the Armbruster farm splattered into the house, where wife Laura and three-year-old son Adam watched - and worked - in bewilderment.

TV, radio, newspaper and wire service reporters called and visited the farm, usually to be greeted by a hospitable family still searching for answers.

CONTINUING ON: Taking his herd to a landfill was hard on Armbruster, but the move clears the way for the next phase for the young farmer. "Oh, I suppose I could do something else, but, gee, I love farming.

LIVING ON WELFARE IN HURON COUNTY ISN'T AN EASY LIFE.

By AMY HEIDEN

"Yeah, it's an easy life on welfare. Just sit back and let the state take care of you.

People on welfare don't want to work anyway, they're just lazy." We've all heard these statements at one time or another and perhaps we believe them to be true.

"Not true," says Huron County Department of Social Services Director Stuart Capling.

"Sure, I imagine there out somewhere there's a person who just doesn't want to work, but most people would rather work than draw welfare benefits," he says.

Besides, General Assistance or Aid to Dependent Children, for example, aren't very big.

FACTS AND FIGURES: To illustrate, Capling gives these for a family of four receiving ADC and federal food stamps each month:

$145 for rent or house payment
$138 for personal needs such as cleaning supplies, paper goods, personal care needs or just plain spending money
$32 for basic heat
$48 for winter heat
$28 for other heat
$22 for other utilities
$594 grand total for a typical family of four, not including $287 a month in food stamps.

"I really don't think people want to be on welfare. It's just not worth it," says Capling.

GRANT PROGRAMS: In 1987, a total of 3,574 Huron County families received benefits from four different grant programs - Aid to Dependent Children, General Assistance, Food Stamps, and Supplemental Security Income. Capling notes two of the grant programs, ADC and General Assistance.

Aid to Dependent Children eligibility is directed toward the needs of the children involved and is based on certain income criteria.

Rumringer cites a family of three adding a fourth member would get an increase of only $540 a month. "If people are having kids to increase ADC grants, they don't have very many kids since the average family size in Huron County is 1.35," he says.

TRAINING PROGRAM: The DSS contracts with the Huron Intermediate School District and the Thumb Area Consortium to provide skill assessment and job training for clients. The skill assessments are conducted at Huron Area Skill Center near Bad Axe, to determine a client's job skills and interests.

"I think they come out with a better attitude when they find out they do have some skills to offer," says Capling. "Then we can talk about making a training program for them.

FEDERAL: The state's Healthy Start program provides a caseworker to help with a new baby.

"A large majority of our clients only need temporary help. We're just a resource for people absolutely down on their luck. Most of our clients have exhausted whatever unemployment benefits and have nowhere else to turn.

MEDICAID: Persons receiving assistance are also generally eligible for health care through Medicaid, the federally funded medical assistance program.

The typical welfare recipient locally is well below the federal poverty standard of $8,738 for a family of three, which was recently lowered, increasing the number of people who can receive Medicaid benefits.

"This is particularly important due to the fact that more low-income pregnant women will be able to receive prenatal care, hopefully reducing infant mortality, experts say.

BIG SHOCK: If the average person lost his or her job, he or she was usually able to receive cash benefits from the DDS for benefits, "or he or she probably wouldn't be eligible," Capling says.

"They would be shocked at how little they can own, or how little they can get in benefits," he adds. "The average guy probably would have a couple of cars, a snowmobile or boat, some money saved in the bank, maybe a piece of land and cottage up north.

Laker Latchkey program off and running

By AMY HEISEN

Laker Schools Latchkey Program has gone off to a great start in Pigeon and Hillman, according to school officials.

Pigeon Latchkey supervisor, Sue Loviman, said, "I think it’s been a great start. We have a lot of kids who are attending the program and I think that’s fantastic."" She also added that they have several parents who have already signed up for the program. It is expected that the program will continue to grow in popularity.

SAFETY FIRST: The new program in Laker Schools is an offshoot of a similar program in Gaylord. The Pigeon Latchkey program will be held in two locations: Pigeon Elementary School and Pigeon Middle School.

The program will be open to children in grades K-6 who need a safe place to go after school. The program will be held Monday through Friday from 3:00 to 6:00 p.m. Parents are encouraged to sign their children up for the program as soon as possible. The program is open to all students and is not limited to children of school employees.

YOUNGSTERS WHO PARTICIPATE in the Laker Latchkey program enjoy many social opportunities and their parents are required to sign their child up for the program. If they do not sign up, the child will not be able to participate.

EAST BARRETT: The Pigeon Elementary School Latchkey program is located at the Pigeon Elementary School. The program is open to children in grades K-6 who need a safe place to go after school. The program will be held Monday through Friday from 3:00 to 6:00 p.m. Parents are encouraged to sign their children up for the program as soon as possible. The program is open to all students and is not limited to children of school employees.

TUCSUNA SEeks 1.5 MILLS

TUCSUNA, Minn. (AP) — The town of Tuscunsa has passed a 1.5-mill levy to fund a new health care center and community services.

The levy, which was approved by a 5-1 vote, will raise $1.5 million per year. The proceeds will be used to build a new health care center and to fund community services such as a food pantry, a senior center and a community center.

According to the town's website, the levy was approved to provide “much-needed services to the residents of Tuscunsa and to ensure the continued viability of the community.”

Tuscunsa is a small town located in western Minnesota. It has a population of around 2,000 people and is known for its agricultural community.

The levy was passed after a series of meetings and public hearings in which residents expressed their support for the new health care center and community services.

The town's website also notes that the levy will help fund the construction of a new health care center, which will include a clinic, a hospital and a nursing home.

The town council has also approved a $1.5 million bond issue to help pay for the construction.

The new health care center is expected to open in 2023.
As we see it editorially

Here’s an important topic: PIZZA!

Editorial writers always seem to take on a somber, flat monotone and style when approaching the editorial topic for each issue. For some unknown reason, the logic seems to be that you go to be somber, quiet, deliberate and dense as you carefully (emphasis on FULLY) spell out your position written about. But more months of winter’s cold wait us, and the property taxman is right around the corner. There’s time like the present to LIGHTEN UP—to explore a topic of great concern to everyone: National Pizza Week.

As obviously knowledgeable publication called Pizza Today says, and—property prepared—it’s very vitally for all members of the family. For, they have the very (or numerals, apparently) to tell us how many millions of pounds of pizza are eaten annual.

One important study involving pizza was made several years ago in Wisconsin. The argument concerned whether or not pizza will remain hotter if served before being delivered. The pizza maker had two beds from the oven pies flown to a city 160 miles away—one sliced and the other uncut. The majority of the far-away city was sitting at the airport with an oven thermometer—and so...

FROM UNDER THE WILLOW
BY WANDA DOCHER

On the wonders of wool

Most people probably would be puzzled by the small wool being washed. The fist and surrounding woolen mass have a distinct odor. However, they would find the smell of the wool start to take on the odor of a warmer. After a while, they would begin to notice the odor of the wool start to become hotter. The wool would start to become a different color. It was as if the wool had absorbed the color of the warmer.

This is the time of year when baby goslings start to come. It’s the time of year when warmer weather is on the way. It’s the time of year when warmer weather is the perfect time for warmer weather. The warmer weather is the perfect time for warmer weather. The warmer weather is the perfect time for warmer weather.

So, as the wool beds begin to heat up, they would begin to smell. As the wool beds begin to smell, they would begin to feel. As the wool beds begin to feel, they would begin to touch. As the wool beds begin to touch, they would begin to caress. As the wool beds begin to caress, they would begin to love. As the wool beds begin to love, they would begin to hate. As the wool beds begin to hate, they would begin to despise. As the wool beds begin to despise, they would begin to hate. As the wool beds begin to hate, they would begin to despise. As the wool beds begin to despise, they would begin to hate.

ARMBRUSTER CATTLE

"It’s the first time in a very long time that we’ve had a cattle sale that was successful," said Armenta.

"I’m not sure what it was," Armenta said. "It could have been the weather. It could have been the lack of interest. It could have been the lack of advertising. I’m not sure."

The sale was held at the Armenta Ranch in rural Nevada. Armenta said he was pleased with the results.

"We’ve had a lot of interest in our cattle," Armenta said. "We’ve had a lot of inquiries. We’ve had a lot of people come to look at our cattle."
Lakers, North Branch mix like oil and water

Green Machine comes out on top!

By Tim Blakeley

It was time to start thinking about the Lakers' North Branch rivalry. The Lakers were well-prepared for the challenge, but the North Branch players were not. The Lakers had been practicing for days, and they knew exactly what to expect. The North Branch players had been preparing for their game, but they were not ready for the Lakers' defense.

In the first half, the Lakers took the lead and never looked back. They scored a total of 15 points, with 10 coming from the outside. The North Branch players struggled to keep up, and they were unable to outscore the Lakers.

In the second half, the Lakers continued their dominance. They scored a total of 14 points, with 12 coming from the outside. The North Branch players were unable to keep up, and they were unable to score enough points to catch up.

The Lakers won the game 29-24, with 18 points from the outside. The North Branch players were unable to keep up, and they were unable to score enough points to catch up.

SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

One of the most important functions of chiropractic is to allow normal nervous function from the brain through the spine to every part of the body. When the nerves are pinched or congested, a chiropractic adjustment is required to correct the problem. It is a simple procedure that is painless and takes only a few minutes. The adjustment is made with a light touch and a gentle Manipulation. This procedure helps to restore normal nervous function and can improve overall health and well-being. It is particularly effective for individuals who experience pain, stiffness, or weakness in the neck, back, or extremities.

If you are experiencing any of the following symptoms, a chiropractic evaluation might be beneficial:
- Back pain
- Neck pain
- Headaches
- Shoulder pain
- Elbow pain
- Knee pain
- Hip pain
- Foot pain
- Digestive problems
- Sinus problems
- Migraines
- Fatigue

A chiropractic evaluation can help to identify the source of your pain and provide a treatment plan that is tailored to your specific needs. It is recommended that you consult with a chiropractor to determine if this form of care is appropriate for you.

The absence of Walker's chicken was a much-needed change of pace for the Pigeon Lumber Chili Bowlers. The club, which typically competes in the Tourney of Champions, was able to join forces with several other teams to create a more competitive environment. The tournament featured a variety of games, including a 20-pin shoot-out and a 10-pin match, which were both well-received by the players. Many Michigan bowlers got a chance to test their skills against some of the best in the state, and the atmosphere was electric as everyone tried their best to come out on top.

Turkey hunters see Feb. 1 filing deadline

For years the deadline for turkey hunters to seek Title II permits has been Feb. 1. This year it will be April 1. The reason? In 1987, a law was passed that allowed all nonresidents to hunt turkeys. Now there are more nonresidents than residents in Colorado, which means the deadline must be moved. The deadline will be April 1 for permits that are good for the entire season from May 1 to Oct. 31. Nonresidents can purchase a permit good for the entire season from May 1 to Oct. 31 for $35. The nonresident permit is for the entire state and is good for the entire season from May 1 to Oct. 31.

Fishing boosts economy

The local newspaper reported that fishing has been booming in the area. The city has seen an increase in visitors and businesses due to the improved fishing. The local tourism board has also noticed a significant increase in bookings, and local restaurants and hotels have reported higher occupancy rates. The fishing season has been particularly successful, with catches of fish nearly doubling compared to previous years. The city is considering implementing additional measures to support the local fishing industry and encourage further growth.
