Five generations celebrate centennial

Schulze Farm is a perfect 100!

By AMY HEIDEN

There are probably quite a few farms around that have been in the same family for over 100 years, and probably quite a few houses still standing that are nearly that age.

But it's also a good possibility that there are very few houses that age that have seen five generations of the same family live in them.

One such farm and house is the Duane Schulze homestead on North Gagelton Road northeast of Pigeon, which is still owned by Duane's 89-year-old father, Adolph Schulze.

The farm recently was recognized by Detroit Edison as a Centennial Farm, having been owned by the same family for 100 years.

BEGINNINGS: On June 10, 1873, the U.S. government gave Christian Diefenbach title to the Southeast quarter of the Northeast quarter of Section 36 of the Township of Caseville in Huron County.

After changing hands several times, German immigrant Henry Schulze bought the 40 acres of land for $900. Schulze had immigrated in 1883 with his wife Elizabeth and son Henry, Jr., first settling in Iowa. The Schulzes moved to Michigan near Ann Arbor, but found the land there too hilly for farming.

NEW FARM: At the age of 54, Henry Schulze started farming his new property, which had a small building for the animals and a small two-room tool shed which the family used as a home.

In 1889, 20 acres to the west of the original 40 was purchased from Noah Wildfong for $275, and later that year, Schulze bought 55 more acres from the estate of John Owen for $563.

The last piece of land to make the present farm was purchased from Lucia Owen for $400.

NEW HOUSE: In the early winter of 1892, young Henry walked to Cass City to order the yellow brick for the house and was hauled from Cass City by sleigh.

Construction of the house began in the spring of 1893, and eventually had 12 rooms and was two stories high. In 1906, an addition was added to the house, with Jake and Will Schumacher being paid $500 for their masonry work. That addition was a mirror image of the north end of the house.

NEW FAMILY: In 1894, a young lady by the name of Doris Radtke came from Germany to be married to Henry Schulze, Jr.

They were married later that year, and together, Henry and Doris had five children -- Frieda, Baldina, Herman, Norman and Adolph, the present owner of the farm.

Henry Sr. and his son were active in establishing and building St. John's Lutheran Festivities start in Caseville...

FISH FEATURED IN FESTIVALS!

The towns of Caseville and Sebawaing are gearing up for at least three big "Fish Festivals" the coming summer -- featuring Walleyes, Perch and rough fish.

Leading off the activities will be the nine-day Caseville Perch Festival, from Saturday, April 16, through Sunday, April 24, followed by the fifth annual Great Lakes Bowfishing Championship on Saturday and Sunday, June 4 and 5, on Saginaw Bay in the Caseville Area, and finally the fifth annual Sebawaing Walleye Tournament, planned Friday-Sunday, July 8-10.

PERCH FIRST: Caseville's Perch event will feature fried, baked and sauteed Perch, and there will be fishing contests throughout the week.

Caseville Chamber of Commerce sponsors and coordinates the event. Prizes will be awarded for the longest and largest Perch. Youngsters are invited to join in competitions, including kiddie-casting.

THEN ROUGH FISH: Last year the National Wildlife Education Foundation's bowfishing championship attracted 175 teams of two-bowhunters each -- and they brought in an unbelievable 72,000 pounds of Carp, Gold Carp, Gar and Dogfish in the days.

"That's more than 36 tons of fish," exclaimed Bob Easterbrook, one of the NWEF officials. As in past year, there will be prizes of cash, bows and merchandise to the largest in each category, and there will be raffles, drawings, a "strategic planning party" Friday evening and a pig roast on Saturday night.

All proceeds from the weekend will go to the NWEF, headquartered at the Outdoor Center of Sleeper State Park.

WALLEYES, FINALLY: Sebawaing's Walleye Tournament will again have prizes for biggest Walleyes and most points for groups.

Last year prizes valued at more than $3,000 were awarded in cash and merchandise, and the record-breaking event had 1,951 Walleyes entered in size and weight competitions.

The 1987 Sebawaing event saw more Walleyes caught each day of the tournament than had been taken in all three days of earlier tourneys. Sebawaing Chamber of Commerce sponsors the annual event.

Pigeon okays 67-ft. tower for Co-op

Pigeon Council Monday night gave approval to a zoning variance for the Cooperative Elevator Company, allowing construction of a 67-foot tall blending tower at the Co-op's Fertilizer Plant on Berne Street. The height is seven feet taller than allowed in village building ordinances.

Co-op Vice President of Operations John Williamson told Council the 20-ft. square tower will be connected overhead to the existing fertilizer building, and will be located 20 feet directly east of the existing tower. It will be able to hold 90 tons of capacity, and trucks will drive under it to be filled. Total cost is estimated at $102,700.

No serious objections were raised by the 10 neighbors present at Monday's public hearing to discuss the variance, and Williamson said the bottom 10 feet of the tower may be enclosed later, if excess dust discharge results. Construction will start later this week, and the tower made by Waconia Manufacturing Industries will be installed by Michigan Chief Sales of Lake Odessa.

Co-op employe Ken Licht abstained from voting on the variance approval.

NEW COMMITTEES: Village President Dave Geiger made committee appointments for the coming fiscal year, which began March 1. First person listed is chairman:

- PUBLIC SAFETY: Bob Fluegge and Michael Gehrs;
- PUBLIC SERVICE: Gehrs and Neal Eichler;
- DPW: Ken Licht and Cliff Pobanz; hler;

Cross Lutheran hosts popular smorgasbord meal

An array of entrees, salads and desserts will be served to those who attend the annual Cross Lutheran Smorgasbord this Friday, March 25 from 5 to 7 p.m. at Cross Lutheran School in Pigeon.

A choice of chicken, ham, meatballs and sauerkraut with sausage will be available, as assorted side dishes and "sweet treats." Proceeds will go towards the school children's class trips in May.

The smorgasbord is sponsored by the parents of the Cross Lutheran Christian Education Association.

Thumb Area Outdoor Report

The thaw has eliminated most of the ice on Saginaw Bay, and all of the ice on the river systems surrounding Bay City and Saginaw. Anglers, caught between seasons, are scratching their heads as to the best methods for catching fish. Many are heading for the "hot ponds" near the Consumers Power Plant's discharge pipes. The ponds, actually a couple of dredged channels, have formerly been closed to fishing and the mouth of each was protected by a cable. This year, the power company decided to allow sportfishermen to have access to the area. The warmer water has long been an attraction to various species of game fish.

The Saginaw Bay Perch controversy appears to be settled, for the time being at least. This summer, the "slot" which runs southwest from Sand Point to Sebawaing, will be closed to commercial fishermen, and in the Sand Point area netting will end after August, 1988. According to a plan worked out by commercial fishermen, sport fishermen, and the DNR, all commercial fishing for perch will be terminated in 3 years. In a further effort to save the Saginaw Bay Perch, the legislature is considering a creel limit of either 50 or 100 Perch per day for the sport fisherman throughout the state.

PLENTY OF PIZZA -- Pizza and plenty of it was on the menu March 8 when members of Mrs. Peggy Walz's third grade class from Caseville School met at Pizza Hut, Bad Axe.

The students were celebrating the end of "Book It," a reading program in which the students were each required to reach up to four books per month in October, November, December, January and February. Books were read during silent reading time and children turned in written reports, as well as giving an oral report for each book completed. Books read were on each student's level and all students read "chapter" books in January and February, according to Mrs. Walz.

OBSERVATIONS BY CO-PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

VACATION IS OVER -- The Rummel Crew are relaxed (and poorer, but happier) after our brief sojourn to the sunny south. It was great to have a family together for 11 days, without going to meetings, taking pictures, etc. -- but it was also enjoyable coming back to work (honest!).

Many thanks to our super crew who pitched in to fill the gaps while we were gone -- including Deb, Amy, Bill, Linda, Nella, Cathy, Maggy, Judy, Walt, Jim and everybody. We appreciated it!

AND WE'RE LOOKING DIFFERENT -- We've been saying for several weeks that our pages will have a different look soon, and you're seeing much more of it this week.

Some of the "type" (words) in this issue are in our "new" style, which you may notice as being larger, darker and (hopefully) easier to read. Our new equipment is about 90% installed, and the "light" hard-to-read type we occasionally have presented shouldn't appear again.

Plus, almost 100% of the ads in this week's paper are on the new system, so it is coming nearer and nearer to full use here. We hope you like it...

DANDY ANDY REPORT -- We're going to take a few paragraphs here to talk about the littlest guy at the Rummel Ranch, 3 1/2-year-old Andrew. (It's only fair, because we talked only about 7-year-old big sister Sarah for about four years before Andy even came on the scene!)

These are exciting days for Andy, who enjoyed his first trip to Disney World (often led by that four-time visitor, big sister Sarah). Andy has a great passion for trains of all types -- from the big bulk cars rumbling behind our house to the miniature set he has on the kitchen floor. And he got to ride on TWO trains and the Monorail in Florida... much to his heart's delight!

The world is a marvelous place to a 3 1/2-year-old. Andy LOVES watching the things his big sister does -- like reading -- and he was reasonably good Sunday morning as all the Sunday Schoolers sang in front of our church. "Reasonably good" means he put his fingers into his mouth and stuck out his tongue only twice.

Lately, though, Andy has especially enjoyed being a "puppy." It must be fun to romp around on all fours at his age, and he even wants one of Dad's socks pinned on as a "tail," as he drinks his water from a dish on the floor. I wonder how children get such ideas??

Andy is a joy, though, whom we (obviously) love...

CASEVILLE SHAKE-UP -- Last week's election upset of Caseville Village President Mike Power was quite a surprise, and newcomer Frank Malosky has big shoes to fill. Caseville lost a good man, and hopefully another good one will be there to take over the progressive strides Mike Power undertook. Council member Brian Simet will also be missed, losing by the slimmest of margins... one vote.

Isn't it something what a few votes, cast one way or another, can do?

LOCAL GOSSIP -- Ed Eichler of Pigeon Telephone Company fame called me Monday... from his car's mobile telephone. The concept is being experimented with here right now, and details will be announced as they're finalized. But it's AMAZING!

Also, while we're yakkin' just between you and me, several new, progressive businesses are in deep discussion stages in Pigeon right now. More details, too, when they're available...

WISH I'D SAID THAT -- The penalty for censoring what your children may be taught is children who are no brighter than you! (Frank A. Clark)

Dems to caucus Saturday

Huron County Democrats have announced three sites for this Saturday's party caucuses, on the way to choosing the party's presidential nominee for 1988.

Locally, site three is set at the American Legion Hall in Caseville, with the caucus set from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Represented are townships of Lake, Caseville, Chandler, McKinley, Winsor, Oliver, Fair Haven, Sebawaing, Brookfield and Grant, plus towns of Pigeon, Elkton, Caseville, Bay Port, Owendale and Sebawaing.

Other caucus sites are Harbor Beach and Bad Axe, party officials say.

ROLLIN' DEM BONES: Action was fast, furious and fun at the third annual Las Vegas Night Saturday at the Pigeon VFW. Sponsored by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, the night provides "no real money" gaming with roulette, craps, black jack, a money wheel and other games. Thumb B changes coming?

There's re-alignment in the air among athletic teams in the Thumb, and the Thumb B Association is meeting next Monday, March 28, to study it further. That's what Laker Athletic Director Bob Drury says, and it might mean a near doubling of teams in one of the area's oldest and strongest athletic associations.

Millington School has applied for membership in the Thumb B League, Drury says. So, Bad Axe has written to Thumb C League schools, recommending the return of the "umbrella concept" -- which would divide the Thumb into east-west regions, divided by M-53.

INTEREST FROM "C" Drury says Thumb C schools -- including Unionville - Sebawaing, Uby, Mayville, Harbor Beach, Reese and Sandusky -- have been approached whether they are interested in coming into a re-structured Thumb B League. The C schools responded that, as a group they may be interested, but not on an individual basis, he says.

TWO DIVISIONS: If those six schools comprising the Thumb C League would merge with the eight schools now in the TBA -- Lakers, Bad Axe, Caro, Marlette, Vassar, Cass City, Imlay City and North Branch -- two "divisions" would be likely among the 14 schools. That might include an "east" group of Harbor Beach, Bad Axe, Uby, Sandusky, Marlette, Imlay City and North Branch, and a possible "west" division including Lakers, USA, Reese, Cass City, Caro, Vassar and Mayville. Distances would be great -- with the Reese to Harbor Beach journey averaging nearly 80 miles -- but the league could be a strong one, with well-rounded teams and good rivalries within and among the divisions.

ANSWERS COMING: Drury says he expects firmer information will be available after the March 28 meeting.

GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT! Students from Bay Port Elementary display a "perch" similar to one they and the school's faculty signed and sent to President Reagan in honor of his birthday in February. Back, Fawn Schweitzer, Carrie Maust, Brandon Herzog and Michele Bolde.

As we see it editorially

Could it really happen? And DID it?!

There's a famous story about playing jokes in the newspaper business which may or may not have happened, nearly 20 years ago. Every now and then, as the tale resurfaces, it brings a smile to the faces of those who KNOW whether or not it really happened... and causes wonderment in the minds of others, questioning if such an even really COULD happen.

And, whether it really DID!
The story, as often told, is that a wire service reporter in an eastern U.S. big city wanted to liven up a quiet, dull news day. So, he wrote a story about an unusual accident and turned it in to his editors, straight-faced.

The story related the tale of a motoring gentleman whose car had stopped near the bottom of a hill. He tried in vain to turn over his auto's motor, and simply waited for help to arrive.

Luckily, a motoring lady drove down the hill, and seeing his plight, stopped to offer assistance. (Remember the story is about 20 years old, so the lady stopping MAY have been possible then).

"What's wrong with your car?" the lady asked. "I'm not sure, but I think it would start if I could just get a push," the stranded male replied.

"Could you back up the hill, and give me a push?" he asked. "If we get going about 35 mph, I think it'll start."

Fine, the lady replied, and backed up her car. The man got behind his wheel, and watched in horror as the lady's car came toward his -- at 35 MPH!

Needless to say, both cars sustained several thousand dollars in damage, the reporter's story ended.

His editor, without batting an eye, drowsily looked the story over and -- amazingly -- appeared to send it over the wire, to hundreds of other newspapers.

The horrified reporter, not wanting to reveal it had all been made up, asked another editor if the story had indeed been sent out, without further checking. "Why not?" the second editor laughed. "I'd expect my wife to do that, too!"

And, as days went by and as more and more papers published the story, the reporter wondered... Could it really have happened? And now, YOU can wonder... COULD it? And DID it?

PIGEON COUNCIL

No serious road work has been done for an estimated 20 years on the heavily-traveled roadway, members said.

1987 POLICE REPORT: Seven injuries resulted from 21 accidents on village streets in the past year, according to the annual report presented by Village Marshal Van Johnson.

That compares with 12 accidents in 1986, in which three persons were injured. Six of the 1987 accidents were vehicles hitting parked vehicles, Johnson said.

Personal injuries were recorded at the corner of Michigan and Center, Charles and Berne and on Hartley Street, the report shows. Seven accidents occurred on Michigan Ave., while five happened on S. Main Street.

Marshal Johnson said 49 traffic and nine parking citations were issued in 1987, compared with 57 traffic and 99 parking tickets in 1986. He says more enforcement of speed, failure to yield and careless driving problems will be needed this year.

Investigations are still continuing on November's armed robbery, but the other two police matters which occupied much investigative time -- involving larceny by conversion and bad check writing -- have been settled with jail terms for the offenders.

Police officer Jeff Wiechert has completed a 40-hour course at Delta College in advanced investigation, Johnson noted.

PARTTIME JOB OPEN: Council agreed to again advertise for a school crossing guard, to work three short shifts in the morning, at noon and at the end of school Mondays through Fridays at the stoplight corner downtown.

Council agreed to pay $15 per day for the job, and interested applicants should contact Village Clerk Janet Heckman as soon as possible. Police and DPW workers will assist at the crossing until a new worker is hired.

PICNIC TABLES: Council noted that DPW workers have constructed eight picnic tables, which are being put at various places around the village.

RECOLLECTIONS
Of By-Gone Days
BY GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

Some time ago I wrote about a bronco horse I was driving and the person who typed the article said it was a "bunco horse." A man wrote me saying he never heard of a bunco horse.

Well, I didn't either, but there were a lot of bronco horses around. They were western horses that were wild but got caught and broken in.

There were a lot of them in the western states. The Broncos weren't as big as the work horses were, but they were a real tough horse. They walked fast and made good riding horses or buggy horses.

Years ago they were either black or bay and sorrel and you had to watch them or they'd run away.

When my Dad lived in Indiana he'd buy one once in a while. Being a good horse man, he could get along really well with them. He bought a bronco mare while in Indiana and when he moved his family to Iowa, he took her along.

In those days if you moved from one state to another, you'd put your horses and cows and machinery and household things in a box car on the train and go to where you wanted to move.

You usually sent a man with the car to take care of your animals and you took your family on the passenger car.

We lived in Iowa three years and while there, he sold that bronco mare to my grandmother, who drove her in the buggy. When the folks and Grandma moved to Michigan, she brought that bronco mare with her.

I was only two months old, so I don't remember it, but Grandma drove that mare in the buggy while she was able to drive.

And when Uncle Dan, who was then farming her farm, didn't need her anymore because he had a Model T Ford, he sold her to Dad for $5.00.

So we got her again!

Her name was Blanche. She had a brand on her and although she was almost 20 years old, she still had a lot of pep. We could hitch her to the cultivator or wagon or buggy and she'd go.

I still was too young to drive a car, so if I wanted to go somewhere, I'd hitch old Blanche up in the buggy and go. She'd trot all the way to town and all the way back.

And of course being young and full of pep myself, I'd let her go.

Once in a while she'd get the bit in her teeth and I'd have to hold the lines real hard and brace my feet in front of the buggy and the tugs wouldn't be tight. She pulled the buggy with her mouth.

Some people don't believe it, but ask Hugo Leipprandt or some other older man and they'll tell you that happened once in a while.

In James 3:3 it says, "We put bits in horses' mouths that they obey us and we turn around their whole body."

Well, we had old Blanche until we had a sale and sold her. Old Charlie Babcock got her and she didn't live long because she wouldn't eat anymore.

Some people die of homesickness and having been in the family for over 20 years, I almost believe that's what old Blanche died from.

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Meet Academic Track!

Academic track meets may be something new to many of us, but to junior high students in the Thumb, they're getting to be old hat. For two years now, junior highs have been competing in a winter program called "Academic Track."

Designed as a time for friendly competition between schools in academics, the program focuses on academic subject matter and performance art skills.

Usually lasting three hours, the first hour is taken up by two testing periods that are each 20 minutes long. Each school competing enters three students in a subject.

Many subjects (U.S. History, ancient history, math, story problems, arithmetic, spelling, word o'clock, trivia, poppourri, biology, physical science) are tested, so that 40 or 50 students are testing at the same time. Those tests, 100-word multiple choice, are then scored and the top three students place in that event.

At the same time, students compete in art categories, such as chalk, charcoal and colors. Their drawings are also scored and become part of the scores for the meet.

Following the two testing periods, students compete in performance categories. Girls' trio, boys' quarter, vocal solo, dramatic reading, interpretive reading, instrumental solo, skit, instrumental ensemble and keyboard solo are categories where several students from each school again compete. Performance is fun but tough, for it means doing your best in front of a group of your peers, teachers and parents, a real pressure situation for junior high students.

Meets are exciting, too, for as soon as scores are available, they are announced. It's thrilling to see how carefully and closely the kids monitor the scores. It's also good to hear them congratulating each other on jobs well done.

Academic track meets don't just happen. There is a lot of coaching and planning that goes into the program. Laker Junior High Counselor Todd Bigger supervises the program and volunteer high school tutors work long hours with the kids in their subject areas. Performance students prepare with the help of a listening, guiding adult, sometimes their parents.

Testing periods have to be monitored and the tests have to be scored. People who judge, score and monitor are all needed. The program depends heavily on volunteers.

A good audience helps, too. During the performance sessions, parents and friends of students help by their presence and applause as the kids showcase their many talents.

In short, academic track is a good program. Good for students who have to sharpen skills in a way that classrooms prepare them for, good for the school as it feels a sense of togetherness in preparing for the meets and hosting them and good for the community that sees its junior high kids in new, mature roles.

Just recently, some of us "forty-ish" folks were sharing things that kids have in school that we didn't have as we came through school. Girls' sports were named as a welcome and needed opportunity. I would agree and quickly add the academic track program to that list of "let's not go back and lose these valuable experiences for our kids" items. To sweeten the pot, let me add that the Laker Junior High kids have won both meets that they competed in this year.

Need we say anything more? It's a good program and welcome addition to the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port School District's offerings for its students.

Active year for local Girl Scouts!

Local girls who participate in Scouting in the Thumb area belong to one of nine troops who are active locally.

The girls participate in local parades, camps, flea markets, special organized outings, cookie sales and Q.S.P. magazine sales, according to Terrill McIlhargie, group leader.

Thirty one girls from Brownie Troop #1005 and Junior Troop #170 visited the Ice Capades in Saginaw on March 4 and Troop #170 is planning a two-day camping trip to Camp Oak Hills in May.

These kinds of outings are made possible by profits from cookie sales, which were completed March 20.

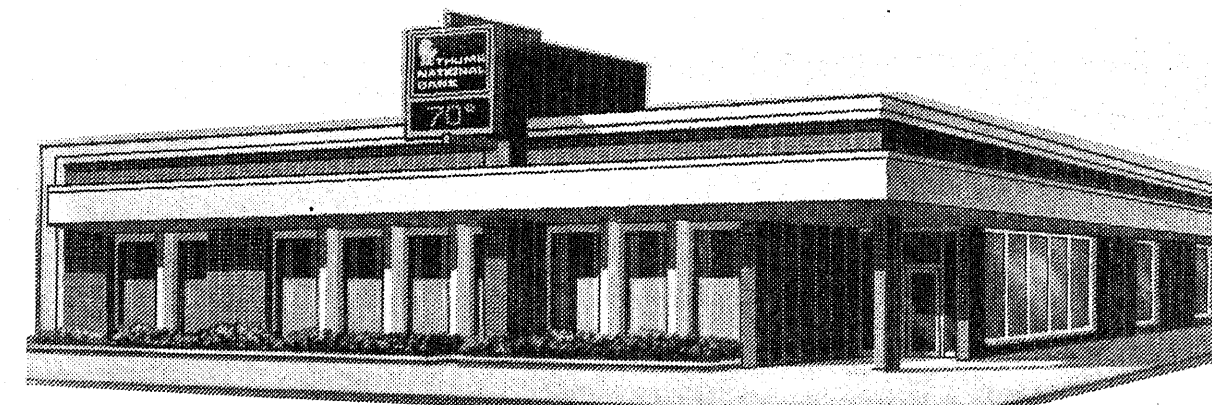

Local Scouts observed National Girl Scout Week in March with a variety of activities. Photos to the right show some of the activities that the girls are involved in year-round.

He's Pigeon native Rob Miller!

Meet Spring Arbor's new coach

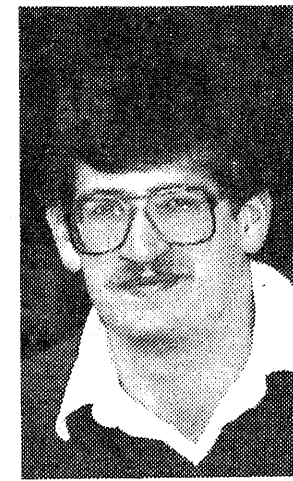

Pigeon native Rob Miller, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. Wayne Miller, was recently named Head Basketball Coach at Spring Arbor College.

A 1982 graduate of Laker High School, Miller played basketball for Laker High and Spring Arbor College.

SAC Athletic Director Hank Burbridge selected Miller over applicants from all over the country. "Rob was the type of individual we were looking for; he was in the right place at the right time."

"Although Rob is young, he has unusual insight into basketball and basketball players and possesses the human qualities necessary to make Spring Arbor College a competitive basketball team," Coach Burbridge says.

"We feel Rob Miller can and will do the job expected, and we look forward to the coming years with Rob as the head coach of the Cougars."

HIS GOALS: Miller says one of his desires will be to bring back winning basketball to Spring Arbor College, whose team sported a 5-26 record this past season.

"I know it will take a lot of hard work, and the program won't be turned around overnight, but I feel tremendous support from the college and I know it can be done," says Miller.

"I'm excited about taking over," Miller says. "We have a good nucleus of freshmen to build on and I feel with a couple of good recruiting years, like last year, we can look forward to some good things happening to the Spring Arbor College basketball program."

"I know I'm young, but I'm not just here to get a few years' experience then move on. I'm here to see this program grow and develop."

Miller previously was the assistant coach for the Spring Arbor team. At age 24, he will be one of the youngest head coaches in the NAIA.

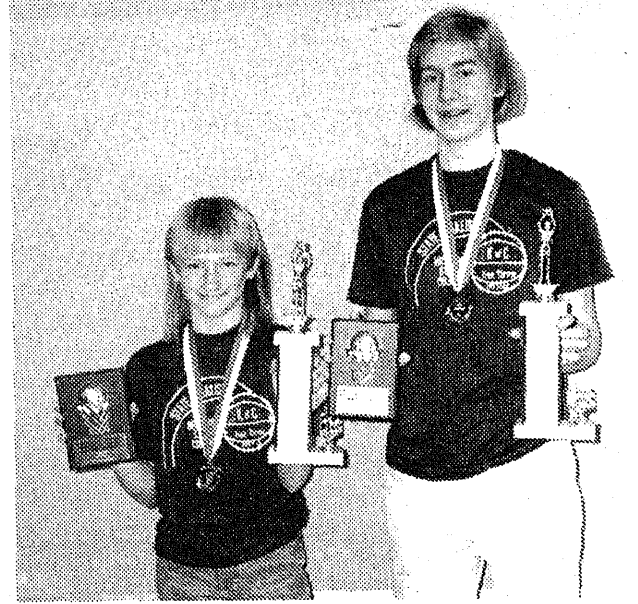

He and his wife Sue live in Spring Arbor.

Bowler of the week

The Thumb Area Women's Bowling Association Bowler of the Week for Feb. 29-March 6 is Brenda Kelbourn, who rolled an actual 607 series.

Kelbourn rolled games of 242, 219 and a 146 on the Live Wires team of the Tuesday Night Charmont Ladies League at Charmont Lanes, Cass City.

Other 550 and higher series bowled were: Pam Corcoran 597, Charmont, Cass City; Arlene Becking 582, Bad Axe Lanes; Florence Penfold 581, Biff's, Kinde; Ethel Shaw 575 and Judy Gordon 574, Bad Axe Lanes; Sharon Matthews 566, Charmont, Cass City; Ann Elbing 565, Pigeon Lanes; Bea Harwood 562, Biff's, Kinde; Madelyn Schrader 553, Crazy Horse, Uby; Kathy Behnke 552, Blue Water Lanes, Harbor Beach; Carol Smithers 552 and Joann Smithson 550, Charmont, Cass City.

TOP FREE THROWERS: Carolyn Bollenbacher of Bay Port and Pam Horetzki of Port Austin are winners of the local Free Throw Contest sponsored by the Knights of Columbus - 8042 of Caseville and Pigeon at the Laker High School gymnasium.

Both youngsters were automatic winners of the district competition, and they also won the regional competition at Carrollton.

Their free throw efforts were defeated at state finals at New Lothrop recently, according to spokesman Bernie King of Pigeon.

When disaster strikes, Chuck Faupel follows!

By AMY HEIDEN

On a quiet December evening last year, Thumb native, Charles Faupel was spending an evening at home when he received a "disaster call" long distance.

The National Academy of Science in Washington was inviting him to participate in a study of disaster response to a tornado that had hit West Memphis, Arkansas Dec. 14.

SPECIALTY: Faupel, an assistant professor of Sociology at Auburn University, has been studying the nature of social behavior of individuals and groups during a disaster.

The son of Mrs. Newell Wightman and brother of Pigeon CPA Donald Faupel, he went to West Memphis in January with a graduate student to observe and gather data of the events that occurred when the tornado hit the small town.

The study concentrated on warning and communication, immediate post-impact response and preparedness.

AUTHOR, TOD: Faupel, a 1969 Laker High graduate, holds a Ph.D. from the University of Delaware, where he specialized in the study of disasters.

He is co-author of the book "Disaster Beliefs and Emergency Planning," which is based on interviews with nearly 1,000 people who reside in communities hit by a disaster.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE
DIRECTOR

JOINT OWNERSHIP

Years ago, it was assumed that property held by a couple would be jointly owned. However, in many cases, attorneys and financial experts are questioning the wisdom of joint ownership.

As a rule, husbands and wives make out joint wills; but joint ownership can be more troublesome than it is commonly supposed, and it is in no sense a SUBSTITUTE for a valid will. Making out a joint will means that the estate is not eligible for the so-called marital deductions; and further, each time the will is changed BOTH parties must give their consent, even if they are estranged.

There are, as well, considerations too detailed to go into here that make joint ownership questionable. The point is that while many people automatically assume that co-ownership is the wisest inheritance policy, there are often better ways to negotiate these tricky matters. Consult a lawyer for specific advice on this matter.

Schulze farm celebrates 100 years in family

ORIGINAL HOUSE: Here's a picture of the Schulze farm house, taken nearly 100 years ago. It looks much that way today, thanks to careful preservation by the third, fourth - and fifth - generations. Standing in front of the house are members of the Schulze family, Adolph, Herman, Baldina, Frieda, Doris and Henry.

Church in Berne when it was on the north side of Berne Road.

PROLIFIC LAND: The farm was a good one for the Schulzes, producing wheat, sugar beets, barley, hay, beans, and oats. The Schulzes also had cattle, and at one time, 18 horses were kept on the farm for field work.

Doris had her own buggy horse which took her to Pigeon to sell eggs and get groceries. In 1915, the Schulzes grew Golden Wax beans for seed for the D.M. Ferry Seed Company in Detroit.

Adolph Schulze says he can remember that during World War I, farmers in the area received $10 a bushel for beans. He also remembers selling wheat in 1931 for 38 cents a bushel and navy beans for 85 cents per hundredweight.

After Adolph took over the farm operation prior to his father's death in 1932, he continued the tradition of growing the best crops possible.

Proof of this came in international competition in Toronto and Chicago, when Adolph won the world championship for navy beans. "I remember people telling me that these were the most uniform beans they'd ever seen," says Schulze.

MANY MORE FIRSTS: The Schulzes installed one of the first electric systems in the area in 1918 - a Delco Electric battery plant purchased from Millerwise's Store in Sebawaing. Its 32-volt system provided electricity for the lights in the house and barn.

The wiring was done by two men from Bad Axe, according to Doris Dinkel, Adolph's daughter, and they lived at the farm for the two weeks it took to do the job.

Later, in 1925, Detroit Edison installed electrical lines to the corner one-half mile south of the farm, and Edwin Eichler, Herman Buchholz and Schulze put up poles and wire to tie the Edison lines to their houses.

REMODELING: In 1936, the house was remodeled by taking down the north section and using the salvaged brick to build the two-car garage that is now Dr. Duane Schulze's office.

The house was also updated with the first electric hot water heater in Huron County that was used for household use.

Dr. Schulze has done extensive remodeling of the house inside, but the exterior is essentially unchanged from decades ago.

IMPROVED LAND: The Schulze farm was first tiled in 1905 by Dan Albrecht, who dug all the trenches by hand and installed red clay tile brought from the Elkton Area by wagon.

"The neighbors all thought we were crazy, that we were putting our money into the ground. Turns out we ended up putting money in the bank.

"We sure had the last laugh," says Schulze.

He says that from 1910 to 1918, additional lines of tile were installed and some of the original tile was replaced.

In 1936, Erich Kraft installed all-new concrete tile, a total of 12,000, purchased from Norman Schaaf for $26 per thousand. More tile was installed in 1957 and 1958.

Later DeVere Sturm replaced portions of the concrete tile, and in 1987, Jim Wurst finished replacing all the old tile with new plastic.

FRUIT FARM, TOO: From 1890 to around 1900, an orchard was planted south of the house, about 70 apple trees and 20 pear trees.

Schulze says the fruit from those trees was used to make nearly 150 gallons of cider a year, with 50 going into vinegar. Most of the fruit, though, was fed to the horses and cattle.

Only a few of those trees are still standing, according to Duane Schulze.

MORE FAMILIES: Ownership of the farm passed from Henry Sr. to Henry Jr. in 1905, and from Henry Jr. to Adolph in 1931.

After Henry Jr.'s death, Doris Schulze moved to Pigeon where she lived till her death in 1955. Adolph Schulze married Mollie Stein in 1925, and from that union, nine children were born: Dolores, Eileen, Elna Mae, Florence, Hilbert and the two sets of twins, Duane and Diane, and Marvin and Marilyn.

Adolph laughingly says he semi-retired around 1970, turning over the operation to son Duane, but Adolph is at the farm every summer "supervising" all activities.

"He's never really retired," says Duane, who along with Dave Eichler now farms the land. The elder Schulze lives with daughter Dolores in Midland.

FIFTH GENERATION: Duane Schulze's son Shane makes the fifth generation of Schulze males to inhabit the big old brick houses. And Shane's brother Luke and sister Tressa are carrying on the tradition, too.

THE LOVE OF GOD ENCHANTS US WITH THE COLORS OF SPRING

With the snows of the winter beginning to melt
At the last of the storm and the gale,
Then the season's awakening soon will be felt,
As the gentler breezes prevail.
Now the branches of trees will no longer be bare,
but imbued with a delicate green;
And the perfume of flowers will sweeten the air,
While the birds will enliven the scene.
As religion reminds us, the love of the Lord
Brings this pleasure we all can derive,
For the calendar offers its greatest reward
In the spring, when the earth comes alive.

—Gloria Nowak

And 'tis my faith,
that every flower
Enjoys the air it breathes.
—William Wordsworth

"It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice, even with joy and singing."

Local Cantata set at Elkton UM

EASTER CANTATA THIS SUNDAY: The voices and instruments of the youth and children of the Elkton United Methodist Church will unite to present an Easter Cantata entitled "The Story of Easter is True" at both the 11 a.m. and the 7 p.m. services on Sunday, March 27. The cantata, written by Mrs. John (Mary) Leipprandt of Pigeon, is directed by Mrs. Donna Krohn with Mrs. Debbie Ackerman assisting. Mrs. Jean Bauman will narrate and Rev. Jim Kummer is the host. IN THE PHOTO, the Cantata ensemble is shown, with Mrs. Leipprandt standing in back row, above right. The public is invited to come and enjoy this Easter presentation. AMY HEIDEN PHOTO

Seminary Chorus presents concert Good Friday at St. John's, Berne

The Seminary Chorus of Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary, Mequon, Wis. will present a sacred concert on Good Friday, April 1 at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Berne, Pigeon.

Members of the 32-voice chorus are on a four-state tour this week as part of a celebration of the school's 125th anniversary. Entitled "God's Word is Our Great Heritage," the concert program includes works by Brahms, Mozart and Bach as well as by contemporary composers.

In addition to the chorus members, choir members will perform instrumental music. The choir is directed by Professor James Tiesel. A free-will offering will be taken in lieu of an admission charge.

60 SECONDS You are important

READ 1 CORINTHIANS 12:1-13
Beloved, now are we the sons of God... When He shall appear, we shall be like Him. 1 John 3:2

Sir Michael Costa was conducting an orchestra rehearsal in England.
The man who played the piccolo paused for a moment, thinking his little contribution would never be missed.

Our Lord needs the note of every human life to make the music of His kingdom complete.
If one note is missing, the music is incomplete.
No person is nearer to God than any other because of profession, position, or prestige.
By nature all have sinned and come short of God's glory.
All of us were foreigners and aliens to God's kingdom.
Through the merit and mediation of Jesus Christ we are no longer strangers, but full-fledged citizens of the kingdom of God.
We are important because God made us and redeemed us to be His own.
Even as a father loves each of his children, so our heavenly Father loves each and everyone of His blood-bought children.
I am only one, but I am one; I cannot do everything, but I can do something. What I can do, I will do with the help of God.
Let all of us make our lives count for the Lord. He is counting on us.
HEAVENLY FATHER, we thank You for making us Your children for time and eternity. You have made us important people in Your kingdom. AMEN.

SHARING BANQUET COMING: Steve and Maria Gardner, Christian recording artists heard on over 500 radio stations nationwide, will be special guests at the annual Bluewater Youth for Christ Sharing Banquet set for Monday, April 11 at 7 p.m. at the Colony House, Cass City.
Tickets are available at the BYFC office in Pigeon or by calling 453-3239. The Gardners have also appeared on every major Christian TV network, as well as syndicated programs like "Day of Discovery" and the "Old Time Gospel Hour." They are as comfortable with small intimate gatherings as they are with Billy Graham Association Crusades.
The public is invited to attend.

BP Churches join for Good Friday service

Jerry Dietzel of Pigeon will present a special program for three Bay Port area churches on Good Friday, April 1 at 1 p.m. at the Bay Port Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Fairhaven Mennonite Church, Bay Port RLDs and Bay Port United Methodist Church will combine for this Good Friday service, which will feature a drama of Christ's crucifixion.

The public is invited to attend.

Local churches set Lenten series

The joint Evangelism committees of Bay Port and Hayes United Methodist Churches have planned a series of Lenten services, March 28-April 3, according to Pastor Alger Lewis.

Rev. Dale Sherry will be featured in message and concert at 8 p.m. nightly.

AT BAY PORT UM

Adelines line up active schedule

Lake Huron Chorus of Sweet Adelines, Inc. recently worked with Maureen Scheurer Roth, Lapeer, on choreography for its contest uptune, "The Showboat Came to Town."

Ms. Roth, daughter of Mrs. Clara Scheurer, Pigeon and the late Dr. Clare Scheurer, has done the choreography and served as show chairman for the current Region 1984.

Regent May Downs has visited Lake Huron Chorus several times as a "Musical Buddy," helping directors Peg Hartman and Marian Rathje with techniques for improving the quality of the chorus's performance of the barbershop style. Ms. Downs directs the Sarnia-Lambton Chorus and has assumed many responsibilities on the Region Board.

Lake Huron is working on its uptune as well as the ballad, "Mary You're a Little Bit Old-Fashioned," preparing for performance on the Border Lakes Region Two contest stage in London, Ont. this year.

The chorus is rehearsing in the cafeteria of the Huron Medical Care Facility every Monday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Singers are welcome to visit a rehearsal to see if they are interested in singing barbershop harmony.

Two champions, Thumb area, for over 10 years. She also served on their board in many capacities. She sang tenor in the quartet, "New Edition," which placed third in regional competition in 1984.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the O'Laughlin Funeral Home, Coleman.

You Still Can Salvage Your Overgrown Landscape...

By Ed Hutchison

Overgrown landscapes that are borderline ugly have a chance at being salvaged to take on a bright, new face at no cost other than a few hours spent pruning each spring for the next few years.

Call it something fancy like "reconstructive shearing" but what it really amounts to is a last ditch effort to save mature plantings that have been neglected over the years.

Success is not guaranteed but it is an option to the two other alternatives: Yanking everything out and starting over or whacking back the offending bushes to ground level and hoping for a miracle of rebirth.

Much of what is proposed here may go against the grain of sound horticultural principles and it is not really a position I favor. However, it is a way for a lot of homeowners to renew their landscapes without spending a dime.

This approach is similar to one used to maintain great stands of boxwood at Carter's Grove, a 17th century mansion near colonial Williamsburg, Va. At one entrance, groundskeepers have carefully sheared many boxwood shrubs into clouds of greenery. The basics of the deliberate approach can be used to remedy years of neglect of evergreens on your property. This effort will not work as well on shrubs that lose their leaves in the fall.

First, consider your overgrown evergreens not as individual bushes but a collection of greenery. You have this mass of green in front of your home and your mission now is to make something attractive from it.

Look it over well. Do the bushes run together? Do they form a basic shape, such as a globe or rectangle? Are there green branches close to the ground? Is the mass of greenery dense?

Yes answers to most of these makes your landscape a good candidate for Operation: Last Ditch.

The next step is to visualize a pleasing shape to make from the mess. Maybe it is a soft rectangle along the front of a one-story home. A two-story home may call for a shape that starts high at one corner, slopes gently down in front of windows and goes back up as it nears the front door. Remember we are talking about a mass of greenery... not individually-sculptured shrubs.

The next step is to measure the heights and widths you'd like to achieve and sketch them to scale on paper. This becomes the map for pruning this spring and for the next few years. Take an hour or two to make this accurate and the sketch will serve you well over the years.

Now the fun begins. This first year, shear the evergreens to begin forming the shape you've envisioned. Not all the bushes will require the same amount of shearing. Some may remain in tact while others may require a lot more cuts to make their shape run into the neighboring bush. Don't worry if there are holes in the design this first year. If your bushes are growing well, they'll fill in soon enough.

Feed the shrubs at least once during the growing season to encourage new branches. Water them during dry spells. Snip back or redirect by careful bending or tying new growth that does not follow the new shape.

For the second and following year, just continue to shear the desired shape and fertilize as before. By the end of third year, the shape will be well-defined and the face lift almost complete. Keep up the pruning in the following years to maintain the shape.

The beauty of this approach is three-fold. First, your landscape's appearance will improve in the process. Second, it costs nothing and third, you will have learned how responsive plants are to regular, planned pruning. It is all the makings of a win-win situation.

There are reasons why this may not work. One is if the shrubs are so old or in poor health that their new growth is weak and unpredictable. Another is if there is little green growth from two feet down. When shrubs are neglected, they tend to grow upright and the bottoms die out. Bottom growth is extremely difficult to force back. Yet another reason for little hope is if the landscape is made up of a variety of types of shrubs... say, six yews, eight junipers and two arbutus. Success is more likely with a collection of all yews or all junipers.

Basically, what you are doing is making a massive topiary out of a collection of bushes. No, it won't look cute like the ducks and animals at Disney World but it will look neat and tidy.

The best time to get started is now, even though evergreens are usually pruned in early summer after spring's new growth has matured. The reason for doing the initial shaping is now is to let the new growth begin filling in and conforming to the new design.

Thanks A Million

BY PERCY ROSS

You may write to Percy Ross in care of The Progress-Advance, P.O. Box 35000, Minneapolis, MN 55435. Please include your telephone number with your letter.

DEAR MR. ROSS:
I'm a 15 year old girl. You may not believe me, but then that is up to you. I know what I'm writing you is the truth.

I live with my mom and stepdad. I'm the only child who lives at home. I'm grounded for the rest of the semester because I received an F on my report card. What I want to know is, how can I do my homework knowing there isn't enough money to live on? One person in the home is making $70 every two weeks and that has to pay bills.

Now you tell me - could you do school work when you're asking yourself where the next meal is coming from? How long will we have the house? What if we lose everything? Would my parents be better off if I were dead? Those are some of the questions I ask myself every day. - D.C., Detroit, Mich.

DEAR D.:
You just gave the definition of poverty and the facts are ugly. The ideal solution would be to whisk your family out of this desperate situation and set up house for you in the middle-income bracket.

But how can I justify this for your family when there are so many others in similar situations? All I can give you is a little hope and encouragement, because I've been there. Your situation doesn't have to be permanent -- it can be turned around.

I'm sending enough money to buy food and pay the utility bills for several months. Perhaps the taste of temporary financial relief will motivate the family to do something about your present situation. Good luck. -$$$$$$$$-

DEAR MR. ROSS:
My request is for you to tell your readers like it really is.

You are NOT a rich, loving man who wants to help people. The truth is - without the poor people, you wouldn't be making a fortune writing your column.

The newspapers pay you millions of dollars each year and you give away very little of it - just enough to keep your column in print.

You are NOT the nice guy you pretend to be, but a phony who gives very little to the poor so you can line your pockets with the rest. You PHONY!! - Ms. W.B., Indianapolis, Ind.

DEAR MS. B.:
I relish letters like yours. You probably believe you're exposing the scam of the century when in fact, you're providing me with an opportunity to foot my own horn.

Believe it or not, the amount of money I make off my column doesn't even cover one of my secretary's salary for the month. So... a phony? No. A foolish old man? Perhaps. Happy with how I'm spending my money? You bet!! -$$$$$$$$-

'Dairy Diplomats' hear former Ag Secretary John Block

Former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block was the keynote speaker at the seventh annual meeting of the Dairy Diplomats, at the Sheraton Inn in Lansing March 16-17.

Huron County was represented by 18 Diplomat members, who took part in workshops such as "Myths by the Mouthful," "Food as Art" and "Spies in the Aisle." The Diplomats also enjoyed seeing "The Ultimate Entertainer" - Hobson the Magician.

More than 80 members from across Michigan attended the meeting. Dairy Diplomats is a group of women associated with the dairy industry who are promoting the use of dairy products.

The local group attends various workshops throughout the year and mans a booth at the Huron County Fair every year.

ACD leaders attend convention

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Diebel of Elkton and Mr. and Mrs. Walt Cook of Harbor Beach, directors of the Huron Soil Conservation District, attended the 42nd annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts in February in Little Rock, Ark.

The convention theme of "Expanding Our Horizons" set the stage for discussions among some 1,600 state and district conservation officials who attended from across the United States.

Included on the agenda was discussion of the new role of the district officials, resulting from the passage of the 1985 Food Security Act, giving them the responsibility of approval individual farm conservation plans under the conservation compliance portion of the Act.

The NACD Council also approved a funding resolution recommending the Soil Conservation Service be funded in 1989 at $756 million, up $80 million from the current level of funding.

Keynote speaker was Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Peter C. Myers, who encouraged NACD and districts to actively supply the USDA with ideas on the conservation provisions of the farm bill.

Convention attendees also visited commercial and educational exhibitors in the "Conservation Expo."

The 26th To Our Favorite Wife & Mother
Love, Eddie, Betty, Patti, Lori & Dale

The family of Clara E. Diebel would like to thank friends & relatives for their expressions of sympathy, prayers, memorials, cards and gifts of food. To Rev. Maxwell for his words of comfort. The V.F.W. Ladies Aux. Post 2236 for their memorial services and the funeral dinner, it was a beautiful tribute to Clara. To Elmer & Scott for helping us through a very difficult time. We Sincerely thank you

TORNADO

Keep Your Eye on the Sky!

Most tornadoes occur in the months of April, May, June and July in the late afternoon and evening hours, usually between 3 and 7 p.m.

WHEN A TORNADO THREATENS

- Stay away from windows, doors, and outside walls. Protect your head.
- In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level. Get under something sturdy.
- In schools, hospitals, and public places, move to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on lowest floors are best.
- In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to more substantial shelter.
- If outdoors, with no shelter available, lie flat in nearby ditch, and shield head with arms.
