Sen. Barcia wants vet care facility here

Cassville Village Council Member Donald McIntire said Monday that they are seeking support from the Missouri Department of Agriculture for a proposal to build a small animal hospital in the city.

McIntire and Don Mathis, president of the Cassville Chamber of Commerce, have been working on the project with the Missouri Department of Agriculture for several months.

McIntire said the proposal is for a small animal hospital that would include a veterinary clinic, a small animal surgery, and a small animal recovery area.

He said they hope to have the hospital up and running within the next year and that it will provide much-needed services to the community.

McIntire also said that they are working on getting funding for the project, which they hope will be approved by the Missouri Department of Agriculture within the next few months.

In other news, the council approved a resolution to purchase four acres of land for the construction of a new city park. The land will be purchased using funds from the city's park and recreation fund.

The park will be located on the north side of town, near the Cassville Community Center.

McIntire said that the park will be a great addition to the community and will provide a place for residents to enjoy outdoor activities.

He said that they hope to have the park up and running within the next year and that it will provide many benefits to the community.

Study the blink of an eye!

There is more to a “blink” than just closing your eye. Scientists have discovered that the blink is a basic mechanism that helps prevent airborne infections like the common cold and flu. When you blink, you are actually moving the delicate membranes that line your nose and throat, helping to flush out any pathogens that may be present.

The U.S. Air Force, for one, Air Force exercise, “Eye Opening,” has been linked to increased performance. Pilots who participated in the exercise showed a significant increase in their ability to detect small objects in their flight simulators. This is because the blink is a natural way for the brain to process information and enhance visual perception.

John Smith, a renowned ophthalmologist, has broken down the blink into two distinct parts: the blink itself and the momentary pause that follows. He has found that the blink is not only a simple action, but a complex coordination of muscles in the eye, face, and neck.

So, next time you blink, take a moment to appreciate the incredible mechanism that helps protect you from illness and enhances your ability to see. It’s a small action, but one that makes a big difference.

DECAY MAY, 1993

I’d get right to the point. You’re a single mother of two children on public assistance. I receive a support payment from your father that is never counted and lack in Buffalo with you in a small apartment. I’m unable to work because of a nervous condition. I need help.

My daughter has just had a baby.
I had to leave him with her. I’m shopping for diapers.

The problem now is that all she now is shopping only for the Nutten Arms with one dollar, and I’m very embarrassed. I don’t have money to buy.

I see your name in the paper. I don’t belong anywhere you’ve done it before. My friend told me she knew you.

I want to talk to you. I’ll see you later in the week. Give me your number. I’ll call you later. I’ll be there.

DECAY MR. ROSSE

DEAR MR. ROSSE:

I can’t be much help to you
now. I’ve just had a baby myself.

They’ve taken my apartment up when they moved you away.

I’m in the same situation as you,
and I don’t know what to do.

I hope you can find somewhere to live outside the city where it’s quieter.

DEAR MR. ROSSE:

I’m sorry to hear that you’re having a hard time. I know how it is.

I’ve tried to help people like you before, but I can’t do it all by myself.

I’ve been thinking about writing to some of the charitable organizations in Buffalo and asking them for help.

I’ll try to get in touch with them and see if they can help.

DEAR MR. ROSSE:

P.S.: If you need a place to stay, I can 或许 help you find one.

DEAR MR. ROSSE:

About a year ago, I fell ill and had to spend several weeks in a hospital. I lost my job and my savings.

I’ve been looking for work ever since, but it’s been hard.

I’ve been living in my car for the last few months.

I’m sure I’ll find something soon.

I appreciate your understanding.

DEAR MR. ROSSE:

Thank you for your letter.
I’ve been thinking about writing to some of the corporations in Buffalo and asking them for help.

I’ll try to get in touch with
them and see if they can help.

I hope things get better for you soon.
I’ll be thinking of you.

Every high school athletics program should have two seasons in which to build the team. This year’s softball team has eight returners and seven incoming players. The finished last year’s season with a 12-7-3 record, capturing the city title in the state semi-finals. The only returning player from the state team was Sandy Pendley who moved to the Marcellus area and will play for the Michigan Wolverines next season. This year they hope to be more competitive in the Tri-County League. Senior MVP and South Fork will be hard to beat.

WEB UPDATES: Pitching and catching are the two positions that are question marks. Tony Poyer, Connie Adams and Jimmy Robles have all been playing, all have had a lot of hitting experience. To be behind the plate, there are several players on the team who have the ability to catch back into a situation if needed.

STRING MITTERS: Pitching up the deck for 1st baseman is Sandy Pendley. She has been one of the top hitting players in the league. The 1st baseman, Olivia Stahl, Vickie VanEperen, Denise Kremer and Tony Poyer work well as a unit. It is a mixing and matching situation each game. The defense behind the plate has been strong this year. They should have one of the strongest hitting, fielding teams in the league. They will also have one of the top defenses.

Help lead your team...play baseball! Help your team win the state championship! The key to winning is teamwork. Practice makes perfect. With a well-planned and executed team, the first ball of the season may be for real. Although the first game was Thursday, the first home game is Wednesday against the battle of the best.

This team may be a year away from being a quality team. Consider this year's team has to be a year away but there are many young and talented players on the team. With such a young and experienced team, the first year of the team may be for real. Although the first game was Thursday, the first home game is Wednesday against the battle of the best.

Boys are added new faces this year's track team. Keenon Burt is the new head coach and he has brought in new insertions and more new members to the program. There are 45 members on the team.

Returning to Moorehead High was also a big change for the 1992-93 season. Tom Woods, who had been coaching the track team for the past four years, has retired.

There are some good athletes on the squad now, but the success of the team will be determined on whether they can get to the meet and compete. The team is full of potential but will have to be in the best shape to be the best.

Laker Boys out-distance Harbor Beach

By TIM BLAKEYN

The cast and winds weathered Thursday, piling out of the cars and filling the tracks at Harbor Beach for another year. The Laker boys were in for a challenging day; they had to face the strong winds and make it out of the water. They defeated Harbor Beach in the opening game of the season.

First Place Finisher

Kris McGee had the distinction of being the first to cross the finish line. Kris McGee had a time of 2:58.5 which secured his victory. With a strong start and consistent pace, Kris McGee was able to lead the race from start to finish. The second place finisher was Matt Andrews, who crossed the finish line in 3:02.0. The third place finisher was Tim Blakney, completing the course in 3:03.5. The Laker boys put on a strong performance, with all three members finishing in the top five. Kris McGee's win marked the beginning of what promises to be an exciting season for the Laker boys. The team's dedication and hard work is evident in every race, and they are sure to continue their streak of success in the future.

Brunet recalls that even after the only teachers' strike back in 1982, "we were all talking again and we were back to work as usual, a week after the work stoppage." "Our staff shares that overall philosophy. It's a big world out there, but you can be what you want to be. You couldn't ask for more in accomplishments and achievements than what we see from Lakor kids. They do a phenomenal job, collective-ly.

COMPETITION: Brunet, aside from being the most staunch Lake booster in hallways and on playing fields, is a sports lover of great degree. "Oh, I love going to Thumb B (athletic conference) meetings. They all want to get us. Here's little Lakes with 136 kids, versus Caro with 2000. North Branch with 2000 and soon Millington with 2400, the big guys. "And we don't have a back seat to any of them. "You never achieve anything through mediocrity. You do so by excelling.

DIFFICULT TIMES: Brunet notes the last two years of falling land values and uncertain funding has hastened his decision to retire from school work here.

"We've had no control in our finances in the last two years. We've had to put off a dozen things. It's millions. That shouldn't be a part of educating boys and girls. "It should be a pleasure, joyous and fun. We shouldn't have to subject kids to that because of the whims of some senior citizens who live up on top of us."

Brunet says much blame on state lawmakers, who haven't done enough to equalize school funding which huts districts such as this immensely.

He'd rather see a statewide property tax sales tax jump, where all funds are doled out equally on a per-student basis. Brunet is very proud that, even in these difficult times, local millage rates are under the state average of 21 mills.
"Our children were held hostage. Our record over the years has been showing modest growth. We didn't stockpile, build Taj Mahals. But in the next two to three years, I hope we'll see property values stabilize for everyone's sake."

Brunet notes retirees get credit breakers and other rebates on school tax, and farmers get relief through P.A. 116 rebates. See, there are some good things about bad times, but they could be better."

PERSONALLY: Brunet and his wife Donna plan to spend winter months 'off the glitter way' in Las Vegas. "We're relocating there, and I'm keeping my options open. I might do something else, or I might even drive a cab.
"I love this job, but I don't want to overstay my welcome. Why hang on? I haven't amassed great fortune, but we'll make it. That's all I've ever wanted."

The Brunets have five children, daughters Vicky and Laurie and sons Mike, Dan and Matthew, the final two Lakor graduates, by the way, he adds.

Donna has probably been the perfect person in his role as 'mother' to the school superintendent. She's low-key and has never been pushy. As my career opened up, she's been there.

HOME CHANGES! The top Lakor leader has always lived in the superintendent's house just west of the school complex, an occasional aggravation to Brunet. Former school board directors didn't want a superintendent to align himself with any one of the three towns.

"It was a condition of employment when I came here. I've accepted it. I say whatever takes my place, that option should be open for negotiation."

SUCCESSION? My allegiance is to Lakor, number one. That's it. I think the world of these communities and the people here. I'm proud we got our beautiful junior high world $1.7 million through a grant. I'm grateful we have absolutely no school bond debts, some schools keep looming seven to seven mills for 25 more years. "We've maintained our properties, added an all-weather track and have all students from seventh grade to graduation on a six-foot track now. That allows more extra curricular involve-ment. We have a bee hive here, after school.

"I wouldn't do anything differently if I could. It could have been noticed, it's been the evolution of the Lakor kid and Lakor pride.

"We've tried to offer the best value and best education possible to our tax payers and students. I would hope what we've started will be perpetuated, so I can walk in here 10 years from now and Lakor will still be number one in the Thumb."

"We're a statewide suc-

New business on the ‘up and up’ in Caseville!

By Amy Woods

Will Caseville’s businesses continue to grow? Ask anyone on Main Street from Caseville to Cove and the answer is yes. With new businesses opening up and ongoing development, the future looks bright. Let’s take a look at some of the new businesses on the horizon.

LEADERS in the Caseville Chamber of Commerce are thrilled with the growth and potential of the city. "We are seeing an increase in business interest," says Chamber President John Kuchta. "People are seeing Caseville as a great place to do business and live." The Chamber is actively working on expanding the Caseville Business Park, which will provide more space for businesses to grow.

TRAVEL UPDATES: Michigan has experienced a significant increase in tourism recently. With the state’s beautiful beaches and scenic destinations, it’s no wonder why businesses are flocking to Caseville. The Caseville Lumber Co. has seen a surge in inquiries about building permits, indicating a growing interest in the area.

WHICH WILL IT BE? One of the biggest developments in Caseville this year is the new Caseville Perch Festival. "We are thrilled to host this event," says Mayor Bill Johnson. "It’s a great way to bring people together and support local businesses." The festival will feature food trucks, live music, and a parade.

Hints For SAFE Boating

Know and understand the acceptable capacities of your craft. The combined weight of crew and gear should be kept within these limitations.

1. Be a responsible boater—boating and boating don’t mix.
2. Before you leave the dock, make sure there is a U.S. Coast Guard approved personal flotation device (PFD) for each person on board.
3. Standing or lounging over the side of the boat is dangerous.
4. A variety of drugs—even some over-the-counter medicines can affect operating a boat.
5. Always keep safety in mind for you and your family.

Here's a 'written look' at the Queens' candidates...

Following years of tradition, these members of the Caseville High School junior class will vie for the title of "Miss Caseville" at the annual Queens' Dinner this Saturday night, April 16 at 7 p.m. at the Bella Vista Inn.

Queens' Dinner coordinator is Shelly Lisowski of Caseville.

KELLY BOWERS, daughter of Paulette Cummins and Terry Bowers of Caseville, is 16 years old. She enjoys reading, singing, talking walks and volleyball and looks to the future for a career as a child and teen psychologist. She has two sisters, Kim and Mary Kay and three brothers, Terry (Mike), Tony and Terry.
