Luke finds 'open arms' at Crossroads

BY SALLY RUMMEL

When seven year old Luke Schultz bounces out of school after a full morning of playing and working along other students, very few visible characteristics would set him apart from his fellow schoolmates.

He's a blonde-haired, brown-eyed affectionate little boy who loves playing on the swings, riding on the "boat" in his classroom and smiling.

What a stranger wouldn't see is that Luke struggles with a battle every day — one that affects his ability to learn and to relate to other children in a "normal" way.

Luke is autistic and the fact that he is able to attend a "regular" school like Cross Lutheran School in Pigeon is a testament to the dedication and endless support of the staff at this small, but growing Christian school of 80 students.

BEING STUDIED: No less than "amazing" is how Dan Hobbs, the Director of Training and Research at Childcraft University in Omaha, Neb., describes the "family" that Luke has built around him, including his "real" family, parents Dr. Duane and Donna Schultz of Pigeon, brother Shane and sister Trena, the staff and students at Cross Lutheran and even the community of Pigeon itself.

Hobbs spent last week with the Schultz family and staff of Cross Lutheran — a week of intensive training using the methods of "Gentle Teaching," a philosophy of teaching the mentally disabled based on valuing a person for his or her abilities rather than focusing on their "disabilities."

KNOW WIDELY: It is Hobbs' goal and commitment to teaching the disabled which has taken him across the United States — including several visits to Cross Lutheran, Luke and the Schultz family — for the last 43 weeks.

"This is not a career for me," explains Hobbs, "This is a cause, something I have to do."

Hobbs, who is married and has four children ranging in age from two to 12, leaves his own family almost every week of the year to train families, caregivers, teachers, group home workers, anyone in daily contact with the disabled.

This is his second visit this year to Huron County. His first visit was primarily spent on teaching "Gentle Teaching" methods at the Huron Learning Center, where Luke spent two full days and three half days in a classroom with other autistic children. Hobbs also spent some time at Cross Lutheran and with the Schultz family, but served most of that time for this follow-up visit.

SPECIAL METHOD: Any one visiting the preschool classroom this week, in which Luke is a student, would find help but notice the tall, bearded, gentle man who encouraged, praised and cared for Luke amidst the 19 other students, teacher Mrs. Cindy Englehardt, aide Mrs. Lori Smith and Luke's mother, Donna, who accompanies her son in school three mornings a week.

It is his goal that the disabled be mainstreamed into "regular" schools, so that they can use "normal" children as role models for their behavior.

Greenfields work is in gear

BY SALLY RUMMEL

While rumors and stories have been in the local air recently, the owners and general manager of the upcoming Greenfields Restaurant and Pub have been quietly gearing up about their business of planning, designing and constructing what they hope will be Thumb's most talked about, unique restaurant.

And talked about it has been!

Located in the former Krahl Inc. location on North Caseville Road on Pigeon's west end, Greenfields appeared to be "put on hold" the last several months, while architectural plans were fine-tuned and construction bids were received.

UNDERWAY: General Manager Bill McCaima, who returned to his hometown after years of working in the restaurant business in Utah, says that the delays are all behind now and that construction has begun.

McCaima expects his restaurant doors to be open at the first of the year, although he says his building construction will be completed by mid-December.

"We'll use a couple weeks to train our new employees so our customers will have the best possible dining experience at Greenfields," he explains.

Booms Construction of Bad Axe is the major contractor and McCaima is pleased to add that Lyle Gaschel of Thumb Country Furniture is crafting all the oak tables which will be a special feature of Greenfields.

BUSY PLANS: McCaima has spent the last several months downing the behind-the-scenes restaurant planning, including the purchasing of equipment, working with an interior decorator and designer and very importantly — creating the menu.

"We will specialize in seafood and steaks, plus some Italian dishes," says McCaima. "And I hope to give Thumb residents some Continued on Page 2

Earlier lobby hours at Pigeon Post Office

Another change is coming to the Pigeon Post Office, according to Postmaster Martin Titus.

Effective Monday, Sept. 26, the lobby business hours will be 9:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., while the box lobby hours will remain open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"This way, outgoing mail should be deposited in the outgoing boxes by 4:30 p.m., so that it has plenty of time to be processed. Mail deposited on Saturdays or Sundays in the outside collection boxes will be picked up at 5 p.m. each day, resulting Sunday service dropped several years ago."

This also reminded patrons that 30 cents in postage is required for Canadian mail.
Luke finds "open arms at cross"

Sometimes in life we must be alert to what is happening around us. It is easy to get so wrapped up in our own little world that we fail to notice the needs of others. Luke's story illustrates this point.

Luke was a young boy who found himself alone and abandoned. He had nowhere to go and no one to turn to. His life was filled with suffering and pain. Luke's story is one of hope and redemption.

The story begins with Luke being found by a kind-hearted man who took him in and gave him a home. Luke was happy and content for the first time in a long time. He was able to feel safe and loved for the first time in his life.

As Luke grew older, he was able to give back to the community that had given him so much. He realized that the love and kindness he had received from others was something worth sharing.

In conclusion, Luke's story is a reminder that even in the darkest of times, there is always hope. With love and kindness, we can turn the tide and make the world a better place for all.

Family reunion

Reunions are a wonderful way to catch up with friends and family. It's an opportunity to share stories, catch up on what's been happening in each other's lives, and create new memories.

This year, my family reunited for a special occasion. My cousin, who lives on the east coast, came to visit and we decided to spend the weekend together. It was a great opportunity to reconnect and make new memories.

The weekend started with a visit to my parents' house. We spent the day catching up and reminiscing about old times. My cousin brought along some old photos and we spent hours looking through them, reliving the good old days.

On Saturday, we went out for brunch and then spent the afternoon exploring the city. We visited some of our favorite spots and tried new things. It was a lot of fun to see the city through my cousin's eyes.

On Sunday, we went to a local park and had a picnic. We spent the day playing games and enjoying each other's company. It was a perfect way to end the weekend.

Overall, it was a wonderful reunion and I'm looking forward to the next one. It's always nice to spend time with my family and create new memories together.
Reading/voting go hand in hand.

As can be read elsewhere, you’re not part of the problem... but ARE you part of the solution? Voting and reading go hand in hand. Both tasks are necessary to the democratic process. One task won’t work without the other. If you want to make/keep our community a home that we all value and wish to remain a part of, we need to vote and read/learn about what’s happening in our community and the world. If you want to make/keep our community a home that we all value and wish to remain a part of, we need to vote and read/learn about what’s happening in our community and the world.

Dinosaurs on Charter Island?

Dinosaurs, mammals, reptiles, birds, and more can all be found on Charter Island. This is a special place where these animals can live together.

How do you want to live your life? Do you want to be healthy and active? Do you want to be happy and fulfilled? Do you want to be successful and productive? Do you want to be a positive influence on others? These are all important questions that you should ask yourself before making any major decisions about your future.

Christen-9 Kluck

September 9, 1968

Christen Kluck of Saginaw and James Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Saginaw, were married Saturday, Sept. 9, in St. Mary’s Catholic Church. The Rev. Father James E. Fick of Saginaw performed the ceremony, which was attended by about 50 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Saginaw. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Saginaw. The bride’s father is a farmer.

The wedding party included “One Hand One Heart.” The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Ferguson of Saginaw. The matron of honor was Miss Margaret Ferguson of Saginaw. The bride’s parents were present at the ceremony.

The setting was an intimate and beautiful one, with the church decorated in white and green. The bride wore a white gown with a veil, and the groom wore a suit and tie. The guests were seated in the church pews, and the wedding party stood at the altar.

The reception was held at the family home, where the guests enjoyed a sumptuous dinner and cake. The bride and groom cut the cake together, symbolizing their union.

Mckenna - Reed

Jennifer Reed and Peter Mckenna, both of Cannelton, celebrated their marriage in a wedding ceremony Saturday, Aug. 29, at the United Methodist Church in Cannelton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John B. Reed, uncle of the bride.

The bride was escorted by her father, Bob Reed, and her older brother, Tom Reed.

The bride and groom exchanged vows in front of the Rev. John B. Reed, pastor of the United Methodist Church in Cannelton.

The wedding party included the maid of honor, Jennifer Mahaffey, and the best man, Tom Reed.

The couple will reside in New Albany, Indiana.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In recognizing September 23, 1968, as the 37th anniversary of National Hunting and Fishing Day, President Reagan has issued the following statement:

"On behalf of the President, I want to commend the various organizations that have taken an active role in protecting and conserving our natural resources. The efforts of these groups will help ensure the continued enjoyment of our natural heritage.

"In addition to the groups that have consistently taken an active role, there are some other organizations that have made a significant contribution to the protection and conservation of our nation's wildlife. These organizations include the National Wildlife Federation, the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, and the National Geographic Society.

"The success story of wildlife management and conservation in this country is a testament to the dedication and hard work of all of these organizations. Their efforts have been crucial in preserving our natural resources for future generations.

"I urge all citizens to continue to support these organizations and to take an active role in protecting and conserving our natural resources. With your help, we can ensure that our children and grandchildren will have the same opportunities to enjoy our natural beauty as we have had.

"Thank you for your dedication to the protection and conservation of our natural resources."

"Hall of Fame” Awaits New Michigan Record Setters

A green squash weighing 3 pounds, 10 ounces, and measuring nearly 2 feet long, has been confirmed as a state record squash by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"The squash has been confirmed as a world record squash by the Michigan Department of Agriculture," said a representative from the department.

"This is an exciting moment for our state and for the squash industry. This squash has set a new standard for记录 squash, and we are proud to recognize this achievement.

"We encourage all of our farmers and growers to continue to push the boundaries of what is possible and to strive for excellence in their work. With dedication and hard work, anything is possible.

"Thank you to all of our farmers and growers for your hard work and commitment to our state. Your efforts make Michigan proud."

"FRIENDLY PRAYERS"

Father Merrill of St. Francis de Sales Church has been selected to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the church.

"This is a special occasion for our church and our community. Father Merrill has served our church with dedication and commitment for many years. We are grateful for his leadership and for his example of faith," said a representative from the church.

"We encourage all of our members to continue to support Father Merrill and to continue to grow in our faith. With the help of God, anything is possible.

"Thank you to all of our members for your hard work and commitment to our church. Your efforts make St. Francis de Sales Church proud."

"NO MATTER how good a fisherman you are, the State’s top honors have to go to the area’s Great Blue Herons."

"They are true symbols of the beauty of nature, and they are a joy to watch. With their graceful movements and stunning plumage, they add a touch of elegance to our waterways."

"Thank you to all of our fishermen for your hard work and commitment to our waters. Your efforts make the State of Michigan proud."

Outdoor Report

Anglers in the Thousand islands are used to waiting for fall to arrive. But this year, they’re waiting even longer. With the opening of the small game season last Thursday, many of our local fishermen and women began to cast about for that first big one. However, the Department of Natural Resources and Michigan United Conservation Club officials reported that this season’s fishing opener was not as successful as it had been in recent years.

The season opened on Monday, October 10, with a flurry of activity at the local lakes and rivers. However, the weather conditions were not favorable for most anglers, who found the fishing to be slow. Many of those who did manage to catch anything found that the fish were not as abundant as in previous years.

Despite the lack of a good harvest, many anglers are optimistic about the future of fishing in the area. They believe that the current conditions are temporary and that better fishing days are ahead.

We're asking you

This week's question, asked by Brenda Buschcn:

"Will you be watching the Olympic Games this fall? If so, what is your favorite event, why?"

Linda Clabuesch

We all have our favorite events! I'll be watching the winter events. I've always been a fan of the winter Olympics, which are usually held in snowy, cold climates. I enjoy watching the athletes as they compete in events like skiing, snowboarding, and figure skating. It's always exciting to see how they push themselves to the limit and perform at their best.

Bill McElfan

I'll be watching the basketball and the soccer events. I'm a huge fan of both sports and I'm excited to see how the athletes perform in these events. I also enjoy watching the team dynamics and how they work together to achieve their goals.

Brenda Beyer

I'll be watching the gymnastics events. I've always been fascinated by the skill and athleticism required in this sport. I'm looking forward to seeing how the athletes perform on the balance beam, the uneven bars, and the floor exercise.

DEAR MR. ROSES:

I am sending you a few words of encouragement on your first day of school. I am a former student in your class and I wanted to share a few words of advice.

DEAR MR. ROSES:

I will be watching the volleyball games. I've always been a fan of the sport and I'm excited to see how the athletes perform in this event. I also enjoy watching the strategy and teamwork required to win a game.

DEAR MR. ROSES:

I will be watching the hockey games. I've always been a fan of the sport and I'm excited to see how the athletes perform in this event. I also enjoy watching the speed and intensity of the game.

We hope you enjoy watching the Olympic Games this fall! Let us know which events you'll be watching and why.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday

Great concern is often shown about religion or other aspects of our national life that differ radically from our own, and this is never more evident than when an election draws near. There may be a candidate whose speeches are very close to ours, and yet we fear something else that keeps the huge bloc of his adherents away from him. That's why we have laws, and a constitution that spells out those laws and the limitations of power by any level of government. From the lessons at our House of Worship we learn that these laws had their roots in the Bible, and were designed to allow the maximum of freedom while protecting the rights of others. Thank the Lord for these laws, and remember that all of our elected officials must abide them.
