This is a nice place to live, but it’s hard to go elsewhere by train!

As we see it editorially

A national columnist with mid-Michigan roots recently hit the nail on the head when he talked about: "People just don’t get it. They just think a couple of people are trying to stop things. I really think the problem is that high speed rail is seen as a huge project that’s going to change everything."

The columnist was speaking about the potential for high speed rail in mid-Michigan, noting that while there are plans for a route through the area, the project is still in the planning stages and there are many challenges to overcome. He also noted that while high speed rail has the potential to change things, it's important to focus on the benefits and work towards making it happen.

The columnist's comments speak to a larger issue of how people think about change and progress. While high speed rail may seem like a big project, it's important to remember that it can have a significant impact on the region and bring positive changes to people's lives. It's up to us to work together and make it happen.

TRUE LOVE IS MUCH MORE THAN CARDS ON VALENTINE’S DAY

In just about a week from now
There’ll be a special day
For which we all have made a vow
To send what will portray
How much we love someone we know,
In words that will combine
With lacy hearts and cupid’s bow
In red and white design.
But love extends beyond a card
For someone else to see,
It’s meant to show our deep regard.

For helping those in need.
Our Bible lessons underscore
Their message
That love is infinitely more Than just a Valentine.

USE GRAINS FOR HOMEMADE COOKIES

Winters is the perfect time for hearty, hot snacks. One of the best options you could possibly imagine is to use freshly ground grains in the form of pecan pralines or pecan nut clusters. You can add these pecan pralines to your favorite recipes, such as in banana bread or coffee cake, or simply enjoy them as a snack. Pecan pralines are made by mixing pecans, brown sugar, and butter in a slow cooker and then melting the mixture in a pan. The pecan pralines are then allowed to cool before being removed from the pan. You can also make pecan pralines with honey, brown sugar, and butter by stirring the ingredients together in a pan until they reach a caramel color. Once the pecan pralines are completely caramelized, you can remove them from the pan and allow them to cool. Pigeon news

By MARILYN ZIEGNER

The Ticonderoga Extension group, who meets Monday, Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the homes of Betty Albright and co-hostess Mrs. Marion Sayre, will be holding their evening meeting on Monday, Feb. 10 at 7 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall. The group is open to anyone interested in wildlife extension. There will be a discussion on how to attract and care for a flock of pigeons. The group is open to the public. For more information, please contact Mrs. Sayre at 588-7308.

DEAR MR. ROSE: I've written you and we've had a lot of letters from your readers about pigeons. It seems to me that our society is becoming more educated about wildlife. It's great to see all the interest in this area. Thank you for your work.

DEAR MR. ROSE: Our daughter, five years old, always with her mother and father, has been watching the flock of pigeons that has been coming to the street where we live. She has been asking us about them, and we've been teaching her about their behavior and habits. She's become very interested in these birds, and we've decided to buy her a small bird feeder so she can see them up close. It's been a wonderful experience for all of us. Thank you for your help.

DEAR MR. ROSE: I've been very interested in your book on birds, and I've read it cover to cover. I've also been watching the birds in my own backyard, and I've been observing their behavior and habits. I've been very impressed with what I've learned, and I've decided to start my own bird-watching journal. I've been writing down my observations and discoveries, and I've been sharing them with others. It's been a great experience, and I've been very happy with what I've accomplished. Thank you for your help.

DEAR MR. ROSE: I think you're one of the smartest people I've ever met. Your work is excellent, and I've learned a lot from you. I've been reading your book, and I've been finding it fascinating. I've been studying your ideas, and I've been finding them very useful. I've been very impressed with what you've accomplished, and I've been very happy with what I've accomplished.
