WOODS AND WATERS

Talking about Booyaw

The battle lines were drawn. We, the author who yearly with an artistic flair and a sense of humor, described the woods and the water. The battle was fought in the kitchen, where the words were served up in the form of food and drink.

The woods were described as a haven of peace and tranquility, with a gentle breeze rustling through the trees. The water was depicted as a source of refreshment and rejuvenation, with the sound of the waves lapping on the shore.

The two sides met in the middle, where the author found a balance between the two elements. Both sides were represented in the final outcome, with the description of Booyaw as a place where the woods and the water harmoniously coexist.

The author then went on to describe the experiences one might have in Booyaw, such as hiking in the woods and swimming in the water, and how these experiences can be enjoyed by all ages.

The author ended by emphasizing the importance of preserving these natural resources for future generations, while also acknowledging the need for balance and moderation in our relationship with nature.

THANKS A MILLION

Gift keeps old caddy rolling...

By Percy Ross

Dear Mrs. Moll,

Well, I'm sitting in a hospital room with my family around me, and I'm writing this letter to thank you for all you have done for me. You see, I'm a 90-year-old man, and I've been in a wheelchair for the past five years. I was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease, and my family and I were struggling to keep up with my medical bills. But when you heard about my situation, you offered to help. You gave me a check for $1,000 to pay for my medical expenses. I was overjoyed and so grateful. I have been able to continue my treatment, and I'm able to live a more comfortable life.

I just wanted to take a moment to say thank you. Your generosity has been a true blessing to me and my family. We are very grateful for your help and support. Thank you again for all you have done.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Thanks for reading.

CASEVILLE PTG HOLDS ‘FUN NIGHT’

In a small room, surrounded by friends and family, Avon and six-year-old Delaney Thompson and two of her friends, Mrs. William Bump, Mrs. Virginia Bump, and Mrs. Smith were having a good time. Delaney received her first birthday book from her parents, and the group laughed and talked about the different activities on the calendar. Delaney received a book from her parents, and the group laughed and talked about the different activities on the calendar.

The Caseville Parent-Teacher Group held its “Fun Night” at school on Nov. 10, with entertainment for the whole kindergartners through sixth graders. The kids also enjoyed games and prizes. Parents were thrilled to see the students having fun at the event.

CASEVILLE CHAMBER GOES ON RECORD TO FIGHT DRUGS DEC. 3-9

Caseville Chamber of Commerce members Monday night joined Caseville Village Council in declaring the week of Dec. 3-9 as a “Fighting Back Against Drugs Week” as a way of focusing attention on the issue of illegal drugs and working to stop their spread.

The chamber declared a serious resolution passed on the Village Council’s Nov. 14 meeting. The resolution notes the dangers of drugs and necrosis in our society has increased in innumerable problems in our community, the loss of lives, education, productivity and division of public resources. It uses of illegal drugs, presents, evidence, the resolution says, and asks for “heretics, nihilists, pagans and whatever else is currently present in the community.”

Chamber Secretary Pat Stimson noted that several members of the chamber have been killed in the past few years, and he called for new members to join the chamber and help fight drugs.

Coldwater Lake NAACP: ACHIEVING CHANGE

The NAACP Coldwater Lake branch has been making strides towards achieving change in the community. On October 30, the branch held a community meeting to discuss the recent advancements and future goals.

The meeting started with an introduction by the branch president, followed by a presentation on the history of the NAACP and its mission. This was followed by a panel discussion where members shared their experiences and perspectives on various social issues.
