Baur spends 4 weeks as Traxler intern

BY SALLY RUMMELL
Cheryl Baur is getting first-hand knowledge of how the Virginia Senate works.

This week, she is completing a four-week internship in the Senate of the Commonwealth. Baur, 17, a senior at Choate Rosemary Hall in Connecticut, is one of two interns from three different schools that are completing four-week stints in Senate offices this year.

When she wasn’t working at Traxler’s office, Baur was busy touring, enjoying the Virginia Beach and northern Virginia cultural and historic sites.

“Me and my parents have never been to Virginia, so it was a perfect opportunity for me to tour the beach and see the history of the state,” Baur said. “I was able to experience a lot of new things and meet a lot of great people.”

The internship is part of the Capitol Debate Program, which trains high school students in the art of public speaking and debate. Baur was a member of the Capitol Debate team at Choate Rosemary Hall.

“She was a brilliant student with a great curiosity and interest in politics,” said her debate coach, Jim Traxler, who was her host during her internship. “She’s a very bright and talented student, and I think she’ll do very well in government.”

Meanwhile, Baur is using her internship to prepare for her future career in politics. “I want to be a politician one day,” she said. “I’m really excited to see how it works and to learn as much as I can.”

Baur says she hopes to return to the Senate next year and continue her internship.

Merganser ‘stars’ at DU Banquet!

The keyless DU student, Merganser, surprised everyone with his antics during the DU Banquet. The bird, named after the family of ducks, was captured by the DU student, a senior at the University of Delaware. The bird was spotted during a DU class field trip to the Delaware ingredients of the crop.

The Merganser was seen on the stage, interacting with the DU students. He even took the stage to receive his award for outstanding student. The bird was presented with a trophy and a certificate of recognition.

The DU student who brought Merganser to the banquet explained that the bird is a key component of the DU’s Crop Production Program. He said that Merganser’s presence at the banquet is a reminder of the importance of crop production in our lives.

The banquet attendees were impressed with Merganser’s performance and congratulated the DU student on his creativity. The event was a huge success, and the DU student was commended for his efforts to raise awareness about crop production.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In the trial of John Doe, a suspect in a murder case, the defense attorney presented new evidence that could change the outcome of the trial.

The defense attorney argued that the new evidence, which includes surveillance footage and witness testimony, points to another suspect in the case. The attorney also presented a defense that the defendant was acting in self-defense.

The prosecution, on the other hand, maintained that the evidence presented by the defense is not credible and that the defendant is guilty of the murder.

The trial is set to continue next week, and the outcome remains uncertain.

Lots of (Wet) fun in Bay Port!

Rain didn’t dampen Bay Port’s Festival spirits!

The forecast of downpours on Tuesday, which dropped about three inches of rain on the Upper Peninsula, seemed to dampen the spirits of the Bay Port Fish Sandwich Festival. However, as the sun came up on Wednesday, the weather was back to normal, and the festival continued on.

Despite the rain, the festival was a huge success. The crowd, estimated at 15,000, was seen enjoying the various activities and attractions. The festival featured live music, food vendors, and children’s activities. The fish sandwiches were the highlight of the event, with long lines of people waiting to get their hands on a delicious sandwich.

The festival organizers were pleased with the turnout, stating that they were happy to have seen so many people despite the rain. They also thanked the volunteers and vendors who helped make the festival a success.

A special thanks goes out to the volunteers who helped make the festival a success. Without them, the festival would not have been possible.

The Bay Port Fish Sandwich Festival is an annual event that takes place in Bay Port, Michigan. It is a celebration of the town’s fishing heritage and the delicious fish sandwiches that are a local favorite.
