

LAKER HIGH STUDENT OF THE MONTH

Willie Eichler, son of Wanda and Edwin Eichler of Pigeon, is Laker High School's "Student of the Month."

Willie is a junior following a college preparatory course that will eventually lead him to Michigan State University with majors in history or pre-law. He is an honor student, a member of the Laker High National Honor Society, drum major for the Laker High School Marching Band and he also sings in the Youth for Christ singing group, "Cornerstone."

Willie has a fascinating hobby. He is deeply involved in Civil War reenactment and has procured a complete and accurate uniform with all the accessories.

Laker High School salutes Willie Eichler, its November "Student of the Month."

3 LJH'ers are feted

SIXTH GRADE: Michelle Champagne, daughter of James and Peggy Champagne, has been selected "Student of the Month" based upon her helpfulness to others, her friendliness and her cheerful personality. Michelle enjoys playing basketball, bike riding and computers. Her favorite class is with Mrs. Mauch. Michelle hopes to become a teacher one day.

SEVENTH GRADE: Jill Champagne, daughter of Anthony and Geri Torres, is "Student of the Month" based on her motivation to perform academically and her willingness to help others.

She spends her spare time reading and is involved in the tutor program this year. Her favorite class is Mr. Dean's science class and she plans to study at the University of Michigan to be a teacher.

EIGHTH GRADE: Jenny Murdoch, daughter of Orlin and Marty Murdoch, is honored as "Student of the Month" based on her positive attitude and willingness to work hard. She spends her leisure time playing sports and especially enjoys basketball. She is a choir member at Lakers and also participates in Academic Track. Her favorite subject is physical education with Ms. Frederiksen. Jenny plans to major in a science area, like zoology, in college.

DICK PAULY IS HONORED TEACHER

Teacher of the month, Dick Pauly, is a 19-year veteran of the Laker School system. His credits include acting as Junior High Athletic Director; Academic Track coach; supervisor of the seventh grade field trip as well as Fun Night activities. He is simply "always there" to lend a hand when needed, according to co-workers. Mr. Pauly teaches seventh grade math and the careers/health exploratory in the junior high. Mr. Pauly is also the Laker tennis coach and was recently honored as Coach of the Year by the Michigan State Class C Coaches Association. When asked what is the most exciting aspect of teaching at Lakers, without hesitation, Mr. Pauly smiled and said, "The students."

34 LJH'ers qualify for Midwest Talent Search

Thirty-four Laker Junior High students qualify for this year's Midwest Talent Search, sponsored by the Center for Talent Development of Northwestern University. These students qualify for Northwestern's program by scoring at the 95th percentile or higher on the verbal, mathematical or composite portion of the Stanford Achievement Test.

These students now have the option of taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) on Jan. 26, 1991. This test is normally taken by college-bound juniors and seniors, but the reasoning abilities demonstrated by these junior high students enables them to handle a test of this caliber.

The purpose of this program is to provide the students and their families with more specific information regarding their abilities. A "Parent-Principal Coffee" in April will be devoted to presenting the follow-up data and informing parents of summer studies, which students may wish to take. Students will also receive certificate of recognition from Northwestern University and listings of summer and year-long academic programs available throughout the eight-state region. Laker students will also be honored with a reception in Bad Axe, sponsored by the HISD in the spring.

We salute our qualifying students and the parents who have undoubtedly supported them in their pursuit for excellence. This year's qualifiers include:

SIXTH GRADE: Dan Lewis, Angela Lang, Chris Kleinfeld, Aaron Creguer, Jennifer Diebel, Jacob Blakeney, Kelly Damm, Chris Douglas, Cary Dumas, David Love, Casey McLellan, Matt Otto, Joel Tate, Scott Walsh and Stacy McCreedy.

SEVENTH GRADE: Jamie Burkeen, Zachary Deming, Chris Kaufman, Janell Krohn, Andrew Lockard, Mikkee Peyerik, Chad Santos, Robin Vollmer, Jami Walsh and Angela Weidman.

EIGHTH GRADE: Brian Beachy, Amy Ackerman, Eli Binder, David Flores, Jodi Forster, Grant Herford, Matt Keefer, Jim Purcell, Ben Sturm.

AUDITION FOR HONORS CHOIR

On Saturday, Oct. 20, two SSA trios auditioned at Mt. Pleasant to be accepted into the MSVA'S Junior High Honors Choir. Of 110 trios that auditioned, 40 will be accepted. Kari Swartzendruber, Gretchen Eichler and Vicki Gascho formed one trio; Sara White, Samantha Corrian and Tammy Dilleree formed another trio. They memorized "Spring," a vocal adaptation of a Mozart instrumental piece. The audition was performed a cappella. Choir Director Anne Eichler says both trios did a superior performance of a difficult a cappella piece. Students are still awaiting results of the audition.

THEY'RE TOPS IN MAGAZINE SALES!

KRISTIE GEHRS was top salesperson at Pigeon Elementary School in the 1990 Magazine Sales project. She was also top salesperson in her fourth grade class.

MATTHEW BUEHLER was top salesperson for the fifth grade at Pigeon Elementary School.

NATHAN WISSNER was top salesperson in the Pigeon Elementary third grade class.

BAY PORT FIFTH GRADERS were honored Oct. 11 by the Fair Haven Township Fire Dept., which took time out of their busy schedules to visit the school and tell the students about their different experiences and to show and explain the new fire engine. Kindergarten through fourth grade also enjoyed the afternoon.

FIFTH GRADERS ENJOYED "COLLEGE DAY" at Pigeon Elementary on Oct. 12. Mr. Gehrs encouraged kids to wear clothes representing their favorite college or university and he decorated with banners and pictures.

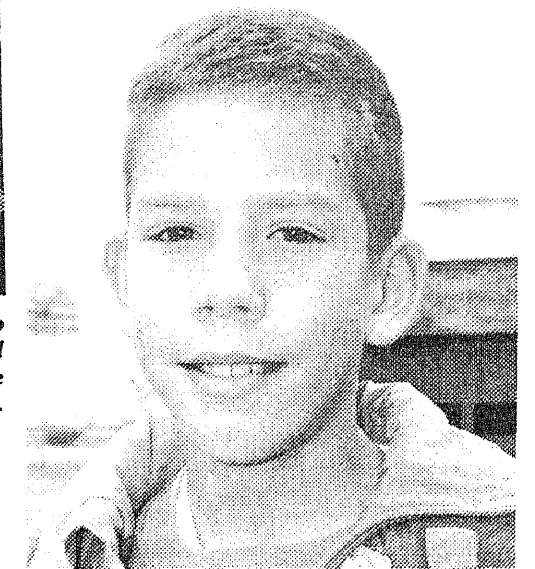

BRENDA GAETH was chosen "Superstar of the Week." Bay Port kindergarten teacher Mrs. Jeanne Swartzendruber, honored Brenda for being a very quiet worker.

ELKTON STUDENT OF THE MONTH

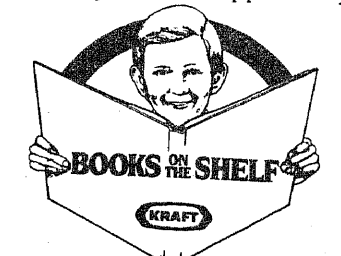

NAME: Chris Heckroth
FAVORITE SUBJECT: Science
FAVORITE BOOK: The Indian in the Cupboard
PARENTS: Alan and Janice Heckroth
HOBBY: Nintendo and bike riding
Chris is a consistent honor roll student.

From the Elkton Elementary Principal's Desk...

The Elkton Elementary School Library is participating in "Books on the Shelf" sponsored by Kraft. We would like our students and their parents to collect the UPC symbol from any Kraft product. A letter will be coming home soon with each child (about two weeks) and a poster will be in the cafeteria area showing all the products acceptable. We appreciate your help.

The COUNSELOR'S CORNER

By JOAN MAROTZKE, Laker Junior High Counselor

Dedicated to improving and maintaining excellence in all areas of the Laker Junior High Program describes the newly-formed Student Council. All members have demonstrated willingness to take on responsibilities and work with each other and staff members on several projects.

The Student Council is actively helping maintain order and neatness each day in the lunch room. They have had input in determining students and teachers of the month. They are investigating methods of fund-raising in order to provide possible scholarships and/or monetary assistance to students who would benefit from such help. Council members are also working to bring back dances to the junior high and have surveyed both parents and students to obtain feedback regarding acceptance of this activity; the responses have been very much in favor of allowing dances to take place. These dances WILL NOT replace "Fun Nights," and the usual "Fun Night" activities will continue.

Many thanks to Eileen McGee and Jenny McCain, staff members, who are voluntarily supervising the Student Council. Their positive attitude is certainly reflected in the students with whom they work.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: President Eric Mansfield; Vice President Jenny Smith; Secretary Amy Ackerman and Treasurer Melanie Smith.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS: Eight Grade — Heath Krohn, Brandi Gaeth, Michelle

Bolda and Matt Pauly; Seventh Grade — Cris Kauffman, Eric Gardy and Jill Champagne; Sixth Grade — Sarah Farver, Cary Dumas, Stephanie Lorkowski and Marcie Rathje.

The annual Walk-a-Thon conducted on Oct. 12 was a great success. Thanks again to parent chaperones and teachers who helped out in a variety of ways. So far, total pledge money received has surpassed last year's earnings. Also, a big thank you to those who pledged our students. All of you help to make the field trip experiences a reality for our students.

We look forward to sixth grade camp in May and the seventh grade trip to Lansing in April. Washington D.C. trip plans are also underway and parents who have volunteered to chaperone will be receiving notification through the mail very soon. The Washington trip is scheduled for May 20-25, 1991; we look forward to another exciting learning experience!

As we look ahead to the near end of the first nine-week marking period, it is amazing how quickly the school year moves along. I know the families of junior high students maintain busy schedules, fitting in work, school, homework, extracurricular activities and church functions.

Finding time to read is sometimes a difficult priority to keep. I encourage daily reading time, even if it only a matter of 10 minutes from the day. So much is gained from the process or habit of daily reading; we simply comprehend more when we practice. Perhaps Mark Twain put it best: "The man who does not read good books has no advantage over the man who can't read them." I am confident we want our children to have every advantage possible, so they may grow more confident each day in their abilities and in themselves.

from TODD BIGGER

We have just received word that Pigeon and Bay Port Elementaries have been accepted as two of the one hundred schools across the state to begin the process for accreditation.

The Laker Middle School will also be joining us as a third school out of the selected 100 to participate.

We are all excited about this opportunity and hope to share with you what the process entails. Within the next decade the state of Michigan hopes to have all public schools accredited. This is a large feat and can only be successful with the dedication and commitment from the school district (staffs and communities). It is our hope that the following information will help you clarify what this is all about.

WHAT IT IS: Accreditation is a process that acknowledges that a school has an on-going plan to meet a pre-set of standards. The end result being quality education. This process works together with the school improvement process through requirement for institutional self-study and evaluation.

PURPOSE: According to the Department of State's Linda Forward, there are five purposes of accreditation. They are: To set standards; to develop a program that leads to continuous self-analysis and renewal; to assist schools in identifying areas of strengths and concerns; to provide an opportunity for periodic self-evaluation as a stimulus for growth and improvement and to gain a total commitment from all involved.

WHAT IS COVERED: This process looks at many areas of the school component such as: the purpose of the school climate (effective element organization, administration, and control of the staff); the overall education ro-gram, instruction and pupil evaluation; instructional learning/media program; the guidance program; the health services program; the pupil support services; the school/community relationship; the physical facilities of the buildings and grounds; the financial support and control; etc. . .

Bay Port and Pigeon Elementary Principal

THE PHASES: There are five phases to this program. They are as follows:

- 1) The development of a school improvement plan (mandated by Public Act 25, March, 1990).
- 2) The determinations of outcomes of the improvement plan.
- 3) A validation visitation by a select committee (appointed by the state).
- 4) A self-study by the immediate school involved.
- 5) An annual report to the public by the immediate school involved.

The state hopes to have all schools involved in the process within the next six years. Each school will have a three-year cycle (if needed) to make needed changes and become accredited. A central focus will be on the overall core curriculum and on the school improvement process and outcomes. It promises to be an adventure with the end result a quality centered program. We appreciate the opportunity to be selected as part of this process, and anxiously look forward to support from the community.

JR. HIGH GETS MAIL FROM SAUDI ARABIA

Several weeks ago, students from Mr. Murphy's social studies classes began correspondence with unknown armed services personnel serving our country in Saudi Arabia. The enthusiasm was contagious and as a result, many students sent cards and letters.

Last week, excitement reigned in the Jr. High social studies classroom once more. However, this time it wasn't because of letters sent, but of letters received. More than 25 letters from service men and women were delivered to the homes of the Jr. High students. Most of these letters were addressed to individual students, but one letter came addressed to the entire Jr. High School student body. Here is its content:

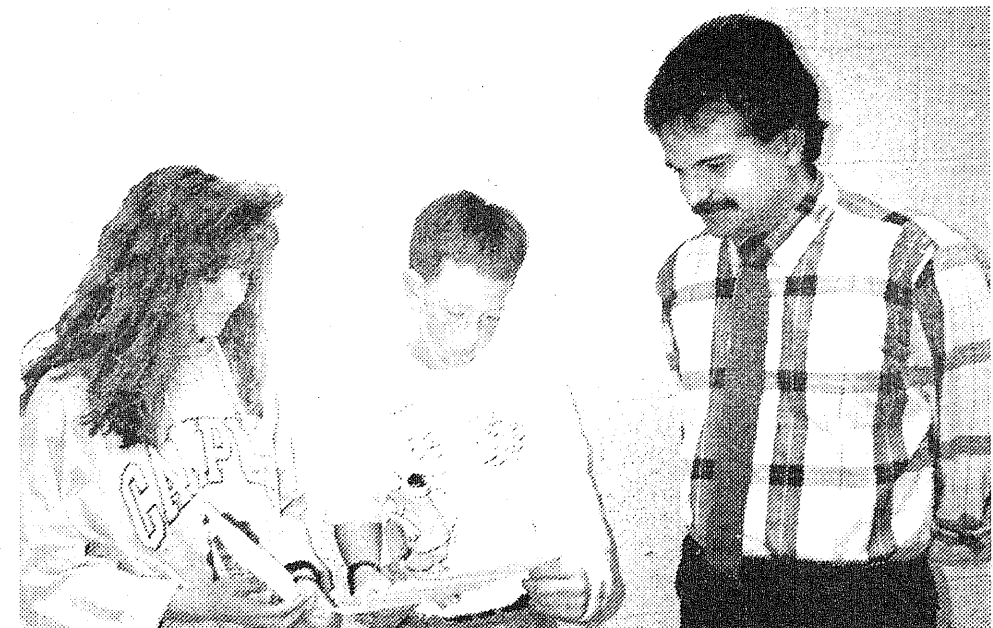

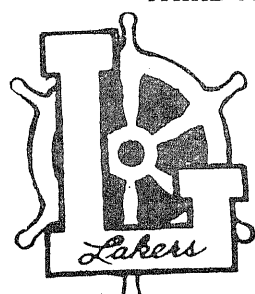

DEAR LAKER JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FROM MICHIGAN:
My unit, Third Marine Regiment from Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, was thrilled to receive your letters today. The mail-camel was on time as usual, and Ali Baba, the mainman, had a whole stack of letters from well-wishers in the States. After we got up at the un-earthly hour of 0500 AM, most of us wandered down to our shower area for a drizzle provided by our Cenader. A Cenader is a 3,000 gallon water bag that has a motor attached that pumps water to shower outlets. A military water truck fills the bag every day and this is how we get showers in the middle of the desert. After shower and shave time, we all step over to the chow tent where a vehicle shows up at 0700 with our morning continental breakfast. After perusing the menu, which consists of scrambled eggs, gravy, bacon or spam, biscuits and warm milk, we order our meals. After the servers recover from their laughter due to the fact that they know we have only one choice on the menu, we form a line and get our breakfast "buffet style." We usually have guests for breakfast. Achmed the fly and his family stop by and they really keep the place buzzing.

After breakfast, it's time for work in the desert. Some Marines do paperwork, planning and coordinating with other units in the shade of tents. Others get the privilege of joining "working parties" who do outside chores such as digging holes in the sand and building sandbag fighting positions. Nobody complains about work. It is much better to be busy during the day doing something to make the time fly by, rather than sitting around or attempting the impossible — SLEEP. Have you ever tried to sleep when it is 105 degrees and your surroundings are getting sandblasted?

We have a few interesting animals that share our illustrious life in the sands of Saudi Arabia. We have Omar the scorpion, Ishmael the Black Beetle and Ahmed the Chihuawa dog look-alike prairie dog — fox. Ahmed visits our guards at night and a few nights ago, he ran across the top of one of our tents. He has come close to a few of us, and likes our leftover food.

THANKS, THIRD MARINES

Questions for the SUPERINTENDENT

By ROBERT DRURY, Laker Superintendent

National education goals for the year 2000

This past September President Bush met with our nation's governors to design a set of goals and objectives aimed at giving our school-aged children the best possible as they face the 21st century. Since that meeting the Michigan State Board of Education has adopted the President's National Goals for the State of Michigan. I would like to review these six goals and the objectives necessary to achieve these goals for our children.

GOAL #1: By the year 2000, all children in America will start school ready to learn.

OBJECTIVES: All disadvantaged and disabled children will have access to preschool programs; Every parent in America will be a child's first teacher; Children will receive the nutrition and health care necessary to facilitate learning.

GOAL #2: By the year 2000, the high school graduation rate will increase to at least 90 percent.

OBJECTIVES: The current dropout rate of 25 percent must be reduced to no more than 10 percent; The gap in high school graduation rates between minority students and non-minority students will be eliminated.

GOAL #3: By the year 2000, our students will leave grades four, eight and twelve having demonstrated competency in subject matter including English, mathematics, science, history and geography. In addition, our schools will ensure that all students learn to use their minds well, so they may be prepared for responsible citizenship, further learning and productive employment in our modern economy.

OBJECTIVES: The academic performance of elementary and secondary students will increase significantly; The percentage of students who demonstrate the ability to reason, solve problems, apply knowledge, and write and communicate effectively will increase; All students will be involved in activities that promote good citizenship, community service and personal responsibility.

GOAL #4: By the year 2000, students will be first in the world in mathematics and science achievement.

OBJECTIVES: Math and science education will be strengthened throughout the system; The number of teachers competent in the math and science areas will increase by 50 percent; The number of women and minorities with degrees in math, science and engineering will increase substantially.

GOAL #5: By the year 2000, every adult American will be literate and will possess the knowledge and skills necessary to compete in our global economy.

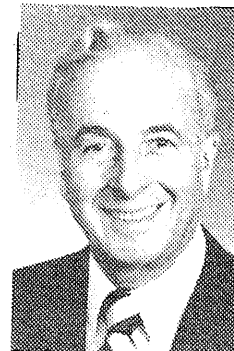

OBJECTIVES: Every major business will be involved in strengthening the connection between education and work; All workers will acquire the skills and knowledge necessary to adopt to our changing technologies; The proportion of college graduates who demonstrate an advanced ability to think critically will increase substantially.

GOAL #6: By the year 2000, every school in America will be free of drugs and violence and will offer disciplined environment conducive to learning.

OBJECTIVES: Every school will implement a firm and fair policy on use, possession and distribution of drugs and alcohol; Parents, businesses and communities will work together to ensure that schools are a safe haven for all children; Every school district will develop a comprehensive K-12 drug and alcohol education prevention program.

As you have no doubt surmised, these six goals are very ambitious. Within our school curriculum, plans are being made to achieve these goals by reviewing the objectives and restructuring our curriculum accordingly. Curriculum review, along with test evaluation, career exploration, employment demands, and student responsibility will be reviewed by school improvement teams to attain the objectives and achieve the six goals. As our school district works towards these goals, we will report to our communities on our progress.

Phoenix rising from the ashes

DEAR MRS. V.: Today my mail contained an alarming amount of need that resulted from violence, abuse or alcoholism. Then along came your letter about your brother-in-law who got boozed up and torched the house. Right now I hold a dim view of people.

I was in the process of writing a $500 check to your sister, thinking that would buy the essentials to get her started again. Instead of making me feel good, it left me feeling cold and empty. What did pick up my spirits was when I changed the amount to $1,000—now I feel good! I hope this will erase some of the despair and put a ray of hope in the lives of your nieces and sister.

And rather than condemn your brother-in-law, I hope the good Lord sees fit to provide some extra guidance in his life. One less bad apple in the bunch would definitely help us all.

DEAR MR. ROSS: I want your help if you can. I'm 15 years old in the eighth grade. I'm mentally retarded and have other health problems. My doctor told me to ride my bike to calm my nerves. I ride my bike to school and to a little part-time job bagging food at a local supermarket. Sunday when I came home, someone stole my bike in a matter of a few seconds. I am on foot now and Mom can't afford to buy me a bike, new or used. We live on a fixed income. We don't even own a car. So my bike awaiting your comments.—MS.P.B., West Palm Beach, Fla.

DEAR MR. ROSS: I am a 19 year-old single mother. My son is three. His father walked out on us before he was born. It's been very hard and frustrating and sometimes just doesn't seem fair. Nobody ever said it would be, but I was forced to go on welfare when I had my baby and they don't circumcise babies.

My son is having a lot of problems because of it. Also, one of his testicles hasn't dropped. He desperately needs both operations done. I do have insurance that will pay 90 percent if you would kindly send me the $250 deductible. I'll be was my ride. I feel lost and sad on foot. It would take me a long time to save for a used bike because I work two days a week and I only make $14. I try to help Mom as much as I can with my earnings.

When I ride the bus to school, the kids make fun of me. I think I'd be better off walking until I can get another bike. Mom told me, "Johnny, we lost everything, but we still have hope."

So I ask you to please help me. I will pay you back. You and I could put our heads together and figure something out. I don't know how much I need exactly but I've seen bikes for around $100 and that's a lot of money.—JOHNNY, Jacksonville, Fla.

DEAR JOHNNY:

For a boy who claims to be mentally retarded, you appear to have more on the ball than a lot of "normal" children your age. In fact, you're light years ahead of the one who stole your bike and the kids who laugh at you on the bus.

Material items shouldn't give us pride, but sometimes they help to reinforce it. Therefore, not $100, but $200 is in the mail so you can buy a NEW bicycle. I want my new friend, Johnny, riding around in style on his way to school and work. Hold your head high, young man, you've got plenty to be proud of!

NOTES....

WANTED: Responsible, mature young people. Willing to work hard. Will develop and/or enhance leadership skills. Apply for election petition in May at the high school office.

A few good people accepted the challenge of becoming the 1990-91 LHS Student Council. Led by President Jill Gardy, the following students are members of the council: Brad Bruce, Steve Kauffman, Tammy Smith, Brian Keim, Kristi Gaeth, Sherry Stauffer, Rebecca Lepprandt, Michelle Kausch, Phil Lepprandt, Lisa Buchholz, Kelly McLellan, Marcie Gots, Kim Sturm, William Smith, Liesl Eichler and Norman Christner.

The newly-formed Student Council met in August at Greenfields for an organizational meeting. At this time, the students identified four goals which would direct and focus their activities for the new school year. The students developed the following goals through brainstorming:

- 1) Increase communication between students and students and administration and students and teachers.
- 2) To continue with traditional Student Council projects.
- 3) To work on school image and self-esteem of students.
- 4) To develop fund-raisers to finance ideas for projects.

The students were able to immediately apply their newly developed goals by beginning to plan for a traditional Laker Homecoming. The students worked hard to produce the Sept. 28, 1990 Homecoming program, which centered around the "Our Town" theme.

from Laker Secondary Assistant Principal LISA DiCAMILLO

The council members motivated other Laker students to become involved in float building, hall decorating, powder puff football, spirit days, parade, pep assembly and king or queen and court representatives.

To help facilitate communication between students and to help improve the skills of Student Council, members of the entire council attended a Student Leadership Training Academy in Bad Axe, where they learned about leadership, motivation, problem-solving, planning and goal setting. The training was provided for the Laker students and other Huron County area students by the State Department of Education.

The most recent activity of Student Council was to take a subcommittee of students to visit Chesaning High School. The purpose of the subcommittees' visit was two-fold. First, the students were to learn about the Chesaning attendance recognition program. Then they were to view Channel One programming options. The visit also provided an opportunity for Laker students to meet with other students from a different high school. The subcommittee then reported their findings back to the council. As a result, the council has prepared an Attendance Recognition Program proposal to take to the Faculty Senate this week for discussion and hopeful approval.

Overall, Laker Student Council members have been productive within the school community. They have accepted the challenge issued to them last May. If the beginning of the year is any indication of the success the Student Council has achieved, we can hardly wait to see what other mountains they can climb.

Reservations are still being accepted for tables at the annual Community Christmas Bazaar, to be held Dec. 1 at the Laker High School gym. Non-profit groups only, please. Call 453-2783 or 453-2064 for your reservations. Sponsored by the First United Methodist Women, Pigeon. ***

With International Literacy Year drawing to a close, you can keep the literacy spirit alive by visiting our own Pigeon Library. Their shelves are loaded with novels, history references, humorous stories and more. Your library is supported by our local budgets and there are no extra costs for your visits. In this part of the world, I have never met anyone who has read too many books. Bring a little sunshine and light into your home by bringing home a library book. Signed, "The Bookworm." ***

Could someone please tell me what is the sense of having a pumpkin decorating contest if the parent(s) are really the ones who do the work? And what about the judges? Are they really that blind? Believe it is unfair to cheat a child by doing their work for them and also by showing them that by having someone else do it, they can win. There is no way a 4- or 5-year-old could do some of the pumpkins I saw. The children did not win this contest, their parents did! I feel sorry for the little ones who did do their own work. They did not get anything except broken hearts. Next time you have some time like this, please judge it fairly. ***

How nice of the Bay Port R.L.D.S. Church to have a hot dog roast every year for the community children on Halloween. Signed, A Thankful Parent. ***

In last week's Harbor Beach paper, the "writer" who wrote about the Laker-Pirate game mentioned the bad sportsmanship shown by the Laker fans. He specifically mentioned the fans tearing up the posters the Pirate fans had brought. He said the Laker fans don't know the word sportsmanship. Well, phooey to this guy, whoever he is. What he maybe doesn't know is that it wasn't the Laker fans and students who were screaming obscenities after the game. It wasn't the Laker fans who were cursing the opposing coaches. Maybe he doesn't remember that the Laker fans helped cheer on the Pirates when they played County Day last year. It's sounds like a case of sour grapes to me. And besides, I thought sportswriters were just supposed to report the game, not put in editorial comments. ***

Who cares what the Department of Defense says? I'm flying my yellow ribbons until our troops come home! ***

Last week, my wife and I vacationed in the southern part of Michigan. Outside New Buffalo about 15 miles is the Warren Sand Dunes. A nature study teacher, let the kids go out in the light yet. Now, it is one week too early for safety. ***

If Detroit gets 15% more population, for the Census, then we should, too. We've got just as many invisible people here as they do. ***

No wonder the majority of people don't vote. They're too fed up. The candidates only tear down each other. They are all the same and none really do anything to help average taxpayers. ***

(EDITOR'S NOTE: For a variety of reasons, this marks the end of LISTENING EAR in The Progress-Advance. The informal, unofficial and anonymous sounding board was begun in 1981 as SOUND-OFF, offering readers a chance to pay a compliment, ask a question or make a comment to the Western Thumb at large. Stricter standards were imposed in 1987 when it was renamed LISTENING EAR, but it has still proven to be one of the most-popular and best-read parts of the paper. However, other considerations are playing a role in ending the column at this time. To the many occasional or regular contributors, we say thank you for your input and support. To the many readers -- both who have loved and hated it -- we say thank you, too, for your interest. As always, your comments are still welcome -- and will be considered in our Editorial Page's "Letters to the Editor" space. Signatures may be withheld if required. As the only person who has ever listened to the former phone calls or who has read the recent letters/notes, let me say an incredibly diverse population lives here -- and they are interested in (or mad at) an amazing assortment of topics. In general, about one in five submissions were published -- and we're proud to say we were never sued... although the threats have also been interesting. We hope you've enjoyed this feature. Mark W. Rummel, Co-Publisher)

Sunday concert features Alan Majeska on First United Methodist organ

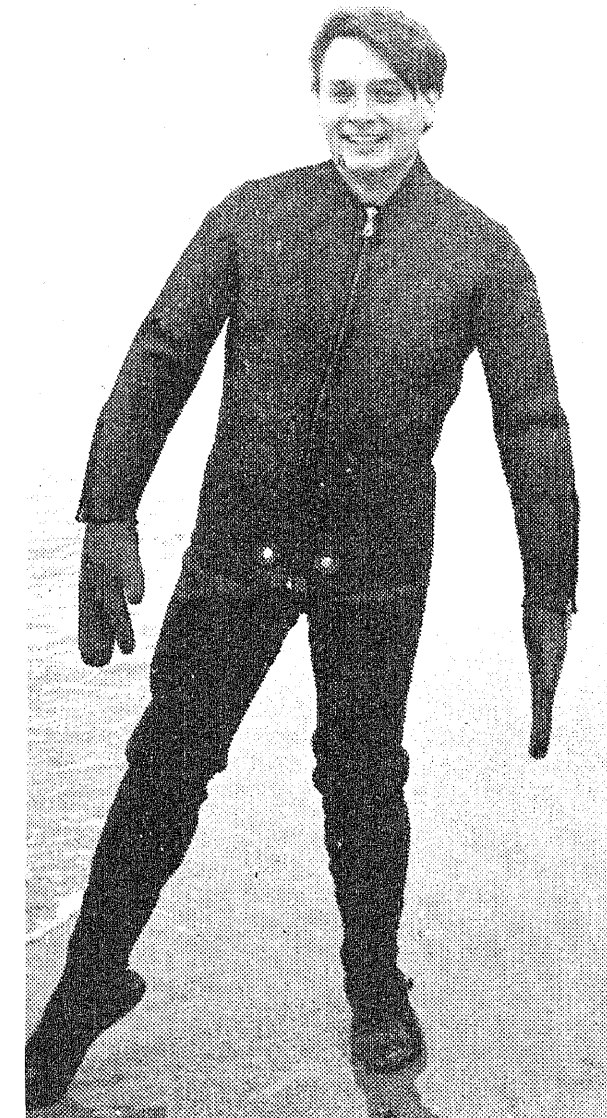

Bad Axe native Alan Majeska will be the featured musician in a special concert this Sunday, Nov. 11 at 3 p.m. at First United Methodist Church, Pigeon.

Majeska, a 1981 graduate of Central Michigan University, studied the organ with Steven Egler and piano with James Smolko, earning a Bachelor of Music degree.

At the time of Majeska's undergraduate enrollment at CMU, Pigeon native Barbara Dixon was an Associate Professor of Music and chairman of the keyboard area.

Majeska is active as a private piano and organ teacher in the Bad Axe area, in addition to his church duties. He is also active as a recitalist. A member of the Saginaw Valley chapter of the American Guild of Organists, Majeska has taught in the "Organ Tune-Up" workshop in 1989 in Bay City for area organists offered through the guild. The music presented in the recital will contain pieces written for the organ as well as some pieces for the piano. A reception will follow the recital in the church fellowship hall. A free-will offering will be collected during the short intermission, according to Al Robison, who has helped coordinate the program.

Spark invites little ones for Nov. 17

Preschoolers and their parents are invited to attend a SPARK Workshop entitled, "All About Me" on Saturday, Nov. 17 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The workshop is sponsored by the Huron Intermediate Gifted/Talented Consortium and will be held at the Huron Area Skill Center in Bad Axe.

"All About Me" will give youngsters a chance to participate in activities related to self-esteem and their individuality. Mrs. Penny Griggs will lead the SPARKERS in science-oriented activities while exploring the concept of "me." Amy Jahn will explore different art activities and Jill Clark will work in the area of language arts. Parents and SPARKERS will both be involved in mathematics activities with Kim Brown.

While the children are busy with their projects, parents will attend a workshop on nurturing self-esteem and positive discipline with Tara Beal.

PASTOR GREGG MAYBERRY of the Caseville United Methodist Church "tests the waters" prior to taking a plunge into chilly Lake Huron on Sunday, Oct. 28.

The jump in the lake was Pastor Mayberry's end of a bargain made with the Sunday School and Caseville UM congregation. Their end of the bargain was to raise money for the United Methodist Committee on Relief and to collect food and related items for the Caseville Food Pantry. That they did, and 70 banks lined the communion rail on Sunday morning and 60 bags of groceries crowded the chancel area.

The congregation's response to the needs of their community and world were as overwhelming as the thought of plunging into Lake Huron in late October, according to Pastor Mayberry. He admitted that knowing he was wearing a wet suit made the thought a bit more palatable!

The collections for local and world missions and the jump in the lake were just a small portion of the congregation's Harvest Sunday celebration. Other activities included a steak fry/chicken dinner, a hay ride, "food and fun" at the LeRoy Kretzschmer farm and a Choir Festival.

Plans are already underway for "Harvest Sunday 1991."

WHAT A TRADE!

"If we suffer, we shall also reign with Him: If we deny Him, He will also deny us". 2 Tim:2:12

Sociologists tell us we are a "now" people. We know what we want, and we want it NOW! Instantly! No waiting! Immediately!

Paul had no such problem. He "reckoned" that the present sufferings cannot compare with the coming glory, and so he was willing to "endure all things".

Are we that patient? Or as wise as Paul? Christ is our King, and we are waiting for Him to return, to give us our inheritance—eternal glory. Are we willing to "suffer" for a time to gain that estate? To stand up for Him? To believe in Him? To accept chiding? To never waver? The estate will be ours, if we only stand firm.

But there's a warning, too: If we deny Him, He will also deny us!

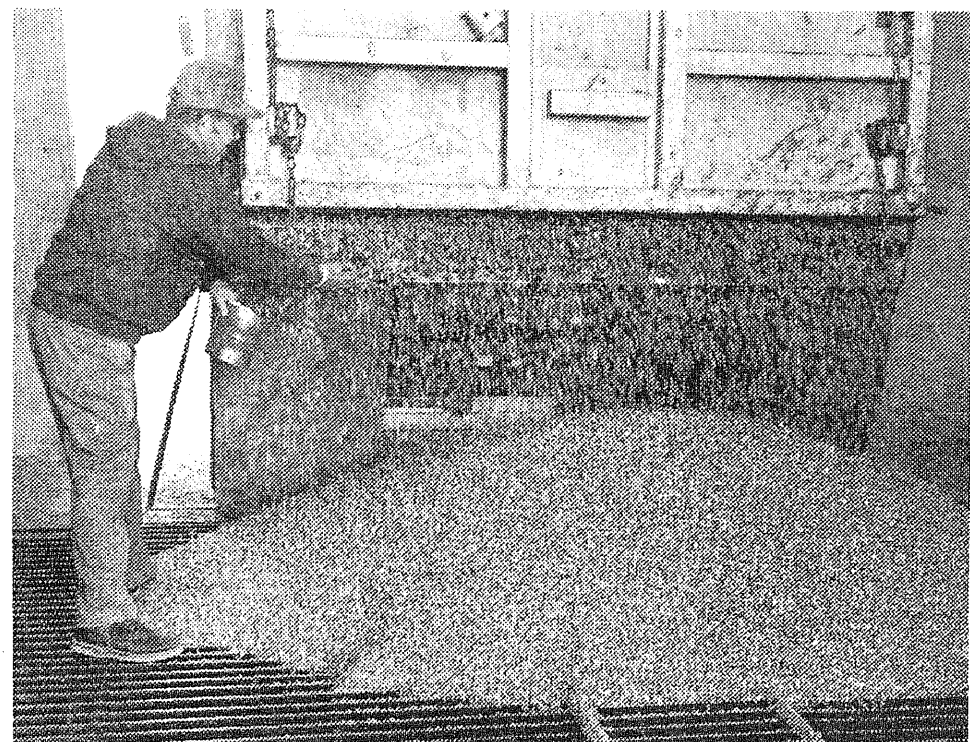

So, beware! Stand fast! Then accept your inheritance!

WE ARE CHILDREN OF THE KING! BUT WE MUST WAIT FOR A LITTLE WHILE TO GAIN OUR ESTATE! AMEN.

Out in the Field WITH 'FARMER BOB'

BOY, WHAT A WEEK! First Farmer Bob rushed to get sugar beets harvested, and now he's deep into the cornfields. Truckload after truckload of the golden grain, including Farmer Bob's, has been delivered to area elevators. Moisture in the corn has been running a bit higher than Farmer Bob would like. Most corn delivered has been checked at 26 percent moisture, which is going to cost Farmer Bob some money for drying costs. But yields seem to be up, so he's hoping to come out ahead. Here, a Cooperative Elevator employe takes a sample of just-harvested corn to check its moisture. Sugar beets were 99% harvested as of Saturday, when Sunday and Monday rains slowed the mop-up efforts in that crop.

Kiwanians enjoyed THIS topic!

A Contractor's Manufacturing Exposition as the topic for a luncheon speech to ordinary folks sounds as appealing as watching a dentist's drill moving towards one's teeth.

This definitely was not the case at last Wednesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Caseville, who enjoyed an "entertaining and educational presentation" by Keith Wurst, president of Berne Enterprises, Inc. and fellow Kiwanian.

From an overview of the purpose of the three-day exposition, which was to bring buyer and manufacturer together face-to-face, Wurst explained the frustrations and rewards he encountered in his role as exhibitor, from set-up to take-down. He also talked about the fun of riding the People Mover from his hotel to Cobo Hall in Detroit and visiting Creek-town.

The exposition was international in scope, with Canada and Mexico participating.

A question and answer session gave added details about some of Berne Enterprises products, such as parts for tanks and chains for mining equipment. Inquiries regarding the Chapter 11 process and the impact of union vs. non-union shops on management of an industry were answered.

New Pigeon uniforms

Pigeon Village Marshal Van Johnson shows off the Pigeon Police Department's new uniforms, now being used. The dark blue/light blue outfits include all-weather coats with zip-out linings, and are similar in color to those worn by State Police. The uniforms replace the village's former brown attire, Johnson says.

Pigeon folks do November visiting

Mrs. Avis Cregeur received word that her daughter, Mrs. Doris Tepado of Gladwin returned home from St. Joseph Hospital in Flint where she was a patient for six days. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deming and son, Dom were among those at the Family Support Halloween party at Brady's Lodge in Bad Axe Saturday night.

Good truck luck!

Dennis and Caye Mitin of Pigeon can "keep on trucking" now that they are the new owners of a 1991 Sonoma truck, won Monday as part of a giveaway promotion on WKCCQ-FM station in Saginaw.

WKCCQ has been running the "KCQ His and Hers GMC Giveaway" promotion for six weeks. Mitin's name was randomly selected from more than 1,000 submitted. His win did not come easily, however, as Mitin was attending a Bible Study group when his name was called at 7:15 a.m. He had only nine minutes and eight seconds to call WKCCQ-FM to claim his prize. "He just made it with a few seconds to spare," according to WKCCQ Promotional Director Barbara Sheltraw. The Huron County Sheriff's Dept. had heard Mitin's name on the radio and called his wife. She called him at the Bible study and he got it just in time, says Caye. The Mitins are especially pleased with their prize as their Chevette is "on its last legs," they say.

having her feet cleaned, trimmed or treated, though I was very careful to be gentle as a lamb when working with them. She was a long, long time getting over those fears.

As time passed, through casual conversation, coincidence, chance meetings and some out-right investigation, we began to piece together scraps of her life, and the date, place, and purpose of her birth. She was born and bred to run, and run she could, but some of the stories we learned about her youth and her racing years made me awfully glad that she had finally found her way to us, where she could live out her life with the kind of glorious good-care she had previously been denied.

We rode her and used her year after year after year, till her brittle old bones would have no more of it. That's when the rough and tumble youngsters we now ride were brought to the farm, and Candy was officially put out to pasture. Still, she could every now and again be seen giving kiddie-rides 'round the barnyard to the little tykes in the neighborhood. For fifteen years that horse served us unquestioningly, and though my sister won't admit it, I know for a fact she hasn't had any real fun on a horse since her last good ride on Candy.

One day a couple of weeks ago, in the middle of the night there came a killing frost, and it was apparent - as the morning sun rose and melted away the snowy white dew - that the last fruits and flowers of summer had faded and died... and when the sun set that very same night, with it went the life and spirit of my old and tired life-long friend. When a horse lives to be thirty, it is silly to be too saddened at its passing - Candy would have been about 105 in human years, and she did not suffer up until those very last few hours of her life, when we decided that each long, raspy, slowly drawn breath she drew just sounded too painful. The vet - as usual - was incredibly kind and sensitive, but his prognosis matched our own - her lungs had collapsed. Time to call it a life - a good, long, full life.

And so a new diary entry is made... Tuesday, October 23, 1990 - one of the saddest days...

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Settler and Beth Ann of Bay City were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collison. They also attended the Holly Berry Fair in Caseville on Saturday. On Sunday all attended the dinner of the AAL Insurance at the Pigeon District Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rathje entertained over the weekend her sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Saver of Springfield.

Mrs. Bernice Malpass of Scottsdale, AZ. and Mrs. Art Malpass of Midland called on Mrs. Viola Schuette and also paid their respects at the Meyersieck-Bussema Funeral Home for Cousin Rollie Smith last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nadon of Six Lakes were Saturday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heck and Mrs. Viola Schuette. They all attended the funeral of their cousin Rollie Smith on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Meece of Harbor Beach were Thursday callers of Mrs. Viola Schuette.

Temple organ is featured

Pierre Fracalanza will play in a free concert on the Golden Voiced Barton Organ this Sunday, Nov. 11 at 2 p.m. at the Temple Theater in Downtown Saginaw.

Fracalanza began playing piano at age three and his technique and repertoire are "better than ever," according to concert planners.
