Tricia 'balances' studies and sports

It's not easy for a student to maintain top grades and practice a sport at the same time, but Tricia Elston has maintained a delicate balance the past three years.

She not only plays basketball and volleyball, but she's taking such courses as advanced math, advanced placement English, physics, advanced placement history, Chinese, and an independent computer class.

All through her high school career, Elston has excelled at her studies. Now a senior at Laker High, she recently learned that she was selected as a National Merit semi-finalist, one of only 15,000 students nationwide chosen for the honor, and only the third Laker student even chosen.

Elston won the honor by topping the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude test last spring, placing within the 99th percentile for all juniors the nation.

This year, to qualify for the title of National Merit Scholar, Elston must fill out more forms, and write a multi-page essay describing her personal characteristics, her accomplishments, and her goals, plus take another SAT exam.

Elston says it's quite a honor to be selected as a semi-finalist, and hopes that she'll be selected as a finalist.

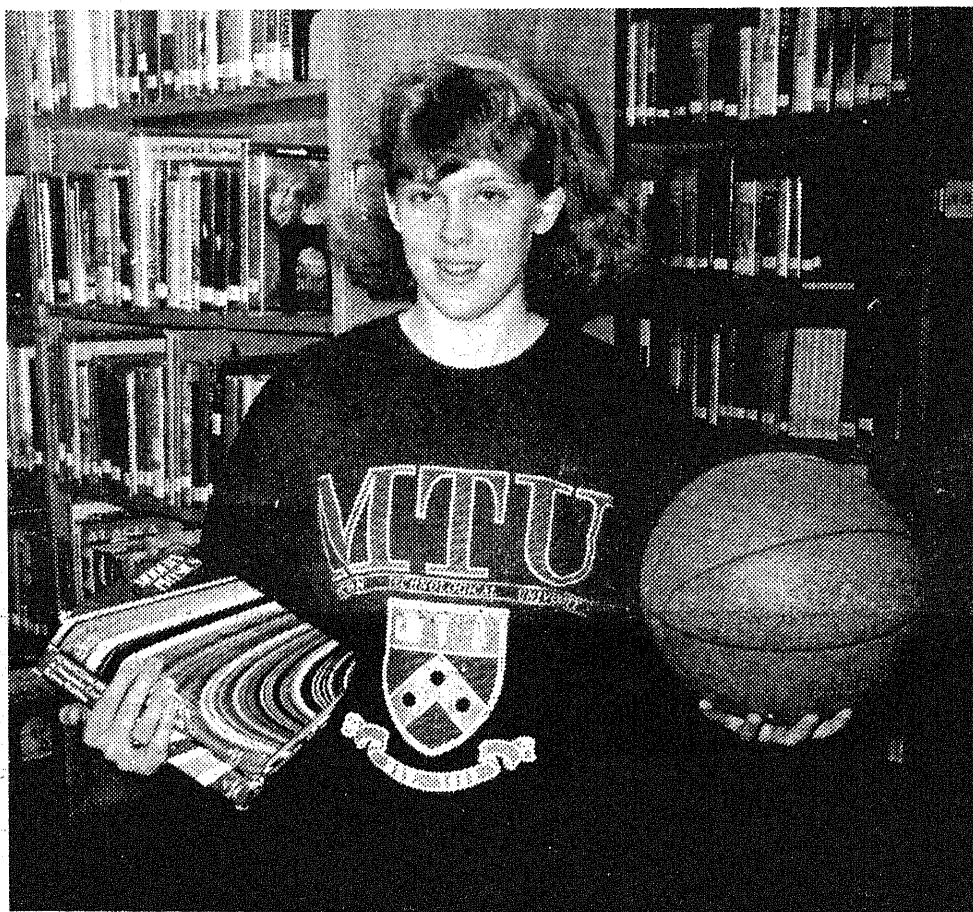

"Only 6,100 get to advance in the competition for National Merit Scholarships," she said.

Elston is undecided about her college plans, but says she hopes to become either a bioengineer or a doctor when her college days are completed.

She is the daughter of Roger and Patricia Elston of Pigeon.

Retirement village: 'very strong need'

By SALLY RUMMEL

A retirement village in Pigeon is one step closer to becoming a reality, following a presentation made Monday, Sept. 16 to the Scheurer Hospital Board of Directors by marketing consultants Kolb & Associates of Goshen, Ind.

All indications from marketing studies completed by the Kolb staff point to a "very strong need" in this area for a retirement village, according to John Kolb.

This news follows an intensive marketing analysis by Kolb & Associates, which included 44 personal interviews and 1100 surveys, including 800 sent throughout Huron County and 300 sent to Pigeon Area residents, most of whom are 65 or older.

The Pigeon surveys included Sand Point and Pt. Austin Road (M-25) residents, many of whom are retired or approaching retirement age.

Response to the mailed survey — at 33 to 34% — was much higher than the national average of 20% of persons responding to a mailed questionnaire.

"I'm very pleased with the study that was done and with the work completed thus far by Kolb & Associates," says Scheurer Hospital Administrator Dwight Gascho.

Now that the information, including a 70-page marketing analysis, is in the hands of the Scheurer Hospital Executive Board, the Board will be in the process of investigating the next steps to be taken.

Land adjacent to Scheurer Hospital will need to be purchased, if possible, for use as a building site and a seven-member board overseeing the project will need to be appointed, according to Gascho.

Four of the seven board members will be from the present Scheurer Hospital Executive Board, says Gascho, so that goals and objectives for both groups can be met.

The proposed retirement village would consist of a congregate living unit — the number of individual units yet to be decided — and duplex units, to be constructed as they are sold.

Monthly rental fees for the units would include utilities and such proposed services as banking, the use of recreation facilities, an exercise area, one meal a day and other options.

"We are moving onto the next steps which will enable us to get the project moving in a positive direction," says Gascho.

Now the ball is pretty much in the court of the Scheurer Hospital Executive Board, who will be making recommendations for future action on the project.

HURON RE-DISTRICTING PLAN SET

Huron County's Apportionment Commission has approved one of eight commissioner district proposals submitted to it and the seven-district plan okayed will be sent to the state for use during the next decade.

The commission -- including County Clerk Helen Lemanski, Treasurer Roberta Moetteli, Prosecutor Leslie Hager plus County Democratic Chairman Roy Reynolds and County Republican Chairman Warren Krohn -- agreed the new plan does not split existing townships and has no more than 11.9% divergence of population among the districts.

No current commissioner would face another incumbent in the re-districting, although several boundary changes will change representative areas. The newly-created district, called District 4 and including Oliver, Chandler, Meade and Colfax Townships, has no incumbent, although long time local Republican Warren Krohn resides there and is expected to seek the position.

And, incumbent Republican Comm. Martha Thuemmel of Port Austin will no longer face Democratic challenger Robert Quinn or Jack Jensen of Caseville, since Caseville and Port Austin are now in separate districts.

Here are the proposed County Commission Districts, with total population and expected effect on the six incumbent commissioners:

DISTRICT 1: Brookfield, Fair Haven and Sebewaing Townships; 5134 residents; present Dist. 1 Comm. Bruce Kuhl of Sebewaing;

DISTRICT 2: Bingham, Grant, Paris, Sheridan and Sherman Townships; 4868 residents; present Dist. 4 Comm. Julie Heilig of Ubyly;

DISTRICT 3: Caseville, McKinley and Winsor Townships 4698 residents; present Dist. 2 Comm. R. Dale Wertz of Bay Port;

DISTRICT 4: Chandler, Colfax, Meade and Oliver Townships; 4907 residents; no present commissioner resides in this district;

DISTRICT 5: City of Bad Axe, Sigel and Verona Townships; 5279 residents; present Dist. 3 Comm. Robert Hogar of Bad Axe;

DISTRICT 6: City of Harbor Beach, Bloomfield, Gore Huron, Rubicon and Sand Beach Townships; 5277 residents; present Dist. 5 Comm. Robert Witherspoon of Port Hope, and DISTRICT 7: Dwight, Hume, Lake, Lincoln, Port Austin and Pointe Aux Barques Townships; 4788 residents; present Dist. 6 Comm. Martha Thuemmel of Port Austin.

TOURISM GROUP MEETS MONDAY

The House Republican Task Force on Tourism will conduct a public hearing in Bad Axe this Monday, Sept. 30, according to State Rep. Beverly A. Bodem (R-Alpena), who chairs the group.

Members will collect public testimony, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Huron Area Skill Center, rooms A151 and A152 Bad Axe. Huron County Tourism Director Deborah Kretzman is local coordinator for the visit, to help Michigan's second-biggest industry.

Rep. Bodem says the group is focusing on the quality of profitability of state tourism. The total impact of Michigan's travel industry in 1990 was $16.5 billion, matching the record level of the previous year.

"So much depends on our ability to maintain and improve on a well-conceived and well-promoted tourism program," she says. "The Thumb Area should be an integral part of any successful strategy."

Other members of the Tourism Task Force are Reps. Dick Allen of Caro, plus Keith Muxlow, Tom Power, Bill Bobier Bob Brachenridge, Stephen Dresch and Mickey Knight.

The Bad Axe event is the seventh in a statewide series of hearings. Anyone needing additional information should contact Kretzman in Bad Axe at 269-6431 or Rep. Bodem's Lansing office at 373-0833.

THE PIGEON MENS' Community Chorus and popular Gospel group "One Accord" will be the featured entertainers at the final concert of the season at Pigeon's new band shell, this Sunday, Sept. 29 at 2 p.m.

The Pigeon Mens' Community Chorus has been singing together for over a dozen years, traveling all over the state, as well as to churches and concerts in the Midwest. "One Accord" is made up of men and women from Pigeon River Mennonite Church, who love to share their faith through vocals and instrumentals. They are especially known for their harmony.

A nominal donation will be taken at the gate to help defray the cost of band shell performances, according to the Band Shell Committee, which sponsors the events.

More help offered to Caseville students

By AMY HEIDEN

Caseville students will have another resource on hand when they run into problems, the Caseville School Board learned at its meeting last week.

A new student assistance program has been put into action at the school, according to Supt. James Stahl.

Four staff members, Rob Reed, Debra Fritz, George Badnerek and Janet Watts, will comprise the Core Committee, and students can take their problems to those members, or the student can be referred to the committee.

Peer counseling with other students and teachers is an option, as well as referral to outside agencies in the county, Stahl said. All the discussions and referrals are confidential.

"The program will help kids so that they can address high-risk behavior so that it won't interfere with social or academic development," Stahl said.

The board also approved the purchase of 17 copies of a seventh-grade transition math book for $408, plus 26 copies of an eighth-grade algebra textbook for $700. The school will also be purchasing 30 student desks for over $1,700, and authorized Stahl to seek bids on 30 folding arm chairs.

In other business, the Caseville School Board:

■ Heard from Jim Hall, CPA, of Bad Axe, that the district's finances are in sound condition. The district ended the year with a fund balance of almost $84,000, with a total fund balance of almost $780,000.

■ Set tuition for out-of-district students at $900 per year.

■ Learned that that Caseville students are above average according to the Stanford Achievement tests. Caseville students' reading scores indicate that they read at least one year over their grade level.

OBSERVATIONS BY CO-PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

LAZY MAN'S LOAD -- My father-in-law Dave Shotwell of Florida visited his three children and their families last weekend, and all enjoyed some special family fun times.

As he watched a family member pick up several items for one big clean-up trip around the house, Dad S. called the resulting armful a "lazy man's load." When we inquired about the origin of such a phrase, he said he had learned carrying one big load usually means the person is trying to transport too much at once -- a "lazy man's load" -- versus smaller but faster trips which are supposedly more efficient.

I've heard a lot of phrases in my four decades, but that was a first for me. I've never considered myself lazy (except during a few school classes, maybe) but the "lazy man's load" concept has made me think several times.

Perhaps I always perceived it as the other way around. When you're clearing up picnic items off the beach, prior to loading the family car for the return trip home, I always thought I was simply being efficient trying to get a full load all at once. When our "family laundry folding time" required trips upstairs, I've always loaded up and carried 'em up, often barely able to see ahead of me. In fact, I felt such large-cargo trips were the reverse of laziness.

Isn't it funny how another viewpoint can change your own way of thinking?

In defense of the "lazy man's load," there IS a minimum amount of carrying which can be applied. Make too many trips because you're carrying too little should probably be known as a "stupid man's load." Anyway, there IS some strong merit in normalcy, moderation and average carrying loads. You're less likely to drop things from a normal load, for example, than you might from an "arms-full" trip.

And, if YOU think about this too much, I'll bet you'll find yourself questioning whether you're holding a "lazy man's load" or not the next time your arms are full... -- 30 --

DESK-CLEARING: ■ As fall colors start turning up on trees, here are two numbers you can call for color conditions state-wide and nation-wide. In Michigan, call the color hotline at 1-800 543-2937. For other states, call (202) 205-1780.

■ One of my favorite places, the railroad tunnel under the St. Clair River between Port Huron and Samia, Ont., turned 100 last Thursday. I've only been through the tunnel twice, but I've always been fascinated that you start in one country, go underneath all those freighters and end up in another country. There's even a 54-page book, "Tunnel Tales," written by Samia's Wanda Pratt, available by order from bookstores.

■ The 19-ft., 10-inch tunnel is over two miles long and is about 60 feet below the water level. Canadian National Railroad is now considering enlarging the tunnel or building a second one, to handle those new double-stack rail cars. Now, they're being ferried across the river on barges.

■ Hard to believe, but Play-Doh is celebrating its 35th birthday this year. It began in 1956 at Rainbow Crafts of Cincinnati, during experiments on modeling compounds. Play-Doh modeling clay is available in several colors, and all types of molds and kits are also offered. It's a creative, fun toy that will stay soft if kept in its yellow cans, or will harden if left in the air. And, no one will officially say what's in Play-Doh, so its ingredients are a guarded secret...

■ On an average day in America, we spend $434 million on toys. A total of 14 new toys are introduced every day in the U.S., part of 33 new consumer products introduced daily... -- 30 --

Scheurer joins in nationwide campaign October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Scheurer Hospital is joining hospitals and health organizations nationwide in observing National Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October, dedicated to educating American women and their families about the importance of early detection of breast cancer.

Early detection provides the best opportunity to treat breast cancer successfully. Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women: one out of nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. In 1991, over 175,000 new cases are projected, and 44,500 women will die of the disease.

"Every woman is at risk for breast cancer, and risk increases with age," says Joanne Champagne, Scheurer administrative assistant. "By following a simple three-step early detection program, many women could save their own lives."

Special report to Caseville Township

DEAR EDITOR:

The Caseville Township Board is weighing the options on one of the most important environmental questions the Township has ever faced. The decisions we make in the coming weeks can have far-reaching effects.

To protect the water resources in the Bay and the groundwater, we are considering a sanitary sewer project to serve some parts of the Township.

We have looked into the situation thoroughly and decided we had an obligation to evaluate our alternatives for the following reasons:

POPULATION

Health officials generally consider individual septic tanks and tile fields as a "rural" method to be used in sparsely developed areas. The Township has more people than the Village, therefore, we have a community all our own. Currently we have over 4,000

EDISON TO MERGE THUMB OFFICES

Detroit Edison offices and work yards in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties will be closed later this year and consolidated into one Thumb Area facility, possibly in the Cass City industrial park. Current locations in Bad Axe, Caro and Sandusky are being closed as part of a cost-cutting consolidation that will provide better customer service, Edison officials say.

While recent reports have said Edison offices in downtown locations will be closed, no official word of merged work yards has been announced, although those employees have been told their work places will be relocated later this year. More than 80 employees are involved in all three locations.

TRAXLER AIDE HERE THURSDAY

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler (D-Bay City) will have office hours this Thursday in Huron County, to discuss problems and concerns about federal government dealings.

COURT NEWS CORRECTION

Circumstances surrounding a Court News report published in the Aug. 28 Progress-Advance require clarification. Brian T. Casson, 18 of Detroit, was convicted on assault and battery charges and sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay fines and costs of $100, following an incident May 26 near a store adjacent to Oak Beach Park. State Police said Casson was involved in a fight with a Bay City youth.

Casson's incident had no involvement with the beating of a 17-year-old Kinde friend later in the day, contrary to the Aug. 28 published report.

project, and we can't afford what he's trying to do," John Engleman said. "There's too many seniors here and too many people laid off that can't afford it."

Engleman said that many residents were upset that "they don't get to vote on it, and a lot of people don't like that."

Township attorney Michael Otto has told the township board that Michigan law prohibits a vote on such an issue.

Cilc said he believed the recall petition was filed "because I've been informing people about the need for a sewer system."

The Huron County Election Commission will decide on Oct. 3 whether a recall petition against Caseville Township Supervisor Joseph Cilc is worded properly.

The petition to remove Cilc from office was filed by township resident John Robert Engleman last week.

If the commission decides the petition's language is proper, Engleman must gather enough signatures from township voters to force a recall vote.

The petition filed by Engleman says that Cilc should be recalled because:

- "he supports the township sewer project,"
- that Cilc has a conflict of interest in his position as township supervisor and his job as a builder,
- that he withheld public knowledge from residents about township meetings,
- and that he has refused to allow property owners an opportunity to vote on the proposed sewer project.

Engleman and his wife Barb have been leaders in some township residents' fight against a proposed sewer system in the township.

They say that township officials have given conflicting information about the need for the sewer system, and have withheld information from residents.

County Election Committee checking on Cilc recall wording validity

The Huron County Election Commission will decide on Oct. 3 whether a recall petition against Caseville Township Supervisor Joseph Cilc is worded properly.

project, and we can't afford what he's trying to do," John Engleman said. "There's too many seniors here and too many people laid off that can't afford it."

Engleman said that many residents were upset that "they don't get to vote on it, and a lot of people don't like that."

Township attorney Michael Otto has told the township board that Michigan law prohibits a vote on such an issue.

"In my opinion, if any public official gets recalled for stating an opinion, then something's wrong," Cilc said.

As to the conflict of interest charge, Cilc said that his public position was only part-time and "it doesn't pay the bills." He also said he had no idea why he would be accused of withholding public information.

The election commission hearing is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 3 at 1:30 p.m. at the Huron County Courthouse.

The election commission will attempt to determine whether or not the language in the recall petition is of sufficient clarity to enable the officer whose recall is sought and the electors to identify the course of conduct which is the basis for the recall.

If the recall petition wording is determined to be acceptable, Engleman must gather enough signatures to equal or exceed 25% of the votes cast in last fall's gubernatorial election from Caseville Township residents.

If that happens, and if an adequate number of verified signatures are accepted by the county, a recall election will be scheduled, either with the next regular election or as a special election, depending on time until regular election.

Caseville Township Report growth in the Bay and along our beaches.

■ Pumping the septic tank regularly keeps the drain field from plugging up, but does not improve the treatment.

PROPOSED SYSTEM

The engineers evaluated several types of systems to serve the Township and have recommended individual grinder pumps, low pressure sewers and treatment in stabilization lagoons. The type of system has been used successfully in many communities throughout the nation and offers substantial cost savings.

ESTIMATED COST

The cost of the system is estimated at $14 million. The Board is considering a unit assessment as opposed to a front foot charge. Only the properties that receive sewer service will be charged.

CUSTOMERS

Every homeowner will pay the same amount, regardless of the size of their lot-one house, one assessment* Special Assessment, one-time fee$4,500.

Homeowners have the option of paying this over 20 years.

Operations and Maintenance per month$23.

This amount includes $13 for debt service retirement to provide a financial "cushion." If costs are lower than estimated, the monthly charge can be reduced.

If the property owner opts to spread the assessment over a 20-year period, the cost would be $53 per month.

*This example applies to individual homeowners who own more than one lot. Large parcels of land in the service area will be assessed on the basis of the acreage.

ASSISTANCE

There are no grants available, but we are working to make funding sources available to help individual residents.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DEFERRAL

A revolving fund set up by the State of Michigan for older residents who meet the requirements for residency and income. The State makes the annual assessment payments until the ownership of the property changes. The procedure requires a lien on the property.

Some other residents, based on their income, can also have the special assessment deferred. This also requires a lien on the property.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR INTEREST

There comes a time in any community when the old rural methods are no longer adequate. On the basis of the signs we see, it is time for us to seriously consider measures to protect the environment for future generations as well as the health of our residents.

If you have questions or comments, please write us or call the Township office during regular business hours or any Township Board Member.

SCHOOL DAYS

One of the goals of most public libraries is to be involved in the educational system at every stage and the growth and development of people's knowledge.

Libraries are information places — that's their business. So when you are about to send your young child off to school and need some assistance getting over the hump, so you need some information for a paper, or you need to fix something around the house, or have a burning interest in the Art of China — go to your library.

Once a child has started school, there are books to guide parents with helping the child with homework or specifically, with math or learning to read.

For the older student, there are books on how to study, take tests, write papers and there are also books with ideas for papers.

Learning and being a student is a life-long occupation and what better place to do it than at the library?!!

Taking a swing . . .

The women golfers of Scenic Golf and Country Club played in the wind on Tuesday. The game of the day involved putting which can be tricky with gusts swooping every which way.

Dody Yahn and Jeanette Rowe tied for honors in the Championship flight. Erlene Melisko prevailed over the wind and other golfers in the First flight to take that prize. Second flight winner was Mildred Schuette and Elaine Baus won in Third flight. The Fourth flight award went to Audrey Yochim.

Chip-ins were registered by Mrs. Yahn, Mrs. Schuette and Lois Anderson.

Ten tables of cards were in play during the afternoon. Mrs. Yochim, Mrs. Baus and Rita Gogola were the winners at pinocle. Top bridge players were Jeanne Parent, Marion Cypher, Velja Cullen, Margaret Watson, Maureen Moran, Marion Stanton and Doretha Porter.

The end of September marks the end of the season for the Women's Division at Scenic.
