As we see it

One in three smokers is still too many

Information distributed during the past week tells something interesting, unusual and certainly disturbing. That's the finding of a recent survey of three out of every five Michiganders who smoke.

Anthony Blonsky smoking for our state's high school athletes to learn about the dangers of lung cancer and chronic pulmonary disease. Even among those who smoke, however, higher-than-expected numbers continue to smoke because the health community needs to focus on the future.

The problem is, we're losing more and more of our residents to smoking. More cigarette smoking is the number one cause of preventable death in Michigan, with 15,300 deaths annually. That's far more than killed in traffic accidents, gunshots, drownings, heart attacks, and strokes combined. And that should be a crime. All by itself.

Perhaps it's appropriate that "National Smoking Cessation Month," a nationwide campaign to help smokers quit, was observed during the past week. It was not an accident that World beat was chosen, not only because of its proximity to the 30th anniversary celebration of the first National Tobacco Day, but also because of the long history of smoking in the tobacco plant.

It is hoped for the better day when smoking becomes more of a public health issue, with renewed awareness and education. The state has made some progress in reducing smoking among youth, but much more work needs to be done.

In Michigan, 25% of high school students smoke, compared to 18% in the United States. This is a troubling trend, as smoking among youth is significantly higher in Michigan.

We all know that smoking is harmful to our health, but it is also a major cause of premature death and disability. The health community needs to continue to work towards reducing smoking rates and improving health outcomes.

It's important to remember that smoking affects not only the individual smoker, but also their family and friends. Secondhand smoke can cause serious health problems for non-smokers, including lung cancer, heart disease, and respiratory problems.

We encourage all Michigan residents to consider the impact of their smoking habits on themselves and others. It's time for us all to take responsibility for our health and make choices that promote a smoke-free future.

BORN TO RUN

I just finished reading a recently published account of the life and death of Frank Buck. His work was seriously jeopardized by his own struggles with alcohol.

Frank Buck's story is a familiar one. He was a successful athlete who struggled with addiction. He played basketball at Michigan State University and later became a professional football player.

Frank Buck's death was a tragic reminder of the dangers of alcohol abuse. He passed away in 1990 at the age of 54, leaving behind a legacy of excellence in his sport.

As we reflect on Frank Buck's life, we must remember the importance of being proactive in the fight against alcoholism. We must continue to support those who are struggling with addiction and work towards creating a healthier future for all.

Laker's Keefner named 1991 Scholar/Athlete

BY GEORGE KERN

DEAR EDITOR,

I was looking around my cousin's yard today when I saw a young adult male. He looked like he was playing baseball, but I had a gut feeling that he wasn't. He just seemed...not normal.

I couldn't afford to buy a baseball ticket, so I approached him and found out he was a straight-A student who never smoked. He was also clean, polite and seemed like he could be a role model for others.

I was surprised and delighted to hear his story. He had left his hometown to attend college and was now living in the city. He was determined to stay clean and make a positive impact on his community.

I think it's important to recognize the good work that people like him are doing. We need more role models out there. Please help me spread the word about this young man and his inspiring story.

Sincerely,

George Kern

Transforming Winter

Sitting on the news this morning, the Wolf Man's face was frozen. The deep snow on the ground had caused a blizzard. He had set up traps and was looking for a good meal. His dog had led him to a good spot, and he was eagerly waiting for the kill.

The snow was crunching underfoot as he followed the tracks. Suddenly, he saw a figure in the distance. It was a young boy, shivering in the cold.

The Wolf Man approached the boy and offered him a hot cup of tea. The boy gratefully accepted and started to warm up. The Wolf Man then shared his story with the boy. He had grown up in the forest and had learned how to survive.

The boy was amazed by the Wolf Man's stories and asked many questions. The Wolf Man patiently answered each one, teaching the boy important life skills.

As the sun began to set, the Wolf Man left the boy with a smile on his face. He had made a new friend who would remember his kindness for a lifetime.

Laker's Keefner named 1991 Scholar/Athlete

BY AMY HEIDEN

Laker's Keefner named 1991 Scholar/Athlete

When Keefner was named the 1991 Scholar/Athlete, it was a well-deserved honor. He had demonstrated exceptional academic performance and commitment to his community.

Keefner, a junior at Laker High School, was an outstanding student in the classroom and on the basketball court. He was a four-year starter and helped lead the team to a league championship.

In addition to his athletic success, Keefner was actively involved in community service. He volunteered at a local food bank and served as a mentor for younger students.

Keefner is a shining example of the kind of student that we need more of in our schools. His dedication to learning and his commitment to making a difference in his community are truly inspiring.

I would like to extend my congratulations to Keefner and his family. I am sure that they are very proud of him.

Sincerely,

Amy Heiden

Laker's Keefner named 1991 Scholar/Athlete

BY GEORGE KERN

Dear Editor,

I am writing to share my experiences as a Laker High School student. I would like to express my gratitude for the opportunities that were made available to me.

I began my high school career with Modest Canadian basketball, but I quickly realized that I was not a natural athlete. After several attempts at improving my skills, I decided to focus on my academics.

It was a difficult decision, but I knew that high grades would open up more opportunities for me in the future. I worked hard and eventually earned a spot on the Honor Roll.

I am proud of my achievements and I hope that I can inspire others to pursue their dreams. I believe that hard work and determination can lead to success.

Work is expected to begin this spring on an addition to the Huron County Health Department building on M-53 in Bad Axe.

During their last meeting, Huron County Commissioners approved the hiring of the architectural firm of Anderson, Eckstein and Westrick Inc. of Mt. Clemens.

Their plan is to construct a 4,260-sq. ft. addition that would include 2 laboratories, 7 examination rooms, a conference room and restrooms, said Commission Chairwoman Martha Tuenschel.

The Huron County Building Authority awarded bids for the project to Manufacturing Bank of Detroit, which had the lowest of three bids with 5.586%.

In other action, Huron commissioners accepted a $3,741 grant from the U.S.D.A. Water Quality Division to be used to increase the county’s services regarding the county’s on-going water pumping project.

EMMA WING quietly celebrates 105 years of living

By SALLY HUMMEL

When Emma Wing of Pigeon passed away at her home on Saturday, Jan. 21, 2018, she was 105 years old. She was the last of the original 14 children of the family and is survived by her sister and brothers. She was the first of the family to reach the age of 105.

Emma was born on June 10, 1912, in her maternal grandmother's home in Pigeon. She was the oldest of the family and was raised by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wing, and her younger brother, John Wing.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Pigeon and an active participant in the church's social activities. She was also a member of the Pigeon Women's Club and the Michigan State Penitentiary Auxiliary.

Emma was a long-time resident of Pigeon and lived in her home until the age of 103. She was known for her kindness and generosity.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Mabel Wing, and her brothers, Mr. John Wing and Mr. William Wing.

She was preceded in death by her father, Mr. William Wing, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Wing.

Visitation will be held at the First Baptist Church in Pigeon on Monday, Jan. 23, from 1-4 p.m., and from 6-8 p.m. A service will be held at the church on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 11 a.m. The Rev. Dr. J. D. Wing will officiate. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the First Baptist Church in Pigeon.

ELKTON REPORT: "Definitions for Parents"

By ELKTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, BEGIN PHILLIPS

A bussing battle for the past couple of years has been the topic "All I Need to Know I Learned in Kindergarten" written by Robert Fulghum. The following is a list of those simple, yet important ideas taken from this humorous and insightful book.

1. Share everything.
2. Be fair.
3. Don't hit people.
4. When you go out for a walk, keep your hand on your mother's hand.
5. When you go into a room, close the door behind you.
6. Say you're sorry when you hurt someone.
7. Say please and thank you.
8. Wash your blankets and cute old friend for you.
9. Take a nap every day.
10. When you go into the world, watch out for traffic, hold your hand, and stick close to your mother.

KIDS ON THE BLOCK

The KIDS On the Block show is a program presented to our 4th grade students each year. It is sponsored by the Huron Intermediate School District. The program show helps students better understand various types of social and emotional hardships. The show is scheduled on February 9th at 9:30 A.M. Parents are welcome to attend.

PRINCIPAL TODD BIGGER

Principal Todd Biggero has been a part of Elkmont Elementary School for two decades. His leadership and guidance have been instrumental in shaping the school community. Today, he reflects on the importance of community and the role of educators in fostering a positive learning environment.

The Piper and Bay Port 5th graders are holding the community's annual pancake breakfast. The event is open to the public and is a great opportunity for families to come together and enjoy a meal while supporting their local school.

PIONEER DIST. LIBRARY

The Pioneer District Library is proud to announce that three of its patrons were honored at the annual performance. The winners received certificates and a special plaque to recognize their contributions to the library. The recipients are:

1. Karen Johnson
2. John Smith
3. Emily Brown

didn't know how much Christmas spirit their performance brings into our lives.

Do you enjoy a warm holiday setting in a cozy and inviting atmosphere? If so, the Piper and Bay Port 5th graders invite you to participate in their annual holiday concert. The concert will be held on December 14th at 7:00 P.M. at the Huron Intermediate School. The event is open to the public and is a great opportunity to enjoy a night of music and cheer.

SHOW CASE DISPLAY

A display of student work from different countries will be on display at the Community Center from December 20th to January 10th. The exhibit features a diverse range of art and crafts from around the world. Visitors are encouraged to appreciate the cultural diversity and creativity represented in the artwork.

OUTDOOR REPORT

Week of Jan. 20, 1992

COLD JANUARY NIGHTS when the snow has a chance to pack in, are an absolute welcome break from the balmy days of summer. If you notice that the snow has been blown into mounds during sledding or playing, you may want to clean it off with a shovel to provide firm, even surfaces for your enjoyment. But if the snow is too powdery, it may be a good idea to wait until the next storm to get more.

Lakeshore wind chill temperatures were negative and remained frozen. Inland areas were noticeably colder. Highs were in the single digits on Monday and Tuesday. Winds remained strong, and snow showers continued to fall. Snowfall amounts will vary throughout the area as the wind blows snow toward the coast and away from inland areas.

Fishing report - Fishing conditions were average. Some lake perch and yellow perch were caught this week in the Saginaw Bay area. Anglers who can tolerate the wind and find areas of the bay that are not too rough will have a good chance at catching perch from 12 to 24 inches in length. Other Lake Michigan species included some small whitefish, alewives, and a few salmon. The salmon were caught on natural and artificial baits and lures.

The Master's Touch

"And, behind, a hand touched me," Daniel 10:10. There's an inspirational portion of a section aisle, when a warm, dry, old glove was offered. The price lowered low, the warmth was high. The glove, that was once worn by a master, was gently pressed to my hand, and I felt a master's touch. Too bad, the glove was too small. From behind the note card in my hand, I felt the touch of the Master, the One with the warm, dry, worn, old glove.

It’s a 'matter of course' for board member recognition

BY SALLY HUMMEL

Most people think of a golf pro as being "Stuffy" Bergman, now known for his sunny disposition, love of golf and golf. Further... he designs and builds golf courses.

Bergman's latest venture is a 9-hole, 20,000 square foot area of hardwood property in Wellington, located in Palm Beach Co. It is called "Pinetree" and joins the Magnolia Oaks Country Club Golf Courses. The course is at 800 S. Lake Drive, West Palm Beach. The course is adjacent to Magnolia Oaks and is a short distance from Palm Beach International Airport.

For 1 1/2 years, Bergman, his wife Melva and their son Fred, both engineers, have been busy designing and building the course. The course is a public golf course and is expected to open by the end of March.

Recycling has assumed a significant role in waste management, and a lack of awareness shows why recycling is necessary. We throw away enough tires and steel to easily supply all American automobiles.

Food cans can be recycled as copper metal. Steel and aluminum cans are recycled as metallics. Glass, paper, and plastic can be recycled as mixed recyclables.

'Buckle Down' drive starts in Huron County

BY WALT RUMMEL

Deaths, injuries and property damage from highway accidents are much more than a matter of traffic safety. They've become a national health problem, involving as many deaths each year as occurred in 10 years of the Vietnam war.

The good news is that use of seat belts can reduce deaths substantially.

In Huron County a committee has been organized and is ready to get into action to increase compliance with the Michigan safety belt law. "Safety belts save lives," said Col. Gerald L. Hough, retired director of the Michigan State Police and now representing the Michigan Coalition for Safety Belt Use. Col. Hough addressed about 2 dozen members of the citizens' committee who met Thursday noon in Bad Axe. The local committee was organized by Huron County Sheriff Michael L. Gage, Sgt. L. Brent Woodward, director of safety education, is project site coordinator.

Col. Hough spoke on Operation Buckle Down, the Occupant Restraint—Se- curity Traffic Enforcement Program, which will begin in Huron County in early September.

Discussing the cost of traffic crashes, Colonel Hough said that in the US, $74 billion is spent every year, more than $790 million of it in Michigan. Comparing the cost to taxpayers, serious crime costs $2,930 billion each year, but traffic crashes are more than 20 times as costly, $22.8 billion.

In Huron County in 1989, there were 1,600 traffic accidents, involving 5,870 drivers and passengers. The results were 480 persons injured and 7 killed.

Fatal crashes do not always involve very high speeds, Colonel Hough said, as many 35, 40 and 45 mph crashes result in death. Vehicles moving as slowly as 12 mph have been in fatal crashes, he added.

Forty miles per hour, regarded by many drivers and riders as a relatively-low speed, is extremely dangerous. Travelling at 40 mph can be made far safer when seat belts are used, Colonel Hough said.

The new Huron County citizens' committee for broader safety belt use, was told that prior to passage of the safety-belt law, 18% of Michigan drivers used their safety belts.

After the new law went into force on July 1, 1989, compliance rose to 60%, but as the years passed, use of belts slipped back to about 40%.

At present, in Michigan the rate is now 90.5%.

"Each one percent increase in safety-belt usage saves 25 lives each year", Colonel Hough explained.

That's where the goal of the citizens' committee comes in, Col. Hough said, to "increase the use of safety belts by Huron County motorists; to increase the sense of traffic safety awareness among Huron County motorists, and to achieve a 70% safety belt compliance rate among Huron County motorists."

The approximate time schedule is to prepare literature, volunteer or assign tasks, distribute literature and survey Huron County residents between now and April.

The program will run during April, and a final survey and appraisal of the program will be made during May.

"And the goal", Col. Hough repeated, "will be 70% compliance."

Participants at the Bad Axe meeting last week quickly determined that such an improvement in compliance—from 50% to 70%—with a saving of 25 lives for each one percent of improvement, would mean 500 additional lives saved in Michigan, each year.

That would mean that in 1993, the number of traffic deaths in Michigan could run between 700 and 1,000—a vast improvement over the present 1,200 to 1,500 fatalities experienced now.
