Six members of the Caseville chapter of the Poultry Housing Association of America (PHAA) recently met in Caseville, Michigan, to participate in the 2023 leadership training program. The theme of this year’s conference was “Becoming the Change” for poultry producers and leaders of the industry.

The conference was held at the Caseville Inn & Event Center, where participants had the opportunity to learn about current industry trends and challenges, as well as opportunities for growth and development.

Conference attendees participated in various workshops and sessions, including sessions on leadership development, communication, and innovative business strategies. The conference also featured keynote speakers and panel discussions.

In addition to the educational opportunities, the conference provided networking opportunities for attendees to connect with other poultry producers and industry leaders.

Overall, the conference was a success, providing valuable insights and tools for attendees to take back to their own operations and continue to grow and evolve in the poultry industry.
