Twenty young authors, selected from 140 participating students at Pigeon and Bay Port Elementary Schools attended the annual Young Authors Conference on April 3 at Caro High School. The youngsters were all winners of the Young Authors Contest held in their schools and sponsored by the Thumb Area Reading Council.

Four hundred contest winners from Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties enjoyed a morning of crafts, book-sharing sessions and a visit from Michigan author Tanya Sphkaw, who wrote the popular children's book "On The Way To Christmas."

Special guests at the conference were Laker High School theater students, under the direction of Mike Terrill, who dramatized Sphkaw's story for the young writers.

"HATS OFF TO SPRING"— The Scheurer Hospital Auxiliary is getting into the spirit of spring with a luncheon on Wednesday, May 12 at the Pigeon District Library. Lunch will be served between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., with diners invited to "come and go as they please during that time."

Over a dozen models will be sporting hats of all kinds—from a fresh flower hat by Michelle Deet to a political hat worn by Virginia Leipprandt. Pictured here are, from left, model Kim Leipprandt wearing her wedding hat, hat-maker Dorothy Young, who is sporting a spring hat here but will make a medical-themed hat for the event, model Peg Leipprandt who will be wearing an apple hat and hat Chairman Eleanor Trost.

Tickets are available in advance only, now on sale at the Scheurer Hospital front desk or from any auxiliary member. General chairman of the event is Jo Champagne, luncheon chairman is Doreen Miller and Peggie Leipprandt is heading up the decorations committee. Auxiliary President Mary Gatsel will serve as moderator for the event.

A chicken croissant luncheon will be served in a hat box and take-out will also be available. All proceeds will benefit the Scheurer Hospital Auxiliary.

ELKTON STUDENT OF THE MONTH

STACEY SOMEKULA
Stacey is the daughter of Dave and Cindy Farish and is in her senior year of high school this year. Her favorite subject is English. She likes to play volleyball, soccer, and swimming and hopes to become a doctor.

by richard poul

I recently spoke at a very enjoyable spring breakfast held Feb. 21 at the Elkton Country Club. The audience was most attentive and appeared to be engaged in the talk I was giving. This was my fifth appearance at the club's breakfast meetings.

At the breakfast, there were many enthusiastic people in attendance who were interested in my presentation.

Throughout the course of my talk, I focused on a number of important topics, including the benefits of an active lifestyle, the impact of technology on society, and the importance of maintaining a positive outlook on life.

I was delighted to hear so many questions and comments from the attendees. It was clear that they were engaged and interested in the material I was discussing.

Overall, it was a most enjoyable and informative experience for me. I appreciated the opportunity to share my knowledge with such a dedicated and attentive audience.
The Bells Are Ringing...
Richards leading the fight to change assessment system

By ANDY NEIDIG

Joan Richards is in a suit and shirt and tie, standing in the street.

"Richards has been in trouble with several attorneys who specialize in property assessment appeals and may no longer be an attorney.

Richards believes that the courts will be the best avenue for resolving this issue.

Richards is currently representing clients in several cases, including a high-profile case in the Upper Township area.

Richards's legal team, led by Vanessa Mitchell and Steve Wood, is preparing for the upcoming trial.

Richards is hoping to change the system that assesses property values, arguing that it is unfair and ineffective.

Richards's supporters include a network of activists and community leaders who believe in his cause.

Richards is confident that he can make a difference and change the way property assessments are done.
