SEBEWAING...We've
Sebewaing Village & Township Continue To
Your Best Choice For Business, Industrial

Cooperation: (kō-ˈop ěr ā əshən), n. 1. a co-operating; joint effort or operation 2. to act or work together with others in a common enterprise or purpose, the benefits of which are shared by all the members.

In many areas, governmental units have a history of competing with each other — competing in projects, jurisdictions and funding.

The local governmental units in this area—Sebewaing Village, Sebewaing Township and Huron County—don’t have this problem, because they know that in order to accomplish, they must cooperate. And through our cooperation, we are beginning to do great things.

Much of rural America continues to be held captive in the grip of a harsh national economy—and we have our problems, too. But we’re also working hard to improve the future for ourselves, our children, and our grandchildren.

Sebewaing Village and Township continue working together to promote our Industrial Park, and our laborers are paying real dividends for area residents with the construction of new Michigan Sugar Company storage facilities at that site.

Huron County’s newest Park, located in Sebewaing is becoming a reality, and has already begun to attract new visitors. A cooperative effort of the County, Village and Township, the Park will soon offer overnight camping facilities, nature trails and a wide variety of outdoor activities for local and tourist families.

One of the largest projects ever attempted in Sebewaing is our Marina project, and work continues at a quickening pace as numerous governmental and environmental requirements are completed. When finished, the Marina will offer area residents and out-of-the-area visitors convenient and easy access to Saginaw Bay and some of the best fishing in the entire world. The project will also provide a potentially life-saving Harbor of Refuge for boaters between Bay City and Bay Port.

Commercially, the Village and Township have worked together to provide full water and sewer service to businesses and residences along M-25, and together we helped clear the way for the final completion of the Michigan Department of Highways’ M-24 expansion.

When completed, the new highway will allow easier access than ever before from southeastern Michigan to the Western Thumb.

In addition to all of our current Township and Village projects, we continue to plan for our future growth, development and welfare.

A real bright spot for area youngsters is our new Summer Recreation program, which will instruct and entertain our young people in everything from fishing and golf skill to arts and crafts.

Our residents’ community interest and involvement have shifted into high gear with an ambitious museum expansion by the Sebewaing Historical Society and a year-long schedule of classes, demonstrations and shows sponsored by the Lake Huron Community Arts Council and their Heidelberg Gallery in downtown Sebewaing.

Local residents have put their trust and faith in our hands, and we will continue to treat that trust with our full attention, commitment and hard work.

While visiting this year’s Sugar Festival, take a close look at Sebewaing Village and Township because we just might fit in your future, too.

M-24 revisions could take 5 more years

By MARY DRIER

Reevaluation of the divided state DNR permit to extend M-24 from Caro to Unionville is underway.

A permit denial earlier this month placed a roadblock on the 8.5-mile extension to connect M-24 to M-138 land ultimately to M-25 south of Unionville to connect the rest of the Upper Thumb.

The DNR denied the state Department of Transportation's request to fill 6.5 acres of wetland and replace it with man-made wetlands.

The plan was to use the one-mile long Bigle Road as part of the cross-country section to connect M-24 from Cleaver Road in Caro to M-138 near Akron, which links M-24 to Unionville and continues along the Lake Huron shoreline to Port Austin and beyond.

DNR suggested using Dutcher Road instead, as the connector route. MDOT officials have filed an appeal.

Sebewaing Village upgrades electrical power equipment

By WALT RUMMEL

There's more than a quarter million dollars worth of new equipment in the Sebewaing Village electrical department.

The upgraded equipment was installed in late 1992, thanks to a $280,000 grant from the Department of Energy.

The new equipment includes a 500 kVA transformer, a 200 kVA transformer, and a 100 kVA transformer.

The new equipment will allow the village to better serve its residents, and it will also help to reduce the cost of electricity for Sebewaing residents.

The new equipment is being monitored closely, and the village will continue to make improvements to its electrical system as needed.
