5 decades for Bay Port’s Carnival

By AMY HEIDEN

The sounds of children’s laughter and the cries of "we have a winner!" echo through the gymnasium, as they have for over five decades, and another successful Bay Port Carnival gets underway.

How could it be less than successful, when over 100 volunteers join forces to benefit Bay Port Elementary School?

Sandy Chalou, president of the Bay Port Parent-Teacher Organization which sponsors the carnival, says the annual event employs the talents and hard work of teachers and staff, Fairhaven Township seniors, students, parents, and other community members.

This year, students from the Huron Area Skill Center are volunteering their face-painting talents.

"It's amazing the amount of community support we get," Chalou said. "They make it a priority even though they don't always have a lot of time."

This year's carnival is set for Saturday, Feb. 5, with the kitchen opening at 5:30 p.m. and the games running until midnight.

The combined attractions at the school, as it is at other schools—and Bay Port resident Chuck Dennis can remember attending one in 1937.

He recalls that a shooting gallery was set up in the basement of the school, using billiard balls. One student decided to use a room's lightbulb as a target... and that was the end of the shooting gallery!

Over the decades, the carnival has outgrown the gym and now spreads throughout the school, Chalou said.

Popular games include the cake walk, where all the cakes are donated, color throw, fish pond, and bingo. A separate room is dedicated to bingo, and tickets are sold right in that room.

This year is the "shoot the hoop" game, purchased by the PTO.

Having great prizes has always been a priority for the PTO carnival, Chalou said.

"We spend at least $800 on prizes just for the games plus many more are donated," she said. Donations from community members this year were used to buy some of the larger prizes, such as TV/VCR cart and a bed, among others.

Usually the PTO realizes a $1,200 to $1,500 profit from the carnival and that money is divided among the teachers to use for materials for their classrooms. Money is also used for the school library, music classes, physical education and health classes.

Over the years, with carnival money, the PTO has purchased a television, laminating machine, VCRs, jungle gym, and has provided free lunches during the summer reading program. A special part of any carnival is the food, and the Bay Port carnival is no exception. In the past, sandwiches and pop were sold, but now the kitchen provides such items as pizza, nachos and homemade cupcakes.

Members of the donation committee include Sue Deam, June Carter, Lorraine Suddoch, Marie Maust and Lynnette Yoder.

Serving on the carnival committee are Grant Gundlach, Bryan Chalou, Ralph Swartzendruber and Kevin Stin.

Beginning snow, sleet or rain, we can still expect to roll the concert and entertainment part of our spring concert, "You're a Star." Our big event is today, with music, dance, and a finale featuring "The Young Farmers Clubs" national show. Thank you to all those who have contributed their time and energy to make this event a success. We hope to see you there!

THAT HANGING TIME FOR THE PFC The Michigan Sugar Company, located in the heart of the sugar beet country, sponsored the show in the Sebewaing area, featuring Great Lakes Sugar Beet Growers. The show was held in Sebewaing on Tuesday, February 28th. Michigan Sugar Company, Sebewaing Manager Richard Mudd, and Office Manager Richard Mudd, attended the show. Mudd was impressed with the quality of the show and the enthusiasm of the audience. The audience was enthusiastic and the show was well received.

WHAT MADE THE 1894 Pie Bake so successful was the cooperation of bakers from all around the area’s high schools, guided by BYF alumni and faculty members of Sebewaing, Weston and YFC volunteer pictures. Pictures: 1892 day of Pigeon, showing students. 1894 day of Pigeon, showing students.

Cara Airport expansions

Planned for the construction of Timora's newest airport, a new hangar is being built. This hangar will be a new hangar and an additional building. In the immediate future, the project will continue to be an airport authority, which owns and operates the airport.

Court proceedings

In 7th Circuit Court (Sharon County) Judge Karl Kraus last week signed an order approving the sale of the former Aerocar airport for $150,000. The sale was approved by the court last week.

DEER (Quick) — A wild animal—rarely seen in the area—was recently sighted near the village of Sebewaing. The animal was observed in a field near the Sebewaing Dam. The animal was later spotted near the Sebewaing Dam again.

Snow tales

As a child, my parents took me on winter trips, hiking through the snow, and playing in the cold. Now, as a parent, I carry on this tradition with my own children. We bundle up in warm clothes and head out into the snowy wilderness, exploring the world around us.

One day, we were out on a nature hike when a sudden snowstorm hit. We found shelter in a small cabin and spent the afternoon playing board games and sharing stories. It was a magical day, filled with laughter and the simple pleasures of being outdoors.

This week, I invite you to join me in exploring the beauty of winter from the comfort of your home. So grab a hot cup of cocoa, curl up with a good book, and let's make some memories of our own.

Caseville development planning is underway

By SALLY RUMIEL

Ronnocaling Caseville in the new era of development, is the case of Wendy Hidy Pepple. Pepple, a Caseville native, is the General Manager of the Caseville Development Authority (CDA). Her job is to oversee the development of Caseville.

Pepple has been working on Caseville for several days, taking a close look at the town's future. She has been reviewing plans and ideas for the town's development. Pepple is excited about the potential for Caseville.

She talked about her plans for Caseville, saying that she is looking to bring new businesses to the town, as well as improving existing ones. Pepple is also working on plans for the town's infrastructure, including roads and water systems.

Pepple is working closely with the Caseville Chamber of Commerce and the Caseville Economic Development Corporation (CEDC) to develop a comprehensive plan for Caseville's future.

WENDY Hidy Pepple spoke to Caseville business and community leaders recently. She explained her plans for Caseville's development and the steps she will take to bring new businesses to the town.

"The Caseville Development Authority is in charge of developing the town," Pepple said. "Our goal is to make Caseville a better place to live, work and play. We will be working on improving the town's infrastructure, as well as bringing new businesses to the area.

"We are looking to attract new businesses to Caseville, and we are also working on improving the town's existing businesses. We are working with businesses to help them improve their operations, and we are also working to attract new businesses to the town.

"The Caseville Development Authority is committed to making Caseville a better place to live, work and play. We are working hard to make Caseville a better place to live, work and play."

WHAT'S THE BEST WAY TO CLEAN YOUR SHOES?

Dr. White, the world-renowned shoe cleaner, provides the answer. He explains the three main methods: scrubbing, brushing, and bleaching.

In the scrubbing method, Dr. White instructs to use a soft brush and a mild detergent solution to gently clean the shoes. This method is best for light dirt and stains.

The brushing method involves using a stiffer brush to remove more stubborn dirt and stains. However, this method can damage the fabric of the shoes.

Finally, the bleaching method is used to whiten the shoes and remove tough stains. However, it requires careful handling to avoid damaging the shoes.

In conclusion, the best way to clean shoes depends on the type of dirt and stains present. Dr. White's methods provide effective and safe ways to keep your shoes looking their best.

Some of the other fabrics include leather, canvas, cotton, and synthetic materials. Each material requires a different approach to cleaning and maintenance. Always follow the manufacturer's instructions or consult a professional cleaner for the best results.

More Farmers' Festival crafts planned for '94
Pigeon's Downtown streets will be filled with crafters, bakers, concession sellers and home-based businesses selling their wares when the Farmers’ Festival Sidewalk Sale and Crafts Show debuts Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 29 to 31.

Now is the time to sign-up to receive a space on the sidewalk and in the municipal parking lot, according to Donna Jacobs, who is heading up the Downtown event in conjunction with the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce.

The committee is looking for people who want to sell hand-made crafts, baked goods or concession items. Pigeon residents who have home-based businesses, like selling Watkins or Avon products for example, will have first priority in signing up for tables, while anyone can sign up for selling crafts, confections or baked goods.

A specially designated area will be set up for sale, according to Jacobs. To receive a list, fill out the application here and drop off at Amy’s of Pigeon, 7266 Michigan Ave., Pigeon, MI 48755 or call Amy at 453-2160 or Donna at 453-3295 (after 5 p.m.)
