Doubles... times three!

Having a pair of twins graduate isn't anything unusual for a high school, but what about three sets of twins?

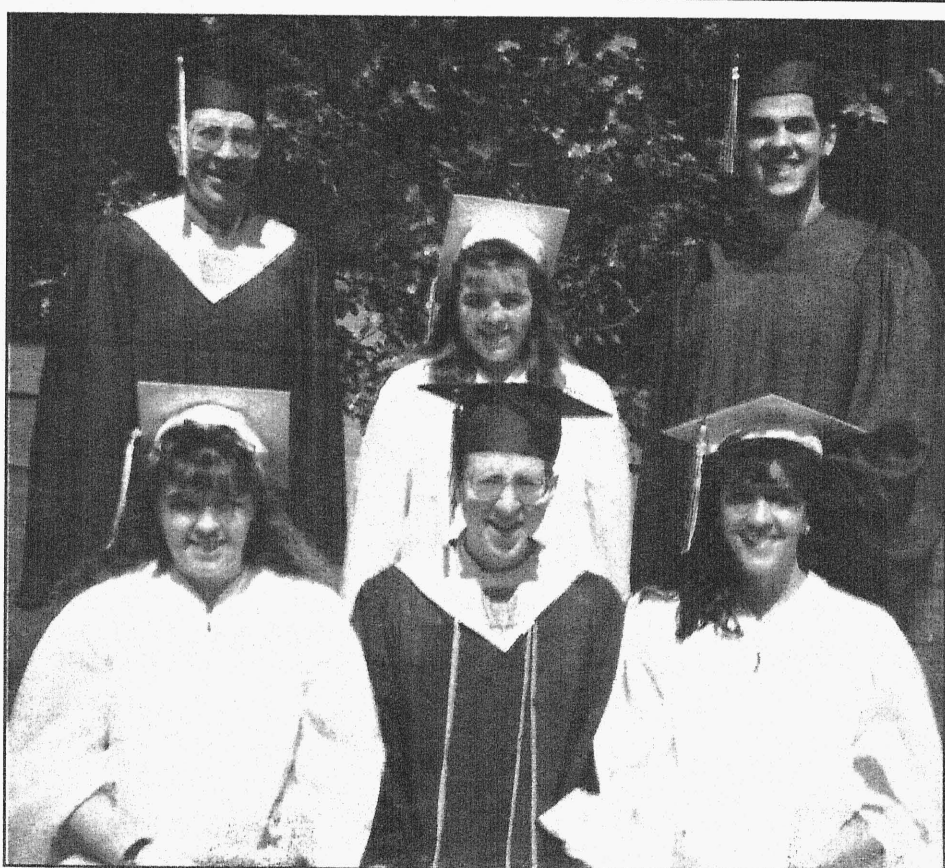

The Laker High Class of '94 boasts a trio of twins — the Dexters, the Schuettes and the Mitins — and all received their diplomas Sunday afternoon at graduation ceremonies at Laker High School.

Standing behind are James Schuette, Melissa Dexter and Andy Mitin.

11th Casevi Bowfishing tournament starts Saturday

By AMY HEIDEN

Eleven years ago, a bowfishing tournament was born out of the fertile imaginations of Bob Easterbrook and friends.

Such a tournament would rid the Saginaw Bay shoreline of thousands of "trash" fish such as carp and dogfish, and would also benefit the National Wildlife Education Foundation and its Outdoor Center at Sleeper State Park.

That tournament has grown over the years into the largest of its kind in the country — last year bringing in over 81 tons of fish to be weighed at Beadle Bay Marina.

That's almost 162,000 lbs. of carp, gold carp, goldfish, gar pike and dogfish that were plowed under in a farmer's field.

The two-day Great Lakes Bowfishing Tournament, set this year for June 4-5, benefits the NWEF Youth Camp, which owns the Sleeper Outdoor Center near Caseville.

The camp is used by all sorts of local groups to educate children about wildlife and outdoor activities, including the Laker Junior High sixth-grade camp, rock singer Ted Nugent's Kamp for Kids and others.

There's some nice prize money for the teams bringing in the most fish over the two days, including a first place check for $700 cash.

Second place earns a tidy $500 prize. The top twenty teams earn cash money, according to tournament director Bob Easterbrook, Jr.

There are also cash prizes for the largest carp taken each day, the smallest carp, the largest dogfish, gar pike, gold carp and goldfish.

An "average joe" prize of two compound bows goes to the team that brings in fish weighing closest to the average weight per team.

The tournament is sponsored by Bear Archery, Inc., Bohning Co. Inc., Bowhunter Magazine and Z-Weigh, Inc.

This year, entries were expanded to allow 250 teams to compete, so last year's record catch is likely to be easily broken, especially if the sun shines.

To welcome all those bowfishermen, the Caseville Chamber of Commerce is planning a pig roast and beer tent in the lot next to the Caseville IGA downtown, from 4 to 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the evening's activities go to the Chamber and to the NWEF.

Biggest Sugar Smasher ever!

By AMY HEIDEN

Basketball tournaments are prouting all over the country like sugar beets seeds in a field, and the competition in all of them can be fierce.

Streetball Sports, Inc. staff like to see competitive 3-on-3 tournaments, but they insist that competitors play and confine their high spirits to the courts.

To do that, they use a combination of strict but fair rules, humor and a secret ingredient to manage emotional players.

That secret ingredient is the on-court staff—a group of men called "The Hosses."

As referees on the courts, they hurl insults and compliments and make sure the play is clean. And there's a little intimidation by a staff that averages 250 lbs., and who would be welcome on any pro wrestling tag team.

The Hosses will be on hand during the Michigan Sugar Festival's Sugar Smasher 3-on-3 Tournament June 24-25 in Sebewaing, according to Streetball Sports partner Paul Elenbaum.

Streetball's founder John Perry will also be on hand to officiate the center court Top Gun teams—the guys with pro, semi-pro and college experience.

Perry and Streetball Sports have built a reputation in Michigan and elsewhere for running clean tournaments, where the competitive fire stays on the court and doesn't erupt in violence.

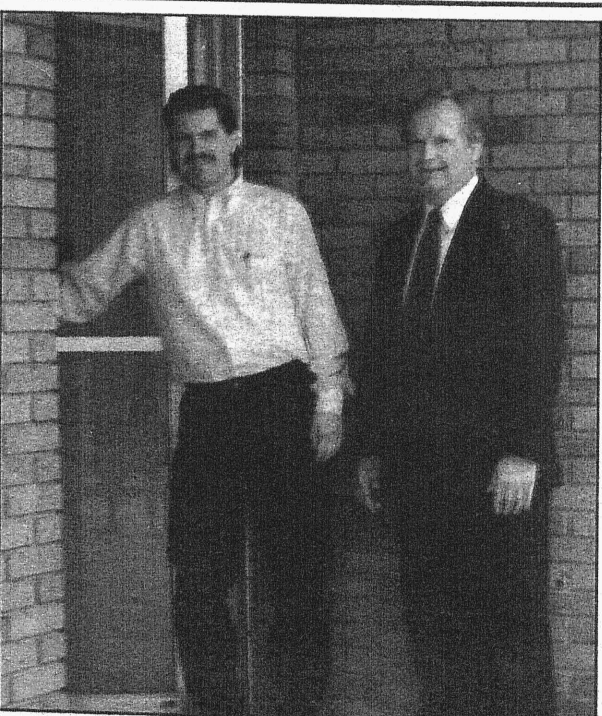

They're also one of the few tournament organizers that takes care of everything, including equipment, advertising, lining up sponsors, so that the benefitting charity can relax the day of the tournament.

On June 11-12, they're putting on a tournament in Livonia to benefit the Children's Miracle Network, in conjunction with sporting goods chain Sports Authority. Five of the 17 events Streetball is coordinating this year will be taped and televised by ESPN 2 sports cable TV network.

While the Sugar Smasher has been a success in the past five years, this year the Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce found that it had grown too

Tuscola road vote Aug. 2

During the Tuesday, Aug. 2 Primary Election, Tuscola County voters will decide on a millage renewal proposal for two years, to fund primary road and local street repairs. The county has levied one mill for road work for the past four years, but must roll-back that amount due to the state Headlee Amendment. "The way it looks now we will have to request about .9741 of a mill, which could be less once the equalization work is done for the year," said county Controller Michael Hoagland. "We aren't allowed to just ask for 1 mill any more and call it a renewal because of the Headlee rollback. "The .9741 rate is expected to go lower once everything is calculated, but we don't know the final figures yet." If approved, the request is expected to generate about $720,000 for road work. Tuscola County Road Commission expects to receive about $540,000 in funds with the rest going to villages and cities for road work, said James Miklovic, secretary/manager for the county's road commission. Miklovic could not estimate now many miles of roads the money would fund because costs vary greatly, depending on the type of road work done. There are about 349 miles of primary roads in the county. This summer, the road commission is slated to do about $1.15 million worth of work to about 31 miles of primary roads. —By MARY DRIER

Newsweekly correction:

Last week's story on the Caseville Board of Education meeting should not have said that parents of Laker students who live in the Caseville district want the board to charge tuition for students who live in other districts, but attend Caseville. The parents did not make that request. They requested that the board release those students officially so that state funding will follow them to Laker High School.

Court proceedings

In 73rd District Court (Huron County), Judge Karl Kraus last week heard the pleas of/or passed judgment on:

 ■ Ronald D. Brown, 33 of Clawson, pled guilty to impaired driving, following a recent incident in Port Austin; $535 fines and costs, and loses driver's license 180 days;
 ■ Richard E. Childers, 41 of Akron, pled guilty to impaired driving, second offense; ordered to serve four days in jail, pay $1,235 fines and costs and loses license for one year;
 ■ Luke L. Deming, 25 of Bay Port, found guilty of no proof of insurance and safety belt violation; $140 fines and costs;

Sebewaing 300 Club winner:

Jerry Nitz of Sebewaing was last week's winner of the $100 top weekly prize, in the Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce's 300 Club Raffle. Paul Schnitker won the $50 second prize, and Terry Gruenh won the $25 third prize. USA Middle School work starts June 3

SCHOOL PLANS: James Herrick of Griener & Associates, Grand Rapids, explains changes in construction on the new Middle School addition to USA Supt. William Dodge

By MARY DRIER

Construction of the new Middle School addition at USA High School is expected to begin in a matter of days. USA Board of Education members awarded the construction contract to the low bidder of Wolgast Construction, Freeland for $4.5 million. Wolgast was one of nine companies submitting bids for the project. Once work begins, the company estimates it will take 240 days to complete — if Michigan's weather cooperates and no major problems develop. The bid included only construction work for additions and renovations, the football field and track base. It did not include the track's surface. Board members requested additional information on track surfaces before approving that part of the project. Last September, USA School District voters approved at $5.7 million bond project to do the work. The funds were put in a savings account over the winter and have accumulated interest to total about $5.9 million, officials say. The extra money allowed for some modifications to the Middle School wing, according to Supt. William Dodge. The plans now call for 13 classes rather than 11 and seating for 300 spectators in the gym.

Also after several revisions, the plans are to have a library/media center, a special education room, a cafeteria with a stage area, a food-serving kitchen, lockers and showers, a general office area and a board of education room. The addition will add 46,000 square feet on the southwest side of the school, located between Unionville and Sebewaing on M-25. The proposal also calls for upgrades to the existing USA High School and USA Elementary School. Some of the remaining parts of the project, besides the track surface, is letting bids for office and school room equipment plus technology hardware and software. Board members plan to meet with the construction company to encourage completion of the project by mid January rather than February. As soon as the current Middle School is vacated, AJD Management of Akron and California plans to begin work on turning the former Sebewaing High School facility into an independent living facility for senior citizens.

All The News That Fits We Print!

DESK-CLEARING: ■ Remember how the Fox TV Network outbid CBS-TV for rights to National Football League games, starting this fall? Maybe we haven't heard the last from CBS on the matter.

A new league called the "A League" is being discussed by several big advertising companies, who've approached CBS with the concept. Basically, CBS could provide network time for a new league, which might be sponsored not by individual team owners... but advertisers themselves. Rumored to be involved are Federal Express, PepsiCo, Anheuser-Busch among others. The teams could use some of the big-name talent not finding NFL jobs this year because of the salary caps, and remember, CBS has ALL that time free Sunday afternoons, ready to program. Stay tuned...

■ And while we're at it, isn't it amazing that Fox convinced WJBK TV-2 in Detroit to switch from being a CBS affiliate (since 1947) to Fox? It was one of 16 stations in cities as big as Atlanta, St. Louis and Milwaukee to switch to Fox... all because of that NFL football contract.

In comparison, it would be like WNEB TV-5 switching to Fox, and giving up their own 1954 tradition with NBC. The TV business is really changing...

■ Congratulations are certainly in order for Caseville Public School, which made the Detroit Free Press' statewide list of "top MEAP Test" students in the state. Caseville has 73.7% of fourth graders achieving satisfactory rankings in math, to rank 20th statewide. North Huron 4th graders were in 25th place in math, at 71.7% satisfactory.

Caseville also showed up as 37.74% of students who qualify for free or reduced-price lunches...

■ Any news items/photos turned in after 5 p.m. this past Thursday will likely be in next week's Newsweekly...

As we see it

Don't expect to get to Congress without money...

Here's one news story that's sad enough to make you really wonder about how our nation works, here in 1994.

A recent national report proves it's extremely difficult — if not downright impossible — to win election to major governmental offices without a big bankroll.

A few days before the Democratic primary election for a U.S. Senate seat in Ohio, Cleveland Heights housewife Mary Boyle found herself out of money while in a very close race with millionaire lawyer Joel Hyatt.

Boyle took out a second mortgage on her home and bought as much TV airtime as she could afford. Her message was simple: "The Senate doesn't need any more millionaires lawyers. What it needs is more moms."

Her opponent spent his last pre-election days differently. He wrote a check to his own campaign for more than $200,000 and launched a massive TV and poster ad campaign that Boyle couldn't hope to match.

The result? Hyatt narrowly captured the nomination, and Boyle learned an important lesson of modern politics: millionaires beat moms.

And this situation isn't just happening in Ohio, as the recent Detroit Free Press story points out. More and more millionaire candidates are reaching into their own pockets and spending whatever it takes to win. The result: Congress now is composed of 1/6 millionaires — meaning one in every six Senators or Representatives is a millionaire — a proportion that is 35 times higher than the share of millionaires in the entire U.S. average population.

Of course, rich men and women don't always win. But they're winning much more than 50% of the time, and some challengers may be afraid to even challenge such a candidate, who can spend limitlessly.

Some people worry that wealthy Congress people can't properly represent average Americans. They believe millionaires are less responsive to the problems of those average Americans.

It's good that many wealthy people want to give something back to this great land of ours, but some type of proportion should be maintained between rich and poor Congressmen, as it should between the sexes, among various cultures and races. You can't mandate such proportions, but we're better served by a diverse, in-touch Congress than simply a rich one...

Too few recall real purpose of Memorial Day

By PENNY ADDY,

Caseville
Memorial Day. Why do we observe it? What does the day mean to us?

To some, it is the day summer really begins — the first picnic, beach outing or vacation. To others, yet another day to scour the area's malls in search of bargains.

It seems that precious few still view it as a reminder of the loved ones lost in wars in defense of freedom. Our veterans, of course, recalled on this day, earlier times of sweat and sacrifice, of seeing comrades fall by their sides and of times away from their loved ones.

Years ago we took the time for truly honoring our heroes, those who fell, as well as those who returned from wars and conflict. It served as a reminder that defense of freedom often requires sacrifice and loss.

Many appear to have lost sight of this meaning. Years ago, our citizens viewed it as an honor to march in the parade; now it's hard to find very few interested at all.

The example of a handful of people at the Caseville Cemetery proves this, as the veterans and the school band try to devote their time to remember those who gave their lives so we can all enjoy freedom. Very few attend the service! What about our younger generation? Very few people bring their children to the Memorial Day observances. Do they even know why we celebrate Memorial Day?

It saddens me, in this time when freedom still isn't secure in much of the world, that citizens in our community show so much apparent indifference to this special observance.

It is an opportunity when we could proudly display our patriotism and respect for the sacrifices our loved ones made in defense of our liberties.

We should use this opportunity to teach our sons, daughters and grandchildren about our rich heritage and help them strengthen their pride in our country.

Laker High Class President Kimberly Sturm's Address - Commencement May 29, 1994

Welcome to the 1994 commencement ceremonies of Laker High School. It is great to see all the parents, friends, faculty, administrators, and family here today.

I have been president of my class for the past four years and the greatest reward I have received is to be able to speak to my class, as a whole, one more time.

But first, I would like to explain to everyone who the Laker Class of 94 is.

We are talented, spirited, determined, and successful. May it be in theatre, band, forensics, choir, athletics, or any other organization provided to us, we excel.

Besides all of the extracurricular activities we are involved in, we still find the time to study. Because of this balance this class is intelligent. The class before you is all of these things and much more. I hope that we have made you proud and that when you look at us you will see a well-rounded group of individuals who will succeed. A couple of nights ago, I wrote down what I wanted to say to my classmates. I would like to read it to them now:

TO MY CLASSMATES: Well, we finally made it, the point to which we have worked and studied 13 years to reach. Even though we are excited to start the next step in life, we are still a little scared to let this one go.

I want to be able to tell you how much you have and do mean to me, but I don't know if I can put those thoughts on paper. I can't wait until the time when we can meet together and share memories and see friends we thought we would never see again.

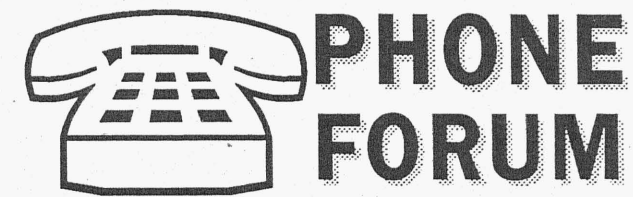

Let's see, my calendar's open five years from now. So in five years the Laker High Class of '94 has to get together. I cannot wait to see you all there. I know that some of us will keep in touch but I can't pretend that I will not be sad to see you go.

I hope that no matter where life takes you that you find happiness. Never stop looking for it because it is out there waiting to be found.

I know that I will be praying that each one of you finds the happiness you deserve. I would also like you to know that no matter what the situation or time, if you need a friend to talk to or a listening ear, I'm available. I'll miss you. I'll miss you all very much. You all have a very special place in my heart.

Well, good-bye, but do not worry, this will not be the last time you will see or hear from me. Remember, we have a date five years from now. I love you all very much. God Bless You.

E. from Caseville: If ordinances are going to be enforced for one property owner, they should be enforced for everybody. And you know who you are!

J. from Sebawaing: I got tears in my eyes when I heard Jackie Onassis died. She was truly a classy, dignified woman and losing her at age 64 is a tragedy.

P. from Elkton: When is the Elkton Village Council going to wise up and make the village clerk work the hours she's supposed to? I've tried to conduct some business there, but the clerk doesn't work regular hours, it seems. Does she only work when she wants? And she's well-paid with our tax dollars.

G. of Port Austin: I have a tip for you graduates, if you are going for a job interview. Be sure to get dressed up, with a dress for women or suit and tie for a man. I have seen some people come apply for jobs looking unprofessional. Remember, look as good as you can: your future boss will assume you know how to be sloppy.

P. from Pigeon: We don't need Channel 11 on TV anymore, since CBS won't be carrying the Lions game anymore. Why don't they take it off? Instead, they could add something like the Cartoon Network.

(Makes sense to us, P. However, I doubt the new Lions station, WSHM TV-66 of Flint will be able to carry home Lions games for Fox, since it's too close to the Silverdome. We'll see...)

W. of Sebawaing: I agree about the flags. Too many people just keep hanging out old flags. One person near us keeps his flag up 24 hours a day. That isn't right, is it? (No, any U.S. flag flying after dark is supposed to be illuminated.)

R. of Owendale: Boy, who does Greg think he is? If he could sing as well as Barbara Streisand, he would be worth $350 a ticket, too. Nobody is making you go to the concert.

Bill of Sebawaing: You probably won't print this, but I think the people who spank children should go to jail. No one should be humiliated like that. Thank you.

D. of Pigeon: Words cannot properly thank the person who stopped Tuesday night, when I ran out of gas. I needed the help.

60 Seconds Blessed indeed!

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He hath chosen for His own inheritance." Psalm 33:12.

Time was when we celebrated national holidays with a day of penitence—or at least a religious service in which we confessed our sins and thanked Almighty God for His blessings upon our land.

Today we don't like to hear about sin. We are quite sure that it is our wisdom, our power, our wealth that has given us the good life we enjoy in our country.

So what has happened? Probably never before has our sense of morality been more compromised, more dulled and even forgotten, than today. In our attitude of "my rights" and "anything goes", we have conveniently subjugated any "old-fashioned" need for morals, decency and need to differentiate between right and wrong.

But woe is America! We must face the matter of right or wrong. There is such a thing as sin.

Almighty God exists, and He rules the universe. We have not been blessed because of our goodness, but because of His mercy. We dare not ignore His Commandments and go on in our sinful ways. We cannot live with evil and still serve Him. We will not escape His judgment if we do not acknowledge His holiness and live accordingly.

We will be a blessed nation only as long as we hold Him as our God and Lord. PRAYER: Return us, O Lord, to a faith and life that fulfills your judgments. Amen.

Now the overwhelming favorite is Bush's, with their wide variety of flavors, styles and ingredients. And the company buys many of its beans right here in the Thumb. Bush's have started an attractive and inviting series of TV ads for their beans, using the slogan "No one bakes 'em better."

Bean producers say, "We don't care which brands you choose, just be sure to eat beans, lots of them." Outstate and downstate visitors to Thumb events, like wedding dinners, church suppers, picnics, graduation parties, etc. are always amazed to find "Michigan beans" as part of EVERY celebration...

Reflections, observations and objections...

On the return from a winter in Florida, there is a reflection of the past few months. It is good to be able to be where the weather is warm. A week in Michigan at Christmastime is enough for a sample of the severity of the season.

The deaths of three close friends and two relatives during my time away also calls for some reflecting. We need to think about how special friendship and family are. We take these for granted many times, thinking we should call or send a note, but put it off until later. Then all of a sudden, it gets to be too late.

Reflecting on this led to the re-reading of "I Heard the Owl Call My Name." In the book, author Marjorie Craven has the Bishop say something to the effect that what life is all about is being ready to die. And a thought about that — some have more chance to be ready than others. Of course, we all need to be ready in the spiritual sense. The person who is ill and knows the end is near can help so much in the details surrounding death. The family and friends can gather 'round and share in the care and love. The one who has a sudden heart attack and is gone has no last chance to say, "I love you." That is why it's important to say that every day.

There were cheerful observations during the past months, too. My sister bought a condo within 30 miles of my winter home. When she arrived, she was frustrated by the phone system. The long-distance carrier is different than the one she usually uses, so she had a long string of numbers needed to access her system.

That didn't seem to work, so she tried two or three other options, finally reaching my answering machine. I could hear the exasperation in her voice as her message told of her difficulty in reaching me. When I returned her call I asked, "What's so hard about dialing seven numbers?"

It's nice to be within local calling distance. We've never lived that close before. She and her husband are not yet retired so their stays are short, but fun-packed.

A friend and I observed an ad for a junket and decided to be venturesome and take a one-day trip to Mississippi. People in our park thought we were crazy when we told them we were going in the morning and would be back that same evening.

It was a foggy morning, causing our plane to be delayed a couple of hours. We flew into Gulfport, got on a bus for the ride to Biloxi and got off at the door of the casino just in time for lunch. We had a waterfront table for dining, but the fog was so thick we had no view.

An afternoon in the casino was highlighted by winning $40 in nickels on the way out. Then it was back on the bus, wait for the plane, then wait on the plane for a couple who almost got left, then head back home. We'd been to Mississippi but never saw it because of the fog!

My main objection while I'm away is the way women alone get treated, especially when needing service.

I took my car in for an oil change. The next day there was an oil spot on the carport. I returned to the garage where I was told I needed a gasket replaced. That was done at a cost of $150. I parked differently and found another oil spot the next day. Back to the garage again. The mechanic who inspected it said the gasket needed torquing (or is that torking?). I was ready to torque him!

At least there was no charge this time! On my northward journey, I heard a funny rubbing noise when turning sharply. Guessing that it had something to do with the power steering system, I had my regular serviceman check it as soon as I got home. His report was that whoever changed the oil did not replace a shield around the filter. He took care of it and it took care of the noise. Confidence in workmanship makes for more pleasant living.

And it's pleasant to be back on the local links — FORE!

Coming again next week...

A Wahre G'schichte

Warst du recently frogging?

Ich bin nicht proud zu sagen das unsere Country hat Ihr beste Zeiten ge-passed, und von hier ist es nur backwards-down-hill.

Es grieved mir zu so etwas sagen, aber die gute Times, das easy, simple Leben, und die safe happy Days die wir enjoyed haben als Kinder, die Dinge sind alle gone — tot und ge-buried. Ich denk wir muessen grosse Government Programs, red Tape, faule Leute die rewarded werden mit Welfare, and so viele Law Suits blamen das unser simple, aber happier Life Style jetzt verloren ist.

Eine simple Joy die wir hatten war in Springtime zu Froggen gehen.

Fuer Example, wenn hast du recently Frogs gehoert die Abends und frueh Morgens in die Ditches und along die Bay Ihr Lieder singen?

Das richtige Wort ist "croaken" sowie Frogs es tun, aber das sound nicht so gut wie "singen."

Mann hoert die Frogs nicht mehr, weil es nicht genug gibt zum ein ganzer Frog Choir machen.

In die old Days gab es eine Ditch von Frederick Strasse und Third Street, am edge von Village Park, zu die South bis zu Bay Street. Das hiessen Sie den Teddy Drain, und dort in about 2 Village Blocks haben wir anytime 2 bis 3 Dozen Frogs collecten koennen.

Erst haben wir Sie mit ein Club ge-banged. Als, da das Wasser tiefer war, koennnten wir Sie mit ein Air Gun (nicht B-B Gun) durch den Kopf shooten, und so Sie collecten.

Wenn wir mehr denn 2 oder 3 Dozen Frogs brauchten, dann gingen wir along die Bay Street Ditch, von South Center zu die Bay. Dann gab es plenty, plenty Frogs.

Sobald wir done waren mit Froggen, haben wir unser 3 oder 4 oder mehr Dozen ges-skinned und zum Log Cabin oder Heidelberg delivered. Als wurden wir 10c, oder 15c oder even 20c per Dozen ge-paid, und dann waren wir auf Easy Street fuer etliche Tage.

Zu der Zeit hat 50c uns ein Chocolate Soda oder Malted von Nietzke's provided, mit 2 Saecke Popcorn Freitag Abends in Park, ein Phosphate von Eberlein oder Clubuses Drugs und 2 oder 3 Hershey Bars und 1 oder 2 Packs Wrigley Spearmint. Das war hoch Leben, und wir hatten Fun, wir waren nicht auf Govt. Relief, wir waren safe und unsere Eltern haben nicht ge-worried das wir in grosser Trubel waren. Wir brauchten nicht mit Sales Tax, oder Income Tax oder Fishing License herum foolen.

Ich will nicht sounden als das Froggen guarantiers Freude oder Security, aber es ist ein kleiner Example das wir tun koenntn, und das jetzt nicht mehr available ist.

Die Moral in die Story, ist das wir hatten viele Good Times, und wir dachten sie werden nie enden.

Thumb Cellular helps sponsor 'SafeTalk' program for high schools

Thumb Cellular has become a sponsor of "SafeTalk," a national cellular-safety program for high schools.

The National Cellular SafeTalk Center, a non-profit Illinois-based developer of cellular phone safety programs, will administer the program on behalf of Thumb Cellular.

Area high schools who have chosen to participate in the SafeTalk program are USA High School, Lakeland, Caseville, Owen-Gage, Akron-Fairgrove, North Huron, Harbor Beach, Caro, Brown City, Caro, Carsonville-Port Sanilac, Cass City, Crosswell-Lexington, Deckerville, Kingston, Marlette, Mayville, Millington, Peck, Port Hope, Reese, Sandusky, Ubley and Vassar.

These high schools will have the opportunity to add the program to their driver education curriculum beginning this summer. There is no charge to the school.

The program will be underwritten completely by Thumb Cellular and has been approved by the National Safety Council.

In addition to underwriting the cost of the materials, Thumb Cellular has provided each school with cellular phones for their driver education vehicles, as well as free air time during training.

The program offers a complete portfolio of training materials, including teacher manuals, student workbooks, a classroom video and other teaching/learning aids.

Farmers' Fest queen sought

Local young women who wish to compete for the title of 1994 Farmers' Festival Queen should get their applications in as soon as possible.

Entry forms can be picked up from Renee Anderson or Michelle Fortsch at the Pigeon office of the Cooperative Elevator Co.

Deadline to enter the contest is Friday, June 24, according to Queen's contest organizers.

Judging to select the new queen will be on July 11 at Scenic Golf and Country Club — and the judges' selection will be announced during the Farmers' Festival Friday night stage show on July 29, and she will be featured in the big Grand Parade on Saturday.

Tuscola County farmers should certify their 1994 crop plantings, land uses, acreage conservation reserve and other program acreage with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, according to David Claerhout, county executive director. In Tuscola County, the final certification dates for all crops is July 1.

Certification is done when farmers report their program acreage to establish eligibility to receive price support, deficiency payments and other farm program benefits. Acreage reports are required for all participating farms.

"We are excited about sponsoring SafeTalk," says Thumb Cellular general manager Paul Picklo.

"There are more than 16 million cellular phones on our highways today, with a projected figure of 35 million by the year 2000.

For today's teenagers, cellular phones are no longer a novelty — they are a part of everyday life. Learning to use them safely is essential."

The National Cellular SafeTalk Center will train area driver education teachers this month, with Thumb Cellular providing phones in time for students to begin the program in their classes this summer.

Flyfishing isn't brain surgery

"If you want to fish, throw in a rod and your waders," my brother instructed me, as we planned the last weekend of turkey hunting.

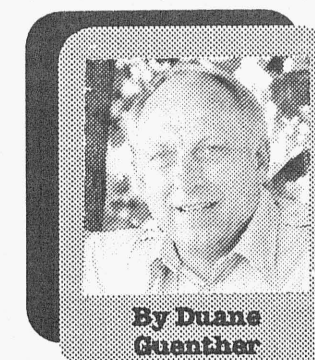

"Who knows," he continued, "we may stay here if there is a good hatch on the water and forget about a gobbler."

"What's hot?" I questioned, referring to the fly post at Rusty's Lodge, where a beginner could find out a week-by-week record of what was taking fish and what wasn't.

"The Hendrickses are done, but Rusty says there are plenty of Popcorn Caddis on the water," Charlie continued.

"Popcorn Caddis?" I countered. "What's that?"

"Don't know," Charlie said, halfjoking. "Probably an old bug with a new name just to keep us dumb fishermen interested."

By Duane Guenther

Charlie was right. Although I have been fly fishing for more than 40 years, each spring brings a complete renovation of equipment for my favorite recreation.

It would appear that I can't catch a fish unless I'm rigged with the latest creation some purist has deemed necessary in order for me to be the complete angler.

Popcorn Caddis! indeed! Whatever happened to the Adams?

For many of us, it is still around. When I say Adams, I refer to the most universal fly known to mankind.

It imitates nothing, but resembles everything. It probably catches more fish than all the other flies put together.

So why doesn't everybody fish with it?

Because it's too simple, and a myriad of Madison Avenue marketers are bent on making us believe that we will all be expert anglers if we just use their latest fly creation.

My Dad used to tell me that fancy fishing lures were created to catch fishermen, not fish. I didn't believe him then, but I do now.

A good fishing buddy of mine used to treat the latest lure craze with disdain. "We will be fishing for lake trout today that hatched before the Northport Nailer was invented," he would say with a wry grin.

And then he snapped on a pearl Flatfish that was older than he.

When it comes to fly fishing, I'm a Simple Simon.

The gentleman who taught me to fly fish used a grand total of three flies throughout the entire season — a black Marabou streamer in spring and fall, a Hex imitation during the mayfly hatch in June and a grasshopper for the rest of the summer.

He was a game hog, I'll admit, but he proved to me that you don't need a fly factory to be successful.

And he also taught me another important fact: flyfishing isn't brain surgery. It's meant to be fun.

I'm on the stream a lot in the summer, and it amazes me how serious the majority of fly fishermen really are.

They seem bent on accumulating the most expensive gear available, pride themselves on having more fly patterns than anyone else — and sneer at those who do not spend hours recording insect activity worthy of a professional entomologist's dissertation.

Well, excuse me, but I fish for fun.

My spare time is divided into golf, canoeing, hiking, berry-picking, sleeping in a hammock or doing lawn work.

If there is any left over time I shoot my muzzleloader, practice with my bow, mow my lawn and visit my grandkids.

When it comes time to fish, I do just that — fish.

I fish with an inexpensive rod, a nicked-up reel, line that is five years old, ratty flies I tie myself (each with a tad of white Kip's tail, I can't see so well anymore,) and patched waders.

Do I catch fish? Some. Do I have fun? You bet. Do I try to convince others that my way is best? Never. Why? Because I don't think it is.

As a matter-of-fact, I don't think flyfishing is very important. It's just a lot of fun.

Want to have some fun? Just remember, flyfishing isn't brain surgery....

■ Researchers say that during periods of low and high tides, animals such as fish seem to lose much of their natural caution. These are referred to as Major Periods and last approximately an hour. Midway between the Major Periods there are frequently shorter peaks called Minor Periods. The inclination of the moon's orbit to the Equator also affects Solunar Periods and, in extreme cases, there is only one Major or Minor Period for the date.

Thanks A Million!

From the land of fruits and nuts...

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I'm a widow, 70 years old and gardening has always been my hobby.

My garden covers about an acre and I get so many beautiful vegetables from it every year. I share these vegetables with neighbors and friends.

As you might know, times are hard here in California because so many businesses have moved out of the state. There are many people out of work, wondering where their next meal is coming from.

I know of four retired men who do volunteer work. They go to pick fruits and whatever anyone has to give.

They said they would come and help me pick my vegetables, and take whatever ones I want to give to the senior citizens center because they don't receive very many vegetables.

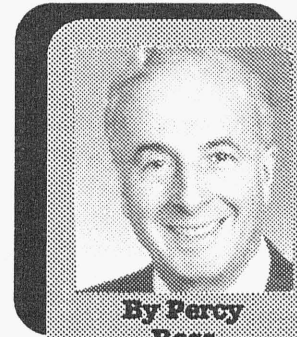

I was wishing I could afford to buy a garden tiller, but having to make ends meet on what I get on S.S. makes it impossible.

I recently learned of a company that has small garden tillers for $333. That kind would be just perfect for me to operate. We have a 10-month growing season out here and I'd sure put the thing to good use. Won't you please give it some thought so I can keep on doing what I can to help others? — Mrs. J. H. Escudido, CA

DEAR MRS. H.:

I've heard people refer to California as the state of fruits and nuts, but you don't sound like either, my little vegetable queen. Your efforts truly make a difference in the lives of others and I'm honored to help you.

So it is written, so it shall be done, my check for a garden

By Percy Ross
tiller is in the mail.

DEAR PERCY ROSS:

I'm writing you because I work at a radio station, and tonight I fell "asleep at the wheel," causing me to miss several commercial breaks in a live sports event we were broadcasting. Because of my severe sleep apnea, I only get a few moments of real sleep every night. I wake up gasping for air every few moments all night long because my breathing stops. I'm totally exhausted all day and I've been falling asleep no matter what I'm doing or where I'm at.

My research shows that sleep apnea also places a severe strain on the heart, and every year some 5,000 Americans die in their sleep because of this condition. I live on a very modest salary with no health insurance.

I need to go to a sleep disorder clinic to be treated for my apnea, but there is just no way I can afford it.

Can you please help me? I don't want to lose my job, health and life. — Mr. S. G., Springfield, MO

DEAR MR. G.:

Unless your station goes to 24-hour muzak, you run the risk of losing your job. You say you can't afford to treat your sleep apnea. I say you can't afford not to treat it.

Fastpitch tryouts are June 7

Summer League Fastpitch Softball tryouts will take place 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 7, at Sebawaing Main Ball Diamond in Sebawaing Park. Any interested girls who will be 14 years of age by Aug. 1, 1994 or older, up to age 18, are invited to bring your ball mitt and tryout. Players will be placed on teams after tryouts.

"Come, join us for lots of fun and meet new friends," organizers say.

If you cannot make tryouts or have any questions, call Tim or Dianne Diebel at 883-2171 after 5 p.m.

Softball coach needed NOW!

Sebawaing Junior Girls' Softball League is in need of a coach for its Monday and Wednesday games through the month of June.

Anyone interested person high school age or older is asked to call 674-2448 as soon as possible.

Biggest Sugar Smasher tourney ever for Sebawaing big for them to handle comfortably. Chamber leaders Melvin Kuhl and John Pitcher are working with Elenbaum, who will oversee the event.

"Our main philosophy is that the charity still gets involved but they don't have to run it," he says.

"We have 100 people we can call on to help. They're not volunteers, they're paid staff and they know how to handle anything."

In an effort to run a quality tournament, the beefy referees don't hesitate to hand out technical fouls for swearing. They also keep track of fouls committed by the players and allow a free shot after the sixth foul. They'll call

"We want the players to hot dog it and have a good time, but we want them to play clean..."

— Paul Elenbaum

flagrant fouls, too. "We encourage clean play," Elenbaum says. "We want the players to hot dog it and have a good time, but we want them to play clean."

"We have a quality staff that is capable of controlling anything that might happen."

Streetball Sports is based in Lansing, and partners Perry, Elenbaum and Rick Wynn have over 20 years' experience in managing 3-on-3 tournaments.

They recently signed a two-year contract with ESPN to organize several tournaments across the nation. Some of the tournaments they've organized have had over 4,000 teams entered.

The Sugar Smasher tournament won't have quite that many teams entered, but Elenbaum says they expect over 200 teams to enter, and hope in the future to draw over 400.

And having the tournament during the Sugar Festival will help draw those teams, Elenbaum adds.

"It's nice to have an event during the festival, because it allows the players to do something besides play and watch basketball," he says.

In addition to continuous play on the courts, there will be a three-point shootout, a slam dunk contest and a free-throw shooting contest.

There's a division for everyone who can gather up a team and enter, Elenbaum says. Individual trophies will be awarded to the first and second place teams, and t-shirts will be given to all participants.

Food and drinks will be sold at concession stands during the tournament, Kuhl says. Registration forms are available at Thumb-area Little Caesar's Pizza locations, People's Choice Markets, Mid-Michigan McDonald's Restaurants, local high schools and many other locations.

Entries are to be postmarked by June 20 to be included in the tournament, Elenbaum says.

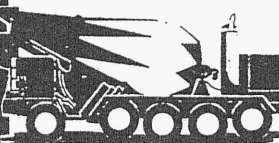

Proceeds from the Sugar Smasher benefit the Sebawaing Chamber of Commerce.

Paul Elenbaum of Streetball Sports, left, talks about the upcoming Sugar Smasher tournament with Melvin Kuhl and John Pitcher of the Sebawaing Chamber of Commerce.

Shetler Plumbing & Heating marks 50 years in Pigeon

By SALLY RUMMEL

Omar Shetler's first experience in the plumbing and heating business was in the early 1940s, when he built a home for his family on Michigan Avenue in Pigeon and installed the house's heating system.

In 1944 when Jackie Miller wanted to sell his sheet metal business, located where Mutual Savings stands now, Shetler was the person he wanted to sell to — and 50 years later, Shetler Plumbing & Heating, Inc. is still growing and thriving.

President Lyle Shetler — Omar's son — and wife Betty and their son Kent are now the cornerstone of Shetler Plumbing & Heating, which is celebrating its Golden Year with a weekend Open House this Friday and Saturday, June 3 and 4.

A number of factory representatives will be on hand with exhibits and demonstrations and a variety of sale prices will be in effect during this Anniversary Sale.

Lyle and Betty Shetler say their belief in the future of hi-tech and high-efficiency equipment and its proper installation is what has kept Shetler Plumbing & Heating, Inc. prospering.

Now about 50% of their business is mechanical contracting — designing, sizing and installing complete plumbing and heating systems.

The firm's first mechanical contracting job was Pigeon Elementary School in 1956, and the 1986 addition at Uby High School was by far the largest, most complicated job they've accomplished, according to Lyle, who has served as president since 1967.

Now that school work is mostly behind them because of a change in laws regarding union wages, Shetler Plumbing & Heating has concentrated on hospitals and business contracts, as well as residential plumbing.

Now, completion of the Country Bay Village contracting work is a real source of pride, having utilized the latest in heating and cooling technology — water source heat pumps allowing for the individual control of each individual apartment in the 30-unit senior congregate facility located in Pigeon.

Another source of pride for the Shetler family has been their involvement in getting Thumb Area plumbers licensed, forming a local plumbing association in 1958.

They immediately crusaded to get all plumbers licensed, running licensing "schools" from the early 1960s to 1970.

His work at the local level carried him all the way up to state recognition, having served as president of the 400-plus Michigan Plumbing and Mechanical Contractor's Association in 1988-89.

Local involvements in Pigeon Rotary, Bluewater Thumb Youth for Christ, Pigeon Worth While Club and

The Pigeon Chamber of Commerce have kept the Shetlers busy at home as well, and assure that they are rooted deeply in their hometown business, which also includes a Cass City location.

The Shetler family invites the public to celebrate with them their milestone year.

Sebewaing girl earns recognition for saving sister from drowning

By MARY DRIER

A 5-year-old Sebewaing girl has been honored for her prompt action in saving her one-year-old sister from drowning last week. Shannon Black was running bath water while getting ready to attend classes at USA Elementary School, when one-year-old sister Alysnn Quinn came into the bathroom — and accidentally fell into the tub.

Shannon pulled Alysnn from the water — and her quick action averted a potentially fatal accident.

"The baby was crawling behind me when I went to answer the telephone," said the girls' mother Amy Quinn. "I no more than said 'hello' when Shannon called to me what she had done. 'It happened that quick.' 'Before I even got there she had pulled Alysnn out and was holding her.'"

Alysnn like baths and the sound of running water must have gotten her attention and when she stood up to look in the tub fell in head first, theorized the mother.

"She was crying. I think mostly because she was more scared than anything," said the mother.

"She wasn't hurt at all. 'I'm surprised on how quickly she acted. Thank goodness Shannon was there to help so fast.'"

Shannon said she knew she had to act fast and what to do from watching the television program "Rescue 9-1-1." "That's my favorite show, Rescue 9-1-1," said Shannon. The family lives south of Sebewaing. Shannon received a certificate of achievement from USA Principal Matt Airgood for her heroic efforts.

Scenic golf notes

By MAVIS PECHETTE

The women golfers of Scenic Golf and Country Club played a two-member scramble last week.

Helen Traylor and Pat Schweninger combined with a score of 108 to be the winning two-some. They were followed at 109 by three other groups - Dody Yahn and Loretta Rollo, Jeanette Rowe and Merrie Watchowski and Barb Binder with a "blind partner."

Doris Strauch and Traylor were the winners at the pinhole tables. Bridge prizes went to Virginia Pacific, Vivian Papps and Sylvia Friedman.

A Welcome Back party at Scenic on Friday was enjoyed by many members. The annual "Mud Creek Scramble" was played on Saturday and a Pigeon Worth While Club Golf Tourney took place on Sunday.
