That money goes to maintain Youth for Christ's mission of bringing the message of Christ to local teens. The organization sponsors breakfast clubs at local high schools, the spring Breakaway trip to Florida, and many other activities designed to give teens an alternative to a troubled life. Sports items have proven to be popular auction attractions, and this year, several nice packages will be offered. Some lucky buyer will wind up with a suite at Joe Louis Arena for five games of the Detroit Red Wings, while another lucky bidder may purchase a VIP package for four at a Detroit Lions game. Up for bids are four 35-yard line Lions vs. San Francisco 49ers tickets and parking passes, and tickets to the Michigan State University vs. Notre Dame football game.

Golf lovers may want to bid on golf packages at Elk Ridge in Atlanta, Ga., or a package at Bird Creek in Port Austin. For someone who collects sports memorabilia, limited editions sets of Chris Webber basketball cards are on the sale list, as well as Shaquille O'Neal cards. And golfers will want to take note of several sets of King Par golf clubs that will go on the auction block.

For those with an appreciation for fine furniture, the auction will offer a selection of oak furniture from L.J. Garcia Furniture, including an oak hutch, lamp table and a double pedestal oak table and chairs.

A few years ago, someone had the idea to auction off dinners and those have proven to be highly popular. This year's offerings include a tailgate party for 12 before the Lake-Cass City football game, nine holes of golf and a Pleasure trip to Page 3.

The Sebewaing Parks and Recreation Program has the answer to children's standard summer refrain "There's nothing to do."
The village is offering a summer creation program this summer with a special "animals on parade" program planned from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, July 28, for children ages four to seven years old.
The event includes picnics, crafts, games and face painting.

"We will provide the wagons and each child should bring their own favorite stuffed animal," said Diane Condon. "We will provide balloons and such for them to decorate the wagons.

"We hope to march in the downtown area, but it will depend on the weather and what is going on."

There is a fee to participate. It is necessary to register by Thursday, July 21, to participate. Registration is done by calling Condon at 883-3717 or Sally Elston at 883-3787.

PT-AYFC Auction Saturday morning

To continue its ministry to local teens, Bluewater Thumb Youth for Christ officials rely on a few major fundraisers and the benevolence of its supporters.

At no other time during the year do these necessities converge as well as they do at the annual Youth for Christ Benefit Auction, set this Saturday, July 23.

Executive Director Ken Smoother and his staff have been busy in the past weeks cataloging the items donated by Youth for Christ supporters. Smoother says that this year's catalog of auction items is one of the best ever, and he hopes last year's final figure of $35,000 is surpassed.

VOTING RIGHTS: Michigan's original 1835 constitution did not provide for the vote to all free white males, whether or not they were American citizens, who had lived in the state at least six months. It also required youngsters to attend elementary school for at least three months per year.

Pigeon turns down rezone

After spirited debate at a public hearing, Pigeon Village Council last week turned thumbs down on a rezoning request that would have allowed Pigeon Manufacturing Co. to expand its die storage west of its plant.

Rider Spence, who owns a 10-acre plot on the northwest corner of John and Hartley Streets, had sought to have the parcel rezoned from residential to industrial, to sell the land to PMC. The company wanted to expand its die storage area to receive more work from General Motors. PMC recently hired nine new workers and had plans to hire about 40 more if the sale went through, Plant Manager Tom Smith said.

But 35 neighbors of the plant were adamant in their opposition to the plan, saying they believed the area would become an eyesore and lower their property values. They were also skeptical of Smith's promise to fence the area and build eight-foot earthen berms to hide the stored dies.

Pigeon Village Clerk Janet Heckman said Council and the Planning Commission are looking into other possibilities for PMC's storage problems, including storing dies on the land between PMC and Huron Casting, Inc.

"The Council is trying to work with the both of them and trying to find a happy medium," Heckman said.

Owendale bids opened

Owendale Village Council members opened five bids Wednesday for the proposed replacement of the 81-year-old water tower plus several water main upgrades.

"We have turned the bids over to Wade Trim, our engineers, to tabulate and study them," said Village Clerk Randy See ROUND-UP Continued on Page 3

$35 million in Tuscola flood damages reported

By MARTY DRIER

Although the sun had beat down for days the last few hours have taken a heavy toll on all properties and property Tuscola County officials say. Tuscola County has received over $35 million in flood damages to homes, farm buildings and buildings.

Over a dozen areas have been declared a "disaster area," and Tuscola County Emergency Director John Iszler considers the disaster an ongoing issue. He hopes to have most reports done in the next few weeks to begin the process of getting help to people. Tuscola County Emergency Director John Iszler said that due to the ongoing nature of the damages, the PARC has been working closely with the agencies to ensure that assistance is available to those in need. The auction was well-attended, with several items selling for high prices. The proceeds from the auction will be used to support the local community and its services.

Lake leaders get 3% hikes

Lake leaders have agreed to raise the water level by 3% for the 2014 season. The increase will allow for more water to be stored in the reservoir and help to prevent drought conditions. Lake leaders have also agreed to increase the water withdrawal limits to 5% for the 2014 season. This will allow for more water to be available for irrigation and other purposes. Court proceedings

The trial for the murder of the local farmer is set to begin next week. The defendant is accused of killing the farmer in a routine Island County court hearing. The defense team is preparing for a lengthy trial, with experts from across the country expected to testify. The trial is expected to last several weeks.

Casco City senior project breaks ground

Local developers were on hand for the groundbreaking of Fieldstone at Northlake, a full-service senior community in Casco City. Figure 14 and 15 represent cross-sections through the structure. Fieldstone at Northlake will feature 100 units, with one-bedroom and two-bedroom options available. The building will include a community room, fitness center, and other amenities. The development is expected to be completed in late 2015.

Elkton extends sewer area

Elkton Village Council last week gave approval for the development of a new sewer area. The extension will cover an additional 50 acres, bringing the total area covered to 100 acres. The development will include the installation of new sewer lines and connections. The new sewer area will be used for the development of new residential and commercial properties.

How honest ARE we?
The little story may be apocryphal, but we heard it in the car stalls, and since the introduction wasn’t completely heartfelt, we came away with a new respect for country musicес.

"We’ve been号码 Wolves,” the song said. "We’re half the band, and we are together."

The speaker described his wife’s talk from an airport to the city, and then to a job interview, and then to the airport again. After reaching the destination, the driver asked him, "Hey, how much is this going to cost me?"

"Hey, I know of some,” the speaker said, "but I don’t have any more.

"You know, I’m just happy that you’re alive.”

The driver couldn’t help but notice the honesty in the answer, but it was lost on the speaker. He was sitting next to his wife, who was also happy to be alive.

In conclusion, honesty is a valuable trait, even in the midst of chaos and uncertainty. It’s what keeps us connected and helps us navigate the challenges of life.

Can someone help support this Indian student?

By Fred Z. Stewquant

The family of an American Indian student who is working towards her bachelor’s degree in business administration is in need of financial assistance. The student, who is a member of the Navajo Nation, has been accepted into a top-tier university, but her family cannot afford the tuition fees.

The student’s mother, who is a single parent, has been struggling to make ends meet and has been unable to secure a scholarship or loan. The family is seeking donations to help cover the cost of tuition and other expenses.

Anyone interested in supporting this cause can contact the student’s mother, Kayla Stewquant. Any donations, no matter how small, will be greatly appreciated.

Yarns From the Thumb

By Walt Baldwin

With the summer months coming to an end, the fishing season is winding down. Many of us are looking forward to enjoying the cool weather and a good book.

One book that I recently read is "The Snowbird" by Robert B. Sherman. It’s a story about a young boy who goes on a trip with his grandmother to visit his grandfather in New Mexico.

The book is a heartwarming tale of a family coming together after a long time apart. It’s a story about love, loss, and the power of the human spirit.

I highly recommend "The Snowbird" to anyone who enjoys a good read.

Recollections By Gone

By Paul Morgan

As I sit down to jot down some of my memories of the past, I can’t help but smile at the old stories that come to mind. One of my fondest memories is of a trip I took to the Grand Canyon with my family.

We hiked along the rim trails, saw the amazing views, and even went on a boat ride down the Colorado River. It was a truly unforgettable experience.

I also remember the time when my sister and I went camping in the mountains. We set up our tent in the woods, cooked over a campfire, and even went on a night hike.

These memories bring a smile to my face and remind me of the simple pleasures of life.

Horizon Around

By Rosemary Brown

As the days get longer and the nights get shorter, it’s time to start thinking about planning for the next season. Whether it’s a trip to the beach, a hike in the mountains, or just a relaxing weekend at home, there are many options to choose from.

One thing that I always look forward to is the fall foliage. The leaves change colors and the air gets cooler, making it the perfect time to go for a walk or a drive.

I hope you all have a great summer and are able to enjoy the outdoors as much as possible.

TALK ABOUT PRESSURE: Did you know that when you mow the lawn, you are actually creating a mini desert? The action of cutting the grass forces water deeper into the soil, making it harder for the grass to survive. To help combat this, try watering your lawn less often, but for a longer period of time.

TALK ABOUT DIRECTION: Did you know that when you are lost in a new city, you can use the stars to find your way back home? The North Star, also known as Polaris, is located directly above the North Pole and is a great reference point.

TALK ABOUT SPEED: Did you know that when you are driving too fast, you are actually increasing your risk of an accident? This is because you have less time to react to sudden changes in the road.

Huehner raser auf die Formen

By Elizabeth Bauer

Recently, there has been a lot of attention on the health benefits of chicken. Chicken is a great source of protein and is low in saturated fat. It’s also easy to prepare and can be used in a variety of dishes.

One popular dish is the Huehner Raser, which is a type of chicken mince. It’s made by mincing the chicken and then forming it into patties. These patties are then grilled or fried, and they make a delicious and healthy meal.

I hope you all enjoy this recipe and give it a try.

Reader misses "Hanswurst"

By Elizabeth Bauer

Recently, a reader reached out to me about a recipe that they were missing. The recipe is called "Hanswurst," and it’s a traditional German sausage.

I reached out to a local German sausage maker, and they were able to provide me with the recipe. The sausage is made by mixing ground beef and pork with spices and herbs, then forming it into links. It’s then boiled and baked, and it’s a delicious addition to any German meal.

I hope you all enjoy this recipe and try it out for yourself.

A friend remembered

No matter how often it happens, it still is a shock when someone you love says goodbye. It happened recently when I had to tell Dad that my friend and colleague, Martin visiting from England, had died. He was a life I’ve known all my life, although we only became neighbours when we both moved into the same street in our home town and many years ago at a ballroom dance, before specializing more recently on a wedding reception. When our parents passed away at a young age, she was often our other mother. One of her favorite things was always to invite friends over for a quiet night with good food and good company and sharing a story by the fire. She was always a good story teller, and she was a very good story reader. She knew exactly what we were like and how she could control us. She was very well known for her stories, and she was always willing to share them with us.

I’m sure you used to think of her as a storyteller, because she was a storyteller. She used to tell us stories about her adventures in this world and how she decided to leave it behind, not by her own choice, but by the circumstances of her life.

Roses Man
You're making me wish I had a fair to plan. I say, let's give the residents of this old folks home a party to remember.

My grandfather's the one who taught me the value of hard work. He'd say, "Don't take 'the fair' out of welfare. Just give them a chance to have some fun." And he was right.

I've been thinking about planning a fair for a while now. It's not just about the money; it's about bringing people together and giving them something to look forward to. So, let's do it. Let's give the residents a fair to remember.

With love,

Sam Rose

State park tales

In 1934, the legislature of the Florida Legislature designated ten state parks.

State and local parks were established by the state government to protect and preserve areas of natural beauty. These parks serve as valuable resources for recreation, education, and conservation. They offer opportunities for outdoor activities such as hiking, camping, picnicking, and wildlife observation.

The establishment of state parks and local parks has been influenced by various factors, including natural beauty, historic significance, and cultural heritage. These parks provide a variety of benefits to the community, including environmental protection, educational opportunities, and economic development through tourism.

One of the main goals of state parks is to preserve and protect natural areas from development and exploitation. This helps to maintain the ecological balance and biodiversity of the environment.

Local parks, on the other hand, are often established to serve specific communities. They may be located near urban areas or in rural settings, and their purpose may be to provide recreational opportunities for residents.

In addition to their environmental and social benefits, state parks and local parks also contribute to the economy by generating revenue through tourism and related activities. They attract visitors from both inside and outside the state, promoting local businesses and creating jobs.

Overall, the establishment of state parks and local parks is a crucial aspect of protecting and preserving natural resources for future generations. These parks not only provide a place for people to enjoy nature, but also play a vital role in maintaining the health and balance of ecosystems.
Aug. 15 public hearing in Sebewaing

Sebewaing Village Council will hold an 8 p.m. public hearing Monday, Aug. 15, to discuss the proposed closing of a portion of Michigan Avenue part of the construction for the new barry. The Sebewaing Village Council has been working on the paperwork to close the area for construction of the new barry.

If all goes according to schedule, the bar may be partially completed by the end of the year. The project will be completed in the spring of 1994. After the original project began seven years ago, the bar took longer than expected.

The proposed cost of the bar is $7.7 million and most of the money coming from grant DEQ grants.

MILLIONAIRE PARTY
A HUGE SUCCESS
“THANK YOU” to over 250 volunteers who helped make the 1st Annual USA ATHLETIC FOUNDATION MILLIONAIRE PARTY a “HUGE SUCCESS”

There are just too many individuals and businesses to list and we wouldn’t want to miss anyone! Words cannot express our appreciation for all the hard work, time and effort that went into the event.

THIS TRULY WAS A COOPERATIVE SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY EFFORT, OVER $35,000 WAS RAISED AND WILL GO TO THE USA SCHOOL DISTRICT ATHLETIC COMPLEX.

Again, thanks to all who helped and especially to those who supported the event by buying a ticket!

We learned a lot and hope to make improvements for next year.
See You Then!
