"HEY - THAT'S TOO LOUD!"
This little parade watcher at last year's Farmers' Festival Grand Parade liked the free candy samples given out, but didn't care much for the fire sirens heard during that same event!

Once again, the Grand Parade steps off at 1:30 p.m. from the Hartley St. area southeast of Pigeon, and marches through town along S. Main St. (M-142) and Michigan Ave., to Caseville Road. And it's all free...

DETAILS AND LOTS MORE INSIDE!
GROWING A BRIGH TER FUTURE...

The Cooperative Elevator Company proudly supports Michigan and Thumb-Area agriculture during the 21st annual Pigeon Farmers’ Festival!

But support of local agriculture is our 52-week-a-year business, because our goal for over three-quarters of a century has been working to improve the lives of the Thumb-area’s farm families.

Cooperative Elevator Company and Thumb-area farmers are partners in progress, because we share the same goals—making farming a growing, profitable and successful industry by providing farm commodities and agricultural products to help feed the world and give farmers a fair return for their labors.

The Cooperative Elevator Company has provided full services to farmers—planning, planting, harvesting and marketing—to make farming more successful and more efficient.

Again this year, our goal is to continue that program because we know that working together works for everyone involved.

Have a great time at the 1994 Pigeon Farmers’ Festival!

30% of Thumb crops may be lost to ongoing rains, storms

By MARY DIER

Full moon of crop damage from terrible rains marked this month wouldn’t be known otherwise.

"I estimate we have had a 30% loss and maybe even more," of dry-land corn in Huron County, says Huron Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Supervisor Jeanne Janse.

"It’s hard to determine right now, but rain here doesn’t look that bad with it. With corn, too, it’s difficult to determine because they’re already in the ground."

She’s 4-H Queen Terri!

Terri Voll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Voll of Unionville, was selected as Unionville County Fair 4-H Queen for the Unionville Fair July 27.

Included in the competition for the 1994-95 4-H Queen was an application and interview contest between Terri Voll and other girls from the Unionville area.

Baby Contest voting moved

Voting for the Pferdeburg 4-H Baby Contest has been moved to the Unionville Fair July 27.

Contestants now report to Miss Sue Fader June 8. The fair parade is held at 11 a.m. in the county fairgrounds and the contest will be held in the afternoon. Contestants will be judged on height, weight, cuteness, and any other qualities the judge deems important.

An OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS

And All People Residing in Huron County Commission District #3, Caseville, McNary - Winning Townships, Village of Caseville & Village of McNary

If I could have one wish today as I compose this letter, it would be that I could visit each one of you in your homes to inform you of the real issues of this campaign. But I can’t. I can only have that for a moment of campaign because this year, I can’t. I can’t have that for a moment of campaign because this year, I can’t.

One of the issues that has been raised by a letter presented to most of you is the fact that the Huron County Commission District #3 is in the process of being redistricted. I am the District 3 Commissioner that should attend all Township meetings. There are two facts to be considered on this issue:

(1) Township members are elected to represent the

- Township Board Members and Village

- Most of the Township Board Members and Village members who are members of the Huron County Commission, and their shoulders.

(2) Township members have been requested to attend meetings of the Huron County Commission and their shoulders.

The facts are clear. This Commissioner has served all the people of District 3 with integrity, dependability, sincerity, and common sense. Now I need your help on August 7, the Primary Election. I am asking you, the voters of District 3, to go to the polls and vote for the right choice on August 7.

Don’t settle with anything less than the best. Re-Elect R. Dale Wertz, the right choice on August 7.

Sincerely,

R. Dale Wertz

Huron County Commissioner

Eichler makes major contributions to Pigeon businesses

By MARK RUMMEL
Parson's and the late John Eichler of Pigeon taught their children many Golden Rule daily lessons in "doing unto others as you would have others do unto you," and that lesson was surely the guiding principle behind their major contributions to Pigeon businesses.

Whether they live in the Pigeon area or down in the Detroit area, the family has quietly made many contributions to the Pigeon businesses through the years.

"They were very active in the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Development Authority," said Don Scholtz, executive director of the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce. "They were always very supportive of the businesses and the community."

The Eichlers were members of the Pigeon Telephone Company, which serves 1,200 acres in Pigeon. They were active in the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Development Authority. They also contributed to the Pigeon Library, the Pigeon Elementary School, and the Pigeon High School.

In fact, the Eichlers were so active in the community that they were known as "community gaveurs." They gave their time and money to help support the businesses and the community. They were always willing to help out when needed.

Farmers' Days remembered

It is Farmers' Days time and this is the age of reeling in. The following is being reprinted from July 24, 1932.

The town of Festus is celebrating Farmers' Days with a festive new this week. This is probably a great deal for all the farm folks in town, but it is good to acknowledge the contributions of the agriculturists of the area.

Farmers get tired of being the butt of jokes. Most of the ones in this community are more accurate than the rest. It is the old joke that they are all alike.

“What would you do if you were a million dollars richer?” is asked the farmer as he is being herded into the barn.

“Why, I’d put in another barn, of course,” he replies.

A dozen down the countryside prove that “The Lazy Farmer” of today can be a profit centre on a farm economy.

The farm is a great place to raise families. It is a haven for children, a place of tranquility, with rows of cherry trees, their blossoms attracting flocks, beautiful gardens, and even a occasional wrestling ring. Old equipment that is moldered in the “pokey” as the old folks of former years are no longer in evidence. Farmers as well as other citizens have become aware of ecology. They try to avoid polluting the environment in their operations, even though this may detract from their revenue in the long run. Many city residents think that it is all poppycock and they would rather have a lawn than a field of corn.

A comparison showed that lots of farming makes a ruckus of 100 decibels and a wilder ruckus would go as high as 10,000, which causes traffic and a fright train running by at 20. Who knows how loud the noise would be if all the farms were operating? Some estimate it in terms that more can be found on the farm than in a city. The farm is a great place to raise families. The Challenges We Face Together
"I believe in our Bill of Rights and will defend them all!"

SENIOR CITIZENS - For 2 years as Huron County's Region VII Representative, I held off severe cuts to senior citizens. As a member of the State Commission on Aging, once on my own senate floor for the first time, I fought a long formula that brought the financial issues to the Thumb area senior which resulted in days of senior meals instead of five. I will continue to work to protect our seniors and their need now.

FAMILY & COMMUNITY - I am pro-life and will work to preserve and strengthen families. Strong families and community involvement is the backbone of our area. I will work to protect our volunteer services from being mandated out of existence. Having been a member of the Huron County Board of Commissioners, and as a member of the Hills and Dale Hospital Board, I fully understand the issues that we face in our rural areas. My husband and I have four grown sons and six grandchildren.

EDUCATION - As a former member of the Ubly Board of Education for 12 years, I served on many educational committees. Teaching the 3rd, 4th, and 5th grade levels at the elementary school, I fully understand the issues that we face in our rural area. My husband and I have four grown sons and six grandchildren.

ECONOMY - To keep our diverse Thumb area economy thriving and healthy, I will work to provide tax incentives for our young people to stay. I will work for an improved infrastructure to provide better roads, bridges, and services. I will tirelessly work for the development of a new industry to keep our young people here. Energy in their lives.

HEALTH CARE - We in Michigan must be ready to help a large healthcare system with long-term care as a major part of it for our frail and disabled. Mental health issues must also be given a priority. In these times, the State of Michigan underfunding the system that serves the public must be acknowledged and corrected. I am a current member of the Huron County Farm Bureau Board.

"People need to be involved in what is affecting their daily lives. Together we can make a difference. I am asking for your support on August 2nd.

Julia Heilig
Wife, Mother, Grandmother, Farmer, Former Ubly Board of Education Member, Huron County Commissioner, Ubly St. John's Catholic Church Parishoner, and a Believer in the Thumb, our Bill of Rights and will defend them all!

Julie Bracciano likes being a certified physician’s assistant

Julie Bracciano, a certified physician’s assistant, examines Caleb Brou in the Sorensen Family Medical Clinic.

"I like family practice because it has such a variety of patients," Bracciano says. She met her husband, Dr. David Bracciano, with whom she has two, when he was a student at Michigan State University and she was a physiatrist. Her family practice means that her patients can be seen by a physician assistant through the University of Michigan Family Medicine program.

"Unfortunately, the title is a misnomer," Bracciano says. "Sometimes it’s confusing when people wonder what I do. I’m not a medic but I can do a lot of medical things. A physician assistant can provide treatment, do scans and tests, and do just about anything that a medical doctor can do.

"But it’s most rewarding when a patient comes in who’s not sure about a diagnosis or treatment — and they get better and full return their health.

"I’ve been practicing since the mid-80s and after the Vietnam War when doctors were looking for physician’s assistants, as military medical doctors were draught for the rest of the country. So our military doctors were more likely to see a physician’s assistant than they are a medical doctor.

"My assistant, US Army physician assistant, Jeff Shofner, referred a patient to me. This patient was in bad shape and full with medical problems. He needed surgery and after all he had been through.

"I have a big thanks to all who bought and sold. Carl Pedder Candy Barn."

Are you seaworthy?

Alyson Giszler

It was one of the most November storms I could remember. Being alone, and having just purchased a new sailboat, I decided to take some time and get familiar with my boat before I went sailing. I found that despite my prior experience, I was not ready to handle the heavy seas.

I had never before sailed in such conditions, and I was surprised at how quickly the boat would roll. I knew I needed to be prepared, so I went online to research how to properly handle a sailboat in rough waters.

First thing I did was to check the app I had installed to keep track of my sailboat’s location. Then I researched what I should do if I got separated from my boat. I learned that I should always carry a VHF radio, life jackets, flares, and a signal mirror.

Secondly, I made sure I had a plan in place for what to do if I got separated from my boat. I researched what I should do if I got separated from my boat. I learned that I should try to stay calm, and use the VHF radio to call for help.

I also researched what to do if I got separated from my boat. I learned that I should try to stay calm, and use the VHF radio to call for help.

Pigeon has never had more reasons than now to be proud of its past, present and future.

Our residents have always had a firm hold on their roots, and the newly constructed downtown Mini-park/Historical Walkway gives residents a chance to "walk thru" their proud history.

Almost 500 engraved bricks were sold by the village this past Spring to help finance the mini-park project, and now they'll serve as a historical reminder of families, individuals, businesses and service organizations who have made an impact on Pigeon since its incorporation as a village in 1903. Beyond the mini-park's historical interest, it also serves as a picturesque connection between the downtown and The Pigeon Historical Depot Museum, providing a pleasant diversion for downtown visitors looking for an additional activity.

The Depot Museum, sponsored by the Pigeon Historical Society, is looking toward Pigeon's future as well as guarding its past. Through the Village, they are setting up a Museum Expansion Committee to explore the possibilities of enlarging the museum's display area, and adding storage and office space.

Undoubtedly, the largest project undertaken in Pigeon recently is the Country Bay Village, Pigeon's new senior living complex which will become home to over 30 senior citizens. Country Bay Village has already begun to establish itself as a vibrant, active member of the Pigeon community, sponsoring a Little League team, a Farmers' Festival Queen's Candidacy and working on a festival float. A Grand Opening for Country Bay Village is set for the weekend of August 26-27-28. With

The Pigeon District Library, with its children's programs and senior programs, is another proud part of Pigeon, hosting this weekend's popular Quilt Show and Book Sale.

Pigeon's outdoor entertainment arena - The Pigeon Band Shell - is another jewel of Pigeon providing residents and out-of-towners alike with one more reason to come to Pigeon. The Band Shell in its fourth year of providing quality entertainment for young and young-at-heart alike.

All these new projects and facilities add growth and stability to Pigeon's economic base, which is being strengthened by new businesses, and the change-over of Main Street businesses from retirement-age couples to young couples, who are placing their confidence in Pigeon.

Dr. Redwandt opens Caseville practice

By AMY HEIJEND

For Dr. Scott Redwandt, the past few months have been a period of a new daughter, Kaylei—and a new start for the new Caseville Family Dentistry. Dr. Redwandt bought the practice belonging to Dr. Joseph Eckler, who retired after 47 years of dairy farming and practicing in Caseville.

"We try to do everything with a minimum of stress," he says. "We guarantee filling for two men and women and bridges for five years. We want headed to the new office and the like and I would not be the doctor I am today without him," Dr. Redwandt says, adding his new office has become home to the past 10 years, where patients spread the word about the dentistry in town. "Dr. Eckler is a native of rural America and from Rose High School," Dr. Redwandt says.

Community Dental Incorporating new patients, and moving through Friday's office is a new dental practice in town, Caseville Family Dentistry.

The new office is a big step for the dentistry in town, Caseville.

"We take care of our patients with the same care as we would at home, and we make sure they are well taken care of," Dr. Redwandt says.

He also offers bleaching in order to whiten teeth, and he offers a variety of dental work, including a number of specialties such as cosmetic implants, and the like.

"I have been practicing in Caseville for over 10 years, and I am proud to be part of the Caseville community," said Dr. Redwandt.

FAVORITE AMBULANCE Service's brand new ambulance and all of its new equipment, including the latest technology, have been welcome to the community.

"The ambulance was a great investment for us," said Anthony Cooper, the chief of the service.

"It was a great investment for us, and it was a great investment for the community," said Cooper.

"We are very excited to have this new ambulance, and we look forward to serving the community with it," said Cooper.

The ambulance was purchased through a partnership with the local hospital and the community and service.

"We were looking for something that was comfortable and that was comfortable for those first responders, and we think this machine makes it easier for them to do their job," said Cooper.

"We are very excited to have it open to the community, and we look forward to serving the community with it," said Cooper.

The ambulance was also purchased with the help of community donations.
