THE CRUM SYSTEM OF BUSINESS.

We notice that many of the business men of the different cities, towns, and villages of the country are beginning to adopt the true system of business.—They begin to realize that the old credit system is a curse to both the buyer and seller; and hence they are adopting the new plan, cash or ready pay system.

The evils of a credit system of business have long been acknowledged by all concerned. This being true, we see no reason why the true system should not be speedily adopted in all places if it stands the test; but verily good for both buyer and seller. For a time, it is true, it may work close, but this will learn lessons of economy, without which no community can permanently prosper.

The credit system is a very expensive system, and must necessarily result in an increased expenditure of from ten to twenty per cent. The merchant, for instance, that has twenty thousand dollars capital invested in his business, sells his goods and wares on the credit system.—Soon his stock is run down and needs replenishing. This must be done or his business suffers. But where is the money to do this with? It is scattered over the country in sums of from five dollars to five hundred, in the hands of his customers who have bought his goods. He cannot collect it, and his stock is still getting lower. Something must be done! finally the merchant hires money at a high rate of interest to replenish his stock. This interest must be added to the price of his goods, and enough to cover all losses in bad. If this is not done, soon there will be a failure. If it is done, which the successful merchant, doing a credit business, understands, must be the case, then those who consume the goods and pay for what they consume, have not only to pay for the goods they use, but also the interest the merchant pays on the money borrowed to replenish his stock, as well as all the losses sustained in consequence of selling to persons who never pay. This will amount to no small percentage.

It needs but a glance at the subject to convince all parties interested in the business of the country that the credit system is a dagger, and the cash or ready pay system will be a permanent benefit to any community adopting it.

We trust the business men, of every village and town in Washtenaw county, will look this matter square in the face, and that every farmer, mechanic, and in fact every man who expects to honestly pay for what he buys, will cooperate with business men in order to the complete adoption of the READY PAY system of business. Many merchants and traders have already adopted this plan, and find it works to a charm. They say the money that is afloat, while the man who "trusts" does the credit business, by reason of this is obvious. The cash dealer has no interest to pay, no bad debts to loose, and hence can sell his goods at lower figures. The purchaser will, when he has money, go where he can buy the cheapest. He will often forsake the man that accommodated him with credit. We repeat once more, the cash or ready pay system is the most profitable to all concerned.

READY PAY.—We notice that our business men are adopting the ready pay way of doing business. Already John H. Miller has given notice to that effect, and Chas. H. Nichols will close his books the 15th of July and wishes all accounts settled by that time. Gentlemen this is the way to do a legitimate business.

☞ If you will get sick, buy your medicines of VanDuyn, Lynch & Co.

☞ The Rev. A. M. McLearn will preach at the Baptist church on the 14th of July.

☞ Men of good understanding get their Boots made at Parks', by Catechism, the champion of the town.

☞ Sharon "went back" on the railroad aid, but will nevertheless come to Manchester to celebrate, the 5th. Come along, we'll have lots of fun with you.

☞ Buy each flour that when you have company you are not ashamed of the color of your bread or biscuits.—Reynolds makes it at his Mills especially for that purpose.

☞ Goodyear's Excelsior Interest tables and guide in business, one of the most perfect works of the present age. Address, enclosing 50cts, WM. SELLEY, 8734 and 858 Lake street, Chicago.

PLATED OUT.—The mining property of Manchester have "struck," not "Ile," but sand, and dare concluded to give up the business. The vein is of such depth that they think it useless to attempt to "go through it."

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

Monday, July 5th, 1869.

The committee of arrangements have made extensive preparations for a grand good time on this day, and in order to carry out the programme, we wish every one to assist in both young and old, for the matter is now settled. We are to have the grandest Celebration of any place in this part of the State. The Chairman of the Committee meeting appointed (unknowingly) some "dry sticks" as members of the special. We will not mention names, lest they have no more patriotism or enterprise than so many yellow dogs, and had better be off than on any committee: however a few have taken the burden upon their own shoulders and have carried it through, and we are satisfied that the celebration will be a success.

Henry Goodyear, Esq. has made all necessary preparations for the accommodation of guests, and with his model clerk Mr. Oscar Leffler to assist in the office and a full accompaniment of servants in the other departments of his beautiful and spacious house. We feel confident that he too will be successful in his undertaking.

DEBATE.

Original.

What strange beauties emerge in the quiet dusk time. When stern, the weary mind hath accession;
The tired spirit enlightens takes its flight,
And wears above it the restless at light;
And sometimes down it, dark and thorny rest
It steps away from the night of dust,
From the piles of manufactory stay;
Sometimes on the workmen we are able,
Busting use the awaiting tide,
Until to late, for, for from above,
Our busy souls shake to rise no more.

Yesterday business opened lively.

A crying nuisance—taking cross babies to church.

There is getting to be a good demand for summer robes.

COMING.—The Morgan, Esq., of Milton Junction, Wis., will be in Manchester about the 10th of July, and those wishing to purchase real estate can do so at a bargain. Call early, as his stay will be short.

THE CROPS.—Crops in this vicinity, of all kinds except corn, look flourishing. Small grains are looking as well as could be desired, and although the weather has been wet and cold, corn has a healthy color, and there is nothing unfavorable at all in its appearance. The weather is looking more favorable now, and corn will soon be where it should be.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.—On Monday morning last as the mail train was coming from Jackson, she ran through a mud hole about twenty inches deep, and thirty feet long, caused by a slide of a clay bank by heavy rains on Sunday. The engine did not see the slide until it was too late to stop, as they were passing around a bend. The engine was completely covered with mud, the front light broken, and on one side of the train all the steps were broken by a large rock which had fallen. Fortunately no one was hurt, and no further damage done. How the train ever kept the track is more than we can tell.

M., for the purpose of ascertaining what can be done towards completing the organization, and decide if this village and vicinity have men enough that will take an interest in getting up one of the best companys in the State. Forty days several prominent Cubans including ex-Minister Quesada, ex-Consul-General Lee, and ex-Governor of Cuba, have been in Washington, have had conferences with President Harrison, several members of the Cabinet, and many members of Congress. The object of their visit is reported to be good in some measure to counteract the influence of the Cuban refugees, who have been and still are claiming that a permanent peace will not be established in Cuba. The Cubans feel that while they have the sympathy of the American people, they have not received from the Government the active support which they had a right to expect. They state that a large majority of the Cubans are willing to submit to the authority of Spain, provided that the fundamental rights of the Cubans will be respected by the government.

The Supreme Court decides that if a passenger is injured while standing on a platform, he is not to be blamed for negligence, but that if he is injured while he is seated in the car and has his head thrust out of the window, he is guilty of negligence, and cannot recover damages. The decision does not prohibit the passenger's head from looking out of the window, but declares that such an act is negligence, and that any one who does so must suffer the consequences of his own negligence. "While after the habits, customs, and conveniences of the age," says Justice Gray, "a passenger may lawfully look out of the window of a railroad car, and even thrust his head and hand, with a moderate space, in the open air, for the purpose of feeling the wind, or of seeing the objects by the way, he is not entitled to recover for an injury caused by a sudden and unexpected blow or collision, which he could have avoided by keeping his head and hand within the car."

LOCAL ITEMS.

☞ Charlie Younghans does the barbering, for this town, all alone. It keeps him busy, but he does it well.

SODA.—Doty has a large charge on his Fountain constantly, and will furnish Soda as cold as Greenland.

NEW.—Phileteus Coon has purchased the Grocery store of the Morey Bro's. in Goodyear's block. See advertisement.

A FORT.—Some "Pugilistic chaps" wishing to try their muscle, engaged in a fine fight on Monday and pounded and got pounded pretty bad.

CORRECTION.—Rev. Mr. McLearn will preach at the Baptist Church on Sunday next, the 11th inst., instead of the 14th, as was stated in the ENTERPRISE last week. All are invited to attend.

☞ Goodyear's Excelsior Interest tables and guide in business, one of the most perfect works of the product age. Address, enclosing 50cts, WM. SHARP, 8734 and 858 Lake street, Chicago.

ICE CREAM.—Messrs. Miller & Robison have re-opened the rooms formerly occupied by Ben. Palmer, in Goodyear's block, and will dispense Ice Cream, Cake, etc., in fine style. Call and try them and we will guarantee satisfaction.

☞ P. C. Vreeland & Co. have sold within two weeks two open Buggies, two top Buggies, two two-horse Carriages and one two-horse Wagon. Whole amount of sales, $1250, besides $200 in repairing old buggies and carriages.

LOST.—On the 5th of July, a circular piece of scarlet morocco, lined with all wool-delaine; spots of white braiding on the out-side. The finder will please leave the same at the Enterprise office or at my place. M. T. PROUT.

WHEAT.—Mr. Oliver High came into our office yesterday with a sample of new white wheat which was well filled. The head was not very long but was large and plump. The wheat will undoubtedly be ready to cut by next Monday. The wheat prospect is good.

THE NEW REVENUE OFFICERS.—In our last we mentioned that Capt. R. J. Barry, of Ann Arbor had been appointed assistant assessor for our county.—This is a mistake.

Sharon, Manchester and Freedom have been taken from the Ann Arbor Division and added to the Ypsilanti Division, and Capt. K. P. Allen, of the latter place, appointed assistant. He has the south half of the county.

Mr. Allen will visit Manchester the first Tuesday in each month for the present, to accommodate all who may wish to pay special taxes on any business by making out their applications.

THE RELIEVE.—Many people have yet hardly given a thought to smoked glasses, but the astronomers of this and other lands are already putting their instruments in order for observing the eclipse of the sun which is announced to take place about six weeks hence. Like the Peace jubilee, this is strictly an American affair. The eclipse, which is total, begins on the 8th of August, somewhere in the Pacific east of Japan, enters and continued by the way of Alaska where it changes its date to the 7th, in conformity with the meridian, and passes directly through, through British America and across the Siberian Union, entering into the Atlantic in the North Caspian sea about 4 o'clock P. M., and will travel lovely pass over before the sun.

☞ A SERENADE.—MUSIC, who would not listen to it when it comes in anything like harmony? It is always acceptable, either on the land or on the water. We always enjoy it, let it come in what shape it may, either from the throat of a nightingale or an ebon-hued minstrel; plaintive, lively or sparkling, from a single throat or a thousand, from an organ or a Cremona, we love it—even in the bobbling of the island fountain, in the thunderings of the foaming cataract, or the rippling of the mountain rill, and the majestic voice of the ocean stirred roar. But we are getting beyond our depth, and only intended to thank the Tecumseh Silver Cornet Band for the splendid serenade they gave the ENTERPRISE last Monday night.

This fine band occupied a prominent position in our celebration, and we hope they may have an opportunity to again visit our village.

AT TECUMSEH THE THIRD.

Wishing to celebrate in our old native village, on the third of July, we took the early morning train on Saturday last, while the rain was pouring from the clouds in a perfect torrent. Safely tucked away in the car with our umbrellas under arm, we gazed around upon the passengers among whom we recognized several of our fellow citizens of Manchester, among whom was our amiable young friend and "Velocipedist," John Weir, who was after a prize at the Tecumseh Tournament. We soon found ourself at our destination. Passing up town we found that many had began early to "celebrate" the day of Independence, (at least they seemed to be pretty independent.)

By 12 o'clock quite a respectable (?) crowd had collected on the streets, and farmers, for want of something better to do, came in and helped to swell the number.

At 1½ o'clock the velocipede race was called—first for fast riding, which was won by Chas. Cummins, in 43 seconds, the distance being about 45 rods. John Weir entered for this prize, but not being accustomed to the ground, fell short(?) seven seconds. Next came Fancy riding, and Johny Weir carried off the prize which he richly won, and we would say here, that the Tecumseh boys operated their eyes et some of the new style of riding which Johny introduced; he is the most graceful rider by far we have yet seen in this part of the country.—Some of our Tecumseh friends told us that they learned us how to ride; if such is the case, we can now learn them. So come along. Next came the slow riding, which was won by Frank Baxter of Tecumseh.

The wheelbarrow, blind-fold and sack races were quite amusing.

A pole was raised at the four corners, near the town pump, (which by the way was not much patronized that day) and greese daubed on sufficient to grease Wm. Penn's pole for a whole year. We did not see any one attempt to "go up," and consequently the committee saved their V for some other occasion.

A troupe of Fantastics paraded the streets for a short time, and we must say they made a great show.

Catching the greased pig was next on the programme, and the swine was soon caught by a skillful lad.

Two ballroons were sent up in the evening, which caused much excitement among the spectators, some few works were fired and fire balls thrown.

Tecumseh is considered a moral town, but nevertheless we noticed several men staying around town in a beastly drunken condition. We look upon it as much out of place here as anywhere else, and we would say to the temperance men of Tecumseh, that they will be doing a

THE FOURTH.

This year, as in years past and gone, the fourth of July was ushered in on the morning of the fifth. About the time old Sol began to lift his head and smile upon, and reanimate reposing nature, the "big gun," which was placed upon Ann Arbor hill, spoke in thundering tones, arousing and awakening all beings from their quiet and peaceful slumbers for miles around. Peal after peal burst forth in rapid succession; then came forth shouts of joy from the gathering and animated crowd. The air was soon filled with the sound of fire-crackers, mingled with songs of gladness.

In accordance with the programme, the exercises of the day began by the marshals forming the crowd into a line, which marched to strains of sweet music, discharged by the Tecumseh Band, out to the grove.

At the grove the exercises began by a prayer by the Rev. J. Gordon Jones, which was replete with Godly instructions and patriotic sentiment. The reading of the Declaration of Independence by the Rev. J. C. Wortley was executed in his most inimitable style; every word was distinct, and as he advanced, his spirit seemed to take the fiery patriotism that must have animated the soul of its inspired author. The music by the Glee Club was perfectly soul-stirring; each and every one sustained their part in a manner worthy of great praise. The oration by the Hon. R. R. Beecher, of Adrian, was truly patriotic, and delivered in a style and spirit commensurate with the day and occasion. The crowd was very large, but order reigned, and in all that portion of the day's exercises, which came off at the grove, nothing happened to mar or distract in the least, the full expectations of those interested.

At one o'clock the crowd marched back to town, where a sumptuous dinner was prepared by "mine host," Mr. Henry Goodyear, and served up in the spacious dining saloon of his new Hotel.

After dinner came on the more pleasurable sports. The first thing in order was the velocipede race; this exercise created a great degree of excitement and interest. The first prize of $10 for the one making the fastest time, was won and awarded to our young townsman, Johny Weir. Johny is perfectly at home on his tandem rig. The second prize of $5, for fancy riding was borne off by Mr. John Cummins, of Tecumseh. He handled his horse well. The test for slow riding was the next thing in order, and in this Master Frankie Baxter, of Tecumseh, bore off the palm.

The sack and wheelbarrow races which followed the velocipeded riding were as laughable as they were ludicrous; prizes in both of these exercises were awarded and won. The same in order the climbing of the greased pole; this was a slippery undertaking but even this difficult feat was accomplished by a lad from Tecumseh, but not until the little fellow had gotten gritty, (by the application of sand) and made the second trial. The prize for this high aspiration was a silver goblet which crowned the top of the pole, some fifteen feet from the ground. At this juncture mirth ran high.—Everybody was on the qui vive for more fun. The shadows began to lengthen, but there was yet more sport in store for the multitude. The mule race, the next thing in order was called on. Meekly did those two stock animals, the descendants of the line that spake and rebuked Balaam, enter the arena; sly whispering was heard here and there that these mules were too gentle, and that nothing of interest could be produced from such a source. We know better, for we had seen mules before. When they took so good, and so gentle, they are studying up some trick to play off on their owner or driver; depend upon it, a mule has got sense. The riders came with full confidence of success, each anxious to show his knightly skill, and if possible win not only the applause of the anxious crowd, but a fine saddle which was offered by the committee to the mule displaying the greatest degree of mule-stubbornness in getting over the shortest space of ground in the longest space of time. Rider number one slightly touched upon the back of his mule and awaits the action of rider number two, who finds it a little more difficult to mount than he expected; now he is up—now he is sow something on the ground and now gotten off to pick it up; the mule is now very restive, they urge the rider to get up and try it again; he does get up, but by this time the mule has gotten up too, yes in the language of one of the unsophisticated youth, "the mule has got his back up."

The next exercise on the programme was the horse race, which was a very interesting affair. At eight o'clock the committee on the award met at the Judge's office, and decided that the following order should be observed in the race: Single and Double Harnesses, Bridles, Halters &c. &c.
