ALMOST A WHOLESALE MURDER.

On Saturday morning an attempt was made by a young man calling himself Thomas Bequit to throw the passenger train off the track on the Southern rail road, due at Norvel about 7 o'clock. A heavy tie, a T-rail, and two or three-axle boxes were found on the track about eight miles north of Norvel, near what is known as the "Huckleberry Marsh," about ten minutes before the train was due, by a party of trackmen. They were promptly removed, and a few minutes search brought to light Mr. Bequit, who was found hid in the woods. He acknowledged the deed, and was brought to town by Deputy-sheriff English.

We had an interview with Bequit to-day, but were unable to arrive at any very definite conclusions concerning him. His story is that he came from Albion, Friday morning, on his way to Indiana, and stopped here till about noon, when he walked to Napoleon. He stayed there all night in a barn, and then set out in the morning for Norvel, where he attempted to throw the eastern passenger train off the track, as stated above.

He is evidently very green, and with out money. And as he does not seem to be crazy, the only conclusion we arrive at, is that he done it for plunder.—He has made disclosures, which if true, may lead to something else. He was examined this afternoon, before Justice Dyer, and bound over in the sum of $500.—Jackson Citizen.

We have received a copy of the Congressional Directory, with the respects of T. M. Edwards, Esq., for which he will please accept our thanks.

Since ladies have taken to wearing newspapers for bustles, publishers complain that their fair subscribers are more in the "errors" than ever.

The Manchester Brass Band went to Ypsilanti on Friday last to attend a picnic given by the Ypsilanti Cornet Band. The boys say that they had a good time and enjoyed themselves muchly.

The proprietor of the Conklin House received a serenade by the Manchester Brass Band a few nights since, after which he invited the boys to regale themselves with ice cream.

—Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, celebrates its "silver wedding" to Rev. H. W. Beecher, Oct. 8th to 11th next and wants the old members, from the ends of the earth, to send their names and address to the "Clerk of the Church" so that all may have invitations and information.

"HOW TO GO WEST."

This is a question which every one should have fully and correctly answered before he starts on his journey, and a little care taken in examination of Routes will in many cases save much trouble, time and money.

The "C. R. & Q. R. R." running from Chicago through Galesburg and Burlington, has achieved a reputation in the last two years as the leading passenger Route to the west. At Burlington it connects with the great Burlington Route which runs direct, through Southern Iowa to Nebraska and Kansas, with close connections to California and the Territories; and passengers starting from Manchester, Lenawee County, on their way westward cannot do better than take the C. R. & Q. and Burlington Route.

The Line has published a pamphlet called "How to go West," which contains much valuable information; a large correct map of the Great West, which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the General Passenger Agent R. R. R. Burlington, Iowa.

ROPSINGER & JOSSELYN,
Manufacturers of Sewing Machines,
Nos. 72 and 74 Washington Avenue, North Block, Indianapolis, Ind., and 28 Bedford Street, Strand, London, England, and Agents and Dealers in the above machines for the States of Michigan and Indiana, Ontario, Canada, North western Ohio and Southern Illinois.

The manifolds to which the manufacture of sewing machines is divided, are as follows, in the terms of the manufacturer over the year 1870 to the value of the leading articles, on which they pay a royalty. According to these returns the number of machines made by each company during the year is as follows:

The Singer Manufacturing Company	127,855
Wheeler & Wilson manufacturing company	85,300
Grover & Baker Sewing machine company	57,407
Wilcox & Gibbs sewing machine company	29,900
Howe machine company	24,000
Gaynor sewing machine company	14,225
Florence sewing machine company	9,912
Gold Medal sewing machine company	9,911
Weed sewing machine company	8,000
Remington sewing machine company	7,000
Finkle & Lyon, manufacturing company	2,890
Lamb Knitting manufacturing company	2,412
Wilcox sewing machine company	800
Bartlett Reversible	800
Bartram & Pardon manufacturing company	420
Lamb Knitting manufacturing company	412
McKay sewing machine company	300
E. Pratt	200

It will be seen by this table that the popularity of the Singer Machine is greater than all others, their sale being one half greater than that of the next largest company. This is owing to the fact that the Singer Machine is the most complete machine in the market, and will do more kinds of work than any other machine, what is known as their "Family Machine" being better than their old style. Their total sales for 1870 were 127,855 machines against 85,300 machines, the advantage against the next in the list being 42,555 machines. The total sales for 1871 were 181,736 machines, showing an increase of one-half in the latter year over the former.

From the various returns made to the assessors of the different townships in this county, it appears that the sales of the Singer manufacturing company, in this county, during the past year, have been 1,000 machines, which is 300 more than double the sale during 1870 of any individual company, and 500 more than the sale of any two companies. Their "New Family Machine" would appear to be a great favorite for family use, and their manufacturing machine has long been the favorite for carpet sewing. The Singer manufacturing company is the only company in the state of Michigan which manufactures machines in both spindle No. 12 in 1865, and No. 24 in 1870, showing a gain of 12 machines in the latter year over the former.

NEW STYLE TELL-TENSION SHUTTLE MACHINE.

The Singer Manufacturing Company have just introduced a new machine in this market, which they call their Tell-Tension Shuttle Machine, which is a decided improvement on their old machine. It is a machine for all kinds of work, and is the most complete machine in the market. It is the only machine that will do the finest work with the finest thread, and the heaviest work with the heaviest thread, without changing the tension. It is the only machine that will do the finest work with the finest thread, and the heaviest work with the heaviest thread, without changing the tension. It is the only machine that will do the finest work with the finest thread, and the heaviest work with the heaviest thread, without changing the tension.

SUNDAY READING.

—There is a society of Mormons in Paris who conform to the theories and practice of Salt Lake City.

—The Canadian Presbyterians make the same mistake as the Methodists in having the head. Their costume is thus described: At the back, where our country parsons wear bands, they wear a white tie, and over the shoulders, instead of a bands, they wear a narrow cape of white muslin is twisted around their necks. Under their cape and overcoat, concealed, they carry a short sword something like the "happy dispatch" worn by diplomats. They wear an order, suspended on a variegated ribbon, around their necks. Ribbons and lace are exquisite, and come some inches up the arm.

SOCIETY AND FASHION.

—The ladies sigh for a dim religious light at Plattsburgh, Cape May.

—The fact that ladies' hats are airy nothings is illustrated by the costliness of the bonnet and two additional missionaries to India, where their work is said to be attended with great success.

—The Pope has again expressed a desire to visit the city of Rome, and has proposes to take up his residence in Belvidere. It is not probable that he will make the change.

—The Jewish Messenger recommends the erection of a Jewish orphan asylum in each Branch, as so many wealthy Jews spend one-fourth of the year at that place of fashionable resort.

—Mr. H. C. Decarave has made a catalogue of all the books and pamphlets written against Methodism. They number 700. The catalogue is deposited in the Astor Library.

—The practice of paying the minister's salary in installments is a modern device. Installments is gaining favor among the Presbyterians. It is said to be easier for the minister to collect the pennies.

—The Presbyterian Board of Home Missions has issued a circular announcing short person can ever wear a scarf grace-fully—a person with a neck.

—"Our Society" has good authority for correcting an item that appeared in the newspapers announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Ida Greeley, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of the late Mr. Horace Greeley, to Mr. William Hemp-stead, purser on one of the Havana steamships.

—The Rubens hat, which made its first appearance a few years ago, is gradually growing into favor. The brim is turned down on the left side, and in the front the feather is fastened above the bow. If the strings are tied under the chin, it is a bonnet; if they are thrown back, it is a hat. It gets its name from being copied from a picture by Rubens.

—It has been stated that there is some probability of the polonaise losing favor. We see nothing to warrant this supposition, except in that by the fact that it has been worn for centuries in Europe, by certain materials, such as printed muslins, gauze, grenadines and crep de chine, the polonaise is the most graceful dress that is worn by a rush or belt, has in a great measure superseded the use of the heavy materials the polonaise remains in favor.

—A new accordion has been produced by a Philadelphia lady, was exhibited at Newport in a white jacket of peculiar fashion. Accordions are worn of all kinds and it is said that there is not a single person in the city who is not loud in praise of this instrument, who persistently refused to hear her. Her chief power is wrapped in Gaelic language to a higher degree.

—The first Congregational house of worship in the United States, Plymouth, was built and paid for, and furnished with a bell, with one exception, the present year. The church, which is composed mainly of poor people, has contributed about fifteen dollars each to the enterprise. The exception, is small and poor, has contributed $10,000, and yet by two contributions of about fifteen dollars each all the rest have built for themselves a new edifice in a single year.

—In 1867 the Presbyterian Church in Texas had four ministers at work with eight its members, and now it has twelve among twenty-eight churches, and all of them employed. One of them serves four churches daily, and occasionally visits two others, riding on horseback at least two hundred miles per month. Another preaches to seven different congregations every month.

—A would-be fugitive is now serving as a waiter in a restaurant at Fontainebleau. He was a Communist with Eglise-Pole, who, in 1867, fired at the Emperor of Russia in Paris.

—For having attached in their papers to the rumors of the secret marriage in this city of Miss Lizzie Wallace, the New York editors have been severally sentenced to fine and imprisonment.

—Among the missionaries recently sent from England to instruct the heathen is Rev. Thomas Chalk. Chalk will make a mark.

—Count D'Aroim, the German Minister to France, will, it is said, be created duke by the Emperor of Austria, in order that he may confer with the Austrian Minister on the subject services during the negotiations at Vienna.

—A would-be fugitive is now serving as a waiter in a restaurant at Fontainebleau. He was a Communist with Eglise-Pole, who, in 1867, fired at the Emperor of Russia in Paris.

—For having attached in their papers to the rumors of the secret marriage in this city of Miss Lizzie Wallace, the New York editors have been severally sentenced to fine and imprisonment.

—A German adaptation of Joe Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle has been produced by one of the foremost theatres, but with different success. Rip's Dutch-English accent is too extreme for German sympathies.

—The Leipsic Illustrated News states that 12,000 fighters and her teaching of religion and morality in Germany is the highest generation received by Miss Precha Leuttner for her participation in the Boston Jubilee.

—The ex-Empress Eugenie, being debarred the Empire which his uncle found and now leaves again to such articles as he can carry in his pocket, is at Cowes, where she deposited in the Museum of Sovereigns at the Louvre, and awaits those returned to him

—M. Thiers, after having ranked the Emperor Napoleon, Clemenceau and Victor Hugo as the greatest men of the century in the direction of his duties, now pronounces Mr. Gladstone to be the most able financier in Europe.

Discovery or Invention.

The credit of discovering the science and practice is one of the most difficult points to establish. The Boston claimants of the honor of having originated, have presented one way out of the difficulty. They have different claimants for the credit of the discovery and application of anæsthetics in surgery, a statue to every one of whom has been erected in the public garden in front of the Massachusetts State House. This anonymous way of solving a difficulty is characteristic of Boston. The genius of the Emperor of Austria has found a different method.

—A Swindler, named Retter, who sold forged M. D. diplomas, purporting to have been issued by the University of New York, has been convicted in Prussia of that offence and sentenced to imprisonment in a State Prison." Among his papers were found, also, four thousand blank diplomas of the University of Pennsylvania.

—The personal property of the late M. Felix, the father of Rachel, was lately sold in London. The highest price paid was for a diamond bracelet which had been given to the celebrated actress by the Emperor Nicholas of Russia, and which had originally been presented to Catharine II.

—The tourists who visit Switzerland for the purpose of mountain climbing are many thousands, and the business is said to be attended with great profit.

—The Pope has again expressed a desire to visit the city of Rome, and has proposes to take up his residence in Belvidere. It is not probable that he will make the change.

—The Jewish Messenger recommends the erection of a Jewish orphan asylum in each Branch, as so many wealthy Jews spend one-fourth of the year at that place of fashionable resort.

—Mr. H. C. Decarave has made a catalogue of all the books and pamphlets written against Methodism. They number 700. The catalogue is deposited in the Astor Library.

—The practice of paying the minister's salary in installments is a modern device. Installments is gaining favor among the Presbyterians. It is said to be easier for the minister to collect the pennies.

—The Presbyterian Board of Home Missions has issued a circular announcing short person can ever wear a scarf grace-fully—a person with a neck.

—"Our Society" has good authority for correcting an item that appeared in the newspapers announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Ida Greeley, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of the late Mr. Horace Greeley, to Mr. William Hemp-stead, purser on one of the Havana steamships.

—The Rubens hat, which made its first appearance a few years ago, is gradually growing into favor. The brim is turned down on the left side, and in the front the feather is fastened above the bow. If the strings are tied under the chin, it is a bonnet; if they are thrown back, it is a hat. It gets its name from being copied from a picture by Rubens.

—It has been stated that there is some probability of the polonaise losing favor. We see nothing to warrant this supposition, except in that by the fact that it has been worn for centuries in Europe, by certain materials, such as printed muslins, gauze, grenadines and crep de chine, the polonaise is the most graceful dress that is worn by a rush or belt, has in a great measure superseded the use of the heavy materials the polonaise remains in favor.

—A new accordion has been produced by a Philadelphia lady, was exhibited at Newport in a white jacket of peculiar fashion. Accordions are worn of all kinds and it is said that there is not a single person in the city who is not loud in praise of this instrument, who persistently refused to hear her. Her chief power is wrapped in Gaelic language to a higher degree.

—The first Congregational house of worship in the United States, Plymouth, was built and paid for, and furnished with a bell, with one exception, the present year. The church, which is composed mainly of poor people, has contributed about fifteen dollars each to the enterprise. The exception, is small and poor, has contributed $10,000, and yet by two contributions of about fifteen dollars each all the rest have built for themselves a new edifice in a single year.

—In 1867 the Presbyterian Church in Texas had four ministers at work with eight its members, and now it has twelve among twenty-eight churches, and all of them employed. One of them serves four churches daily, and occasionally visits two others, riding on horseback at least two hundred miles per month. Another preaches to seven different congregations every month.

How the Caffres Steal Diamonds.

From the South African Diamond Fields Gazette.

The Colesberg Kopje is almost covered with the graves of the workers. Some found wonder to the sun, and some to the night of black Caffre clinging or pushing the gravel in the hopper of a machine, and some were thrown into their pockets, which I supposed to be empty. Then the Caffre was tied up and sliced by another Kaffir, who again was tied up by the murderer.

Then the gravel is put upon the sorting tables, and the proprietors of claims pick out it and get what is left by Kaffirs. In cases the Caffres sort too, and that without a diamond touched; when the purchase they get, and, to my firm belief, pocket the stones. In all the diamonds I stolen stones by masters pay them ten shillings per week and plenty of rations. For the old Kaffir, who is the agent, the white man pays all expenses, and the Caffre has the profits.

I could tell you lots of things about these Kaffirs, and the way one lot of successful Kaffirs were followed and flogged. As an instance, eight fellows, after being watched, that was the way they were examined, and found as fast as they could go. The first fellow had nothing, the second had no diamonds. Just before letting him run off. It was suggested to examine his hair. Two diamonds were soon discovered. It was at this time impossible to tell which of the eight men, who had been sentenced at Cobbentz to four years' imprisonment at hard labor.

—The fermentation of grape, willow switches, stored away in a cellar, was removed. Two years after the wine was to be made, and went on. There was no authority for stopping them, and the police did not like to interfere. It was not known that they had a large amount of stolen property in their possession.

Another small party of three. I heard, were convicted of stealing a large diamond, but none could be found: but one of the three had 600 sovereigns in his pocket. Where did he get it? I heard of another party of four who were followed by their employers, and in less than $4,000 worth of diamonds taken from them. Two of the children in the party, also, in their "stuart rings," had their carats. There were cases where a fellow had a son's boy. He had put a fine diamond under his own skin in the Spanish style, and when he wanted to know to have large diamonds, but though his master had him up, there was no evidence against him. The master had tried to get three small diamonds from the Kaffir, but he gave up to his master, but he got off.

A man was here yesterday for a war rant for a Kaffir, who had run off here with 1,900 worth of diamonds. No one knows whether the man was the proper weight of diamonds that were taken from the pocket of the Kaffir, but I am quite certain he know why such carelessness should exist. In America they have the gold escort system, and even they get stuck sometimes.

—The most novel stroke on record is that of the clergymen in Wilmington, Del. The residence was hired formed themselves into a Funeral Trades Union, and adopted a diamond bracelet which has been given to the celebrated actress by the Emperor Nicholas of Russia, and which had originally been presented to Catharine II. a resolution that no member officiate at a funeral where the undertaker employed is not a member of the Union. The first funeral after the adoption of the resolution was that of a child, and the minister arrived at the house in his carriage to find the undertaker's men in possession. He refused to enter the house, and the undertaker was compelled to send for another minister. The latter was met at the door by the undertaker's men, who refused to admit him unless he would promise to officiate at no funeral where the undertaker employed was not a member of the Union

A political friend of ours, a few days since was heard to say:

The die is cast—by subtile powers dragged on—
The friends of my youth have left me alone;
I've had to bet hard, and it I get jammed,
I'll at once take my wallet...go West and be

The city authorities of Indianapolis passed through our village, Tuesday last at 4 o'clock P. M. They are on an excursion visit to Detroit. The train consisted of six coaches and contained about two hundred Hoosiers.

We understand that C. W. Sandford has purchased the residence of Mrs. Aldrich and will occupy it in a few weeks. He intends to convert the old house into a rag picking establishment. A new enterprise for Manchester.

If you want a genuine Josephene seamless, the same as Harris Kid Glove, both white and colored, go to Clarkson & Field's because it is the only place in Hi-diddle-diddle, the cat in the fiddle,
The cow jumped over the moon;
My wife she bought a Hoosier Tray,
And had it fill by noon.

T. Case has them for sale.

A man named Orin, of Grand Traverse, went to Detroit last Monday, fell in love with the girl who dished up his hash, married her and started for home the next day. What's the use of fooling away two or three weeks in courting.

A sample committee from Grass Lake went to Jackson a few days since to test the quality of liquor sold at the saloons in that city, after which they intended to prosecute the proprietors. A telegram preceeded the committee and they failed to get as drunk as their friends wished them to.

Too Drunkards.

Dr. Ashlige, one of the Pottery Inspectors in Staffordshire, has just forth a sensible protest against a very pernicious custom which rarely receives sufficient attention either from the medical profession or from the public. He says that the women of the working classes make it a principal article of diet instead of an occasional beverage; they drink it several times a day, and the result is a lamentable amount of sickness. This is no doubt the case, and, as Dr. Arlidge remarks, a portion of the reforming zeal which keeps up such a lively warfare against intoxicating drinks might advantageously be diverted to the repression of this very serious evil of tea-tipling among the poorer classes. Tea in anything beyond moderate quantities is as distinctly a narcotic poison as is opium or alcohol. It is capable of ruining the digestion, and of enfeebling and disordering the heart's action, and of generally shattering the nerves.

We hear of parties going to Wampler's Lake on a pic nic and fishing excursions.

The boys about town are beginning to tremble in their shoes because school days are so near at hand.

"HOW TO GO WEST."

This is an enquiry which every one should have truthfully answered before he starts on his journey, as the consolidation of Roads will in many cases save much trouble, time and money.

The "C. R. & Q. R. R.," running from Chicago through Galesburg to Burlington, has achieved a reputation in the last two years as the leading passenger Route to the west. At Burlington it connects with the great Burlington Route which runs direct through Southern Iowa to Nebraska and Colorado, with close connections to California and the Territories; and passengers starting from Washtenaw County, on their way westward, cannot do better than to take the C. R. & Q. and Burlington Route.

This Line has published a pamphlet called "How to go West," which contains much valuable information; a large correct map of the Great West, which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the General Passenger Agent R. R. R. Burlington, Iowa.
