Another shower last night.

Have you seen Lucy Webb Hart?

The popping of fire-crackers tends a Fourth of July aroma to the atmosphere.

Ralph Hunter, son of our popular friend in town.

Jackson county farmers are selling their wool in the market.

We have received from the Secretary of State another installment of the Log-slipive Acts of 1877.

The showers are so frequent that the farmers are beginning to feel anxious regarding hay and harvesting.

Come to Manchester on the Fourth of July, and you will see the finest celebration ever witnessed in southern Michigan.

The committee appointed by the Council to examine the sidewalks of this village say they find nearly every one needs repairing or rebuilding.

Sixty-four shortsacks are plentiful, large, luscious and cheap, this year, and consequently the shortsack is made of a capacity to fill all mouths.

Scriber's Monthly and its young companion, St. Nicholas, for July, come to us this week, as usual full of entertaining reading matter for young and old.

What is more courageous than a bird in defiance of its young? We saw a bird put to ignominious flight by a mother blackbird, the other day, "going off on its" liberally.

The city dais had better leave the streets and alleys cleaned before the 4th. They will present a more tidy appearance and the rubbish will be where fire-crackers can do it to damage.

"Don't lie me again, or I'll scream."

"I wouldn't," your mother will hear you, "tremble the young man."

"The won't," your mother will hear you, "tremble the young man."
