THE ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF THE GREAT RIOTS

THE MISSISSIPPI MONSTER.

Business man of St. Louis, who resides at 234-1/2 Olive street, arrived in the city last night by train from Memphis, and at a late hour called at the office of the Enterprise, which he had just reached, and gave to the editor a startling account of the capture of a monster, which he had just seen in the Mississippi river, near the mouth of the Mississippi, about twenty miles from the mouth of the river. The monster was seen in the river, and was about twenty miles from the mouth of the river. The monster was seen in the river, and was about twenty miles from the mouth of the river.
