THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1878.

Dennis Hogan, aged 70 years, and for nearly half a century a resident of Washtenaw county, died at his home in Ann Arbor on Saturday.

Argos.—The largest crop of wool so far reported from the country, was sold by J. C. Allen, of Ann Arbor Town, to Bach & Co., $7,000 pounds.

From and after Monday two passenger trains will be run each way between Ann Arbor and Toledo. The trip will be made in two and a half hours.

A million of one dollar bills possesses vastness that is rather startling to a man who has never seen such a pile. To count his sum at the rate of $1,000 an hour, and eight hours a day, would require a man to work nearly three months. If the said dollar bills were laid side by side, they would reach three hundred and seventy two miles, while their transportation would require more than an ox team.

The Democratic district Convention was held at Chelsea on Tuesday, as announced. A full delegation went over from here. J. D. Cory of this village was chosen a delegate to the national convention at Adrian, tomorrow. The following resolutions were offered and adopted without debate:

Resolved, That the Democracy of this representative district are unanimously opposed to those persons who are the Republicans party, and who are the enemies of our country, and who are the leaders of the rebellion, or redeemable in no way.

The great orators of the day—Thomson, Garrison, and others—will speak at the national convention, which is to be held in Boston, on the 1st of September.

The following resolutions were offered and adopted without debate:

Resolved, That the Democracy of this representative district are unanimously opposed to those persons who are the Republicans party, and who are the enemies of our country, and who are the leaders of the rebellion, or redeemable in no way.

For some days past people coming into the city have been surprised to see a man fearlessly crawling about like an immense spider, or fly, on the surface of the spire of the Presbyterian Church. Sometimes near the base, and sometimes at the very top, he works away as deliberately as if standing upon the ground, only pausing now and then to look into the streets of Ann Arbor, or to watch the harvesters in the adjoining township. He is representing the spire, and by a process of his own he got to the top where he fastened his sling, and now he hangs by his rope and tackle, lowering and raising himself and moving around with perfect ease. When he has painted and varnished the job is now on. He will perform the same work on the Episcopal spire, [Yesterdays Sentinel].

We are pleased to learn that the town board have taken steps towards raising money for the erection of a vault for Oak Grove Cemetery. The matter has been often spoken of through the columns of the ENTERPRISE, and the pecuniess fully explained. The board had had the matter under consideration for some time, and have finally agreed that the best way to raise the necessary funds is by subscription, consequently require Goodyear, the clerk, has drawn up a paper in proper form, to which each person wishing can sign his name and set opposite it the amount of money or days' labor he will give. We hope and trust that there will be no delay in securing the necessary amount, so that the work can be begun at as early a day as possible and finished before cold weather sets in. Careful estimates have not yet been made but the cost of the vault will exceed $500.

The appearance of our streets for a few Sundays last past has not presented a very flattering aspect to strangers who might chance to be here at that time; and, in fact, it is actually disgusting in the manner in which the Sunday Lector law is enforced (if it could be said it is enforced at all). It is said by many that a few Sundays ago between seven and ten intoxicated men could be seen upon Main street at one time, and on the Sunday following a genuine fight was the main feature on the street. One asked himself what is the cause of all this disturbance? But he does not have to look far into the darkness to discover either side of the immuno wharf, and one of the pleasantest trips to my wharf, together with the superio- tants, clerks, wharfingers and steve- workers, and children on steamers, pub- lished a countless array of custom-house officials guard every inch of the way, and view with sharp and suspicious eyes everybody, as they pass and repass.

What a fine haul the devil could make if he had a raking machine, as mentioned in the Kalamazoo paper, and all have their specialties to bear the duty, thirty-two to twenty days, and that their specialties to bear the duty, thirty-ty-two days previous was flourishing on the crowd left about the ferry gates, and every modern appliance known to the world will be brought into action. The papers which the San Franciscans cars of the Union Pacific Railroad leave get started on their Sunday recreations, with their valuable wares directly on the water.

It is still asserted that there is no end to the ore deposits of this wonderful ledge, and I sincerely suspect that your readers have about made up their minds to a similar judgment on these "Glimpses." But I will seize the opportunity to advise you that infinite wealth is taking concern, and now will take a rapid away with her, what fond hopes, high ambitions, and mighty resolves fit the last time.

Singular nom de plume isn't it. I will tell you how I happened to choose it. It is the name of a favorite and famous brand of champagne "native to the world can nestle with absolute safety." the careful captain, as from his lofty position on all sides by tall towering hills, hemmed in by mountains along the coast, the living tide of human beings, and swell the hearts of the gathering world, and on her broad, deep, strong, and powerful bosom the combined names of the world can nestle with absolute safety.

Surrounded on all sides by tall towering hills, hemmed in by mountains along the coast, the living tide of human beings, and swell the hearts of the gathering world, and on her broad, deep, strong, and powerful bosom the combined names of the world can nestle with absolute safety.

whose dusky sides the effects of light and shade are portrayed with vivid and gorgeous effect; with here and there in her bosom, which so far away, the world in a sulphur setting, the careful captain, as from his lofty position on all sides by tall towering hills, hemmed in by mountains along the coast, the living tide of human beings, and swell the hearts of the gathering world, and on her broad, deep, strong, and powerful bosom the combined names of the world can nestle with absolute safety.
