Birds Help.

Except under wild and skillful management the bird help on a farm is a source of never ending trouble and distress, not to say actual and material loss. On the whole, the faults are very common, and the few virtues are scarcely worth mentioning. The most common fault is that the birds are not properly cared for.

Sometimes the farmer is so careless that he allows them to run wild, and sometimes he is so stupid that he allows them to be driven from the farm by the huntsman. The most common virtue is that the birds are properly cared for, and that they are allowed to do their work in their own way, and that they are not driven from the farm by the huntsman.

William O'Hara, of Whitmore Lake, aged 86 years, died Saturday evening.

The Detroit papers have been quarreling with each other about their circulation.

There are 11,000 people in jail in Michigan and of the 60 that have escaped the past year only seven have been captured.

Hon. John P. Cook, died at his home in Hillsdale, on Monday, aged 73 years.

A number of teachers about the state intend to spend their two weeks' holiday vacation in going to New Orleans to see the exposition.

A painful accident occurred last Thursday, at Whitmore Lake, to Jefferson House, of Pittsfield, by a tree falling on him and breaking his leg.

The candy establishment of Gray, Toynton & Fox, of Detroit, was destroyed by fire last Friday evening, and three employees perished in the flames.

The Chicago Tribune says that there is about as much doing in this city as in past seasons at a like period, and the general feeling is firmer and more cheerful.

W. F. H. Schermerhorn, of Hudson, died at his residence, aged 72 years, at 10 o'clock on Monday evening while waiting for the train, to go home.

From all sources we learn that money is accumulating in the banks, and that the business is any other year in this season. We hope the cry of "hard times" is over.

Judge Josiah, of the Washburn circuit, went to Detroit last week to give them an example of his mode of dispensing justice. His abrupt ways of the lawyers while others were very much shocked and displeased.

At the meeting of the state sportsmen's association at Jackson, last week, numerous amendments to the game laws were recommended; one was "to prevent the use of explosive, poison and continuous nets for the capture of fish; another was to repeal the law for the protection of the English sparrow and allow the same to be shot from traps. We think they will meet the approval of almost everybody.

Before Vendor died he had completed the manuscript of his almae for 1885, which has just been found from the press. In his casual remarks he says we are in a "miserable period" which will continue for two years, extending over the northern and middle states and Canada. The fall of 1884, he predicted, would be very open, with a mild, unsteady winter, followed with great falls of rain and snow. He also predicted an unusually good Christmas and a mild New Year.

Remarks by Halladay.

Editor Enterprise:—Among the benefits received from those meetings of the Farmers' Club, I will first mention our opportunity for social improvement.

As a class, we, the farmers, are called rough, unsmooth, unpolished, socially devoid of those refining and elevating graces which we find in the best society. If this be true, much of our lack of social culture may be attributed to our isolation from society.

The pleasure of the Farmers' Club, I will first mention our opportunity for social improvement.

WAMPLERN LAKE

Mr. John Watson has a sister visiting here from Jackson.

Mr. & Mrs. J. A. Stone, of Dover, were here visiting friends over Sunday.

E. Stoddard intends to go to Indiana next Saturday to visit his brother Charles.

Mr. & Mrs. D. L. Main, of Jackson, today go to visit a friend and sister at Jackson.

Mrs. Geo. Holmes, of Franklin, is attending the sick bed of her sister, Mrs. Jennie Main.

Dr. Brown, of the university of Ann Arbor, was here last Thursday in council with Dr. L. M. Jones on the case of Mr. Jennie Main.

School closes on Friday for the holiday vacation.

G. Harrison Hay has shipped a car load of older to Iowa.

Geo. Hallatt shipped 300 lbs of his own produce to the market on Tuesday.

Walter Martin was quite severely bitten by Horace Moulton's dog a few days ago.

The young people enjoyed a social hop at the Norrell green house on Friday evening of last week.

Mr. & Mrs. Wm. Mount will start Saturday for a trip through the northern part of the state during the winter.

The girl will have ground on a skating rink, Graham & Bartles, of Napoleon, have charge of it. Open Thursday afternoon and evening.

A certain young man drove out into the country, not long since, after a lady to get a party, and failing to find his horse, got left, and in his rambles after the horse he drifted into a neighbor's yard and frightened the poultry from the trees, which woke the inmates of the house. They supposing it to be a chicken thief took after him with a shotgun and gave him a lively chase. The horse was found and cured for by Mr. Hart.

A Word for the Little Ones.

I have to see children forced to do things that are disagreeable to them merely for the purpose of making the money. Where any good end is to be secured it is different. Little boys are expected to do things that are not in their power to do.

Why make a child, either girl or boy, miserable by forcing it to wear articles of clothing of which it has no taste, and approve of at which other girls' friends laugh at it? It may be necessary to have some such memory. I know of a lady whose childish life was made very wretched for a year by an obsolete old bag in which she was forced to carry her books to school, and another whose mother forced her to wear some old-fashioned, though costly, and another whose mother, and declared that she actually would have killed her if she had not been banished from her wardrobe.

If you can afford it, it is better to give your boy the best of the kind of clothing he wants, and your girl the very old style of dress, than to force her to wear some old-fashioned, though costly, and another whose mother, and declared that she actually would have killed her if she had not been banished from her wardrobe.

Increase of Crime.

There is no denying the fact that crime is on the increase, and during the last few years has assumed alarming proportions.

Among the causes of this increase of crime we name: The decay of moral sentiment in the public mind; the corruption and delay which exists in the administration of justice; the failure to enforce existing laws, especially the excise laws, which are virtually a dead letter; the alarming increase in the use of strong drink (increasing at a ratio threefold greater than that of the population); the abuse of the pardoning power; the ostracizing of discharged criminals; the unclean and vile press which is flooding the public with blood-and-thunder literature, infaming passion, corrupting the young, and bringing on a carnival of vice and crime in every conceivable form.

An Honest Saloon Advertisement.

Friends and neighbors: Grateful for the liberal encouragement received from you, and having supplied my tavern with a new and ample stock of choice wines, spirits, and lager beer, I thankfully inform you that I continue to make drinkables and hogwags for the sober, industrious, and respectable community to support.

Barbaric Russia.

Of the barbaric features of the old Russia out of which Peter sprang, the tortures attending judicial processes were the most marked. His father was considered usually mild and gentle for a czar, and indeed, had been named "the most debonaire" but even under his reign there were fifty official executions in Moscow, whose hands were incessantly red with their ghastly functions.

A Remarkable Tortoise.

A lady in Newport, who honors me with her friendship, owns a remarkable dog. He is a King Charles spaniel, I believe. The dog is certainly a beauty, with his silky coat, his long ears and his sympathetic eyes.

Putting an End to the Buffalo.

During a recent warm day a reporter strolled into a wholesale fur dealer's store to select himself with a new pair of the latest integuments which suggested winter cooling blasts.

Immigration Statistics.

The Washington bureau of statistics has issued a statement showing that the number of immigrants arriving in the United States during the month of August was 33,118, against 38,388 in August of last year, a decrease of 15.61 per cent.
