Merrimac and Monitor

A FAMOUS SUNDAY FIGHT.

The Gray Bearded Pilot of the Merrimac Describes the Battle.

The Confederate Ironclad Merrimac Accomplished Greater Work of Destruction in a Single Half Day Than Any Other Ship of the Line.

Was Vessel Ever Built That So Quickly Destroyed the Ironclad Merrimac?

On the shores at the mouth of the Chesapeake this time of year the air is mild and blue.

"Has the Complaint come down again?"

"The old lady would remark that it was not so bad as it used to be."

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES.

Locals on 4th page. The roads are simply horribly muddy.

V. P. Cash has rented his rink in Tecumseh to the gymnasium society.

Valentine & Town have shipped a car load of apples to Chicago this week.

We expect that two or three of our citizens will start for California in April.

The Alpha Sigma society meet next Thursday evening at the union school hall.

The Lutheran church bells have arrived and are being placed in position in the steeple to-day.

An article regarding the death of F. M. Baker will be found on the 4th page of the ENTERPRISE.

The teachers and scholars of the union school are preparing to give an exhibition at the close of the term.

Farrell & Brenner have dissolved partnership and divided up their stock. There are now three liveries in town.

Rha Conklin has arranged to have his broom factory, corner of Jackson and Union streets, raised, repaired and painted.

Last Saturday afternoon there were seven solid gentlemen in Wm. Burtless's office, whose aggregate weight was 1408 pounds.

A petition is being circulated among merchants and shippers asking that Stout be discharged freight conductor, be reinstated.

Byron Hill is doing his level best to make Wm. Graham's home in Chelsea look pretty. He is a fine painter and decorator.

Rev. David Tatum, of Cleveland, O., will address the union temperance meeting on prohibition, at the baptist church to-morrow evening.

One can scarcely look towards the roller mills without seeing from one to half a dozen teams loading or unloading grain, wheat or flour.

The boys are having great times cutting and floating large cakes of ice on the pond. Yesterday they gave a dog a free ride on one of the cakes.

We learn that the suit in the circuit court between Jas. Kelley, administrator of the June estate, and M. McDougal, of Bridgewater, has been settled.

Geo. J. Haussler will have a new advertisement next week. The copy came too late for a change this week. In the mean time look over his new stock of wall paper.

Subject of sermon in the morning at 10:30, next Sunday at the universalist church, "The Unfinished." In the evening at seven o'clock, a discourse on "Getting Religion."

G. A. Fausel is selling the "Standard" sewing machine, which is claimed to be the only machine having a rotary shuttle. Next week he will have an advertisement calling special attention to it.

The season for selling farm implements, livestock, etc., is now at hand and our readers should bear in mind that we can print auction bills and posters on short notice and at very reasonable rates. We can also procure an auctioneer for you.

We learn that J. Trautwein & Co., furniture dealers, have sold out to Jenter & Rauchenberger. Mr. T. will leave here soon, having secured a position elsewhere. The stock will be closed out at the present location. See advertisement.

J. L. Moore will sell at public auction on the J. M. Moore farm, one-half mile west of Wampler's Lake, on the Brooklyn and Clinton road, Thursday, Mar. 24, 1887, at 12 o'clock, M., a quantity of personal property, consisting of stock, farming tools, h. v. corn, etc.

Yesterday morning Bert Chase and a companion were shooting with a revolver in J. M. Lazell's store. Bert on the west side of the ball hitting a flesh neck under the chin, making a flesh wound, which was dressed by Dr. Lyneh. It proved to be nothing serious and a very fortunate escape for the young man.

The ENTERPRISE publishes this week an illustrated description of the famous naval battle between the Monitor and Merrimack, as described by the pilot of the rebel iron cl. Next week we shall give an illustrated sketch of the engagement at "Pea Ridge," where the indians took a hand and which is called the most uncivilized battle of the civil war.

A number of young people attended the exhibition given at the close of Chas. Hollis' school in Bridgewater last Friday evening, and all express themselves as thoroughly pleased with the entertainment, which reflects great credit on the teacher and scholars. He has taught a very successful school and we learn that Monday he commences his spring term in same district.

The unions of the law are no respecter of persons as was demonstrated on Monday by the arrest of an industrious umbrella mender, who was doing his level best to make an old umbrella look as good as a new borrowed one, and being obliged to pursue his avocation in the open air subject to the frolicking March wind, and seated on the box over the reservoir, corner of Exchange Place and Clinton street, the foul air from which must have been intoxicating. He was a soldier, but the marshal took him in for safe keeping.

R. T. Van Valkenburg started on Friday afternoon for Birmingham, Ala., where he has some real estate interests to look after. Wm. F. Hall, of Sharon, one of the oldest subscribers favored the ENTERPRISE with a call yesterday and renewed his subscription.

Dr. Daniel Hall, of Saline, died on Saturday last and a post mortem examination revealed the fact that the passage from the stomach was completely closed from cancer in the stomach and he starved to death.

If Adrian is on that great oil belt why not Ann Arbor? But we forgot, we are not belted on to Ann Arbor in any way except politically. Why yes, Adrian belted you quite badly on the G. A. R. encampment bid.

John K. Robison, aged 16, son of Frank Robison, of Detroit, and grandson of Hon. J. J. Robison, has been appointed a cadet at the military academy and will receive $500 a year. He stood first in every branch of the examination.

W. E. Boyden, of Delhi Mills, writes us as follows: "I find on weighing our flock of registered Merino breeding ewes, 63 in number, that they tip the beam at 115 pounds. Average pretty good for 'those little greasy Merinos that don't weigh nothing'."

Dr. V. C. Vashlan, of the university, is experimenting with tyrotoxin and is meeting with interesting results. He found poison resembling it in the bulk oysters eaten at the Clarksville donation, which created quite a sensation in the newspapers over the state.

The university library has had 150 volumes of old and rare books bequeathed to it by the late W. W. Murphy, formerly united states consul at Frankfurt on the Main. They comprise books in greek, latin and english text, many being hundreds of years old and are very valuable.

The Register has recently made brief mention of the fact that a company was being organized in this city to bore for gas. The preliminary organization has this week been perfected and a board of trustees appointed, consisting of Mayor Robison and John S. Henderson, who are now engaged in obtaining permits from property holders, for prospecting purposes. Their articles of incorporation have not yet been filed, nor the officers elected, but undoubtedly will be in a few days. The different ones interested in the enterprise are very reticent on the subject, but enough has been learned to verify the above facts. We wish them success.—Register.

We received a pleasant call from Mr. O. E. Hawkins, of the Saline Observer. He had been over to Deerfield visiting old acquaintances and was on his way home. He reports business pretty good with him.

Mr. & Mrs. Homer Bancroft, of Norvell, were in town on Saturday. Homer favored the ENTERPRISE with a call. He says that they were on their way to Clinton to visit his sister over Sunday, and stopped off here en route.

B. F. Wheeler, of Adrian, came here on Saturday evening and on Monday he and C. H. Miller and J. F. Nestell went to Lansing to look at a steamboat with the view of purchasing it and placing it on Wolf Lake. The boat will seat about 75 persons comfortably. It has been used for carrying passengers on the Grand river at Lansing and appeared to be safe and reliable.

IRON CREEK.

The F. B. social meets Thursday evening at the residence of J. G. English. Prof. J. S. Copp and Rev. W. R. Moon will speak on the prohibitory amendment Saturday evening next, at the church.

C. M. Fellows, of Sharon, and Rev. D. R. Shier, of Manchester, spoke last Tuesday evening at the Iron Creek church, on the temperance question. David Haggart closed a very successful term of school in district No. 5 last Friday.

Ambrose Kirk and Fred Hall won the prize awarded those not absent for tardy from Dec. 6th to the end of the term. Ed. Rowe and Henry O'Neil have gone to Ann Arbor as jurors.

Brayton G. Dowd has put in a feed, grinder in connection with his picket and cider mill. Milo Rowe sold a calf 10 months old that weighed half a ton, to Orlando Torrey, and he was not a very poor calf either.

Frank Baker, of Mattoon, Ill., and Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Ling, of Nausooki, Ill., came here to attend their father's funeral. The singing school closed last Saturday. During the term the class have made good use of their time and can sing quite lustily.

James Sperry, of Wayne county, formerly a resident of this place, has been visiting his brother-in-law, O. A. Wait, for several days past. David G. Rose sold 90 lambs averaging 233 pounds per head for $5.80 per hundred.

This is probably because the ex-actor always plants at the proper time of the moon. Mrs. C. Bonner is quite sick at present. Mrs. Frank Riedel visited in Adrian last week.

J. Luckhart, of Lodi, was in town last week. Several of our farmers have the California fever. Jacob Knapp was in Ypsilanti Tuesday on business.

A. J. Hough, of Manchester, was in town over Sunday. Rev. Masales, of Manchester, spent last Friday night in town.

Mrs. Frank Riedel is absent for a few days visiting friends in Detroit. Mrs. Xaver Bauer and Mrs. Frank Riedel and her little daughter Blanche are visiting in Detroit this week.

The farm of the late Paul Reyer estate has been sold, realizing the sum of $9,000. The name of the purchaser we are not able to give.

F. E. Ortenburger had a very severe attack of rheumatism last week being obliged to use the aid of a cane. He is much better at present. The roads being so bad Dr. Taylor, of Manchester, makes part of his visits at this place by train, when it is convenient for him to do so.

We understand that many about this vicinity will dispose of their cream to the Manchester creamery instead of making butter this coming season. Ann Arbor sportsmen are taking steps to have fish chutes placed in the dams of the Huron river according to law. That's right, let the suckers and red horse go up stream. Those towns up there are hungering for fish.

Dr. Daniel Hall, of Saline, died on Saturday last and a post mortem examination revealed the fact that the passage from the stomach was completely closed from cancer in the stomach and he starved to death.

Henderson, who are now engaged in obtaining permits from property holders, for prospecting purposes. Their articles of incorporation have not yet been filed, nor the officers elected, but undoubtedly will be in a few days. The different ones interested in the enterprise are very reticent on the subject, but enough has been learned to verify the above facts. We wish them success.—Register.

We received a pleasant call from Mr. O. E. Hawkins, of the Saline Observer. He had been over to Deerfield visiting old acquaintances and was on his way home. He reports business pretty good with him.

Mr. & Mrs. Homer Bancroft, of Norvell, were in town on Saturday. Homer favored the ENTERPRISE with a call. He says that they were on their way to Clinton to visit his sister over Sunday, and stopped off here en route.

B. F. Wheeler, of Adrian, came here on Saturday evening and on Monday he and C. H. Miller and J. F. Nestell went to Lansing to look at a steamboat with the view of purchasing it and placing it on Wolf Lake. The boat will seat about 75 persons comfortably. It has been used for carrying passengers on the Grand river at Lansing and appeared to be safe and reliable.

BRIDGEWATER.

Mrs. C. Bonner is quite sick at present. Mrs. Frank Riedel visited in Adrian last week. J. Luckhart, of Lodi, was in town last week.

Several of our farmers have the California fever. Jacob Knapp was in Ypsilanti Tuesday on business. A. J. Hough, of Manchester, was in town over Sunday.

Rev. Masales, of Manchester, spent last Friday night in town. Mrs. Frank Riedel is absent for a few days visiting friends in Detroit.

Mrs. Xaver Bauer and Mrs. Frank Riedel and her little daughter Blanche are visiting in Detroit this week. The farm of the late Paul Reyer estate has been sold, realizing the sum of $9,000.

The name of the purchaser we are not able to give. F. E. Ortenburger had a very severe attack of rheumatism last week being obliged to use the aid of a cane. He is much better at present.

The roads being so bad Dr. Taylor, of Manchester, makes part of his visits at this place by train, when it is convenient for him to do so. We understand that many about this vicinity will dispose of their cream to the Manchester creamery instead of making butter this coming season.

Ann Arbor sportsmen are taking steps to have fish chutes placed in the dams of the Huron river according to law. That's right, let the suckers and red horse go up stream. Those towns up there are hungering for fish.

Dr. Daniel Hall, of Saline, died on Saturday last and a post mortem examination revealed the fact that the passage from the stomach was completely closed from cancer in the stomach and he starved to death.

If Adrian is on that great oil belt why not Ann Arbor? But we forgot, we are not belted on to Ann Arbor in any way except politically. Why yes, Adrian belted you quite badly on the G. A. R. encampment bid.

John K. Robison, aged 16, son of Frank Robison, of Detroit, and grandson of Hon. J. J. Robison, has been appointed a cadet at the military academy and will receive $500 a year. He stood first in every branch of the examination.

W. E. Boyden, of Delhi Mills, writes us as follows: "I find on weighing our flock of registered Merino breeding ewes, 63 in number, that they tip the beam at 115 pounds. Average pretty good for 'those little greasy Merinos that don't weigh nothing'."

Dr. V. C. Vashlan, of the university, is experimenting with tyrotoxin and is meeting with interesting results. He found poison resembling it in the bulk oysters eaten at the Clarksville donation, which created quite a sensation in the newspapers over the state.

The university library has had 150 volumes of old and rare books bequeathed to it by the late W. W. Murphy, formerly united states consul at Frankfurt on the Main. They comprise books in greek, latin and english text, many being hundreds of years old and are very valuable.

The Register has recently made brief mention of the fact that a company was being organized in this city to bore for gas. The preliminary organization has this week been perfected and a board of trustees appointed, consisting of Mayor Robison and John S. Henderson, who are now engaged in obtaining permits from property holders, for prospecting purposes. Their articles of incorporation have not yet been filed, nor the officers elected, but undoubtedly will be in a few days. The different ones interested in the enterprise are very reticent on the subject, but enough has been learned to verify the above facts. We wish them success.—Register.

SHARON.

Ed. Rowe and Henry O'Neil have gone to Ann Arbor as jurors. Brayton G. Dowd has put in a feed, grinder in connection with his picket and cider mill.

Milo Rowe sold a calf 10 months old that weighed half a ton, to Orlando Torrey, and he was not a very poor calf either. Frank Baker, of Mattoon, Ill., and Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Ling, of Nausooki, Ill., came here to attend their father's funeral.

The singing school closed last Saturday. During the term the class have made good use of their time and can sing quite lustily. James Sperry, of Wayne county, formerly a resident of this place, has been visiting his brother-in-law, O. A. Wait, for several days past.

David G. Rose sold 90 lambs averaging 233 pounds per head for $5.80 per hundred. This is probably because the ex-actor always plants at the proper time of the moon. Mrs. C. Bonner is quite sick at present.
