The Invasion of Kentucky Twenty-five Years Ago.

RACING FOR LOUISVILLE. The Battles at Richmond and Perryville, Ky.

A Race for Chattanooga—Kills of the Confederate Gen. Morgan and Kirby Smith in Kentucky—Continuation at Cincinnati—In Defense by Gen. Lew. Wallace—Death of Gen. William Nelson—Defeat of Col. Wilder at Munfordsville—Race and Chase.

"The attempt to destroy the Union of these states we believe to be a crime, not only against Kentucky but against mankind."

In the southern part of the state, however, there was strong secession sentiment, and early in September, 1861, Bishop Leonidas Polk had occupied Columbus, Ky., with a considerable Confederate force.

Finally it was resolved by the Confederates to make a bold dash for the fertile and famous Blue Grass region of Kentucky.

Shortly after he retreated from Corinth in May, Gen. Beauregard, who was in poor health, gave up the command of the Confederate department of the Mississippi.

Gen. Morgan was ordered by the Confederate command to take possession of the Blue Grass region of Kentucky.

Morgan's raid was a bold dash for the fertile and famous Blue Grass region of Kentucky.

Such was the dream of Maj. Gen. Braxton Bragg, C. S. A., in June, 1862.

For the grand expedition started there had been various Confederate successes and failures in the West.

Morgan crossed the Cumberland mountains and galloped northward into the heart of Kentucky.

On July 16 he destroyed railroads, telegraphs and bridges, and on July 17 he captured the town of Centiana, near the Ohio river.

Morgan was a well-to-do citizen of Kentucky who had been in the military service during the war of 1812.

THE INVASION OF KENTUCKY.

Kirby Smith had led orders into Kentucky. He left Knoxville, passed rapidly through a gap in the Cumberland mountains and sped northward.

Kirby Smith was a planter, born in 1825, and a West Point graduate of 1847.

MUNFORDSVILLE.

Probably as singular an incident as ever took place in the annals of war happened there on Sept. 14, Bragg assaulted, and was repulsed.

Clark Bros' horse was taken sick on Saturday and died. Freeman & Refuss shipped a car load of hogs on Saturday last.

Cranberry sauce will be a luxury this season, because the crop of berries is short. Work is suspended on the council building this week—waiting for the cut stone trimmings.

Waters & Merriman will start their apple evaporator to-morrow. They want all the apples they can buy. The steam car "Mildred" passed through here on the Ypsilanti branch last Friday. It always attracts attention.

Miss Cora Van Gieson, of Clinton, came here last Friday to attend the party given by Miss Mattie Sanford. Mr. & Mrs. W. H. Pottle gave a party last Friday afternoon in honor of their daughter Grace's 12th birthday.

The street commissioner was out on Saturday with the road machine, grading on Railroad street and Maiden Lane. It is said that a half teaspoonful or more of common salt, taken as soon as the symptoms of sick headache begin to show, will frequently cut it short.

Harmon Clark went to Tecumseh on Tuesday to put an evaporator in the rink building for Henry Mensing. Last week he went to Bellevue to put one in. School days will soon be here again and the demand for school books and supplies will soon arise. Fred Steinkohl has something to say in regard to school supplies this week.

The uniforms for the Manchester band have arrived from Philadelphia, but the trousers didn't fit and were sent back. If the boys don't get swelled head so their hats won't fit, it's all right.—Free Press. Oh, they won't.

The annual school meeting occurs on Monday evening, September 5th. Wm. Neehling and C. W. Case are the retiring trustees. Every person in the district who have children to send to school should attend the meeting. So much has been said about the dry season that one would suppose that in ages to come, when people gaze upon mother earth from the moon or other planets, that they will see "1887" burned or branded on her surface.

For the benefit of the ladies who are canning fruit we would say, never can green or unripe fruit, but wait until it is fit to eat, then look it over and can what is fit. Repeat the operation every day or two until you have what you need. Miss Mattie Sanford gave a party last Friday evening in honor of the friends who were visiting her. The house was filled to nearly overflowing, there being about 51 present. Cards, music, etc. were the principal amusements of the evening and a bountiful supply of refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed, assuring their hosts that they had been delightfully entertained.

GOOD NIGHT SONG.

The birds fly home from east and west, The weary winds now blowing, All day they range over country wide, As if to bid good night.

When a Chinaman meets another, he shakes and sneezes his own hands; covers his head. If great friends had not seen each other for a long time, after the mutual handshaking they would rub shoulders until they became tired.
