ALLEN GRAY:

The Mystery of Today's Print.

Being a Few Narrative-Chapters
From the Life of a Country

PORTER.

In the presence of a large audience, Mr. Porter made a brilliant speech on the subject of the Government of the United States. He pointed out some of the difficulties which arise from the Federal system and some of the advantages which result from the same. He also referred to the situation of the country in general and the particular state of Michigan in particular. He concluded by saying that the people of this country must work together for the common wealth and that the government must be strong enough to meet any emergency that may arise.

CHANCELLOR.

The Chancellor addressed the audience on the subject of the Constitution of the United States. He pointed out the importance of a well-organized government and the need for the people to participate in the political process. He also discussed the role of the judiciary in the government and the need for judges to be impartial and fair in their decisions. He concluded by saying that the Constitution was a fundamental document that should be respected and honored by all citizens.

LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG.

From the popular English magazine, J. R. Neale, the author of such well-known poems as "Gaelic Ode," "The Sailing Song," "The Star of the Sea," etc., a new song entitled "Love's Old Sweet Song." It is full of melody and promise, and the love theme which opens a new and original style of love song. It will doubtless win over the concert and opera-goers. It is composed by G. C. DOMINGO.

Music by J. H. HOLLOX.
