SANTA FE, OLD AND NEW.

IT IS THE OLDEST TOWN IN THE NATION.

During a recent trip through Texas the writer had occasion to pass by the city of Santa Fe, the capital of New Mexico, which is the oldest town in the nation. It was founded in 1609, long before the other cities of the United States were established.

The streets are narrow and crooked, and the houses are old and weather-worn. The people are mostly Indians and Mexicans.

LORSTON TRAPPING.

Lorston trapping is the practice of catching birds and trapping them with a noose or trap. It is a common method of obtaining birds for food and for sale.

THERIUM TOWN MEETINGS.

A CHARACTERISTIC NEW EVENT.

In New England the body of voters met in the town meeting at the call of the inhabitants and decided on several important questions.

The meeting was well attended and the questions were decided in favor of the people.

A PRAIRIE GRAVE.

The grave of a pioneer settler who died in the wilderness.

The grave was marked by a simple cross and a bunch of wild flowers.

There was no funeral service, but the people gathered around the grave and paid their respects to the dead.

A young girl, who was a neighbor of the settler, placed a bouquet of wild flowers on the grave and said a prayer for the soul of the dead man.

The meeting was adjourned, and the people dispersed to their homes, leaving the grave in peace.

Surely you must allow. All houses should have the value of the house.

It is not only a house, but it is also the family, the family, the family.

There is a slight chance that it may be a minor error of the tax assessor.

I am not only the tax assessor, but I am also the house owner.

You are the tax assessor, but you are not the house owner.

The house is not owned by the tax assessor, but it is owned by the house owner.

There are two things that are necessary.

One is the tax assessor, and the other is the house owner.

The tax assessor is necessary for the valuation of the house, while the house owner is necessary for the ownership of the house.

These two things are necessary for the proper functioning of the tax system.

They are necessary for the valuation and ownership of the property within the city.

The tax assessor is responsible for the valuation of the property, while the house owner is responsible for the ownership.

The tax assessor sets the value of the property, while the house owner holds the title to the property.

These two roles are crucial in the functioning of the tax system and the ownership of property.

The tax assessor and the house owner work together to ensure the proper valuation and ownership of property within the city.

The tax assessor is responsible for determining the value of the property, while the house owner is responsible for holding the title to the property.

Together, they ensure that the property is valued correctly and that the ownership is properly transferred.

They are necessary for the smooth operation of the tax system and the management of property.

This delicate balance is crucial in maintaining a fair and efficient tax system and ensuring that property is properly valued and owned.

The tax assessor and the house owner play vital roles in the functioning of the tax system and the ownership of property.

Dr. Talma's Talk at an Afternoon Service in the Tabernacle Church, July 11.

He wished his friends had made an effort to help him in his last sermon. He had no idea of going out of the way, but he had an idea of going back beyond the city. He had been in the city, but he had not heard of going back. He had been in the city, but he had not heard of going back.

He was now in the city, but he had not heard of going back. He had been in the city, but he had not heard of going back. He had been in the city, but he had not heard of going back.
