VISITING NORVELL.

Where People Raise Cucumbers and Celery - Fly Kites and Live a Contented Life.

The citizens of our neighboring village are pretty busy now taking care of their cucumbers, celery, etc., but they found time on Saturday afternoon to indulge in a childish pastime at kite flying.

By invitation of our friend, Dr. Hyndman, we had the satisfaction of visiting his celery grounds just northeast of the village. A few years ago an unsightly piece of marsh surrounded by rolling land, with an outlet or ditch at the south end, occupied about one-eighth of a 40-acre piece next to the highway.

This is recognized as a valuable feature in a celery farm. All who have investigated the matter know that with proper drainage and the application of a little fertilizer the marshes of southern Michigan will produce almost any vegetable in marvelous quantities.

The genial doctor did much by way of experiment, for although he found plenty of friends who had had abundance of experience in raising celery - Dr. Stewart, of Tecumseh, for instance, yet he would not be satisfied to follow close in their footsteps, but preferred to demonstrate certain theories of his own, though attended by a considerable outlay.

He has erected a stone building 113x33 feet to be used as a storage and packing house. It is fitted up according to the latest plans for ventilation, drainage, etc., and is supplied with water for washing. It is sheltered by a circle of hills from the storms of winter, yet is accessible to the celery grounds and the highway.

He now has about three acres under cultivation and as much more that can be easily prepared should he desire it. From there we went to the river bottoms east of the village, where Henry Beckwith has several acres of land under cultivation, a part of it now being in celery, corn, buckwheat, etc.

There is some 200 acres in the vicinity planted to cucumbers and the farmers are getting 43 cents a bushel for all they can raise of suitable size for pickling.

The soil is especially adapted to the successful raising of these crops, cucumbers on the sand and celery on the marsh land, and they form profitable crops easily marketed and bringing in ready money.

There are hundreds of acres of marsh land in this section which could easily be made profitable in producing celery, onions, etc., and there is no danger of glutting the market with celery because there is a growing demand for it, and the Norvell people are wise in engaging in its cultivation.

Lenawee County

Some Tecumseh people are laughing, but it's no laughing matter. Dora Heck and T. D. Jermain were to be married last Thursday, and the guests were all on hand, when Jermain put in an appearance and said that as he is but 17 years old he couldn't get a license.

Sylvester Nae, of Clinton, who has been running the Sand Lake house this summer, had rented the old hotel at Palmyra and intended to refit it and run a hotel with a bar attached, but the prohibitionists of that section opposed it bitterly.

The Lenawee county fair will be held at Adrian Sept. 21 to 25 and the railroad will carry passengers at half rates.

FREEDOM.

School meeting next Monday evening.

Miss Tillie Detting visited friends in Brooklyn and Cambridge over Sunday.

Mrs. Peter Neiss has been quite sick the past week but is reported better today.

Miss Sarah Koebbe, who was visiting friends in Detroit the past week, returned home Monday.

Miss Nellie Cavagagh, of Sharon, will begin the fall term of school in the Pleasant lake district Monday.

NORVELL.

John M. Carr, who now lives in Ludington, has sold his 40-acre farm, three miles northeast of town, to Frank Knickerbocker, of Grass Lake.

Last week Wednesday George Swezey was delivering several hives of bees to customers in the village when he let fall one hive and the bees pitched into himself and horse stinging them in a frightful manner.

George has rented his farm and will move to Topeka, Kansas.

WAMPLER'S LAKE.

Mrs. James Dresser is wrestling with a carbuncle on her neck.

Wm. Henion and family of Manchester visited at E. D. Main's last Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Dorr of Clinton visited her sister, Mrs. James Dresser last Sunday.

Some of the campers must have got out provisions, for one of them was found in a farmer's potato patch last Friday morning.

There was quite a large turnout at James Moore's last Friday. The running race was won, 1st prize by Percy Murney, 2nd by Pierce, both of Brooklyn. In one of the heats of the horse race two ladies had narrow escapes from being hurt by the horses.

BRIDGEWATER.

Wm. Hanke has started up his cider mill and expects to do a fairly good business this fall.

A little nephew of Mrs. Ernst who resides near Manchester was kicked in the back of the head by a horse on Sunday and his life was despaired of but he is now better and will probably recover.

We neglected in our report of the farmers' picnic to give the list of officers for the coming year which is as follows: Pres., Wm. Gadd; Sec., Mrs. Chas. Johnson; Treas., LaMar Brown; committee, Thos. Van Gieson, John Rentschler, Geo. Holtrom, Wm. C. Rogers, Christian Saley, Merrit Martin, Columbus Aulls, Buel Johnson, John Logan and their wives.

IRON CREEK.

Michael Kirk returned a few days since from a visit to Chicago.

Miss Mand E. Lapham goes to Ypsilanti next week to attend the state normal.

Mr. Gady, of Virginia, has been visiting relatives in this vicinity the past week.

Mr. & Mrs. G. P. McMahon have been making the folks at the old homestead a visit.

Albert W. Dorr will enter Hillsdale college as a student at the beginning of the fall term.

School meeting next Monday evening. Directors to be elected in nearly all the districts.

James W. Tolley, of Laurel Hill, Ill., preached at the church of this place last Sunday.

Mrs. J. R. Holmes returned Saturday from a long visit with friends in western New York.

School began in district No. 8 last Monday under the supervision of Miss Jennie Saley, of Bridgewater.

A Japanese student of Hillsdale college, Wa Nef Lee by name, will lecture at the F. B. church next Sunday evening. Let all turn out to hear him.

George M. Sutton was the grower of 1,088 bushels of wheat on 35 acres, and Albert D. English 1,032 bushels on 33 acres. Both jobs were threshed by Thomas Conlin last week, each in less than a day.

Washtenaw County.

The Chelsea Herald has completed its 20th volume and is in a healthy condition.

Mr. Paul G. Suekey, editor and proprietor of the Hausfreund, sailed for Italy last week on the steamship Westphalia. He expects to return about the 10th of October.

The barns of Andrew Campbell, of Pitsfield, were burned on Thursday night. Some horses, hay, grain, etc., were also destroyed. Loss, $4,000; insured in the Washtenaw mutual for $2,500.

Dr. John A. Watling and wife of Ypsilanti, were driving through the bad lands, near Jamestown, Dak., recently when their horse ran away. Mrs. Watling was but slightly injured, while the doctor had his leg broken.

There has been a gentleman in the city who has had a large experience in the fruit tree business and has examined some of our peach orchards. He says if our orchards have the yellows, the disease is being developed in a different way from the disease in Virginia and Maryland. There the yellows are first discovered by the peach leaves turning to a lemon color.

The old Rose mansion at Clinton will be remodeled into a hotel. A good hotel is much needed in that burg.

Jackson County Items.

There are 721 convicts in the Jackson prison.

An interesting Saturday evening street scene at Brooklyn, was a drunken man horsewhipping his 12-year-old son because the boy wanted him to go home, and when he refused to do so the boy started out on foot.

The papers in the assumpsit case of John M. Horning vs. Betsy Crouse, Emma P. Tremaine and Lute Marling, appealed from Justice George B. Cobb's court in Norvell, were filed in the circuit court today.

Dr. Williams, city health officer, says that a more effective purifying solution than the one mentioned in the Times Friday last, can be made by dissolving one and one-half pounds of sulphate of iron in a gallon of water.
