Editorial.

Manchester, Michigan, Thursday, September 3, 1891.

Dear Sir: The following is a letter which has been received from a correspondent in the East: "The town is in a state of excitement over the recent discovery of gold in the mountains of the west. The miners are making rapid progress and the population is increasing by hundreds daily. The mines are producing large quantities of gold, and the prospect of a new gold rush is looking very promising." Attached is a clipping from the local newspaper. Yours truly, [Signature].
