EMBLEM OF TRIUMPH

OR TATUMS ON THE MARCH TO JERUSALEM

The Triumphal Entry of Jesus and His followers to Jerusalem is marked in this emblem by the white dove in the centre symbolizing the Holy Spirit. It is the center of the emblem and the main idea of the same. The white dove is surrounded by a wreath of laurel and the branches of the olive. The awn colors are purple, green, yellow and red.

At the top of the emblem there are two children, one of whom is carrying a basket of flowers and the other a purse.

The words "Triumphal Entry and the Three Worlds to Jerusalem" are inscribed around the emblem. The emblem is divided into four parts, each representing one of the four continents.

The emblem is of great importance as it symbolizes the Triumphant Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem and the spread of Christianity to all the continents of the world.
