SIX PAGES.

Norvell Farmers' Club.

A very pleasant session of the club was held at C. J. Harper's on the afternoon of May 30.

After the reading of the minutes, a communication from Senator Stockbridge was read, then the resignation of our treasurer, P. P. Cole, was received and C. J. Harper elected in his stead.

Resolutions commemorative of the recent deaths in the families of members of the club were adopted, then the report of the committee on temperance was heard and after discussion the club adopted the following:

WHEREAS, The members of the Norvell farmers' club at its January meeting gave expression to their individual opinions on the subject of temperance, criticising the business of saloon keeping in general and the management of the only saloon that has cursed this town during the past 20 years, doing business only under a beer license, and

WHEREAS, Those criticisms have been replied to through the Manchester Enterprise by one J. E. Fischer in the interest of said saloon, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Norvell farmer's club is strongly opposed to the sale of liquor as a beverage in all its forms, and views with alarm the increasing sale of beer which stimulates an appetite for something stronger, and whose seductive influence has led the drinker on from glass to glass until some have become so intoxicated by its use as to be shunned by good citizens and contemned by their families.

RESOLVED, That the insinuation contained in said communication implying that any member of this club would engage in so degrading and disreputable a business for the "mighty dollar," is hurled back with contempt as only worthy one who will stand behind the bar where he says "our boys call for drinks."

RESOLVED, That the liquor patronage, which the writer says consists in part of minors should be warned that they are aiding and abetting said saloon, in its disregard for all law, both moral and legal, and asked to abstain from further aiding a business which is in no sense a factor of productive industry, but a burlesque on the body politic, feeding on the honest industry for support.

RESOLVED, That the admonition contained in the reply to "take care of our boys" and see that they do not frequent the saloon, should be heeded by every good citizen of Norvell, who should also be watchful for any good evidence that may convict the saloonist of overstepping the bounds of law, and give prompt notice of any infraction of the same to the proper authorities.

RESOLVED, That we deplore the recent action of the township board in not requiring the maximum amount of bonds allowed by law, deemed to be $6,000 a small margin for damages that might be sustained by the sale of intoxicants.

RESOLVED, That we call upon the township board to do their full duty in seeing that the laws restraining the privileges of saloons are rigidly enforced.

Elmer Holmes gave a recitation, Mrs. Mount read a selection and President Halladay followed with the substance of a recent bulletin from the state experiment station.

R. D. Palmer read a paper on stock breeding. He has learned that many things the papers say must be taken with some allowance. All writers agree that only thoroughbred males should be used. They usually have such for sale and are interested in keeping up the prices. Not all pedigree animals are as valuable as claimed. We have no better cattle than the best were 40 years ago but we have more good feeders. A fat animal looks well to most eyes but it takes a good judge to see merit in one in poor condition. Does not favor line-breeding, as better results are obtained from cross breeding. Line breeding may be thought to have achieved a success in the merino but it has resulted in a large measure of sterility. All cattle in this country are descended from imported stock. Depreciates paying foreign breeders to make improvements we ought to make ourselves. Letting calves run with their dams and thereby restoring in a degree the conditions of a wild state has robbed our short horn cattle of their once noted milking qualities.

The discussion was rather slow at first but became animated as the subjects of registration and dehorning came up and opposing views were presented. Most seemed to think a high grade was the best animal for the general farmer and the higher the better. The farmer should have an idea of what he wants and should select with that in view.

R. D. Palmer believes it better to breed the horns off than to saw them off, it is so easily done. In another year he will not have any horned cattle on his place.

J. Green thinks he can grow a better calf by keeping it in the barn all summer. The next meeting of the club will be with C. P. Bancroft on Saturday, May 28, at 1 p. m. Mrs. R. D. Palmer will read a selection and W. R. Mount will furnish press clippings. Topic for discussion, "Retired farmers; shall we imitate them?" by L. D. Watkins.
