DIED TO SAVE OTHERS.

Six Holland Sailors Drowned While Trying to Rescue the Crew of an American Ship.

The steamship Amsterdam (Dutch) from Rotterdam, arrived at New York City with a continuation of heavy gales from all round the compass, with tremendous high seas and a very low barometer.

On January 14, in a strong northwesterly breeze and moderate high sea, she sighted a schooner south of the schooner, and saw that the sea was washing constantly over her.

Only by hard pumping was she kept afloat. She had a crew of about 14 men.

The crew signalled the Amsterdam that the vessel was in a sinking condition. The captain called his crew on deck and told them the position in which the schooner was.

Immediately the first officer and six of the Amsterdam crew offered themselves to man a boat and go to their rescue. Every thing went all right until within the vicinity of the wreck, when a sudden snow shower with squalls capsized the boat, with the result that three of the crew disappeared immediately, and the remaining four succeeded in taking hold of the capsized boat.

The captain of the Amsterdam went at once to their assistance and succeeded in getting alongside, but the four men were thoroughly exhausted by the cold and one sailor. Another crew presented themselves to man a second boat, but owing to the increasing wind and sea the captain objected and concluded to wait for help.

The Amsterdam kept in the vicinity of the wreck until, in a heavy snow squall, she lost sight of her, and she undoubtedly went down.

Search was subsequently made, but the Amsterdam was not able to locate the wreck and proceeded on her voyage.

TROUBLE IN SERBIA.

The Boy King and His Cabinet Can't Agree - Milan Takes a Hand.

Dispatches from Vienna: The Serbian cabinet resigned because of the presence of ex-king Milan at Belgrade.

They did not care to commence an open conflict with the crown by Milan's arrest and expulsion.

King Milan arrived at Belgrade in answer to a summons from King Alexander, the Serbian monarch, to attend a session with a large number of generals and other officers.

Premier Grutch immediately tendered his resignation to Alexander, giving as a reason for his action Milan's arrival.

King Alexander's presence in the city did not imply the adoption of an unconstitutional or unparliamentary course.

The real cause of Milan's arrival at Belgrade was the difference between King Alexander and his radical ministers. The King appealed to his father who advised him not to break with the radicals unless he wanted to suspend the constitution and institute a military regime, which Milan strongly deprecated.

King Alexander, however, would not abdicate and leave Serbia.

A part of the radicals, it is said, are led by the fanatical priest, Grutch, and ex-premier Pasich, a partisan of Russia, has openly declared in favor of the king's return.

NEWS FROM BRAZIL.

PEIXOTO SAID TO BE READY TO FORCE A NAVAL FIGHT.

Has His Warships in Shape to Make It Interesting for De Gama and De Melo - Report that De Gama has Asked U. S. Admiral Benham to Sue for Peace.

Cables from Rio de Janeiro: President Peixoto has at last given orders to his new warships purchased in Great Britain and the United States to sail southwards.

The long expected naval contest which, in all probability, will decide the struggle for supremacy between the loyalists and the insurgents. The Nietheroy, America, and Parahyba are reported to be fully manned and in better condition for fighting than it was supposed their officers would be able to get them.

The dynamite gun aboard the Nietheroy has been subjected to a number of further tests and is now said to be working to the satisfaction of the officers.

There have been rumors that the United States was to be asked to arbitrate the matters in dispute between the government of President Peixoto and the commanders of the insurgent forces.

But these reports are government. The insurgents are reported to have good authority that Admiral de Gama, the rebel admiral in command of the insurgent fleet, has made a request to Admiral Benham, the American admiral, asking the latter to be kind enough to begin the long expected naval contest.

The government of President Peixoto, with a view of bringing about some understanding. Nobody seems to doubt that the American admiral will soon be able to patch up a peace between the insurgent and government forces, for both sides admit that they are heartily tired of the distressing bombardments and attacks and counter-attacks which have been going on for so long with little or no advantage to either side.

The Insurgents Victorious. Cables from Montevideo: Since the arrival here of the Aquidaua, the insurgents have been gaining ground steadily. They appear to be more confident than before and public opinion ashore is becoming more favorable to the insurgents.

The Aquidaua, a Brazilian steamship, attacked Montevideo Island; the Aquidaua advanced and covered the landing of 400 men. They landed just at daybreak and immediately charged the government battery capturing its Krupp field pieces, one heavy 8-inch gun and a large number of machine guns. The insurgents then turned the battery against the government troops stationed at Morro d'Armacao and Punta da Areia.

A sharp hand to hand fight took place on the island and was maintained for half an hour when the government troops surrendered.

The loss to the government on Noncagua Island was: The commanding officer and 10 men killed, and three officers and 115 men taken prisoners.

The government troops on the island were ordered to retreat and must have been killed and seven wounded.

Advices from Desterro say that the insurgents have occupied the town of Paranaagu. After two hours sharp fighting the government troops fled to the greater part agreeing to join the revolution. The insurgents captured a large supply of rifles and ammunition, six Krupp field pieces and 20 rounds.

WOMAN STRANGLER TO DEATH.

Robbers Cruelly Choke and Bind a Grand Rapids Woman.

Mrs. Miles McKendrick, aged 65 years, wife of a laborer employed in the G. R. & I. shops in South Grand Rapids, was found dead in her house in her residence and her person robbed of money and $700, which she carried in the bosom of her dress.

John Quarte, called at the house to deliver some groceries, and as this custom entered the side door, not seeing any one, he stepped into the room and discovered the form of Mrs. McKendrick stretched on the floor. He gave the alarm and officers soon arrived. It was found she had been bound hand and foot, and a large quantity of money and a banner cloth was wound tightly around her mouth and chin and around that was wound a piece of strong packing twine, which was drawn so tight that it was nearly buried in her cheeks.

Her lower limbs had been tied together at the ankles so tightly that the throngs cut cruelly into her flesh and her hands were tied at the wrists in front of her by so strong a hand that the throngs were drawn to their utmost tension. The doctor woman's dress had been stripped open in front from the neck to the waist, and her false teeth were lying beside her on the floor. Her features were horribly distorted.

The woman's body was discovered by a bell boy who had called to the dealer of Chicago, confirmed suicide at the Harmon house, Port Huron, by taking chloroform and prussic acid. He had been there four days, and was a quiet, handsomely dressed gentleman of about 35. His body was discovered by a bell boy who had called to the dealer of Chicago, confirmed suicide at the Harmon house, Port Huron, by taking chloroform and prussic acid.

Everything in the room was in perfect order, the satchel carefully packed, and Odell evidently changed his clothes before killing himself. Near by, on the mantel, was a bottle of chloroform and one of prussic acid, a telegram and note were found on the mantel table. The telegram read: 'W. H. Thomas, Oshawa, Ont., Canada. Mr. Odell died here suddenly last night. Come at once.' Answer: 'Mr. Odell, this message was a note to your father, which read: 'Please send my first thing in the morning, and you will be well repaid for your trouble.' The cause of suicide is supposed to have been ill health.
