CHINESE DEFEATED.

CHINESE IN KOREA LOSE OVER 16,000 MEN.

The Japanese Practically Annihilated an Army of 20,000 Men and Lost Only 30 Men With 270 Wounded—Japs Now Control Korea.

London: Dispatches from Seoul, the capital of Korea, tell of the total defeat of the Chinese army, entrenched at Ping Yang, by the Japanese. For two days the Japanese had been making a careful reconnaissance in force to ascertain the position of the Chinese army. On the third day the Gen. Sans column faced the Chinese left flank, the Pong San column the center and the Hwang Yu column the right. The Chinese defenses had been greatly strengthened. The battle opened at daybreak.

The Pong San column did the hardest of the fighting for the Japanese while the Hwang Yu column gained some positions, but at night the situation was practically unchanged. Firing was continued all the night and meantime the Japanese light and left closed in upon the Chinese position, and at 3 a. m. the Japanese attack was delivered simultaneously. The Chinese lines, which were strong in front, were found to be weak in the rear and the Chinese were taken completely by surprise. They became panic-stricken and were cut down and bayoneted by the hundreds. So well was the Japanese attack directed that the Chinese were surrounded at every point and eventually sought safety in flight. The Pong San column commenced the early morning attack and the Hwang Yu column, the main body of the Chinese front, completed the rout of the Chinese.

Some idea of the manner in which the Japanese attack was delivered may be judged from the fact that one-half an hour after the early morning attack commenced the strongly defended position of Ping Yang was in the hands of the Japanese troops. It is believed that the Chinese position was defended by 20,000 Chinese, of whom only a few succeeded in escaping.

The Japanese victory was brilliant and complete. An immense amount of provisions, arms, ammunition and other stores, in addition to hundreds of flags were captured and 16,000 of the Chinese soldiers killed, wounded or taken prisoners. Among the latter were Gen. Wang Ping Yang, the commander-in-chief of the Manchurian army, and several other prominent Chinese officers. The Japanese loss was trifling, only 30 being killed and 270 wounded; eleven officers being among the number.

So far as the active operations of the Chinese in Korea are concerned, the war is practically at an end for a long time to come and the mainland of Korea may be said to be completely in the hands of the Japanese.

Later advices say that 5,000 Chinese soldiers were killed at Ping Yang and nearly 12,000 captured. The latter will be taken to Japan in parties of 1,000.

A naval engagement has taken place off Yalu, where a Chinese squadron was covering the landing of a large force of troops. The Chinese and their assistants. In the fighting that followed two Chinese and two Japanese vessels were sunk. Admiral Ting and Major Hannidai, China's best naval officers, are reported having been killed during the attack. No estimates are given of losses by either side.

A dispatch from Shanghai says that an imperial edict has been issued depriving Yodoy Li Hung Chang of two of his decorations because of his mismanagement of the Korean campaign. Taotai shang, it is reported, is in the hands of the Japanese.

Another correspondent says the Japanese are rapidly advancing upon Mukden.

Washington: The new treaties which Japan is negotiating with the great powers, including the United States, are regarded in diplomatic circles as an event in international affairs quite as important as the Chinese-Japanese war, as the treaties will for the first time give official recognition to Japan as a member of the family of civilized nations.

The terms of the treaty with Great Britain have just been made public. A similar treaty is now being negotiated with this country, and it is expected to be the second of new treaties to be signed. Then will come the treaty with Germany and other powers.

London: A dispatch from Shanghai says that a fleet of 21 Japanese transport vessels carrying 30,000 troops, sailed from a Japanese port. It is reported that it is the intention of the Japanese commander to land his forces at some point on the Chinese coast. The Chinese fleet, under the command of Admiral Ting, has sailed south for the purpose of intercepting the Japanese.

The correspondent of the Times at Yokohama says: Large reinforcements of Japanese troops have gone to Korea. Wagers are being made in Tokio that the Japanese army will occupy Peking, the capital of China, or Mukden, the capital of the province of Leo Tong, Manchuria, on November 3.

Ten persons were killed and 20 injured by the wreck of the Paris and Cologne express train. The accident happened near Brussels, Belgium, and was caused by a collision of the express train with a freight train.

THE VETS AT PITTSBURG.

The Annual Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The increasing ranks of the G. A. R.—the veterans who saved the nation—gathered once more in annual encampment as is the custom, this time at Pittsburg.

As is usually the case the parade of veterans was the big event of the encampment. Over 40,000 of the nation's heroes marched through the streets of Pittsburg and Allegheny in time with music such as carried them away on the lofty flights of patriotism in their younger days. Between 500,000 and 600,000 people witnessed the spectacle and cheered the veterans.

The business sessions of the encampment were full of interest. Commander-in-Chief Adams in his farewell address gave the following figures to show the condition of the G. A. R. These figures were in good standing during the year, by muster-in, 14,036; by transfer, 6,354; by reinstatement, 14,036; by re-instatement from delinquency reports, 3,414; total gain, 37,860; aggregate, 735,884. There were 1,723 discharges, 1,723; by honorable discharge, 1,723; by transfer, 7,132; by suspension, 34,805; by dishonorable discharge, 154; by delinquency reports, 16,671; total loss, 67,900. Number remaining in good standing June 30, 1894, 699,083.

These figures show that the Grand Army of the Republic has reached the beginning of the end, and each succeeding year will show a gradual decrease in our membership.

Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal, presided over the annual convention of the encampment in 1895 and that place was the unanimous choice of the delegates.

Of course the real interest of the business session centered in the selection of a new commander-in-chief. Judge Long, of Michigan, having withdrawn from the race there were only two candidates—Col. Thomas G. Lawler, Rockford, Ill., and Col. J. N. Walker, Indianapolis, Ind. The closeness of the result was a surprise to both victor and defeated. It took 46 minutes to cast and count the ballots of the 649 delegates. Then Commander Adams announced that the vote stood: Lawler, 330; Walker, 319. The Illinois man winning by the narrow margin of eleven votes. Col. Walker, however, and the vote was made unanimous. The other officers were chosen as follows: Senior vice-commander, Maj. A. H. Burchfield, of Pittsburg; junior vice-commander, Chas. Shute, of Louisiana; surgeon-general, O. W. Weeks, Marion, Mo.; adjutant-in-chief, T. H. Hargrave, St. Louis. The new commander-in-chief, appointed Comrade C. C. Jones, of Rockford, Ill., adjutant-general, and Comrade J. N. Burst, of Syracuse, Ill., quartermaster-general, and established headquarters at Rockford, Ill.

Col. Walker was elected on April 7, 1894. When a child he was taken to Illinois and educated in the public schools of Rockford. He was elected to the Illinois legislature in Company E, Nineteenth Illinois Volunteer Infantry. He commanded his company for two months in the Mexican campaign and was elected captain by his company and placed upon the roll of honor by Maj. Gen. Rosecrans at the battle of Pea Ridge. He was elected colonel and adjutant-general of the 10th U. S. Cavalry seven years, when he resigned. He was postmaster at Rockford, Rock, Massachusetts, and was elected in the lumber and coal business. Col. Lawler has been commander of G. L. Nevins Post of Rockford, Ill., for several years and has also served as a member of the department council of administration, and junior and senior vice-department commander.

Mrs. Sarah C. Mink, national president of the W. R. C., in her report said that the movement to obtain pensions for the military officers had been pushed. The other official reports showed that there are 2,676 corps and that $170,544.20 was expended during the year in relief work.

The Women's Relief Corps elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Emma E. Wallace, Chicago; senior vice-president, Mrs. Helen B. Morrison, Smithport, Pa.; junior vice-president, Mrs. Lizzie E. Herrick, Seattle, Wash.; treasurer, Mrs. Armilla A. Cheney, Detroit; chaplain, Mrs. S. Agnes Parker, Massachusetts.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. chose officers as follows: President, Mrs. Nettie E. Gunlock, Chicago; senior vice-president, Mrs. Etta Toby, Indiana; junior vice-president, Mrs. Anna M. Hall, West Virginia; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. George, Washington, D. C.; chaplain, Mrs. Mary Reynolds, Wisconsin.

The Daughters of Veterans officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ellen M. Walker, Worcester, Mass.; senior vice-president, Miss Anna Schmidt, St. Louis; junior vice-president, Miss George Foster, Kansas; chaplain, Miss Lena Stevens, Massillon, O.; treasurer, Mrs. Ida J. Allen, Newtonville, Mass.; inspector, Miss Addie York, Somerville, Mass.

The Camp's Days Are Numbered.

London: Confirmed announcement that the czar is suffering with a complication of diseases which must prove fatal at a day not far off, according to medical opinion, is necessarily the pessimist's political opportunity.

Alexander III. has not completed his 50th year. He has been 11 years on the throne. His heir, Nicholas, is 26 and unmarried. He is betrothed to Princess Altx of Hesse, but the match is known to be distasteful to him and not over agreeable to her, involving, it does, abandonment of her Protestant faith for that of the Greek church. The marriage is set for next January but it is freely asserted that the wedding will never take place. He is declared to be opposed to matrimony, a fatalist who believes that he will perish by violence while young and that the dynasty will go out with this generation.

W. F. Collier & Co., general storekeepers at St. Petersburg, Pa., were robbed of $70,000 in bonds, notes and cash while the office force were out for a night lunch.

A terrible tornado passed through Jennings and Mining, O. T. and destroyed 200 houses. A young lady and two children were killed and several people injured. Several houses caught fire at Mining and a conflagration followed.

The most fatal fire of recent years in Washington was the burning of the mattress factory of Stump & Bro. Four bodies were taken to the morgue, charred and crushed beyond recognition. One is dead at the hospital and four are missing. Later reports say that six burned bodies have been found.

ROBERT J. DOES A MILE IN 2:01 1/2.

World's records went glimmering over the Terre Haute, Ind., track, which held all but two of the fastest three heats pace and the fastest 2-year-old pacing record. There is hung up the fastest mile ever gone by a horse in harness, Robert J., 2:01 1/2; the miles of Nancy Hanks and Alx, each in 2:04; the world's record for a year-old trotter made by Nancy in 1:56; the fastest six heat race ever gone by a 3-year-old. Expressive's great race three weeks ago; the fastest 2-year-old trotting race record, Oakland Baron's mile in 2:16; Whirligig's 3-year-old pacing record of 2:10; the stallion pacing record of 2:03 1/2 by John E. Gearty, and the stallion record of 3:10 by Joe Patchen; the marvelous mile by a 2-year-old pacer, done by Carbonate in 2:09, and his previous record of 2:10 tied by Directly.

Robert J. by his latest performance not only broke the best time of trotting races previous, but leaves all other racers far in the rear.

Train Robbery Killed.

The Colorado & Utah express on the Santa Fe was held up by robbers at Gorta, Mo. But the railroad and express officials had a spy on the trail of the bandits, and when they stopped the train they met a hail of bullets. It is said that at least two lie dead in the woods, while three others rode away, filled with leader pellets. They were novices in the art of train robbery and brutal ones at that, for they shot "Dad" Prescott, the engineer, before they even gave him a chance to hold up his hands. His wound will not prove fatal. The raid was planned three weeks ago.

Keokuk, Ia: Five farmers living three miles north of Arabella Mo., are the men who held up the Santa Fe train at Gorta, Mo. Charles Abrams and Lincoln Overfield, were captured at Memphis, Mo. Abrams being shot six times with a Winchester. He cannot live.

Train Carried Away by a Cyclone.

Two men were killed and a score of people injured, half of them fatally, in a cyclone at Charleston, Mo., during which a train was blown from the Iron Mountain road had just reached the limits of the city when passengers and crew noticed the approach of a funnel-shaped cloud that was uprooting large trees and hurling everything before it. The train and the cyclone met, and the wind lifted the entire line of coaches and landed them at a distance of 20 feet from the track, turning them completely over. Aside from the train and its passengers the damage done by the cyclone, which seems to have been purely local, is estimated at $100,000. It covered an area of 30 square miles, and did not extend more than a mile.
