ENGINEERING BY A MOUSE.

The Skillful Plan by Which He Got

"While digging holes for telegraph poles at Byron, Me.," said a Western Union man, "I became interested in watching the ingenuity and persever ence of a mouse. He fell into one of the holes, which was four and a half feet deep, and twenty inches across. The first day he ran around the bottom of the hole trying to find some out. The second day he settled down to business. He began steadily and systematically to dig a spiral groove Now, as when warmer weather comes and around the inner surface of the hole. the tonic effect of cold bracing air is with a uniformly ascending grade. Interested witnesses threw in food. At the end of two weeks the mouse struck a rock. This puzzled him. For nearily a day he tried to get under, around or over the obstruction, but without success. With unflinching patience he reversed his spiral and went on tunneling his way in the opposite direction. At the end of four weeks he reached the top, and probably sped away to enjoy his well-earned freedom. His escape was not seen. When his food was put in in the morning he was near the surface but at night the work was seen to be complete and the little engineer, whos pluck and skill had saved his life, had

The beautiful Greek church at Sitka has been visited by thousands of tourists during the time that Father Donskoy has been in charge there, and yet he can speak but few words of English, he has devoted himself so completely to his own people and to the Indians. He had a congregation of 800, about the had a congregation of 800, about the sorphanage, his schools and other works to constantly occupy his attention, and in it his life passed gently and happily, for the church gave him little trouble on financial grounds. He, however, did as she desired, and if appearances indicate health in this man, one would think he was better than before his paralysis.

Why, 'says he, I began to improve in two days, and in four or five weeks I was entirely well and at work.

Having seen these results I concluded that such a remedy is surely worth a trial at the hands of any physician, and consequently when a short time later I was called upon to treat a lady suffering with palpitation of the heart and great nervous prostration, after the usual remedies failed palpitation of the hear; and great nervous prostration, after the usual remedies failed to relieve, I ordered Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The result was simply astonishing. Her attacks became less frequent and, also to relieve, I ordered Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The result was simply astonishing. Her attacks became less frequent and elecies in saverity, until-by-their use for a period of only two months she was the picture of health, rosy-cheeked and brighteyed, as well as ever, and she has continued so until teday, more than one year since she took any medicine. I have found these pills a specific for chorea, or, as more commonly known, St. Vitus' dance, as beneficial results have in all cases marked their use. As a spring tonic any one who, from overwork or nervous strain during a long winter has become pale and languid, the Pink Pills will do wonders in brightening the countenance and in buoying the spirits, bringing roses to the pallid lips and renewing the fountain of youth.

These are the facts in detail: Mr. J. H. White of No. 25 Haifley Place, has been an instructor in penmanship in different business colleges for the past fourteen years. He says: "Last October I was suddenly taken ill. I consulted a physician, who said the pain was from 'gravel' stones; gradually grew worse; the pain was in my back and side. My back swelled up in a great ridge, and I finally grew so bad that I was taken to bed, as helpless as a child. I passed blood, and when the pain was at its worst I was like one crazy. The doctor injected morphine to give me works but the same control of the cont I was like one crazy. The old story of changing envelopes by mistake was told in Washington a few days ago, only with variations. A young man, whose income is by no means sufficient to keep up his style of living, received a tailor's bill. He is engaged to a young lady, who is the happy possessor of a comfortable bank account. The young man's tailor sent him a bill with the remark written on it that it was long past due. When he received the bill he was engaged in some way had his attention calledaway as soon as it was finished. He returned to his desk, placed the tailor's bill instead of the note in an envelope and directed it on his typewriter, which fact was all that saved him. When he called she was very indignant, but he was quick-witted and began berating the tailor for sending her an account which he disputed in order to prejudice the young man would not pay an unjust the tailor all about the affair, paid the bill and the maker of the clothes helped im out by sending the girl an apology,
