THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1897.

A man wanted to know what the difference is between a Cleveland panic and the McKinley boom, but nobody could inform him.

No wonder times are hard when people seem to think the printer or business man can wait a year or two for his pay. Carelessness and credit are the ruin of this country.

The trial of President D. F. Comstock and Manager C. M. Comstock of the Mecosta county savings bank of Big Rapids, is being held before Judge Jas. B. McMahon at Ludington. Illegal and fraudulent banking business is the charge.

One or two important bills—important to taxpayers, at least—have become laws, among them being an act providing for the publication of the proceedings of annual school meetings and an annual financial statement in graded school districts. Also for the printing or writing of financial statements of townships for distribution at the annual town meeting.

S. W. Farmers' Club

A meeting of the club was held on the afternoon of June 18th at the residence of Emmet Allen, in Bridgewater. The attendance was not very large on account of the rain and the long drive thither, but all present were in the best of spirits and fully enjoyed the hospitality and kindly welcome extended.

Letters were read from A. H. Zenger, general manager of the Zenger-Raymond Disinfectant Co., and from Frank D. Wells, secretary and treasurer of the Michigan state association of farmers' clubs, earnestly requesting our club to take some action in regard to the wool tariff, which is now under discussion in the United States senate; to pass resolutions condemning the present wool tariff, and asking for at least 14 cents per pound on skirted fleeces, and forward the same to the Michigan senators at Washington. After a little discussion the following resolution was passed:

WHEREAS, It is plainly apparent that in the wool schedule in the tariff bill now before congress, that the interests of the wool growers and consumers have been sacrificed to the benefit of manufacturers, be it therefore RESOLVED, That we call the attention of senators and representatives from this state to the unjust discrimination shown against the interests of this great national industry, and request them to demand fairer treatment in the arrangement of the schedule than given in the proposed bill. Skirted Australian fleeces should be dutiable as washed wool; no other classification will be fair or equitable, and to allow them to come in as unwashed will cut down the protection given in the bill fully 50 per cent.

Resolutions on the death of D. W. Palmer were presented by the committee, were accepted and ordered placed on file. The following resolutions were offered by Mr. Pease and after due reflection were passed:

WHEREAS, In accordance with the by-laws of the southern Washtenaw farmers' club all membership will lapse after the annual meeting of 1897.

RESOLVED, That three months from the date of that meeting be allowed, during which time old members may, by paying one year's dues and subscribing to the amendments, maintain their membership. We agree to entertain the club in alphabetical order of the surnames of the male members, with right of exchange, or to be excused for cause. No member shall decline to serve the club as an officer when elected by a two-thirds vote of the members present. Meetings may be held monthly or at longer intervals, according to vote.

The election of officers being next in order, resulted as follows: president, B. G. English; vice-president for Sharon, A. Hitchcock; vice-president for Manchester, J. F. Spafard; vice-president for Bridgewater, H. R. Palmer; secretary, Mrs. J. F. Spafard; treasurer, Wm. Pease. The treasurer's report showed $1.31 on hand. One dollar, the fee for joining the state association of farmers' clubs, was ordered sent forward. It was moved that the treasurer notify the members as to the action taken today. The president appointed Wm. Pease, George Rawson and Frank Palmer as committee to make the alphabetical list for meetings.

There was no literary programme arranged, as this was a business meeting. However, we were favored with a beautiful selection by Mrs. Calhoun, entitled "My flower garden," after which the meeting adjourned until September. After some music and a beautiful repast, of which delicious strawberries and cream were a prominent feature, the members started on their homeward way, feeling that the time had been well spent, and the meeting of members and friends had been a very happy event.

Commencement Exercises.

It is hard to determine whether the person who secured a seat in arbor hall on the evening of commencement could be considered fortunate or unfortunate. It was a terrible jam and while every seat and all the standing room were occupied, yet scores of people went away because they could not gain admission.

All this shows the interest not only the citizens of this village but also people from surrounding towns, take in educational affairs.

The class of '97 was composed—like that of '93—of 13 members. The class colors were crimson and white; class flower, crimson and white roses; class motto, Forward, March. There were ten girls and three boys in the class. They decorated the stage in an attractive manner and it was no fault of theirs that all could not have a comfortable seat; the hall was not large enough to hold the crowd.

Following was the programme: Music—Instrumental Solo, Mrs. A. F. Freeman; Invocation, Rev. F. Heidenreich; Mozart Quartette; Salutatory—Portrait Painting, Annetta M. Logan; Essay—The dignity of labor, Anna Unterkircher; Essay—Chivalry, Jennie K. Palmer; Mozart Quartette; Oration—Censorship of the Press, Oscar Kirchgesser; Essay—No growth, no change, Achille J. Hall; Essay—The city of Is, Minna A. M. Diebold; Mozart Quartette; Oration—Liberty and its symbol, Sidney A. Case; Class Poem—A day with nature, Elizabeth Rawson; Essay—Characters in history, Winifred Bronson; Music, Mozart Quartette; Class History, Aron R. Tokom; Essay—Noble lives the best teachers, Flora E. Saley; Class Prophecy, Benzie O. Torrey; Music, Mozart Quartette; Valedictory—Heat, Jessie N. Auld; Presentation of Diplomas, Dr. E. M. Conklin; Music, Mozart Quartette; Benediction, Rev. D. H. Yokom.

The essays were very good. The singing while good was not quite satisfactory on account of the selections not being suitable for the occasion. The quartette however, received hearty applause.

The alumni reunion was held at arbor hall on Friday evening June 18, and was attended by a fine audience. The weather had moderated somewhat and the exercises were enjoyable.

C. F. Field presided and Rev. Yokom opened the exercises with prayer. The programme was as follows: Quartette; Invocation, Rev. D. H. Yokom; Solo—Solicited, Mr. Parsons; Essay—Literature and Art, Ann Etie Kingsley; Solo—Ode to Study, Miss Bird; Poem—Mother, Herbert Leon Cole; Music—Children's Home, Quartette; Oration—Cuba, Rutherford B. Tokom; Solo—White Song, Miss Ellis; History, Mrs. J. P. Tracy; Music—Mamma's Refrain, Quartette; Herbert Cope's poem "Mother," was so well read that he was recalled and recited "Silly Billy."

The singing by the conservatory quartette of Ypsilanti showed good training and good voices, but the selections were not suitable.

The banquet at the Freeman house followed the literary exercises. After the banquet came toasts and responses. Fred Freeman officiated as toastmaster. C. F. Field spoke of "The pioneers of our association," giving a history of how it was formed, etc.; Sidney A. Case spoke of "The class of '97," and what they had not learned; Miss Marie Kirchofer recited an original poem on "The teacher, the much abused creature"; Fred H. Blosser spoke of "Modern ways and other days"; Miss Mattie Carpenter spoke of "The last day of school"; Prof. Esmyer spoke of "My children" and Prof. Thos. Moran related some humorous stories in his usual happy way. All the speeches were enjoyed, as was also the singing by the quartette.

The following are the officers of the association for the ensuing year: Pres.—T. F. Moran, Vice Pres.—Clarence Berger, Rec. Sec'y.—Elizabeth Farrell, Cor. Sec'y.—C. W. Case, Treas.—G. A. Servis, Orator.—H. D. Withereil, Poet.—Elizabeth Rawson, Essayist.—Mattie Carpenter, Historian.—Webster Martin, Toast-master.—A. F. Freeman.

Since the visit of Prof. Griffith the hypnotist, at Adrian, says the Times, the popular pastime of the average boy has been the practice, in a crude but effective way, of the art of hypnotism. Performances have become general and the police have been called upon to stop the practice. One boy was so thoroughly under the spell that the operator was unable to restore him and the lad lay in a stupor until another boy whose hypnotic power was greater than his, came to his relief.
