The conferences of President McKiney and his cabinet to prepare a response to the Spanish overture for peace made through M. Cambon, the French ambassador, showed considerable difference of opinion as to the position the United States should take egarding the Philippine islands. On the other issues unanimity developed.

There was to be independence de-manded for Cuba; Porto Rico was to be eded to the United States; coaling stations were to be acquired at Guam, in the Ladrone islands, and one in the Caroline islands. As to the Philippines, the cabinet finally agreed upon the following:

That Manila bay, with the city and surrounding territory, should be re-tained in the possession of the United States as an American port and coaling station. If Spain is to be allowed to retain the Philippines, which the United States has not occupied, it must be under an agreement that neither the islands, as a whole, nor any part of them, shall be ceded by Spain to any other power but the United States, exept with the consent of this country. The trade of the Philippines must be freed from restrictions of the Spanish colonial system. The policy of "open door" must be established for Ameristation which the United States takes must be protected from any trade restrictions. It must continue to be, as it has been, the central port of this island system. American troops at Guanica and the surrender of the port of Ponce to the auxiliary cruiser Dixie, Gen. Henry's division of the forces under Gen. Miles moved from Guanica to Ponce, taking en route the cities of Yauco, Tallaboa Sabana Grande and Penuclas. At-tempts by the Spaniards to blow up bridges and otherwise destroy the rail road between Yauco and Ponce failed only a few flat cars being burned. Our troops fired up the locomotives and are now operating the road from end to end, carrying men, supplies and messages. At Yauco the Americans were received by the aleade who issued a proclamation welcoming them and dated it "Yauco, Porto Rico, United States of America." Maj. Webb Hayes, Sixth Ohio, son of former President Hayes, hauled up the flag on the palace amid cheers from the populace. The people seemed almost overjoyed that the Americans had arrived, but feared an uprising of natives in the interior who would murder and pillage in revenge for the many years of Spanish misrule. To prevent this a guard will be left to protect the captured cities. Gen. Miles reports from Ponce: "Volunteers are surrendering themselves with arms and ammunition. fifths of the people are overjoyed at the arrival of the army. Two thousand from one place have volunteered to serve with us. They are bringing in transportation, beef cattle and other needed supplies. The custom house has already yielded $14,000. As to the

The despair was intensified by Dr. Schweninger's was escorted to an anchorage near the cruiser Charleston by the gunboat Concord, the crews of the vessels of the American fleet giving her a rousing welcome. Until he shall have received the report of the officers who preceded him, and familiarized himself with the situation, Gen. Merritt cannot determine as to his future course. The fleet saw nothing of the monitor Monterey and the col-lier Brutus, and it is supposed that the monitor is coaling at Guam island. The troops encamped at Paranjo have not yet made a move, the condition of the country between the camp and the outskirts of Manila being such, on account of the heavy rains that have fallen, as to make it impossible to advance. The insurgents are still active. but are accomplishing nothing. Washington: Gen. Merritt has cabled the war department relative to the situation in Manila, which he finds very unsatisfactory and dangerous, owing to the insurgents. Their attitude there is similar to that assumed by Garcia's Cubans, although in this case the insurgents are not only more numerous, but better armed and filled with the arrogance following their numerous victories over their Spanish foes.
