

"Uneasy Lies the Head That Wears a Crown." But such is not the only uneasy head. One-eyed, two-eyed, three-eyed, four-eyed, all eyes and both axes are uneasy with axes, pairs, impure blood, disordered nerves, diseased kidneys and liver. For all such ills, Hood's Sarsaparilla is effective and fails to cure. It infuses the blood with pure, healthy blood.

FOR FORTY YEARS WE'VE OWNED THESE PACIFIC ISLANDS

Beautiful Visions Under the Deep Blue Waters of California.

THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1899.

By MAT D. BLOSSER.

A high-class... see him as he sees others.

Try to be pleasant... disagreeable without half trying.

The self-made man is always willing to admit the inferiority of others.

The laborer sometimes gets his treatment indirectly from the crowd.

About the worst thing you can talk for an affluent is the advice of your friends.

It is the easiest thing in the world to believe a pleasing lie about ourselves.

It seems inconsistent that fourth-class passengers should be allowed to handle first-class mail.

History continues to repeat itself in spite of the fact that incidents of history are not worth repeating.

When a man really enjoys something on a good money-making scheme he seldom has enough money to work it.

"Cash" may have a charm, but impudently should consider the possibility of its being a "cash" trap.

Most men say that all that matters is that they have been seen, and that the only name men want is the name of the man.

Franklin says he is afraid he would succeed as a reformer if the supply of good men was as large as when Hobson was with us.

The production of eggs in the country during 1888 was over 250,000,000 pounds.

And yet some people complain when they see the number of chickens in charge upon a poultry farm.

Along Island Iry has discharged a man who killed a boy in the street.

There is no man who can save his name from being grossly ridiculed.

Spain has decided not to punish Americans who go to Cuba.

San Francisco is well pleased that Spain should not punish Americans.

As a result of this expedition, conducted in 1869, made an appropriation of $20,000 for improving the water supply.

The $20,000 appropriation was used for the purpose of improving the water supply.

Right on the heels of the week-end party, the Fourth of July with dynamite and crackers.

Another pretty little story has been spotted and another tale of marvelous fortune laid away on the same shelf.

The death of valuable cattle from water-borne typhoid in New Hampshire has led to investigations which show that the wild cherry and horse-chestnut are harmless.

With suspicion and the wild cherry, the common impression is that only wild leaves are harmful, and are not found to be poisonous.

Few of this generation are aware that the United States possessed islands in the Pacific Ocean before the acquisition of Hawaii.

The United States has owned the Midway Islands since 1869.

There is little to attract the mariner, and it must be a leisure-hunting ship indeed that would go to the Midway Islands for the simple pleasure of giving the crew a change of stretch their legs on American soil.

That forty years ago, on July 5, the Midway Islands were taken into possession in the name of the United States by its discoverer, Captain B. O. Beane.

Presently it came to the hole, but without bolting, sat quite still upon the higher side.

The little crew took heart and cheered fast. The crew of fate is beyond all understanding.

The reptile, which appeared to me to be about six feet long, stood upon his coiled tail, puffed out his horrible and deadly hood, flicked his tongue and spat at me.

There was no reason why he should not have struck me also, since for the moment I was so paralyzed to move.
