LOVE OF JEWELS Caused Many of the Tragedies the World's History.

Women of all countries have an in-erent love for precious stones, which are supposed to exercise some subtle magnetism upon their natures. Hence the latter-day craze for some mascotic jewel, a survival of mediaeval super-stition. Upon impressionable people certain gems appear to wield a potent influence. "Who has not listened to weird tales of some heirloom talisman which, when lost or stolen, presage the ruin of a noble house? A person with a vivid imagination might even believe in the theory of the Pythagore inanimate as well as animate things are endowed with souls. Certain evolutionists of today trace the origin of man back to stones, asserting that in their adamantine bosoms they contain the all-pervading essence of spirit, and that the spark emitted from their crystalline hearts is the revelation of the imprisoned soul within.
