Manchester Enterprise

Notice to the Public... Advertisement... Advertisement...

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1901... We are promised cooler weather in a few days.

Michigan capitalists are investing large sums of money in mining, lumber and other projects in Canada.

The Michigan telephone company has issued a new list of subscribers in this county and Manager Steinkohl is distributing them here.

When the weather is so hot that the mercury is trying to climb over the top of the thermometer, one imagines a place under a shade tree on the bank of Wampole's lake about as cool a place as can be found.

It has been the policy of the Lake Shore and other steam roads to look after the through business and let the local traffic take care of itself. The result has been a loss of business to the extent of two million dollars in the last few years.

Reports from all apple growing sections indicate an average crop. The amount of apples to be raised is estimated to be about 100,000,000 bushels. This is about an average year's value of the apple crop in Michigan.

According to reports the Michigan Central is running up against a very tight money market. It is reported that the company is having a hard time raising money to pay its debts.

The Washington county, Marquette, Michigan, having decided to hold its annual jubilee at Manchester, Thursday, July 25th, the business men of that village have raised a subscription to help with the expenses.

Telephone subscribers at Ypsilanti have started on a new deal to secure proper telephone service. The first National bank and the Peninsular paper company lead in the movement.

It is the main corridor of the Erie-Normal College at Ypsilanti, says the Times, there stands in a large case a collection which even at the present day is a curiosity and a rarity.
