BY GARRARD HARRIS. They sat before smoldering fire in the little cabin...

The old man begged. "Jim didn't mean it, he was crazy with liquor. We've lost one of our sons and what's the use of havin' the other one go too?"

It was a sad affair, the killing of Joe Wilson by his brother Jim. Joe was by far the best one of the two young men...

"I do," she whispered. Killing was the mother of the two boys, and it was generally understood that she was very bitter...

"No, I must say I never done that. But Jim was drinkin' some, or he'd a never done it neither." The woman sighed...

"I do," she whispered. "Well, go on now, and tell what you know about it?" "There ain't much to tell, she said...
