Tarkey Concedes All.

An imperial order has been issued commanding that all the demands made by the United States upon Turkey be conceded and the relations between the Porte and the United States be restored to normal condition.

Another Schwab Story.

Chas. M. Schwab, the president of the United States Steel Corporation, arrived in New York Tuesday evening. He stepped briskly from the car, and as he did so he said to a number of newspaper men present:

"Now, gentlemen, I am going to tell you three things, and I don't want you to ask me any further questions. In the first place, I don't look like a sick man. In the second place, I feel the necessity of a rest, and I am going to take one. In the third place, I am not going to resign and have no intention of retiring from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation."

"Yes," he replied, "but don't ask me any more questions; that's all I have to say."

HIS THOUGHTS FAR AWAY

By MAT D. BLOSSER

He had executed the battle of life in order to reach her home.

"You're right, replied, really thinking however, of how he would like to play with about two large Southdown tops and some you knowise potatoes.

"The sky's full of such a deep turquoise blue today, is it not?" she inquired of him.

"It sure is," said he, but the one of the sky made him think of a pudgy huckleberry pudding and caused his eyes to look at it.

"I perceived that he wasn't glib, rulo a little bit to see the sky this morning on the casual things of the world.

"What are you thinking of?" she asked him playfully, breaking the disagreeable pause.

"There's something sadly romantic about the colors of the sky, you think?" she asked him as the boat swung by Gibraltar point.

"Sure," said he demurely, wistfully, saying the little girl, who was eating picnic and take out of the family lunch basket.

"Don't you always fancy that something of the old atmosphere of the dreamy islands still hangs about the coast?" she asked him as the boat glided by the sunset town.

"U-huh," said he, but a minute or so later he was saying to her, "I keep my mind going until the boat made its landing."

"See how the sunlight strikes the water?" she asked him as the boat swung by Gibraltar point.

GREAT SALT LAKE RECEIVING

By MAT D. BLOSSER

Fall of the Level Since 1894 Amounts to Nearly Six Feet.

Great Salt Lake, in Utah, which for several years has been slowly but steadily receding, has according to Director Burdick of the United States weather bureau, now reached the lowest level recorded since observations were begun.

Up to Aug. 1 the lowest mark ever recorded was on July 11. Since that time the lake has receded four inches.

The fall of the water since 1894 amounts to nearly six feet, and on the low, flat eastern shore this has resulted in a recession of the water level during that time of fully three and one-half miles.

PERSONS, PLACES AND THINGS

By MAT D. BLOSSER

Part of Chain Stretched by Wainwright Avenue the Hudson.

Two young men from New York, who are summering at Greenwood lake, while rambling over the Adirondack mountains last week, came across an old relic of the revolution which they prize highly.

These young men, E. L. Greene and J. McCabe, had strolled on the Sterling mountains, which a few years ago afforded a favorite picnic resort for Rockland county people, when they came across an iron link stretched tightly between two rocks.

This was near the old forge where the iron chain was made which was stretched across the Hudson river at West Point, to prevent the British ships from reaching Albany, and the link found last week probably belonged to the chain which was used in the Sterling mountains, which a few years ago afforded a favorite picnic resort for Rockland county people, when they came across an iron link stretched tightly between two rocks.

A GREAT DISCOUNT SALE

By MAT D. BLOSSER

THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1922

Arrangements are completed and if the weather continues favorable and if people in town from the surrounding towns and country to participate with us in a day of sport.

The streets have been put in proper condition, our citizens will be "Old Glory" to the top of their flag poles, and public grounds supplied with bunting to make the day look festive.

The exchange place will be reserved for the sports and no horse will be allowed to be hitched on the street between the hotels and Piquette corner on the street during the day. Teams will be kept off those streets all day so as to avoid annoyance to people who will be constantly crossing them.

The annual school meeting will be held Monday evening, Sept. 1.

Looney-Schaffer Co. have had their new bars painted a dark red color.

The ward school building has been painted and now presents a much better appearance.

The new cement walk in front of the bank blocks on the east side of the river, are finished.

The railroad paymaster was here last week and the boys will have money for sports day.

Street sweepers and others began Monday cleaning up and getting ready for the day of sports.

There was a large crowd of people in town last Saturday. The men most attended the horse race.

Don't miss reading Gallop & Law's new advertisement. They always have something new to offer.

Parents are acquiring for school catalogs and getting ready to have children begin school the first day.

Charley Wing, the pop-corn man, has made his appearance on our streets again, especially on Saturday nights.

The Monday night club met with Mrs. M. G. Jones last week and had refreshments after the literary program.

Dr. Watson of Detroit announced in our advertising columns, that he will be at the Freeman house, Sept. 6 and 7.

Sam Hirschfeld's semi-weekly in front of J. Fred Schaub's store on Monday and it looks all right now.

The school board received the resignation of Miss Wanda Andrus and immediately set to work to find a substitute.

Lozier & Hoffer have another advertisement for their new substitute. Farmers are using it quite liberally now.

Howard Clark and Rex Tozier do some work on the Ballard farm for Dr. Schorr.

Mr. & Mrs. Clyde Young have moved their home from the rooming place to the new house on the laundry.

Jack Shipp's shop for building cement walks, to Napoleon last Saturday and is there this week putting in a large lot.

The front of Foster & Warner Bros. Co. store has been in a mudslide condition, but is now complete and looks as slick as a bull.

A number of sportsmen in neighborhood were anxious for a little pigeon shoot at Manchester today, but we have no grounds now.

Some new traps have been built of cement from Fred Spignoli's shop, and people do not stop to think of going into the store.

Foster & Warner Bros. Co. have an extremely new advertisement this week. They are leading up with new goods for the fall season.

Letters for Detroit mailed at this post office before the passenger train goes west on the Ypsilanti branch, will get to Detroit and be delivered the same afternoon.

A number of Clinton and Brooklyn masons were here Monday evening to attend Manchester lodge and witness work in the St. George. Gaylord French was the speaker.

Louis Lohrer retired Mrs. T. W. Richardson, last Saturday and at once set to work having it put in shape to move into it. It will make a pleasant and convenient home for Mr. & Mrs. Lohrer.

A good many people asked the committee of arrangements for the day of sport, why don't you have a fall game? For the best of reasons, we have no grounds where a game can be played.

Horace Cox received a lot of photographs Monday from his son, William, who is in the army at Camp Sherman, Ohio. He is in the 144th field in height but Miff and his companion accepted it a short time ago.

We learn that A. J. Waters intends to use a portion of the marsh land on block 14 and 15 of this village for pasture and would sell the balance to the village or any purchaser who cared to improve it. We wish it might all be made into a pig pen.

Prof. C. G. Giesler has received the honorary degree of Fred Hall, several years ago and has been in Durand and West Superior the past year, returned last Friday and is on his way home.

That Which Was Lost.

A lover said: "I do not hate the years that touch my face with wrinkles of care. For me Remembrance leaves the sun-light there."

"I love the time that colder eyes than mine have looked upon me. I shall be glad to read the spirit-fading of her face. I shall be glad to read the sun-light there."

"There was a secret hidden in her eyes. And in her voice a note I thrilled to. Have the years slain it, I thrill to read it?"

Even as he spoke, her soft eyes met his. And answered, "Behold the living! Show the love, the magic and immortal youth."

—St. James Gazette.

The Silent Man's Wooling.

By Carrie May Ashton. Copyright, 1922, by Twitty Story Pub. Co. He was a big silent man and wholly absorbed in business and self the world said.

Respected by many, but loved by none, his employees said that the century that he lived in was a very good one, but those about him often wished he was more like other men.

He was not conscious of the fact that he threw a damp on every one who tried to get near him.

His father had deserted his mother when he was a few weeks old, and the poor little woman had lingered until she was six years old.

He had found the world a cold, hard one to the homeless, but with a fine physical inheritance and a diligent courage he had worked his way up from a carrier-boy to the proprietor of a large newspaper.

He was never a social creature and refused all invitations.

He knew very few women and they rarely saw his boat side.

He lived in a very quiet building near the city and had a kind of a German woman, kept a half dozen men who could afford to pay her well.

It was late in the evening of a Saturday night that he was called to his room by a knock on the door.

He did not as usual retire to his room, but he went to the door and opened it.

He was very much surprised to find a young woman standing in the doorway.

"What is the matter?" he asked.

"I have lost my key," she said.

"I will get it for you," he said.

"Thank you very much," she said.

"I will get it for you," he said.

"Thank you very much," she said.

Ideal Recreation Spots Along Lake Michigan

LOGIC OF THE SABBATH.

Writer in Analogue's Pleads for One Day of Rest.

As a psychologist, I believe in the Sabbath day. One day in seven should be kept holy from work and sacred to man's primitive paradise of leisure. I am not Puritan, nor do I even believe in Sabbathian in any severe sense, but hold that this is one of the greatest of all human institutions. It is a command to keep it as a day of rest and recreation. The fine picture shows above is written in my physiological condition. It is a picture of a man who has been overworked and is now recovering. It is a picture of a man who has been overworked and is now recovering. It is a picture of a man who has been overworked and is now recovering.

AN ITALIAN CAPTAIN Cured by Pe-ru-na of Catarrh of the Stomach After Doctors Failed.

The following letter from Congressman Hon. J. D. Rolin, Congressman from Kansas, writes an interesting letter.

My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your Pe-ru-na. I have been cured of a catarrh of the stomach after doctors failed. I have been cured of a catarrh of the stomach after doctors failed.

It stands to reason that a man of my rank and position, like a Congressman, should be able to find a cure for his ailment. I have been cured of a catarrh of the stomach after doctors failed.

It is impossible to imagine how any evidence could do so. I have been cured of a catarrh of the stomach after doctors failed. I have been cured of a catarrh of the stomach after doctors failed.
