A luxury, as soon as we get used to it, becomes a necessity.

Another plan to protect authors is moot. How about the readers?

Mount Pelee is giving great proof every day of its great desire to be annihilated.

Women's fall hats will be large. Fortunately in this case size does not affect the price.

Mr. Hopper William wishes to keep up with the procession he will have to be operated on.

It would be a little queer if he had to appeal to the oil trust for protection from the coal trust.

All that good fuel oil burning in Texas and north of there keeps people warm. Thinking of it!

Look not upon the big apple when it is red. Too oft it itches like a ball of yarn and tastes like sawdust.

The American generals who were given a vacation in Germany may need five or six months to rest up.

It is becoming almost as dangerous to ride in automobiles as to be in front of them. This may bring reform.

The Massachusetts Red Men want the codfish as their totem. What will the aristocracy have to say about it?

Experiments at New York recently with the latest airship pronounced highly successful—only the blamed thing wouldn't fly.

We still insist that the greatest of all American heroes is the taxpayer. He is the sort of hero that keeps the government going.

S. Luszczynski and M. Orzechowicz have been licensed to wed. It should be very hard for the lady in this case to get used to her new name.

A woman has just recovered her eight after being married for seven years. Perhaps you believe that the first inquiry was for the latest fashion magazine.

"I work harder than any other man in the entire city," says a man who works in a factory. We have always wanted to know just who it is that works the hardest.

A Virginia girl has been arrested for smoking cigarettes. Virginia is late upon having her laws made to conform elsewhere, which is natural but not just.

The Newport smart set says "sour grapes" to Henry Waterman. But the counsel seems hardly to be in a mood to butt into a monkey dinner or a poole party.

Penicillin and whisky are the prescription of a Mississippi doctor for malaria. The prescription would seem to involve solitude as an accessory treatment.

Being a prudent man and possessing some means, Mr. Rockefeller don't have his home insured. We do not anticipate that he will raise the price of coal oil.

It appears that the Chinese were addicted to profane swearing thousands of years ago. Modern civilization, in fact, can hardly claim any vice as peculiarly its own.

An English nobleman threatens to hit himself and everybody else with a Chicago pig. Does not marry him. Now and then our English friends get interested in something really worth while.

Why doesn't somebody invent a machine to shoot along say 100 feet above the earth, taking its power up through a trolley wire with a ring on the end carrying force in an overhead wire?

A visitor to Houston, Tex., claims that she slept in a room 15 minutes and cost $10. This amounts to a little over $100 a minute for his lodging. He must have dreamed that he was at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The Kentucky judge who ennobled the McGovern-Corbett fight did so on the ground that it was a "real fight." From which it follows that the bench in Kentucky retains its share of immortality.

A Missouri farmer saw in a paper an advertisement of a "bre escape for $2." He sent the $2 and the lady who sold the New Testament. He indignantly claims that he was swindled.

Tom Sharkey announces that he has quit the ring to please his parents. The regularity of Tom's knockings were evidently mortifying to the old folks.

One of Brigham Young's grandsons is being held on a charge of murder. It was hardly to be expected that he would all turn out well.

A fashion writer says that breadth of figure can be developed by correct breathing. If that is so, the lady who weighs 270 pounds should be very careful not to breathe correctly.

It is generally safe to ask your friends to drop in and see you any time if they are in the neighborhood. Floor and the elevator isn't running.

Harry Lehr says that Miss Nathalie demands in the world. Nathalie may be lovely, but Harry exemplified them all!

GRADY'S FEAST OF POSSIBILITIES

Rival Ruled His Chance for the Colored Vote by a Mean Trick.

During a heated campaign in Georgia some years ago the late Henry Grady was opposed by an editor of the name of Captain Evan Howell.

They were warm personal friends, but on the issue at stake they were diametrically opposed to each other.

Recalling that campaign, Representative Livingston says that the election depended largely upon a certain ward in which there was a very large negro population.

Grady, however, himself proposed a scheme to capture these colored voters, and securing a vast number of persons, provided a great supper, at which they could eat.

It was a matter of life and death to Grady, and he was not to be outwitted. He had his own plan, and he was not to be outwitted.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS. The leaves are falling. The weather has been fine the past few days. John Roller had a very sick horse yesterday.

There are 77 people employed at the cannery factory. Joseph Shilworth has his horse in the shop undergoing repairs.

Lewis & Co. shipped a carload of oysters to Columbus a few days ago. Bartlett & Amos will ship sheep and goats to Buffalo, Saturday.

Geo. J. Haasler has a new advertisement for his stable and harness shop. Douglas Baldwin is having his pretty cottage redecorated with pure white paint.

Joseph Faulhaber is having the house painted. Mr. & Mrs. Geo. J. Niala have moved into the Koppo house, owned by Mrs. Jacob Miller.

Will Holmes is not at work for the Osborne company, now, but is attending to the older mill.

Das Gage shipped two carloads of oysters this week to Philadelphia and to Columbus, Ohio.

The apple machinery arrived a few days ago and the cannery factory has been running on apples.

Lovely & Schaffer Co. have built a new cement walk in front of their property at the lumber yard.

Dealers say that there is scarcely any old wheat in the farmers' granaries in this section of the county.

There was not a very large turnout to hear the Post Reporter, Monday night, but their entertainment was very fair.

The new instrument for the band arrived Monday. They are silver plated and the boys are well pleased with them.

O. H. Kelly has rented a part of the old plating mill, which will pack apples. He has two expert packers here.

Peter VanGron has had a new porch built in front of his residence on Water street to take the place of that which was blown away by the cyclone.

The man who is to teach the hand boys at the school, Monday night, did not come Tuesday night, probably on account of not getting notice in time.

It would seem that the demand for carpenters here would keep all employed at good wages, yet Mel Sherrwood, John Kautschke have gone to Jackson to work.

Our children are subscribing to a fund to assist the new band. The boys met Tuesday night, accepted and paid for their instruments and are ready for practice.

The cannery factory has closed down on corn for this season. About 50,000 bushels of corn have been put up and the whole product has been sold to a Chicago firm at a good price.

The first of the club dances was held at the Friday evening. The attendance was not very large but a pleasant time was enjoyed by all. The next one will be held Friday evening, October 17th.

In another column, Yocum, Marx & Co. advertise their fall opening of cloaks and furs, on Friday and Saturday of this week. We have also printed half a dozen weeks for this sale and their stores will be crowded with buyers.

John J. O'Connell's moving Fred Dentler's family was awakened by the sound of smoke and upon examination found one of the boys in a blaze. Three boys were present but none were injured.

NORVELL. BROOKLYN.

Charles Bancroft is buying poultry. Chas. Atkinson went to Toledo last Saturday on business.

The boiler for the electric light plant has arrived, and the smoke stack is being placed and we are anxious to get looking for the light which will soon be glimmering.

On Friday night last Postmaster Geo. B. Frost attended a party of music given by the choir of the church for the night. Medical aid was summoned and he was taken to his home where he is slowly recovering.

John Hyndman is moving into the house owned by Rev. E. H. Barrett and Rev. S. J. Hall in morning in which Hyndman was severely injured by the Baptist church, directly across the street in front of the house. He will be able to stand the atmosphere or not.

Jackson County. Judge Peck is attending to bear chancy case on Monday. About 150 head of Jackson for the G. A. B. are expected at Washington.

Joseph Hanson, the oldest and wealthiest man in Jackson was buried Wednesday. Fred Seloff who shot George Smith of Lodi, as mentioned last week, waited examination and was found over to the court. He was not allowed to give bonds.

The bean crop in the county in the vicinity of Grand Lake is reported to be an absolute failure. Thousands of bushels of beans which would have been marketable at present prices, are now a total loss and will be worth only the price of corn for feed. It is a severe blow to the farmers of the section.

Card Thanks. We desire through this medium to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and since the death of our wife and mother, STEPHEN C. SCHAFER, and his wife, ANNE SCHAFER.

Teacher's examinations will take place at the court house, Ann Arbor on the following dates: Beginning third Thursday in October, 1902. Beginning last Thursday in March, 1903. Beginning third Thursday in June, 1903. Beginning third Thursday in August, 1903.

THE JESTERS' CORNER

MEMOR OF THE DAY SERVED IN ATTRACTIVE FORM.

Fair Bather Gives Reggy a Home Thrust—Qualifications for Errand Boy—Why Maiden of the Gilded Set Was Not Popular.

In the Gilded Set. "The pretty," commented the stranger.

"Yes," admitted Cholly languidly. "And bright and clever." "Way of course."

"With many accomplishments." "Sure."

"But she doesn't seem to be popular with the young men."

"No," said Cholly. "You see the fact is she'll never have enough to support a husband properly."

The Race for Publicity. "I shall never trust him again," said the statesman, bitterly.

"But he has never failed to lend his influence in your behalf."

"Nevertheless, he is a false friend."

"What has he done?" "Snatched fame from my grasp. I told him a funny story and he went and printed it as original before I had a chance to see an interviewer."

His Hobby. An old country sexton, in showing visitors round the churchyard, used to stop at a certain tombstone and say, "This one is the tomb of Tummus 'Duper' an' is eleven woves."

One day a lady remarked, "Eleven? Dear me, that's rather a lot, isn't it?"

"The old man looked at her gravely and replied, 'Well, mumm, yer see it was an 'obby' of 'isn.'"

Might Try and See. "There is only one reason why I have never asked you to be my wife."

"What is that?" "I have always been half afraid you might refuse."

"Well (in a whisper, after a long silence) I should think you would be curious enough to want to find out whether your suspicion was well founded or not."

Great Scheme. Mr. Mann—"Tomorrow is my day off, so I'm going over now and borrow Mr. Ping's lawn mower."

Mrs. Mann—"Why, our lawn does not need to be trimmed."

Mr. Mann—"Who said it did? I'll lock it down cellar and my slumbers won't be disturbed by his infernal racket in the early morning."

Not Entirely Crippled. "They tell me you called on old Banbury at a favorable time. He has the gout, hasn't he?"

"Yes, in both feet. But he's all sound as far as his arms are concerned. He managed to throw a paper weight, an inkstand, and three volumes of Macaulay at me before I could escape."

His Cause for Complaint. Judge—"Your only complaint against this woman is that she threw a brick at her husband?"

Yes, Judge—"Then what business is that of yours?" She didn't throw it at you. Complained I know, but if she had she might have hit her husband, and I wouldn't have this black eye.

A Little Misunderstanding. Young Mother—"What will you charge for a photograph of our little boy?"

Photographer—"Three dollars, madam, but it will be considerably cheaper for a dozen."

Young Mother—"A dozen? Oh, no, we can't wait so long—Lippincott's."

A Thoughtful Maiden. "He said he would shoot himself if I didn't agree to marry him."

"And you agreed?" "Yes, I was afraid if I didn't he might try to kill himself, and if he did try to kill himself he'd be sure to hit some innocent bystander—he's so awfully cross-eyed, you know."

In the Nature of a Hat. Mr. Polk—"My gracious! It's nearly midnight! I suppose I'll get the reputation of being a very late caller."

Miss Patience—"Oh, I don't mind late callers."

Mr. Polk—"No? I'm delighted to—My wife has tumbled downstairs. Doctor—Was it much of a fall?"

Tongued—Much of a fall, my man, she was knocked speechless."

True Sympathy. Tom—"Why so melancholy, old man?"

Jack—"Miss Jones rejected me last evening."

Tom—"Well, brace up; there are others."

Jack—"Yes, of course; but somehow I can't feel feeling sorry for the poor girl."

Ought to Be Good. The tones of the Little Mission band was warbling at the city jail concert for the benefit of the caged ones."

"Magnificent voice, hasn't he?" said the girl in the blue waist.

"Ought to have," replied the man at the organ; "he studied in Sing Sing."

His Advantages. "But I want a boy to run errands, and I'm afraid you would not be very fast, especially on hills."

"Maybe not, sir, but I'll roll down 'em an' 'rot I loses one way I makes 'em an' 'rot I stan's even!"

How They Managed It. "The burglars have succeeded at last in getting their names into the newspapers."

"By, do they manage it?" "They arranged to have their chauffeur arrested for fast driving."

THE LUCKY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY.

No use of talkin', said Mr. Erastus Plinkley; 'dat brother of mine is a mighty lucky man. He allus has money."

"But you must remember that he is much more industrious than you are. He isn't at all afraid of work."

"Dat's jes' de point. He were lucky in bein' born industrious."

A Promising Clew. Stuper—Here's a nice letter for a man to receive. The scoundrel who wrote it calls me a blithering idiot.

Teppie—What's his name?"

Stuper—That's just what I'd like to find out; but there's no signature."

Teppie—Don't you recognize the writing? It must be somebody who knows you."

A Home Thrust. Reggy—No; I nevva go in the watah. A bathing suit makes a fellow look so ridiculous, don't you think?"

Miss Pert—Oh, I don't know; they are not the only suits that do that."

No Way Out. "I couldn't get out of marrying her," Henpeck explained. "When she proposed she said, 'Will you marry me? Have you any objections?' You see, no matter whether I said 'yes' or 'no,' she was married."

"Why didn't you just keep silent, then?" inquired his friend.

"That's what I did, and she said, 'Silence gives consent,' and that ended me."

Forethought. "Right here," said the surveyor, "will be a good place for your sawmill. The county line will run exactly through the middle of it."

"Not much," said the pioneer. "We'll have it on one side or the other. When a man gets divided in two I don't want no two coroners' inquests over him."

An Unreasonable Complaint. "I really shall have to leave this hotel," said the weary man to the proprietor. "There is a baby in the next room to mine, and he cries all night."

"I don't see why you should complain," said the proprietor. "His father and mother have him in the same room with them, and they haven't said a word."

Wonders. Jim—"I do not believe that I have a true friend in the world. Jack—So you have been trying to borrow money, too, have you?"

"She's always dreadfully overdressed. Yes, but I don't believe it's quite due so much to a lack of taste as to a lack of means."—Puck.

Mr. Fussy—"I don't see why you wear those ridiculously big sleeves, when you have nothing to fill them!"

Mrs. Fussy—"Do you fill your silk hat?"

Jack—"How are you going to the masked ball tonight?" Tom—"Thought I'd keep sober, and—Jack—That's disguise enough; nobody will know you."

The Bride—Kiss me again, dear. The Groom—But, Madge, I have done nothing but kiss you for the last three hours. The Bride—(bursting into tears)—Traitor! You love another!

"Tongued (excitedly)—Go up to my house as quick as you can, doctor. My wife has tumbled downstairs. Doctor—Was it much of a fall?"

Tongued—Much of a fall, my man, she was knocked speechless."

Wife—Really, dear, I must remind you that servants are very scarce and difficult to keep. You surely forgot yourself when you were talking to cook just now as if you were talking to me. Do be more careful, dear!

"Here I asked for a pie, not a paving stone," said the annoyed customer. "Young man," rejoined the shopkeeper severely, "I made pies before you were born." "Right you are," replied the fellow; "this 'ere's 'em."

Charming Sleeve Model. A printed batiste in white and black has a charming sleeve model, and the bodice and skirt are simply, but strikingly trimmed with black-French lace, daintily finished with narrow straps of black velvet ribbon and small Rhinestone buttons. The undersleeves are of lace, and a balayouse of white chiffon makes a charming finish about the hem of the skirt. Hand embroidery gives a look of elegance to a gown of white crepe, tucked lengthwise, with alternating lines of fine white lace insertion. The girle and sash are of black silk, embroidered in white and a distinctive look is given the hat and gown—with clusters of scarlet cherries.

White Chiffon. The white chiffon gown is a wondrous thing of beauty—but it isn't a joy forever. Indeed, it is almost as perishable as the fragrance of the rose. But it is so exquisitely beautiful while it lasts—the woman who can afford the cost gets the worth of her money.

Insulation is the most complete and perfect flower of the devil's growing—Washington Times.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON II, OCT. 12; HANNAH 3:9-17.—CROSSING THE JORDAN.

Golden Text—"When Thou Passest Through the Waters, I Will Be With Thee, and Through the Rivers, Thy Ships Shall Not Overflow Thee."—Isaiah 43:2.

I. The General Situation. The Position of Israel. The broad fertile plain on the eastern or Moabite side of the Jordan, about one hundred and fifty feet above the usual level of the Jordan, with the mountains of Moab behind them, and the flooded river before them, with Jericho six or seven miles distant from the river on the Moabite side. The plain on which they were encamped was from five to seven miles wide.

II. The Marching Orders.—Vs. 9, 11. In the first place the officers of the army were to prepare to cross the Jordan. They were to sanctify themselves (v. 9), set themselves apart for a special divine work, devote themselves to God's service, cleanse themselves from all filthiness of the flesh, and of heart and life. 9. "Hear the words of the Lord your God. The Jordan shall cross the land as according to the divine will."

III. On the March.—Vs. 12, 14. "Now therefore take ye twelve memorial stones from the river bed, as described later on. One of every tribe a man," so that each tribe should be represented, and each feel a common interest in the march. The twelve stones should have an advantage over the others.

IV. The Promise to Pass.—Vs. 12, 14. "And it shall come to pass." This verse is the promise of what is described in v. 16, as fulfilled.

Why This Season Was Chosen for Crossing. This season of high water was wisely chosen for the miracle was the more stupendous and impressive to the Israelites. (2) It inspired their enemies with greater terror. They would see the hosts of the Lord taking possession of the land. (3) Those enemies, had the crossing been attempted when the water was low, would have appeared upon the opposite shores at the very moment when the people did not dispute it upon the present occasion? The answer is simple. They treated to the swollen river, which, they thought, would be insurmountable. The crossing in harvest time was also providentially ordered with reference to the food of the people; they entered the land in the month of autumn (Josh. 5: 10, 12).—Rev. Dr. F. Johnson.

And the priests that bare the ark. When they first entered the ark into the middle of the river, bed, and they stood firm on dry ground, with good footing and without finching from above. This required no little faith. The priests were about three-fifths of a mile up stream above the ark, and their faith encouraged the people to venture into the bed of the river. "And all the Israelites passed over on dry ground." Probably at different points over a wide space. They were now fairly standing upon the Promised Land, on the edge of conquest, and after that the ark stood at the head of the column, according to the Jewish tradition, were placed in the center, from the fear of the people. The host, at different points, probably, rushed across. The priests remained motionless, their feet firmly fixed upon the stones.

And the whole people crossed in safety. In a very few hours, and stood for the first time in their new home. They stepped from the river to the river returned to its usual course. There was no retreat now. It was victory, or death.

The crossing of the Jordan was a great event in the history of the people. It was a turning point in their history, the date when across a wider Jordan, the dividing line between the wilderness and the promised land, the son of a little babe to make a conquest of a world of promise.—Richard Glover.

A Jordan flows between us and our best good life. The fullness, education, higher spheres, enlarged lives, the redeemed earth, heaven—our Promised Land.

The crossing of the Jordan was a great event in the history of the people. It was a turning point in their history, the date when across a wider Jordan, the dividing line between the wilderness and the promised land, the son of a little babe to make a conquest of a world of promise.—Richard Glover.

Every one needs to take a decided stand, a positive step, and commit himself to the side of right and of God. A decided stand is often more than half a victory.

Death is like the river Jordan, separating us from the blessedness of the future life. See 2 Cor. 5: 1; 1; Phil. 1: 23; Luke 23: 43. The scene in Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, where Christian crosses the River of Death, and is welcomed by the shining ones on the other side. Compare the hymns: "There is a land of pure delight," and "On Jordan's rugged banks I stand."

We need to keep in mind what God has done for us in the past. The Christian sacraments are memorials which hold the great truths of the gospel before the mind. They are irrefragable witnesses to the great facts of Christ's life, death, and resurrection, and our unity with Him. They are a testimony to the world about God and Christ and the gospel. Everywhere their voice is heard. They are a means of grace, and a means of teaching the great truths of the gospel.

The Sabbath, the Lord's Supper, Easter, Christmas are Christian memorials. The Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, New Year's, Decoration Day are patriotic memorials. Birthdays, marriage anniversaries, commencement days, etc. are personal memorials. Rightly kept, all these are a means of education and of perpetuating great truths.

Fitted for the Task. The writers of the Bible were all of the Jewish race. This fact sheds a flood of light on the Bible. Certain races have a peculiar fitness for certain things—the Anglo-Saxon for civilization, the Jew for art, for religion. The Bible in all its various parts is essentially a religious book. It is the center of all its thoughts. It represents the supreme product of that race whose genius was religion for ages.—Rev. F. F. Sutphen.

Prince and Philanthropist. It is not generally known that Prince Max, the youngest son of the new King of Saxony, is a Roman Catholic priest, and that he was at one time an earnest worker among the poor of the East End of London.

Plink is What Counts. Luck has no place in the vocabulary of the earnest young people to-day, except as you place a "P" before it and spell it "pluck."—Rev. Dr. Lewis, Worcester, Mass.

SHOWING THE WAY.

Most of our readers know all about the aches and pains of a bad back, very few people are free from stick kidnees, as the kidneys are the most over-worked organs of the body and "go wrong" at times no matter how well the general health may be. The trouble is so few understand the indications of kidney trouble. You are nervous, tired out and weary, have stitches, twinges and twitches of backache pains, but lay it to other causes; finally the annoyance and suffering attendant with urinary disorders, retention of the urine, too frequent urination makes you realize the seriousness of it. At any stage you should take a remedy that will not only relieve but cure you. Read the following and profit by the lesson it teaches:

C. J. McMurray, a resident of Freeport, Ill., address 47 Froquois St., says: "I have greater faith in Doan's Kidney Pills to-day than I had in the fall of 1897, when I first took that remedy and it cured me of an acute pain across the back and imperfect action of the kidneys. Since I made a public statement of these facts and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends and acquaintances, thoroughly believing as I did both from observation and experience that they would do just as they were represented to do, I am still pleased to re-endorse my statement given to the public shortly after I first began to use the remedy."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine, which cured Mr. McMurray, will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

WHEN KENDALL WAS BOSSSED. Popular Actor Tells of His Experiences With a Printer.

Esra Kendall was once the editor of a small upstate paper, which was saved from untimely death, so Kendall says, many times by the foreman of the composing room. "He was a good man, a very good man, that foreman, Kendall affirms, but he could never understand me. Lacking: 'Never was a man laced by any one as I by that compositor. He said I was worthless, lazy, a fool, a blockhead, a shiftless do-nothing, fit for nothing on earth but to talk and go to ball games. I told him a man could not be well fitted for any higher missions, but were thus treated by the printer, and somehow that didn't seem to improve his opinion of me. He went right on lacing me, and to this day the poor man cannot understand how in the name of common sense I have been judged with a star part, or how I can have made a success as an actor. I tell him I didn't do it in the name of common sense, but by invoking the opposite divinity. But he only retorts that I was the biggest stick that ever tried to edit a paper, with that air of finality a man assumes when he ends a scientific argument with a quotation from Genesis or Revelations. You can fool some of the people all of the time, but you can never fool your yale or the foreman of your composing room."

An Embarrassing Situation. What a situation that must have been at a recent reception in London, where a lady appeared in a gorgeous gown looted from the imperial palace at Peking, and later in the evening found herself face to face with the Chinese ambassador! It may be described as "curdling." The ambassador, for a moment, apparently thought some lady of the royal family of China had suddenly appeared before him, drawing room, for the material of the gown had never been worn by any but Chinese royalty. He couldn't conceal his agitation in meeting an English lady thus arrayed, but he fortunately had the tact to leave the reception, and thus somewhat relieve the embarrassment, but the incident, it is reported, will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it. One cannot envy or pity a woman who would wear a looted gown, transformed though it might be by the fashionable dressmaker.

PITMAN FADELESS DYES color Silk, Wool and Cotton at one boiling. Anyone may do a casual act of good nature, but a continuation of them shows it is a part of the temperament.—Stowe.

THE APOLOGY WAS SINCERE.

But Under No Circumstances Could It Be Called Flattering. A philanthropic lady visited the asylum at Kingston, Canada, not long ago, and displayed great interest in the inmates. One old man particularly gained her compassion.

"And how long have you been here, my man?" she inquired. "Twelve years," was the answer. "Do they treat you well?" "Yes."

"Do they feed you well?" "Yes."

After addressing a few more questions to him the visitor passed on. She noticed a broad and broadening smile on the face of her attendant, and on asking the cause heard with consternation that the old man was none other than Dr. Clark, the superintendent.

"He hurried back to make apologies. How successful she was may be gathered from these words: "I am very sorry, Dr. Clark. I will never be governed by appearances again."

Spoke From Experience. A man who tries to uphold all his statements with the prop of personal experience is pretty sure sooner or later to find himself in difficulties.

"What kind of posts should you say 'I'd better have for my piazza?' asked a summer resident of the oracle of Bushville, "Cedar?"

"No," was the instant reply; "not less you want to pay for poor stuff. G. I. pine will last ye a hundred years."

"Are you sure?" asked the summer resident, doubtfully. "I never state a thing without I can prove it. I've tried 'em both. Tried 'em twice on my south porch, I tell ye!"

PE-RU-NA NECESSARY TO THE HOME.

A Letter from Congressman White, of North Carolina.

PE-RU-NA IS A HOUSEHOLD SAFEGUARD.

No Family Should Be Without It. PERUNA is a great family medicine. The women praise it as well as the men; it is just the thing for all the little catarrhal ailments of childhood.

HON. GEORGE H. WHITE

The following testimonials from thankful men and women tell in direct, sincere language what their success has been in the use of Peruna in their families:

Louis J. Scherrinsky, 103 Locust street, Atlantic, Iowa, writes: "I will tell you briefly what Peruna has done for me. I took a severe cold which gave me a hard cough. All day long I was unable to get any sleep. I took one bottle of Peruna and was well."

"Then my two children had bad coughs accompanied by gagging. My wife had stomach trouble for years. She took Peruna and now she is well. I cannot express my thanks for Peruna, but I recommend your remedy at every opportunity, for I can conscientiously say that there is no medicine like Peruna. Nearly everyone in this town knew about the sickness of myself and family, and they have seen with astonishment what Peruna has done for us. Many followed our example, and the result was health. Thanking you heartily, I am—L. J. Scherrinsky.

Mrs. Nannie Wallace, Tulare, Cal., President of the Western Baptist Missionary Society, writes: "I consider Peruna an indispensable article in my medicine chest. It is twenty medicines in one, and has so far cured every sickness that has been in my family. I consider it of special value to weakly women, as it builds up the general health, drives out disease and keeps you in the 'best of health.'—Mrs. Nannie Wallace.

Peruna protects the family against coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis, catarrh of the stomach, liver and kidneys. It is just as sure to cure a case of catarrh of the bowels as it is a case of catarrh of the head.

Peruna is an internal, scientific, systematic remedy for catarrh. It is no palliative or temporary remedy; it is thorough in its work, and in cleaning the diseased mucous membranes cures the catarrh.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Congressman George Henry White, of North Carolina, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman in regard to the merits of the great catarrh cure, Peruna:

House of Representatives, Washington, Feb. 4, 1899.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—"I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and colds. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE.

Supplement, Thursday, October 9, 1902.

There are many pretty scenes in and about our flourishing village some of which are obtained from the bridges above or below the Manchester Roller Mills.

Lenawee County.

At the shoot given by Mr. Wilson at Hampton's landing, Devil's lake, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mark Mills, of Tecumseh, won the cup. C. R. Wilson of Tecumseh, stood first in average, Mark Mills second and P. C. Wood, of Tecumseh, third. This is the third annual blue rock shoot given by Mr. Wilson and was largely attended.—Times.

The returning special on the Lake Shore from the Hillsdale fair Friday evening met with a shower of stones when near Pittsford. The stones were thrown by parties concealed in the woods along the track. The windows of one of the coaches were entered by the missiles, striking the passengers. One lady was badly injured and a little girl received a deep gash on the forehead.—Adrian Times.

Jackson County.

The Central food company will use the old Heyser planing mill at Jackson for their factory.

John C. Darling, one of the oldest residents of Jackson, died Friday morning, aged 91 years.

The county superintendents of the poor assembled in the office of the secretary Monday to prepare their report of the year to be presented the board of supervisors. The bill for the care and maintenance of the Jackson county insane was received by the secretary Monday for the quarter ending September 30. The sum total amounted to $614.22.

Send 50 cents to the Manchester ENTERPRISE for a pack—150, "Flinch" cards.

Washtenaw County.

Next January work will begin at Ann Arbor on the construction of a Wesleyan guild building which will cost $125,000. This has been agitated some time but on account of the $30,000 debt of the Albion college, it was thought this ought to be freed before any new enterprise was begun, but on January 1st, 1903 this will have been accomplished.

The total eclipse of the moon, visible in Michigan and throughout the United States, will take place on the night of October 16 and is the only eclipse of the year, visible in America.

A pack of "Flinch" cards will help you to spend the lonely winter evenings pleasantly. Send 50 cents to the MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE for a pack and rules of the game.
