

COL. W. C. F. BRECKINRIDGE, ESQ. Famous Southern Orator Returns to Col. Attack of Paralytic Breckinridge died at his home at Lexington, Ky., Nov. 15, from a stroke which he suffered two days before. The end came peacefully. He had been gradually sinking for several days. Col. Breckinridge was a famous orator, a man known as a "Maiden" and led him on a scandalous charge, and were usually they tried from side to side, they could not walk straight in their day, but stood from their committments.

For An Informal Call A Clothier's Single-Breasted Suit is most appropriate. It combines dignity with snap and dash, and has a reputation that the occasion demands. Its fit is flawless as with a wrinkle, fronts remain as smooth as the cloth.

John Wuerthner. Materials are fancy Worsted, Cheviots, Tweeds and Mixtures in light and dark colors. Get one of these suits to wear when you make your next call. It will be stylish in good form. We have them from $10 to $25.
