that H. H. Rogers has subsered a stroke of paralysis. The president of the Amalgamated Copper company has been reported "III" for about a fortnight, following his recent return from Europe, where he went some months ago for his health.

But despite the trip abroad and the temporary retirement from all business affairs, the Rockefeller chieftain grew worse, an illness which culminated in the stroke of helplessness. It is said that the magnate has been generally incommunicado for a fortnight, only his near relatives and intimate friends being permitted to his bedside. One of these in a Boston court Monday afternoon confirmed the story, and gave details of the financier's breakdown.
