Roads have been successfully built upon this soil all over indians, and if successful there, why not elsewhere? The stone or gravel covering must be watertight, thoroughly compacted and with a sufficient slope to cause the water to quickly run off. The sol of them to dress in women's clothes and go over and scare Tyson and ficient slope to cause the water to quickly run off. The mod material serves two purposes—to furnish a some skirts and hats and other female smooth, hard surface, so it will give the least possible resistance to traffic, and second, to shed water and keep the earth beneath the stone of gravel dry. Water is the earth beneath the stone of gravel dry. Water is the only natural enemy of roads, but water is a coward and will run away if given a chance. If a road is flat it does not shed water and will break up and go to pieces. It requires three or four times the expense to maintain a flat road it does one properly crowned. There are no difficulties whatever in building roads successfully on the black loam of the corn belt of the Mississippi valley; in fact, it costs less to build roads there than in Massachusetts where stone abounds. This is due to the fact that in the corn belt there is very little grading to be done, few hills to be cut down or hollows to be filled, and less bridging. The roads will-cost less money, even if the road material has to be shiped 50 or 100 miles by train. It would be interesting to take a concrete example of state aid apply it to a typical farm in one of the central western states and see exactly what state aid means so far as taxes upon that farm are concerned. For the purpose of illustration, let us take an average farm of 150 acres in the corn belt of Illinois, and see Tyson and Botts had time enough to swim farther up in order to get them out of the way. The boat followed them up for about a mile, and then Tyson concluded to do something to explain the situation to the ladies. He was beginning to feel sick.

It tells How to Measure a Roof, How to Make "Valleys" and "Gutters"; How to Lay Heppes No-Tar Roofing Around Chimneys ("Chimney Flashing"), or over old Shingle Roofs, or up against the side of a building with a fire-wall ("Wall Flashing"), or how to apply No-Tar to the sides or interior of buildings, and a great many other practical points. The roofing knowledge you get out of this book is valuable—you can't get it anywhere else. Best of all, the book explains the process of making Heppes No-Tar Roofing—the grandest substitute for shingles ever known, because it gives ten times the protection against time, water, sparks, heat and cold, at a mere fraction of the cost of shingles. The prohibitive price and poor quality of the shingles now on the market has created a widespread dem a satisfactory material to take their place. HEPPES NO-TAR ROOFING is that material. Its price is so extraordinarily low that the combined cost of buying and laying Heppes No-Tar Roofing is much less than the mere cost of singles. The cost of laying a shingle roof is one-fourth the cost of shingles themselves, and Heppes No-Tar Roofing meets modern requirements ten times better than shingles ever did. It makes a handsome, leth-proof, weatherproof, fire-resisting and time-defying roof. It withstands the snow and ice and storms of winter. It is proof against the hottest sun. It is so easy to apply that any man, with the sid of the HEPPES ROOFERS' BOOK can be his own roofer. It walks as a fire-resister is shown by the fact that Fire Insurance Companies charge 25 per cent less for insuring buildings protected by Heppes No-Tar Roofing than for buildings with shingle roofs. Heppes No-Tar Roofing Better Than Shingles—Costs 50% Less The Popularity of Heppes No-Tar Roofing extends from ocean to ocean. Ours is the fastest-growing roofing business in the world. Dealers everywhere sell our roofing.

It is made from the strongest wool felt, water-proofed, and made fire-resisting by being soaked with pure asphalts, and reinforced with coatings of Asphalt, Flint and Mica, under tremendous heat and pressure. Its cool, gray stone color is pleasing to the eye.

Heppes No-Tar Roofing is put up in compact rolls 36 inches wide, and in 1-ply, 2-ply and 3-ply weights. Each roll contains two "squares" or 216 square feet. Each "square" is guaranteed to cover 100 square feet of surface, including a 2-inch overlap. (It is also put up in 1-square rolls.)

Free Cement for Seams and Free Large-headed Nails, with Instructions, are packed in the hollow center of each roll.

Easy to lay-no experience necessary.
