MOST DANGEROUS JOB

Men of Ambulance Service Work Under Fire.

Risk Their Lives to Get American Soldiers Wounded in Action to the Surgeons.

Washington.—Most dangerous of all the work of the American Red Cross is the ambulance service. The drivers and attendants of these ambulances are always under fire.

Lieut. Frank Dempsey talked interestingly about the life of a Red Cross ambulance driver in the Verdun sector where the fighting has been the hottest. The Germans know the country and are able to drop big shells with great accuracy on the roads the ambulances must travel.

"Our work is never out of range of the big guns," said he. "We go up to the third-line trench, gather the wounded and take them back a mile to the dressing station. Here only the roughest bandaging is done and then we start back another mile or so to another station where the most desperate cases are operated upon."

"In the first week we handle the wounded four or five times and finally leave them in the evacuation hospitals. From there they are carried to the base hospitals, usually on trains."

Thus the Red Cross ambulance driver risks his life to get American soldiers to the surgeons. Lieutenant Dempsey had his ambulance blown to pieces while he was a short distance away picking up a wounded man.

When the wounded soldier gets to the dressing stations or hospitals he is assured of the best bandages because loving hands in America in Red Cross chapters have prepared them. And a cheery Red Cross nurse will smooth his pillow and make his convalescence pleasant.

The dollars given to the Red Cross are doing more than 100 cents' worth of good.

Detroit will send 1,000 boys fit to work on farms into the country this spring. That may help some.

Occasionally the "hit dog" tries biting before he howls.

HURRAH FOR THE FLAG

There are many flags in many lands,
There are flags of every hue;
But there is no flag, however grand,
Like our own Red, White and Blue.

We shall always love the Stars and Stripes,
And we mean to be ever true
To this land of ours and the dear old flag,
The Red, the White, the Blue,

HAS TO PROVE CITIZENSHIP

Manchester Boy in Midst of War Game Even in Far Away South-West Africa.

Michael Schaible has received a letter from his son John, who is a missionary in South Africa, which shows that the strife between the Germans and the English in their colonial possessions has been even since the present war began. John has not said much about the war in his letters, probably preferring to avoid any question of the censor. He wrote at this time especially for documents to establish the fact that he was born in Manchester, Michigan, as his village is now in possession of the English and he wishes to remain at home and establish his claim of American citizenship.

John left home about 22 years ago, bent on becoming a missionary. He went to Germany where he spent seven years in study, then was sent to Walvis Bay, German West Africa. Twice while in Germany he visited the United States, but has not been home since going to Africa. Since the war the name of his village has been changed by the English to Walvis Bay, the principal industry of which is the manufacture of cod fish oil.

Rev. Schaible, who still remains in the memory of his Manchester friends as John, married soon after taking up his work and now has a family of five children, the eldest of whom, a girl of 12, is being educated in Cape Town, perhaps 2,000 miles distant. Mrs. Schaible and the children went to Cape Town after the war started, but John moved to a village not far from home and English officers took possession of his house and evidently used it as headquarters.

John's term of service was up at about the opening of the war and he figured on bringing the family to the United States in order to educate the children, but decided to remain a bit longer. Since the war it has been impossible to make the change, but all expect to come when hostilities have ceased.

TO GERMAN-AMERICANS.

By Otto H. Kahn.
I do not apologize for nor am I ashamed of my German birth. But I am ashamed of the Germany which stands convicted before the high tribunal of the war's public opinion of having planned and willed war; of the revolting deeds committed in Belgium and northern France, of the infamy of the Lusitania murders, of innumerable violations of the Hague convention and the law of nations, of abominable and perfidious plotting in foreign countries and shameless abuse of their hospitality, of crime heaped upon crime in hideous defiance of the laws of God and men.

I cherish the memories of my youth, but these very memories make me cry out in pain and wrath against those who have befouled the spiritual soil of the old Germany in which they were rooted.

I revere the high ideals and fine traditions of that old Germany and the time honored conceptions of right conduct which my parents and the teachers of my early youth bade me treasure throughout life, but all the more burning is my resentment, all the more deeply grounded my hostility, against the Prussian caste who trampled those ideals, traditions and conceptions in the dust.

Long before the war I had come to look upon Prussianism as amongst the deadliest poison growths that ever sprang from the soil of the spirit of man.

When the war broke out in Europe when Belgium was invaded, I searched my conscience and my judgment in sorrow and anguish, the powerful voice of blood arguing against the still, small voice of right. And it became clear to me to the point of solemn and unshakable conviction that Prussianism, in mad infatuation, had committed the crowning sin of outraging and defying the conscience of the world and of challenging the right to mortal combat against might, and that the cause which the allies were defending was our cause, because it was the cause of peace, humanity, justice and liberty.

There are some of you, probably, who still find it hard to believe that the German youth can be guilty of the crimes which have made it an outlaw among the nations. But do you know the modern Germany? In the past 25 years not once or twice, but at regular intervals, unless you have looked below the glittering surface of the marvelous material progress and achievement and seen how the soul of Germany was being eaten away by the virulent poison of Prussianism; unless you have watched and followed the appalling transformation of German mentality and morality under the nefarious priesthood of power worship, you do not know the Germany of this day and generation.

The Germany which brought upon the world the immeasurable disaster of this war, and at whose monstrous deeds and doctrines the civilized nations of the earth stand aghast, started into infinite being less than 30 years ago. I can almost lay my finger upon the date and circumstances of its ill-omened advent.

Less than 30 years ago a "new course" was flamboyantly proclaimed by those in authority, and the term "new course" became the order of the day.

There came upon the German people a whole train of new and powerful influences and impulses, formidably stimulating as a powerful drug. There came amongst other evils, materialism and covetousness, and irreligion; over-weening arrogance, an impatient contempt for the rights of the weak, a mania for world dominion, and a veritable lunacy of power worship. There came also a fixed and irrational distrust of the intentions of other nations, for the evil which had crept into their own souls made them see evil in others, and that distrust was nurtured carefully and deliberately by those in authority.

And finally there came "the day" in which the "new course," fatally and inevitably, was bound to culminate. There came the old temptation, as old as humanity itself. The tempter took the Prussian and the Prussianized rulers up a high mountain and showed them all the riches and power of the world. Showed them the great countries and capitals of the earth teeming with peaceful labor—Brussels, Paris, London, and New York, and told them: "Look at these. Use your power ruthlessly and they are yours." And those rulers did not say: "Get thee behind me, Satan," but they said: "Lead on, Satan," and we shall follow thee." And follow him they did, and brought upon the green earth the red ruin of hell.

As that great American of German birth, Carl Schurz, and many other brave and high minded Germans—my own father, I am proud to say, among them—in 1848 stood in arms against Prussian oppression, for liberal ideas and right and truth and freedom, so do we stand now. In fighting for the cause of America, as loyal Americans, we are fighting at the same time for the deliverance of the country of our birth from those unrighteous powers which hold it enthralled and feed upon its soul.

And when—heaven grant it may be soon!—the soul of the German people will have freed itself from the sinister powers that now keep it in ban and bondage, when it will have found again the high impulses and aims of its former self, when it will once more understand and speak the universal language of humanity and right, then, in God's own time there will be peace.

Under the direction of the Red Cross, the women's clubs and others of the village and surrounding country are getting up a large quantity of second hand clothing to send to the Belgians who are in destitute circumstances. The goods will be sent to Ann Arbor next Monday so if you have something you can spare for this worthy cause let Mrs. Lewis Lonier or any member of the Red Cross know about it.

Monday four of our young men, Will Chase, LeRoy Marx, Alvin Clark and Webster Schill left for Ann Arbor from the coast defense. Good luck to them say we all and a safe return home after the war is over.

WORK AMONG ALIENS

College Women Training for Americanization Campaign.

Opportunity for Splendid Service by Those Having Knowledge of Foreign Languages.

Washington.—The knowledge of foreign languages which before the war seemed almost superfluous equipment and of little practical use except as a finishing touch to an education of culture, is now being appreciated by the demand for volunteers to work with aliens, and spread the ideal of Americanization. One of the four war courses at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is "training for work with aliens," taken by those who have conversational command of a modern language. This course will fit young women for work in censorship, translation, the education of aliens and other social work connected with alien supervision.

Young college women in Cleveland are giving evenings to educating foreigners. War news is printed daily in various languages, and posted in the school centers and questions are encouraged and answered.

The University of Wisconsin Y. W. C. A. social service committee is conducting a Big Sister movement among Italian children, and works with a neighborhood house in the Jewish quarter. The Collegiate Alumnae association of Minneapolis, Minn., has a national aid committee which supplies volunteers to teach English to foreign soldiers and civilians.

Miss Edith Bennett, head of the Chicago Collegiate Alumnae Bureau of Occupations, reports many calls in the fall for secretaries and translators with a knowledge of French and Spanish. Swarthmore classes in elementary German have shrunk this year, while Spanish has won a sudden popularity, the classes having tripled in enrollment.

WAR BREAD.
The old-fashioned hoe cake cooked on top of the stove and served with buttermilk is a delicious lunch. Mix the meal with milk or water and sing "America" while stirring.

The Safe, Steady, Farm Light

LALLEY-LIGHT is electric light for the farm. It is safe. It is clean. Its cost is low. Its brilliance is always steady, without a flicker. The light direct from the generator, with the plant in operation, is as sure and steady as when current comes from the storage battery. This is so because Lalley-Light engine is designed especially for driving an electric generator. It has extra large ball-bearings throughout. No other uses two ball-bearings on the crank-shaft; one on the connecting rod. Lalley-Light has been in successful farm use for seven years. It brings new conveniences, better living, to every farm. Its light and power cost but a few cents a day. Let us demonstrate Lalley-Light, free, right on your own farm. Write for the owners' testimonial book.

French Fashions Feature Economy

THE BIG WORK OF THE WAR

LESSON FOR MARCH 24

By E. O. Sullivan, assistant director of the Sunday School of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. (Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

New York.—There is some exciting news about the French fashions that are beginning to appear in America, which will not cause disapproval over here. That the striking similarity between afternoon and evening costume, according to a fashion writer.

It was once said, in a slightly contemptuous manner, that in certain sections of the country the women wear gumpies in their ball gowns on various occasions and that no one was capable of such an economical combination but the American woman, or at least, no other woman who moved in fashionable circles.

It has long been the opinion of the French, whenever they were sufficiently tolerant to be interested in the American type of dress, that they never knew the exact shade of difference that existed between an afternoon gown and the American woman, or at least, no other woman who moved in fashionable circles.

Now, whether or not the American lacked the finer feeling or whether she was conscious that such was the case, she continued to dress in the old-fashioned manner, and she did not change her clothes several times during the day.

Let the women of the European nations do what they please, but in a social atmosphere where leisure and luxury are not the order of the day, she called for a different adjustment of clothes and life.

The American woman has always been a practical dresser. She has not been content with the European nations, but she has been content to change her clothes several times during the day.

Let the women of the European nations do what they please, but in a social atmosphere where leisure and luxury are not the order of the day, she called for a different adjustment of clothes and life.

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys and girls "over the hill" have no doubt of their ability to get there. They will also be springing over this side of the ocean. March is the year's "blue Monday." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at its lowest ebb. But medical science steps in and says, "It need not be!"

LACK OF DRAINAGE IS STILL THE Chief Drawback to Agriculture in Many Parts of Michigan.

From Department of Farm Mechanics, Michigan Agricultural College. East Lansing, Mich.—Most of us, when we think of reclamation projects nowadays, call to mind the mammoth dams of the middle West and the thousands of acres of open semiarid and arid lands which are being reclaimed by bumper crops. ### Our School Notes

*****
"When the outlook is not good * try the uplook." *
*****

With this week closes the winter term of school. The spring term opens April 1st.

We note that the season is advancing as the game of marbles is being given up for baseball.

The little people of the grades have been busy making very neat Easter drawings. The rooms are decorated with them.

The schoolmasters' club will be held at Ann Arbor during the week of vacation and a number of the teachers expect to attend.

All the grades met Monday morning in the high school assembly room to listen to a very helpful and interesting talk by J. H. Kingsley on the Thrift Stamps.

A very interesting program is now being practiced for the last regular meeting of the Alpha Sigma, Thursday evening—tonight. The play, "Hans von Smash" will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rose of Jackson were pleasant callers at the high school last Monday afternoon. Ben attended the school some 25 years ago. The school is always pleased to have such calls.

The teachers gave Miss Dwyer a surprise at the high school building after school Wednesday by inviting her to join them in light refreshments and a pleasant social gathering—all planned in honor of her birthday. Of course Miss Dwyer accepted the invitation, and really is not averse to celebrating birthdays.

LeRoy Marx, '16 and William Chase, '15, visited the school last Friday afternoon, as they were soon to leave for Columbus, Ohio to begin their service for Uncle Sam. All are proud of the boys and the service. LeRoy now has 23 stars, of which 18 are graduates of the school. The stars added the past week were for the following: LaVerne Walter, '13; Alvin Clark, '13; William Chase, '15; Elmer Silkworth, '16; LeRoy Marx, '16; Webster Schill.

SHARON

Gordon Bailey of Clinton visited Miss Maytie Hoelzer, Sunday.

Overseers have been leveling the ruts and making the roads better.

J. W. Dresselhouse and Mahlon Smith are local members of the war preparedness committee.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Mount of Norvell visited at E. M. Smith's from Sunday until Wednesday.

Alfred Smythe and E. M. Smith attended the War Preparedness committee meeting at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The culvert across the Chelsea-Manchester road in the swamp near Corwin's hill, caved in during the high water, but Highway Commissioner Kuhl has rebuilt it.

Daniel Burch has received a letter from his son Charles, who is machinist on the government transport Martha Washington. The boat took 2300 soldiers across among whom were some Michigan men. All landed safely. The return voyage was somewhat rough but they met with no mishaps.

SOUTH NORVELL

Mrs. Schneider of Parma is now staying at Robert Beuerle's.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pence were over-Sunday visitors at Charles Hildinger's at Iron Creek.

Clare Schwartz went to work for P. M. Egan, east of Wampler lake, Sunday.

T. A. Pence and Stanley Hewitt were at James Hogan's at Clinton, Sunday.

Miss Esther Beuerle of Manchester spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt Beuerle.

YOU WORK HARD FOR YOUR MONEY. BANK IT. THEN IT WILL WORK FOR YOU.

Isn't it possible for you to deprive yourself of some little unnecessary extravagance and start a bank account with that money?

You worked for that money—it is yours; why let it go to help some other man's family?

It is safe in our bank. Our bank takes an interest in its depositors and helps them.

FERTILIZER

What analysis do you need, how much per acre, and what kind shall you buy?

You need NITROGEN to grow the plants, as straw, leaves, vines, etc., and to give color to the foliage. You need PHOSPHORIC ACID to produce the grain and hasten maturity. It is the most needed of the three elements, and there is the least of it in manure. You need POTASH to aid in making the sugar and starch which are in the grain; it also stiffens the straw, corn cob, etc. SANDY soils are usually deficient in all three elements. BLACK soils require more available Phosphoric Acid and Potash. CLAY soils contain more Potash than either black or sandy soils.

Nitrogen is nearly always deficient in all soils. Phosphoric Acid and Potash may be actually present in the soil, but not be available. The soil will not produce its maximum yield unless it contains sufficient of all these three elements. Wheat, corn and oats use 200 to 400 lbs. per acre. Hay and meadows use 500 to 700 lbs. per acre. Potatoes use 500 to 700 lbs. per acre. Fruit Trees use 1/2 to 5 lbs. per acre. The average yield of corn is 31 bushels per acre—about half what it should be. It costs as much to fit a field whether it grows 30 or 100 bushels per acre. Labor is scarce and high; do not figure on planting more acres but on how to get the most from what you do plant. Until April 1st we are going to make special prices on the following kinds of fertilizer—all new goods. These prices are for spot cash before April 1st.

These fertilizers are made by ARMOUR and DARLING, the two largest manufacturers of fertilizer in the world. They consist of Dried Ground Blood, Tankage, and Bone, supplemented with Nitrate of Soda, which furnish the nitrogen in such a way that it is there in available form throughout the life of the plant.

	Nitrogen	Phosphoric Acid	Potash	Price
		16		$26.00
		10	1	30.00
1		8	1	35.00
1		12		32.00

We have the fertilizer on hand NOW, not on paper; in addition we have a well assorted stock of Bone Meal in three different grades. It is a good plan to buy your fertilizer for wheat now and get it home. Later it will be very difficult to get and much higher in price.

OUR WEEKLY RECIPE

MOXLEY'S "SPECIAL" RECIPES

POTATO CAKES

2 cupfuls of left-over mashed potatoes
1 teaspoonful melted Moxley's "Special"

1 teaspoonful finely minced onions
1 tablespoonful of flour
Salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer but do not brown the onion in the Moxley's "Special," add to potatoes; stir in the flour and seasoning; mix well; then form into small flat cakes with floured hands; fry in a little hot Moxley's "Special" until golden brown on both sides; serve on hot dish.
