JACKIE BAND CONCERT

Great Crown Assembled And Everybody Voted the Music Excellent.

A large crowd of people assembled at the railroad station in this village at 9:15 Saturday morning when the Jackie band stopped here to give us a sample of the excellent music they dispense.

The train consisted of five express and baggage coaches and six passenger coaches and when the tooters dropped off and took a stand on the grass plot on the south side of the station, there was a grand rush to get where one could see the boys face to face. Three selections were given each of which was applauded, then three cheers was given by the crowd and the jacksies boarded the train and it rolled on Jacksonward.

The object of the band touring the state in this way, we understand, is to put the people in a frame of mind that will cause them to volunteer to buy Liberty bonds. There was nothing said about it however, and many wondered why the band came to stop off here.

So much is done apparently to no purpose, so many thousands of dollars are spent in ways that the public know not of and that the public are asked to do this and that without any sufficient reason being given why, that one finds himself constantly in a guessing contest.

THE WAY I'M STARTIN' OUT.

I'm startin' out to battle, man!
A-prayin' to the Lord,
No "strafe" shame has ever known
The eagles on my sword;
No hiring glance has ever fell,
Or tyrant orders shown
Upon that flag of many stars,
The flag I call my own.
I'm startin' out to battle, man!
A-smilin' at the dawn,
Nor will I show that sorrow comes
When parting with my own;
I go, my friend, to fields afar,
To watch and carry on...
So God shall whisper in my soul
"I welcome you, my own."

MAKE IT VOLUNTARY

Liberty Loan Drive Planned for Voluntary Affairs—Soliciting Only If Necessary.

Washtenaw county proposes to raise its quota of Liberty bonds without soliciting a single dollar. The County War Board is confident that it can be done, and has devised a plan by which every person in the county will know what his fair share is. This is all he is asked to subscribe, and if the board's figures are correct the quota will be raised the opening week of the campaign without solicitation. In the preceding loans a great deal of argument was necessary to convince some people that the bonds were a splendid investment, but such is not the case this time. Everybody knows by now that U. S. Liberty bonds are the best and safest investment in the world and everybody who has money to invest will be anxious to secure some of the fourth loan. However there are not enough people of means in this country to absorb such a large loan, so it becomes necessary for every man, woman and child who can do so to purchase bonds, and to purchase them to the limit of their ability if the loan is to be a success. Remember you are not giving—it is a loan to your government.

In the past banks have invested largely of their surplus in Liberty bonds. During this loan the banks are not asked to do this, because this is essentially a loan of the people, and it is expected that there will be more individual subscriptions than there have ever been for a similar loan. Washtenaw county is anxious not only to subscribe its full share, but is anxious to go over the top the first week, without having had to ask any person to subscribe a dollar. The following table has been prepared so that everyone will know his fair share of the coming loan.

Class	Gross Income	Amount of bonds to be taken in 4th Liberty Loan, Sept. 1, 1918.
1	$ 800.00 or less	$ 50.00
2	1200.00	100.00
3	1500.00	150.00

7	2500.00	350.00
8	2750.00	400.00
9	3000.00	450.00

IN THE THICK OF IT

Former Manchester Boy Writes While Resting From Long Turn Next to Firing.

Somewhere in France, August 26, 1918. The friend who sent The Enterprise: Now that I'm back in a rest billet where I have more work than I have at the front, there remains no excuse for remaining in exile. Besides, I believe I ought to have something to thank you for, which I have shamefully neglected for some time. I have received The Enterprise for about five months, without considering that it wouldn't possibly come without someone to send it. Believe me, I appreciate it, for nothing sounds so good, outside of the retreating footsteps of Fritz and Heine, as to hear what one's own home folks are doing.

Manchester is still my old home town for all my old home's running away from me. And my imagination—always like rubber—can while away many an hour of enforced idleness with pictures of Mr. So-and-so in his new car, and how What-d'you-call-em street looks with Mr. What's-his-name's new house on the corner.

I have been at or within ear-shot of the front now for over five months. Now I am due for a rest and possibly a short leave. But, without bragging—and if you understood the conditions you would know that I am not—everyone that I have seen wants to go back and stick it out to the finish. The idea seems to be to plant the flag in Fritz's garden, pull out a few weeds and get home in time for dinner.

I had some very interesting and lively experiences while at the front which I would be glad to describe in detail but, of course, cannot. I worked in the rear dressing stations, at the advanced aid posts on an ambulance as attendant. Besides my official typewriter-smashing job, I have done everything from bathing gas patients to carrying litters with the infantry. I haven't won a croix de guerre, my only ambition in the cross line being to slip a double cross to Wm. Hohenzollern and then receive a croix de Atlantique.

The nerve of the men we handle is wonderful. Something may be said about the doughboy's coarse language and bad habits, but I can allow all that and still leave off my hat to the man who can beg the litter-bearers to take the other fellow when he knows that he may lose his own life in the necessary wait. The soldier may not have what is called the "visible signs of religion" but he has an unparelleled sin.

Well, must close. We are doing our "durndest" over here, confident that we have the backing of you people at home. When the time is

SHOWS UP GERMAN ATROCITY

Americans Can Hardly Believe Awful Things Committed by Would-be World Conquerors.

Major William C. Cressey, head of the 10th Central Postal Directory hospital, at St. Etienne, France, many horrible atrocities of the Huns and following his description of a scene of torture and butchery inflicted upon Serbian women by the Huns, which he discovered in Monastir after the capture of that city, a scene which he stumbled upon accidentally in a house which had been occupied evidently by Hun officers, there were suppressed screams all over the church and women broke down and sobbed, while men with clenched hands and greatly set faces gazed at the speaker fascinated, while murder welled up in their hearts.

It is not to be wondered that when Major Cressey said, "If any of you shall be over there by and by, and shall see one of these men coming toward you with his hands raised and crying 'Kamerad,' I want you to do something for me—I want you to shoot him dead." It was just here that Major Cressey showed the picture of one of his doctors who had been captured while attempting to save wounded men, and after having his ears cut off and both arms chopped off with an ax, was sent back to the Serbian lines with a message that this was the way all Serbians would be treated.

Major Cressey believes that the Russian army of the south will be reorganized and be one of the largest factors in the settlement of the war.

B-A VOLUNTEER.
On Monday the books will be opened for voluntary subscriptions to meet the $132,300.00 quota for Manchester sector of fourth Liberty Loan bonds. It is a large sum of money, but a dollar too large, taking all in all. And with the wealth of this community considered, it should be raised before the week is over.

Bridgeport, Freedom, Sharon and Manchester have their share of sons and brothers either in France or on the way, and every one of us should be only too glad to do such a work help provide for their maintenance. Too big a bond is not giving, it is simply lending to the government. It is the safest disposal of one's earnings and besides it draws good interest—4 1/2 per cent.

There are but few who cannot afford to buy a $50 bond, as it can be paid for on the installment plan. We want to see this volunteer subscription raised before The Enterprise goes to press next Thursday. Will you do your bit?

It is a sin for any man who is able to work to be idle as these. The young men are needed to conquer the Hun and munition and other factories supplying war needs are calling for help, while the bumper crop of country stands waiting to be harvested and stored to feed the soldiers, sailors and everybody else. Wages are high and men and women are urged to help, it will be the hand that is outstretched, and a genuine knickerbock blow should be struck before winter sets in. Now, all together, let's win.

It may seem a new novel, and to some it may seem silly and a matter of small consequence to have the fruit pits and nut shells used in the household for the use of the government in making gas masks for the soldiers—but the whole country is doing it just the same. Richard S. Powell, vice president of the Ferris Institute, has thousands of barrels in convenient places where anyone may deposit what they have saved—a handful or a peck. Manchester can supply enough of the material to equip gas masks for all her boys—and believe she will do it.

The democrats in state convention at Detroit, Wednesday, were enthusiastic and harmonious. Executive Committee Messink of Big Rapids, vice president of the Ferris Institute, secretary of the state senate, Richard S. Powell, an Iron Mountain bank cashier, state treasurer, James H. Baker, secretary of the state senate, and C. Kent Jakeway, a Rockford manufacturer, are the members of the executive committee. Henry Ford for the United States senate and John W. Bailey of Battle Creek, for governor, was strongly endorsed.

Each community seems inclined to look at its patriotism and the thoroughness with which it complies with the request for gasolene for the aviation division, but they may be well assured that the same thing is being done in other communities that are doing their part best and ever. Detroit is as quiet as any of them on the day. It could be no more complete if it were far rather than a request.

The local selective service board is in an ordinary day for the registration of certain married men in Class 1 who have previously been drafted in Class 1. There was a difference between the French and the American methods of fighting, the former being largely by use of machine guns and the men are sent to the front to do their work.

The United States will be none during the continuation of the war and perhaps longer. The House by a large vote of 171 to 54 concurred with the Senate. The appeal of the 24 indictments let their appeal was turned down. After June 1, 1919, no more beer and wine may be made. After June 30, 1919, no more alcoholic beverages will be sold.

After All—It's for the Boy

Whatever you may loan to the Government in the purchasing of Bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan is for the benefit of your boy, your neighbor's boy, or your friend's boy—the boys overseas. The boys who have donned the country's uniform to protect the rights, the liberty, the very homes and lives of American citizens. Think this matter over, if necessary. You will see that this is the reason why you should

B-A-VOLUNTEER!

Are you ready to do your part in helping to put over Washtenaw County's share of the Fourth Liberty Loan? If so, why wait for someone to come and ask you to do your part? You should need no urging. It is a patriotic duty to which you will gladly respond if you are a true and loyal citizen.

Individual Quota

The individual quota is the only fair and just method of spreading the cost of the war equally, according to the income of each person. It is no more than fair that each person do his full share. No one is asked to do more. No loyal American will wish to do less. We trust that every person will enter into this volunteer plan. If you will call at any of the offices soon to be opened in various parts of the county the Liberty Loan workers will be glad to help you determine what is your just share in this issue of the Liberty Loan. A table has been carefully worked out as being adapted to the conditions of this county. If your case is an average one the table will show you what you should do. See first-page of The Enterprise.

Volunteer Subscriptions

Under the Volunteer plan no subscriptions will be taken anywhere in the county except at the nine Liberty Loan offices.

Every person in the county who possesses available capital or who earns an income will be expected to go to the Liberty Loan office in the district where he resides and subscribe for the amount of bonds he should take.

Every day subscriptions will be canvassed by a board of review and every subscriber who appears to have done all that he ought to do will receive a Volunteer Window Card.

No Volunteer Cards will be issued after Volunteer Week and solicitors will not call at houses where Volunteer Cards are displayed in the window.

From 9:00 a. m. until 8:00 p. m. Liberty Loan offices will be open in the nine different places in the county and will remain open the entire week beginning Monday, Sept. 30th, and closing Saturday, Oct. 5th.
