FAMOUS AUTHOR-SOLDIER ASKS WAR RELIEF SUPPORT

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson Writes From Battle Fields of France Appealing For Support of United War Work Campaign Drive.

New York, Nov. 5.—The War Council of the Young Women's Christian Association makes public today the following from Lieutenants Coningsby Dawson, of the Canadian Field Artillery, written on a battle field in Northern France.

A Message to the American People. "We at the front are doing our best—we are willing to give our all. We want to save nothing for ourselves, if only by giving we can bring peace to the world."

"You at home cannot fight with our lives. You CAN fight with your money. The Y. W. C. A. is offering you just this chance. They garrison the women's support trenches which

CHAMPION BENNY LEONARD SAYS BOXING MAKES BAYONET FIGHTERS

Holders of World's Lightweight Title, Who Has Taught 40,000 Camp Upton Soldiers the Art of Self-Defense, Proud of the Record of Pupils in 77th Division Who Have Been Prodding the Huns Back to Berlin.

By BENNY LEONARD (World's Lightweight Boxing Champion and U. S. Army Boxing Instructor at Camp Upton.)

I HAVE taught boxing to 40,000 soldiers in training at Camp Upton, most of them men who never saw a boxing glove, let alone pulling one on. They learned how to jab with the left, counter with the right, step out of a clinch, hit and get away and some other tricks of the Marquis of Queensberry art.

How Boxing is Taught

After I took the championship from Freddie Welsh I was sent by the Commission on Training Camp Activities to be boxing instructor at Upton. There I was associated with Captain Frank Gluck, formerly "some" football player. We formed classes of 250 men each for caelesthenics. In two months the boys could shadow box in regular style.

BENNY LEONARD

came to our rescue and granted us permission to string rings in their huts and in this manner regular shows were held in the huts afternoons and evenings. And what action! Wow! they kept mauling each other to their hearts' content. Three exhibitions a day put them in fine fettle.

Officers enthusiastic. Major Thomas, Major General J. Franklin Bell, and General George Hays and his staff became red hot boxing fans. Major Thomas put on a special question.

Senny Leonard was asked to teach the thousands of soldiers there to box, thus fitting them for open warfare. In the preliminary work I made

DO NOT EXPECT BOY HOME THE DAY BATTLE CEASES MYRON T. HERRICK, FORMER AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, SAYS DEMOBILIZATION WILL TAKE MONTHS.

CRITICAL PERIOD FOR BOYS United War Work Campaign Fund Must Reach $250,000,000 to Supply Needs of Boys, Ohioan Asserts.

New York, Nov. 5.—"Don't expect to see your boy come marching off the boat the week after the Germans surrender," said Myron T. Herrick, former Ambassador to France in an interview yesterday. "It took us a good while to accustom ourselves to the idea of a long war; we must begin now to accustom ourselves to the thought that the process of winding up a war is also long and painful; and that whether peace comes next Spring or Summer or even before, we shall still have our boys over there for a long time."

GIVES GARAGE TO WAR RELIEF American General Turns Over Commodious Barn to Salvation Army.

New York, Nov. 3.—How an American General gave up his garage so that it might be converted into a Salvation Army hut somewhere in the Toul sector, is told in an interesting letter received at the headquarters of the United War Work Campaign, No. 60 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City, from a Salvationist in France.

When Staff Captain Coe and Adjutant Case reached A in the Toul sector, some five hundred French soldiers, who had been gassed a short while before, were being removed from the dismantled war. The appearance of the Salvationists was greeted with cheers by the troops, and they were offered chow and quarters without delay.

The Salvationists sought the general's headquarters, determined to obtain possession of the barn at any cost. "What can I do for you?" asked the general smilingly. "We need your garage," responded Captain Coe. "The barn is yours," answered the general.

The large quantities of cull beans left on the hands of farmers as a result of the unfavorable weather at the time when the bean crop was harvested, can be used as a feed for fattening hogs if mixed with an equal part of ground cornmeal.

SCHWAB DECLARES OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER EVERY DAY

Head of U. S. Shipping Board Declares Americans Must Support United War Work Campaign As An Incentive to Boys.

New York, Nov. 4.—Declaring that "every day makes the outlook for victory brighter," Charles M. Schwab, director general of the United States Shipping Board, today appealed for support of the United War Work Campaign on November 11-18. In a letter to the campaign headquarters of the National Catholic War Council, at 124 East 28th street, Mr. Schwab said:

"Every day brings news from the front that encourages us in our task, and makes the outlook for victory brighter. We here at home have never even considered the possibility of defeat. Why? Because we know that the incomparable men of America who are fighting our battles for us cannot be beaten. How encouraging, how restful to feel this supreme confidence."

Unlike Topsy— Swift & Company Has Not "Jest Grown"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions of Americans, promptly, expeditiously, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plants, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of half a century.

Because of all these elements working in correlation and unison, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed on request to Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

lie behind the men's. They ask you to supply them with the munitions of mercy that they may pass them on to us. We need them badly. Give generously that we may the sooner defeat the Hun."

Coningsby Dawson, Lieut. Canadian Field Artillery. Coningsby Dawson, though born in England, finished his education in the United States and was living in Massachusetts when the war broke out. His novels, "The Garden Without Walls," "The Ruff," "Slaves of Freedom" had brought him fame.

His family were living in Canada, and existing there, he has been at the front ever since.

His "Cery On"—a series of letters home from the front, has had an enormous circulation, and is filled with sentences which have found a place as familiar quotations.

Writing to his father, on the departure of himself and brothers to Europe, he said:

"I'm so sorry for you dear people, but I'd be sorrier for you if we were all with you.

"If I were a father or mother I'd rather have my sons dead than see them falling when the supreme sacrifice was called for."

Pities Men Not There. From the battlefield he wrote:

"We are sorry for the men who aren't here, for it's a wonderful thing to have chosen to sacrifice and perhaps to die that the world of the future may be happier and kinder."

"The men I pity are those who could not hear the call of duty."

In his latest book, "The Glory of the Trenches," Lieut. Dawson sidly presents a side of war that makes everyone who reads it, want to back to his or her utmost those organizations which are backing the front with "munitions of mercy." Seven of these organizations are uniting in a War Work Drive the week of November 11th, to raise sufficient funds to carry on their work during the continuance of hostilities and the long period of reconstruction, which will follow. All who recoil at the sight of a soldier blinded or maimed by German treachery, can actively express their revulsion by generously contributing to this Campaign, fund which the Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., National Catholic War Council, and Knights of Columbus, Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association, War Camp Community Service, and Salvation Army are out to raise.

Fight at Ankles Loose Over Hips

New York.—The substitution of one idea for another as a form of regeneration, rejuvenation and re-energizing of the human brain, is as old as psychology.

It was practiced, years ago a leading fashion critic, probably long before the word was invented. It is the latest of the world's fundamental creeds, moral, physical and mental; and when some of the religionists get hold of it, they are doing it today, and so far it has never failed them with their own people.

They really are a very well-dressed contingent today, and we have never seen them parading around in old clothes as we expected. Here and there we see a tendency to wild exaggeration, but there is no blatant immorality. The tendency is left out of the scheme of apparel.

You all know by this time the fact that the woman's skirt is tight at the ankles and gracefully loose over the hips; the result of the substitution of the slim-cut skirt for the old-fashioned long, loose, or the absence of waistline; the Arab tunic; the cravat skirt; the long, loose, or the absence of waistline.

It is quite important that the hands should be kept free for a covering. Don't throw up your hands and gasp at this and say that fashion is a mere whim. It is really a change that has been brought about by the woman's mind.

This loosening up of the hips is a return to the skirt of a nearby season. It is a woman's mind over her work. They are strange twins of fashion; one is born in this autumn of 1918; the other in the autumn of 1917.

The Japanese toddle is almost equal to the woman's mind over her work. They are strange twins of fashion; one is born in this autumn of 1918; the other in the autumn of 1917.

Seven Years In Use

LALLEY-LIGHT has been in actual farm use for seven years. That removes it far from all thought of experiment. Hundreds of farmers know it is reliable and safe and low cost to run. They know its light is bright and steady and unfailing. We will give you a free demonstration of Lalley-Light on your farm any time. Call for the book of owners' testimonials.

LALLEY-LIGHT

THE BALL-BEARING ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

Decide NOW to put an Electric Light plant on your farm, not only for the brilliant, steady light that it will bring, but for the power that it will give you.

Decide upon the LALLEY LIGHT as the plant for your farm, because it is easy to install and so simple in operation that anyone can run it; because its ball-bearing equipment means easy running and long life; because the construction of the engine and governor enables you to use current either direct from the generator or from the storage batteries; because it will give you better light and more power and give it at a lower cost.

DEMONSTRATION AT MY RESIDENCE.
