Donna said that barbershop singing resembles common speech in many ways. The emotion and ebb and flow of the words and music matches that of how we talk with friends in our many moods. She mentioned that they feed off the audience as does the audience feed off them, sometimes to the point of shared tears.

When you go to the Chicken Broil, remember to search out the Sweet Adelines and gain a musical snack. And come to the gazebo concert on July 25 and sit down to enjoy a feast. Maybe you'll be hooked just like me.

Carlisle emphasized that the issues are not closed and he welcomed continued feedback from the community and commissioners. The Commission gave copies of the workshop summary to Janet LeBeau Shurtliff and Vanessa Forsthoef in case they would like to print this information in their respective papers.

EMANUEL DUMPSER Hinkley informed the Commission that the church decided to just leave the dumpster where it is.

Bihlmeyer Top 4-H'er in Wood Science for 1991

by Howard Parr

Daniel Bihlmeyer, 16, of Manchester, was named top state 4-H'er in wood science at the 1991 State 4-H Awards Assembly held June 20 during 4-H Exploration Days at Michigan State University.

Daniel, son of John and Nancy Bihlmeyer, will represent Michigan in his awards category at the National 4-H in Chicago this December.

"From the very beginning of my 4-H career, woodworking has been my number one favorite pastime," Daniel said. "What a wonderful feeling to start from picture or dream, some raw wood, a lot of hours of patience and elbow grease to end up with a beautiful piece of furniture I will have the rest of my life."

Daniel is a teen leader for the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Program, a member of the board of Students Against Drunk Driving and a member of the Manchester High School concert and marching bands.

"Leadership skills, survival skills and good old 'stick-to-it-ness' are all things that I have learned through 4-H," Daniel said. "I know these are what make a better friend, a patient listener and most of all a good citizen."

Daniel will begin his junior year at Manchester High School this fall. He hopes to pursue a career in television sports broadcasting.

The 4-H wood science award is sponsored by WOOD magazine, DEFT, Inc., the Michigan 4-H Crafts Auction and Evelyn Machtel. The 1991 State 4-H Awards assembly is sponsored by Michigan 4-H Youth Programs (Please see page 16)

Since construction of our "new" athletic complex near Klager Elementary School, there has been some confusion regarding which athletic field people may be talking about. Is it the old field or the new?

At last year's Manchester High School Alumni Reunion, President Joe Roberts announced a project to research the records and come up with clarification of the original name used for this field. This has been done and he has asked me, an alumnus of the class of '37, to make this presentation today. I am pleased and proud to make this effort for him on behalf of our Manchester High School Alumni Association which just held its 114th annual reunion.

On September 13 and 14, 1939, as a part of Gala Days and Homecoming celebration, the field was dedicated as Alumni Memorial Field because it had been purchased by the Alumni Association and donated to the school district. Acquisition of this field took our athletes out of Albert Kiebler's cow pasture, off Grossman Road, just south of West Austin Road. It also broadened the possibilities for community events such as Gala Days, track meets for rural schools, the Fair, and finally, the Chicken Broil.

The stone pillars you walked between to enter the field for your chicken dinners were constructed in memory of two well-loved teachers. Minnie Sullivan Spafard taught in the high school until she married Fred Spafard. Their son, Frank, was the father of Richard Spafard, who still is claimed as a Manchesterite, though he is convalescing in the Evangelical Home in Saline. Evan Essary was superintendent of schools but in those days, the superintendent also taught full time.

Newspaper clippings saved by Reno Feldkamp provided the key which permitted location of others which tell a rather complete story of the 1939 celebration.

Fred Lehman, cashier of the Peoples Bank, gave the dedicatory address for the new athletic field and turned the deed for it over to William Kulenkamp, president of the board of education. Frank Leeson was Village President, Robert Merrithew was master of ceremonies, Orville Way was President of the Chamber of Commerce and Walter Frey, Commander of the Legion Post.

Homecoming Queen that year was Marian Hanewald, supported by her court consisting of Lucille Parr Bevier, Margaret Feldkamp Fielder, Jacqueline Knauss Armentrout and Alice Vogeding Maurer. Many of the members of these families still live here and Jacqueline is here today representing them.

The Manchester High School Alumni Association is planning to place a wrought iron sign over the stone pillars at the entrance to the field designating this site as Alumni Memorial Field.

The Workhorses of the Broil

Over 14,000 people visited Manchester last Thursday and many, many of them were initially greeted and welcomed by a special group of volunteers: the horse-drawn transportation division of the Manchester Chicken Broil.

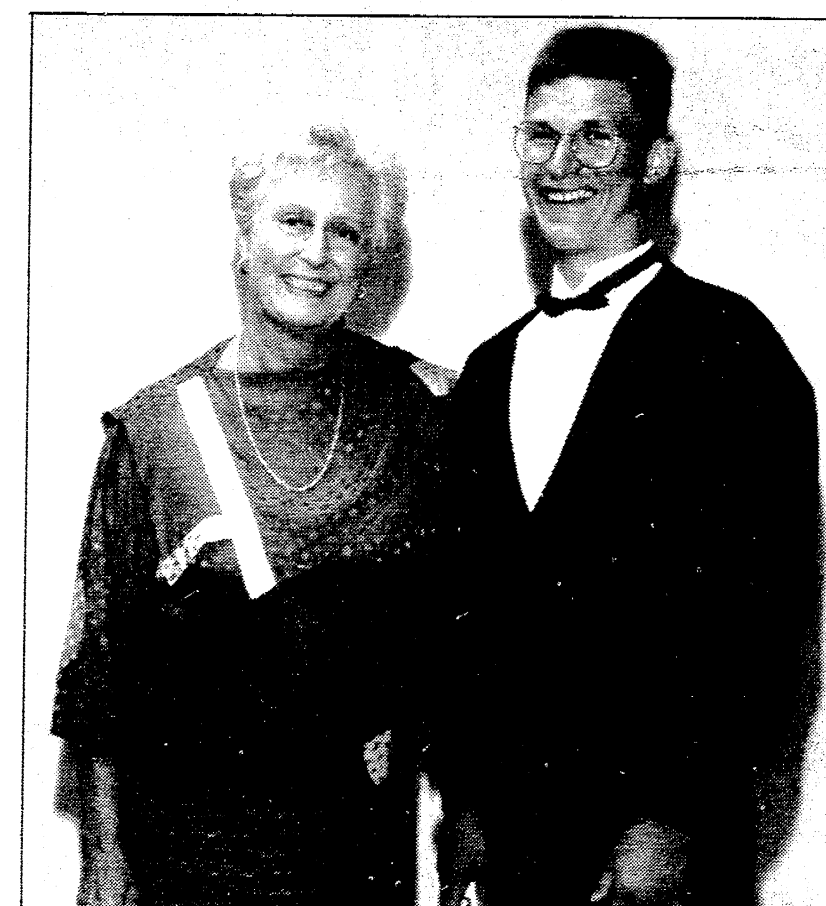

Year after year, this group is one of the most popular attractions of the Chicken Broil. Visitors to our annual event can park their car in the high school parking lot and be conveyed in good old-fashioned style to the festivities by one of eight dedicated combinations of drivers and teams.

Youngsters and adult passengers alike are charmed and entertained by the friendly banter between teamsters, the good-natured humor and conversation. The drivers generously provide information and answer questions. (Everyone wants to know, "What are the horses' names?")

Eight teams provided transportation this year: 10 to 12 teams would be great for next year. If you have a team of horses (or mules, or ponies), show them off, give them some exercise, contribute to an important community affair—and enjoy the camaraderie. Wendell Reinhardt and Ron Fielder were co-chairmen of horse transportation this year and may be contacted for information about volunteering. See page 8 for additional photos.

PROFILE: Jeff Wallace

Councilperson and Manchesterite

This ninth in the political profile series features Jeff Wallace, Councilman for the Village.

Jeff is truly a native of Manchester, arriving March 2, 1956, the youngest child of John and Genevieve Wallace. Mary Ann, John Jr. (Butch), Gary, Pat and Jeff comprised the family of five.

While talking to Jeff, one thing seemed to stand out more than all others: the love of heritage in and for the Village of Manchester. Telling about childhood memories and growing up in town evoked a wistful nostalgia that drew this writer to those days to which Jeff was referring. Walking uptown, riding a bike, sneaking off down to the river, hiking the old railroad beds and picking up rail spikes were just a few of the mentioned adventures that young boys had. Jeff grew up next to the Fields and with Pat as one of his childhood friends, there was always a softball game available or some one to chum around with. All the kids in town knew each other and shared some fun times together, he said.

Jeff was on student council in high school, participated on the golf team and was a reserve on the basketball team. During his senior year, the basketball team went to the quarter finals in Brighton. Jeff commented on how supportive the townspeople were during their defeat. When they lost at Brighton, people came out of the stands after the game to offer support and congratulations. The team was greeted back at the gym with sandwiches and pop and between 75 and 100 fans expressed their appreciation.

Jeff graduated in 1974 from MHS. One of his first jobs was working parttime for Sam Beal in the hardware store where the Post Office is now located. In 1974, Jeff went to work at Ford Motor Company's Rawsonville Plant. He was laid off in 1975 but later called back that year and remained there until Thanksgiving of 1979. With a degree in business administration and management earned in 1982, Jeff changed his direction away from the auto industry. 1983-1985 was spent with Discount Tire Co. in Jackson and Lansing. Jeff joined Kleinschmidt Hardware in October of 1985 and then into their house-remodeling division in 1989. One of the first jobs Jeff was involved with was remodeling his grandmother's home that Kleinschmidt purchased at the park by the Gazebo. That job is outstanding and Jeff is understandably proud of the outcome.

Village Council beckoned in 1989, when Tapping and Harris declined another term. Jane Cooper and Jeff were elected to the two open council positions. His immediate involvement with the Parks Department and with Finance and Budget provided the involvement needed to familiarize a new council person.

Parks and parks improvement has become Jeff's cause. Kirk park master plan accomplishment and dedication was made possible by obtaining $40,500 in state funds and $26,000 set aside for Village Park funds. That project is very close to being completed. Two tennis courts, a basketball court and a parking lot are almost ready for use. Jeff likes to acknowledge the several groups like the Men's Club who over the years have provided many of the amenities that the children have come to enjoy. The recent addition of the Moon Walker by the Men's Club is one example. The Chicken Broil has pledged two years worth of profits to the Chi-Bro Park project. The first phase of the improvements, costing $11,000, is for fencing, grass, trees and underground utilities. The second phase will be about $75,000 worth of work and improvements with $20,000 coming from the Chicken Broil and $55,000 from state grants. Jeff relayed that Fred Barkley, who lives in Chelsea and works for the Washtenaw County Parks Department has been instrumental in obtaining funding for the projects.

Jeff said he wants to see the completion of Chi-Bro Park, and help in continuing the traditions that he was able to enjoy when he grew up. My hat's off to you, Jeff!

The Second Front Page: Focus on —Blueberries PLUS!

One of the best children's books I've read is Robert McCloskey's Blueberries for Sal. In this story, Little Sal and her mother go on a day trip to Blueberry Hill to pick blueberries for winter preserves. Sal can't help but raid her mother's berry bucket, and so mother gently admonishes her to go off on her own to find berries to eat. On the other side of Blueberry Hill, Mother Bear and her young cub do much the same, but store up for winter on site. Baby Bear goes off on her own, much like Sal. To the reader's delight Sal ends up parading behind Mother Bear and Baby Bear ends up parading behind Sal's mother. In the end, everyone gets properly reunited, blueberries picked, blueberries eaten.

Now I can't promise you "Blueberry Hill", and I can't say I've seen many bears lately, but I will tell you that if you want blueberries, now's the time to get them. Check the papers and you'll see the U-Pick advertisements, or take the easy route and head over to Farmer's Market this Saturday in Ann Arbor. I'll make it worth your while.

We went berry picking just last week, actually ending up at a place we didn't start out for. West of Grass Lake just inside Jackson County, a guy by the name of Robert Myers and his wife Rosie have a pick-em-yourself place. It has a nice setting, back in off the road, an acre and three fourths in size, and lots of berries. When we pulled up, Bob sat in a comfortable lawn glider under a shade tree, not too concerned about life, except maybe beating the heat. Friendly, talkative, he answered our questions about chemical sprays and residue on the berries and such, we being concerned and preferring organic produce.

Bob spoke direct and commented that you invite pests when you have large tracts of the same crop, and so he does spray. The curculio beetle, which attacks stone fruits, can lay eggs in the green berries and their larvae will eat the immature fruit. A fungus disease called mummy berry causes the berries to shrivel and dry on the bush before ripening. These both have appeared in Bob and Rosie's orchard and so they spray in the spring during flowering right up to the time that the berries begin to form. Residues, according to Bob, leach off the berries shortly after application. I feel better washing anything that's had chemicals sprayed on them, so that's what we did with these.

Blackbirds can do as much damage to blueberry crop as anything else, according to Bob, and so he has this unique sound system to deter them. At intervals of time, dawn to dusk, a loud distress call blasts from an outdoor speaker, intending to worry blackbirds away. Imagine a flock of 400-500 large black birds descending from the sky wiping out an entire blueberry crop in a day. Robins like blueberries too, but not much can be done to stop them. Bob has placed large plastic owls, "birds of prey", on tall poles in an attempt to scare them, but he'll chase 40-50 of them out of the bushes in the morning. Robins will feast, gulping berry after berry.

Bluebirds also like blueberries, but they feed more daintily. They'll fly to a berry bush, take one, fly back to the perimeter of the patch, and eat it. A lot of work for a meal, but I bet it's a pretty sight.

Last of all, blue jays eat these fruits too. They'll stay in the orchard eating a berry at a time, but feeding more slowly than robins.

You probably know that blueberry plants have shallow root systems. A high water table helps their growth, but too high a table will kill the roots. Bob and Rosie have a drip irrigation system using well water. They'll drip an average of 35 gallons of water per bush per week to keep them growing and the berries juicy. And juicy they are.

Bob and Rosie's opened July 1st this year, two and a half weeks earlier than usual. Bob said: "I've never seen them berry this way". And he's been at it for awhile too. Right now the "medium" crop has ripened and some of the "late" crop has begun to do the same. They'll keep going through to the first frost but who's to say given the heat and growing season we've experienced this year? I say, get em now!

How do you pick berries? Well, those dark purple-blue babies just sort of pop off into your hand as you give them a little tug. Bob gives you a bucket to put them in; you don't even have to bend over to pick them. If you pick and eat, you'll take awhile to fill your pail, but if you mean business, you'll average about seven pounds in 45 minutes. You'll pay per pound. Bob told me of an eccentric professor who'd come in and strip off 14 pounds of berries in 20 minutes. I'd like to see what he could do with a banjo!

If you want to drive out to Bob and Rosie's, take Michigan Avenue about four miles west out of Grass Lake until you come to Portage. Hang a right, go about half a mile to College Drive, hang a right, and drive in. Hours are 7:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., seven days a week as long as there are berries to pick.

The bonus to this article and your reward for reading another stellar piece of journalism is the opportunity to enter a juicy little contest and win yourself a six-month subscription to our own Manchester Enterprise. You'll also get your name in the paper, a picture taken perhaps, and the publication of your secret recipe for the following...

—R. Zang

THE OFFICIAL MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE BLUEBERRY MUFFIN CONTEST

Enter your own special blueberry muffin recipe by submitting to the Enterprise on Wednesday, July 31, a sample of your muffins (two or three will do) for the judges to sample. Do so by bringing them into the Enterprise between high noon and 6:00 P.M.

All entries must be submitted anonymously: that is, write your name, address, and phone number on a piece of paper and have it taped to the bottom of your plate or pie pan so that we don't favor your excellent reputation as a baker. We will not discriminate by age, sex, or eye color.

At approximately 6:15 P.M. of that same day, the judges will sacrifice their busy schedule give up their attempts to control their dietary intake and indulge in the arduous task of eating fresh blueberry muffins. The muffins must include fresh blueberries and the winning contestant must be willing to share his or her recipe with the rest of the community. Any tie between contestants will result in further sampling, careful study, and a final decision.

Questions you may have regarding this once of a lifetime opportunity can be answered by our friendly staff at the Enterprise. The winner will indeed win a six-month subscription to the Enterprise and an opportunity to read more excellent journalism.

Out & About

While this writer has been digging around gathering data for the report on the Mill Dam, I ran across some notes that appear to be the beginning of a request for a dredging permit for the Corps of Engineers. As near as I could make out, (the notes almost in an illegible scrawl), the applicant is, or will be, from the Manchester Yacht or Yacht Club, MYC. The notes that I have been trying to decipher are as follows:

1. each member shall own a boat that floats and is waterworthy.

2. that boat must float on the surface.

3. all applicants for membership in the MYC must pass inspection.

4. member must be able to tie knots from 8 p.m. to dawn.

5. send all inquiries to P.O. Box 37.

6. landing rights only at Max's landing, Ford backwater and Mill Dam.

7. Freddy's Island is the birthing dock for MYC and for all new boats.

8. frequency of meetings is sporadic and are located at mill generator

9. customs inspections are at Max's landing only, cash duties must be paid immediately.

10. sampling of merchandise may be required by customs inspector.

11. because of the pressing demand upon the time constraints of politicians, they shall be denied membership.

12. should any politician apply for membership, they shall immediately resign from the human race, which they have never been a part.

Anyhow, as near as I can make out, that application to the Corps of Engineers, is to dredge the channel from Lake Erie to the Manchester Mill Dam, for boats not exceeding 6 millimeter beam, 10 millimeter length, and 3 millimeter draught (without foam). Now I haven't been able to find out if the application has been formally filed yet. The president nomination is Max B. something. The rest of the officers names are impossible to read but the initials seem to be T.B.V., D.E.L., and E.W.? Anyhow, that is my kind of club, have a lot of fun and dig a deep hole for the politicians.

Poor Gar, must be all that ice water in the Dunk Tank prevented him from walking in the right direction at the 1991 Manchester Community Fair, to get his home cooking. There were home made pies and cookies available along with sausage and sauerkraut from our two local food wagons Emanuel Country Cookin' and the Kiwanis.

The Fair was a success! Our records show that over 500 more people attended this Fair than in 1990. At times, it may have looked as though there were not many people around, but when riding the Ferris Wheel, it was possible to see people in many areas enjoying, all the difficult activities going on at the same time.

There were 139 exhibitors entered in the exhibit building in 1990. This year, 1991, there were 165 exhibitors. These people may

We live on the north side of West Main Street and have been watching and listening to the construction of the storm sewer separation project as it has progressed from Washington Street westward.

On Thursday, July 18, they started work at 6:30 a.m. and worked their way from Macomb Street to Union Street. At 1:30 p.m. it became rather quiet. On checking, we discovered that the have entered one item or as high as 45 items. There were definitely more entries in the exhibit building.

We are proud to have W. G. Wade Shows, Inc. They added a brand new Ferris Wheel to their show last August. This Ferris Wheel was a new design for the height, that only became available in the summer of 1990. They are constantly working to improve for everyone's pleasure.

There is a positive note, the Dunk Tank will be back, and maybe Gar can volunteer to help out as a willing participant, and in other areas that he feels improving at the Fair.

It takes many hours of volunteer work to put this Fair together. Because of all the volunteers and people who worked so hard without complaining, this made the Fair better for everyone to enjoy. This is what makes and keeps a community working together for the enjoyment of all (the Fair, Chicken Broil, Fireworks and other community activities).

Progress makes changes, and progress makes a better Fair. Changes can make the price go up, as everyone noticed when the Manchester Enterprise changed ownership.

The Manchester Community Fair Board would like to thank all those who worked, exhibited, participated and supported your Fair.

Plans are already underway for the 1992 Manchester Community Fair.

Gazebo Concert Update

Last week's gazebo concert was definitely a night to remember. Folks from all around came to hear Luke Schaible and the Sounds of Germany Band. Many were old friends of Luke's who wanted to hear again those great German and Polish rock-n-roll and country tunes that his band has been playing so well for so many years. Others came for the first time to confirm reports that this band is really something to hear. Thanks, Luke, for giving this town and its guests such a fun evening of music to top off the chicken broil festivities.

This week at the gazebo, we'll be treated to the sweet sounds of barbershop harmony with a concert by two groups—the "Jackson Cascades Sweet Adelines" women's chorus and "Three Men and a Daddy", a male quartet from Grand Rapids.

A distinctively American form of music, "barbershop" was originally performed by groups of four men singing separate parts—the lead, or melody, the baritone, the bass and the high tenor. With four similar-sounding voices, the harmonies could be very close and warm, or quite far apart and exciting. To expand the vocal ranges and still maintain the characteristic closeness of harmony, male choruses evolved, thus allowing for six- and even eight-part singing.

Of course, it wasn't too long before women realized that another just-as-beautiful sound could come from combining four or more female voices. And so began the tradition of the Sweet Adelines.

Today, "barbershop" is celebrated in town and cities everywhere by hundreds of chapters of choruses who regularly gather to perform, sometimes even to compete, but always to share their love for a style of music that will always be a part of the American folk culture.

Next week, August 1, the gazebo concert will take place inside St. Mary's Church, across the street, where the acoustics of the sanctuary there will enhance the sounds of a classical chamber music concert.

Preparing for their formal "debut" are two newly-formed musical groups from Manchester. One, a recorder ensemble, will play music from the Baroque and Renaissance periods. The other, the Manchester Chamber Orchestra, will play music from the classical symphonic repertoire as well as popular music arranged for stringed instruments.

Rounding out the evening will be the "Tree City Strings", a quartet from Ann Arbor, who will play Dvorak's American String Quartet.

Concerts are open to the public, free of charge. Donations are gratefully accepted, either in the donation cans at the park, or by mailing a check made payable to the "Manchester Recreation Task Force" c/o the Community Resource Center, 122 West Main Street.

Manchester Community Schools Summary Board of Education Meeting July 15, 1991 Not Official Minutes

Special Meeting — Truth in Taxation Hearing

The meeting was called to order by President Sahakian at 7:47 p.m.

Members present: Sahakian, Turk, Abbott, Gordon
Members absent: Gilbert, Gaughan, VanBogelen

President Sahakian explained that the purpose of the hearing is to comply with Public Act 5 of 1982 which established a "Truth in Taxation" procedure for local school districts. Superintendent Niedzwiecki further explained that the Board of Education must conduct a public hearing prior to officially approving the levy of the additional millage rate. This is scheduled for the August 19, 1991 meeting. The hearing is necessary because the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) increased in the school district and would generate more revenue for the 1991-92 fiscal year. The Board proposes a tentative levy of not to exceed the authorized millage rate of 40.1336 mills for operating purposes for 1991. Questions and concerns in reference to taxes were expressed by audience members to which Board members responded.

The Truth in Taxation Hearing was adjourned at 8:03 p.m.

Regular Meeting

The meeting was called to order at 8:04 p.m. by President Sahakian with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Members present: Sahakian, Gordon, Abbott, Turk
Member absent: Gilbert, Gaughan, VanBogelen

The minutes of the following meetings were approved as presented: June 17, 1991, regular; June 24, 1991, special; and July 1, 1991, organizational.

The financial report and bills payable were approved as presented with a cash balance as of June 30, 1991 in the amount of $832,605.98; post approved bills payable of $368,243.89.

Correspondence - President Sahakian extended a verbal invitation, per Joe Roberts, to all Board members to attend the rededication of the Alumni Memorial Athletic Field on Thursday, July 18, 1991 at 5:30 p.m.

New Business - The Board approved Karin Hanson to be employed to the part-time 51 day position of Migrant Resource Teacher.

Barbara Stein has been appointed to the position of junior varsity volleyball coach for the 1991-92 season.

The resignation of Jeff Etzel as junior varsity football coach has been accepted, with regret.

Annually a Board member is selected as representative to the Washtenaw Association of School Boards. Mark VanBogelen has been appointed as the 1991-92 representative.

Board members moved to appoint Pat Sahakian as the Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB) Legislative Relations Network member representing Manchester Community Schools.

The Executive Committee of the Board has reviewed and discussed potential ad hoc committees for the 1991-92 school year. Members of the Board have been designated to serve on the following committees: personnel, facility planning, food service, communication, district school improvement, health advisory, and millage. Policy review participants will be determined as needed.

Bids on the Tax Anticipation Notes were received, publicly opened and read at 2:00 p.m. Monday, July 15, 1991. The bid from First of America, at an interest rate of 4.84%, for the purchasing $1,700,000 Tax Anticipation Notes of the school district, against the operating portion of the school tax, was accepted.

Board members voted to increase the admission prices for athletics effective with the fall sports of 1991. High school admission prices for adults and students grades 7-12 will be $3.00; students K-6, $2.00; and pre-sale for students grades 7-12, $2.00. Middle school admission prices will be adult, $2.00; students K-12, $1.00. Pre-school children and senior citizens will be admitted free to all athletic events. The athletic department will make available a booklet of 10 tickets for $20.00 good for all home contests.

Discussion Items - A District Goals and Board Goals - A special meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, July 25, 1991 at 8:00 p.m. for the Board to conduct a work session to identify Board goals for 1991-92. On September 18, 1991 at 7:30 p.m., a "Town Meeting" will be held to gather community input in developing District goals.

B. Review Board Goals for 1990-91 - Superintendent Niedzwiecki and Board members briefly reviewed some of the goals that were set for 1990-91. Topics to be covered at the July 25, 1991 work session include: strategic planning, enhancing communication, acquiring MASB school board accreditation, board self-evaluation and reviewing board policy.

C. Facilities Report - The Board of Education has accepted the facilities report, which was presented at a special Board meeting on July 1, 1991, and has confirmed it as the basic master plan for facility usage and development. Copies of the report are available in the Superintendent's office.

How much wood would a woodchuck chuck... "If he wasn't so busy eating nice green leaves from the vegetable plants? It's a hypothetical question, one that neighbor Herman will keep trying to figure out. Our pedro game was interrupted by one of the little critters peeking out (there may be more than one). Wouldn't it be lots worse "If a woodchuck could chuck wood"? Also seen was a large Canadian goose in the backyard. Wonder what it wanted? Rain, blessed rain, came and now those wild things may go back to the forest with our permission. Isn't gardening fun? As I was canning beets and beans in the 95 degree heat on Saturday, our friend called from Florida. We had higher temps than she and when she asked why I didn't wait 'til it was cooler to do this job, I informed her that you do these things when they are ready, not when you are. Guess teasing was not the order of that day.

Thursday, July 25: 4:30 is pickup time to journey to St. Mary's Social. The bus will continue with pickup at 6:30 to Freedom Township Hall for the Senior Citizens sponsored monthly card party which begins at 8:00 p.m. Call Erma for bus pickup for all trips at 428-8707.

Saturday, July 27: A trip is planned to Chelsea and their Farmer's Market. The senior bus will leave the Center at 9:30. Call Erma.

Wednesday, July 31: At 12:00 noon, seniors will enjoy a picnic at Carr Park (pot luck) with white elephant bingo prizes. The day is full of fun as seniors may travel to Cobblestone Farms for a production of "Goof For Nothing" by the Rosier Players. It begins at 7:30 with bus pickup starting at 5:00 p.m. Call Erma as she is the one with the book, and also call her to cancel if you cannot go along on trips (just in case there are others on standby).

Looking ahead to August 6: Another blueberrying trip is being planned. The bus will leave the Center at 8:00 a.m. Call Erma to go along. (I'm not looking forward to Augustas summer is winding down — where did it go?)

Not For Women Only

by Martha Stoner

Since my first introduction to the ideas of Rudolf Steiner about five years ago, I have been attempting to discover and unify my family's rhythm. Steiner stresses the importance of bringing children into harmony through careful attention to the daily, weekly, and even yearly routine.

In Steiner's view, the ideal situation for the young child is an orderly and purposeful daily pattern which is repeated in a fluid rather than rigid way. Upon awakening in the morning, for example, certain events naturally follow. There may be a quiet word from father or mother, a face washing or bath. Then follows the meal—ideally, a time when the family gathers to begin the day. Perhaps a prayer or verse will be spoken at the beginning of the meal. This peaceful beginning would, then, set the tone for the day that follows.

In reality, we often find ourselves behind the game from the minute we rise in the morning. The alarm clock is turned off in the midst of sleep. We awaken half an hour late. Then everything is rushed—the children's shoes cannot be found; everybody tenses as they hurry out the door to catch a bus or to keep a work schedule.

For those who remain at home, a series of frustrating chores may follow—cleaning up breakfast, getting the laundry started—while a toddler follows in the homekeeper's footsteps often undoing what has just been done. In such a frenzied day, where is the place for the toddler or older child's needs or for the adult's needs?

If, however, after a carefully-planned beginning to the day, the homekeeper starts the child in centered activity like coloring and, once the child is engaged, washes up the breakfast dishes, soon the young child will expect that he or she will be started in a quiet project and will be left to work on it while the adult works on his or her project. The key here is repetition of the same pattern to give the parent and the child time to learn it.

Steiner also spoke of the importance of balancing one's daily activities. He used the metaphor of breathing to explain how to achieve such balance. Certain activities are analogous to outbreaths—a child running, an adult chopping wood. Other activities are analogous to inbreaths—a child painting, an adult reading. If a person is constantly engaged in outbreath activities, after a time, all energy is expended. The need for breathing in, for replenishing energy becomes overwhelming.

By the same token, if a person spends too much time in quiet and inward pursuits, the body begins to yearn for activity, for balance.

It is best to observe the family's natural tendencies and to draw on these when trying to integrate the day. It is very difficult to impose a rigid schedule. Instead, pay attention to your child's behavior and to your own mood when determining how best to orchestrate the day.

When we remember that our hearts pump in a regular rhythm and that our planet revolves in a regular pattern, we see that we are

Sharon Fielder Attends 1991 HOBY Seminar

Sharon Fielder of Manchester High School recently attended the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation (HOBY) Leadership Seminar at Albion College.

Tenth grade ambassadors were chosen from eastern Michigan high schools based on their leadership potential.

President George Bush wrote in a letter to the ambassadors, "The young people who are taking part in this seminar are preparing to meet the challenges of the future by enhancing their knowledge of the world and by developing valuable communication and leadership skills."

"The purpose of this HOBY seminar is to teach you how to think, not what to think," said O'Brian.

The ambassadors spent four days learning about entrepreneurship, volunteerism, government, business, education, media and sports. Social events and discussion sessions were also held.

International Disabled Water Ski Competition — by Jon

This past week I was an enthusiastic spectator at the international disabled water ski competition on Joslin Lake in Bridgewater Township. Skiers from 12 countries competed in slalom, trick and ski jumping. Contestants were grouped in six categories: visually impaired, blind, arm amputees, leg amputees, paraplegics and quadriplegics.

After watching Greg Foster, a double amputee sail off the ramp 63 feet, or Gary Parke, a single amputee from Australia, fly 88 feet, the word "disabled" seems out of place. Physically challenged is more appropriate.

On the right is Royce Andes who invented the device that Steve Hornsby (USA) Team) uses for his ski jumping.

CARDS OF THANKS

We would sincerely like to thank all our family, friends and neighbors for their kindness and support. It was greatly appreciated.

We would like to give a special thank you to Rev. Nancy Doty, Rev. Roman Reineck and Martin Braun. The family of Vernie M. Watne

Infinite thanks to all who participated in this year's Dunk Tank at the fair. This includes those who subjected themselves to the cold water as well as physical and verbal abuse, to those who hosted, to those who worked behind the scenes, to the Men's Club who refurbished and provided the tank for us, and most of all to those who donated their dollars to get the dunkies wet. A thousand dollars has been raised in the past two years which goes toward the many recreational activities that benefit the entire community. Hope to see you at the tank again next year.

Sincerely, The Manchester Recreation Task Force.

As director of the Community Resource Center, I want to thank Haarer's Meeting Place for the gift certificate; Pyramid Office Supply, sponsor of the booth; Bill and Mark Schwab, builders of the display board; the McCormicks and Bruners for the posters and the CRC board; and Peggy McCormick and Barb DeLongchamp for attending the booth during the fair. It was successful because of your support.

Dianne Schwab

We would like to thank the following contributors who helped make our float a first place success: Advent Engineering, Corky D's, Gifts in Tyme, Haarer's Meeting Place, Manchester Antique Mall, Manchester Automotive, Pilot Industries-Metal Products Division, Rickett's Radio & TV, The 18th Century Shoppe and Tri-County Logging. We would like to thank the following families for their time and effort: the Gordons, the Greens, the LaRues, the Wahls and the Wallaces. We would also like to give a special thanks to Dan Young for pulling our float in the parade and Melinda Trout for her support. Finally, we would like to extend our deepest gratitude to the Haessler family who loaned us the use of their barn and home for an entire week—thanks for putting up with us!

Sincerely, The Class of 1994

SUCCESSFUL BLOODMOBILE:

Congratulations Manchester, you did it again! Another successful bloodmobile completed.

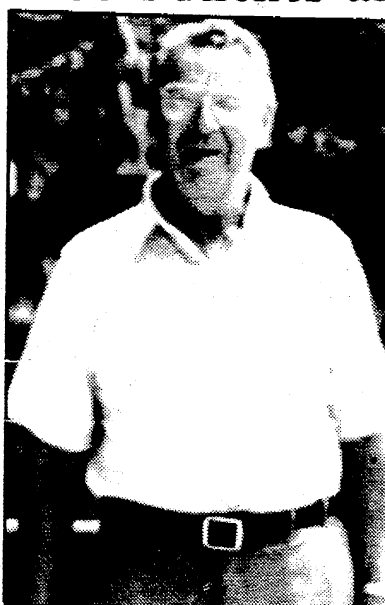

Monday, July 15, found a lot of volunteers under direction of chairman Marilyn LaRock, very busy at the American Legion Hall. Because of their joint efforts, things ran smoothly on a rather warm day.

This day marked the milestone for one of our regular donors, Mr. Robert PUNCHES, just five days shy of his 70th birthday, gave his 80th pint of blood. This means he has now donated 10 GALLONS of blood since he started to donate just after World War II. CONGRATULATIONS, Bob! May you continue to be able to donate a lot more.

With Bob as an example for others to follow, we had five people donating for their first time. They were Keith Manifold, Gregory donors were Ella Landini and Anne Goodell. Three gallon donors were Mary Smith, Linda Bigelow and Terry Woods. Four gallon donors were Richard Marsh and Thomas Wharam. Five gallon donors were James Rorabacher and Bessy Osborn. Congratulations to you all and thank you to all the rest who came and donated or tried to.

A total of 111 pints of blood were collected and two people were deferred.

Because of your generosity, a great many people will be helped. On behalf of them—THANK YOU!

The next Manchester Bloodmobile will be on Monday, October 14. Mark your calendar and we'll see you there.

Gazebo Gathering

A gathering at the Gazebo is being organized for Tuesday evening, August 6, to observe the anniversary of the nuclear bombing of Hiroshima, Japan in 1945 (an event that marked an end to the concept that civilian lives in modern warfare must be held sacred).

There will be appropriate music, children's games (emphasizing cooperation and sharing), opportunities for individuals to briefly share their thoughts and ideas, and refreshments.

This event is being planned as an opportunity for individuals and families to come together bringing their concerns and hopes that future international conflicts can be resolved without resort to military action.

Hillegons is serving his sixth term in the house and second as Republican leader. He could become Speaker of the House if enough seats change hands with the upcoming election and through reapportionment.

Sharon Twp. Approves Goals of their GDP

The Sharon Township Planning Commission voted unanimously to approve the goals, objectives and strategies of the Sharon General Development Plan July 25, however the introduction and other preliminary material were not included in the vote.

The Commission made several last minute changes in language relating to the controversial Planned Unit Development strategy which rendered the wording acceptable to the entire body.

Commission Chairman Bob Ward, a proponent of PUDs, said he thought there would be a future problem with the ratio of one dwelling to a ten acre minimum lot. "I believe if we had the PUD in place, it would provide a position of strength. There may be members in our community who may challenge it soon," Ward said.

Commission Secretary Sandra Thomson will write supporting data and a compilation of materials for analysis.

A subcommittee was created and charged with producing a planning map to present to the commission on August 8. The point was made that a planning map, like the General Development Plan, is a policy statement and not a law or ordinance.

But No Fire at The Enterprise

— Kathy Kueffner

Maxine Widmayer asked us if this issue of The Enterprise was going to be hotter off the press than usual.

If you heard the Village sirens going off about 8:00 Monday evening, or if you were uptown and saw our fire department pulling up in front of The Enterprise office, here's the scoop.

Vanessa, Lauren and I were working, putting the paper together, when we smelled smoke, but we couldn't identify the source. It seemed to be concentrated in the front office but we couldn't quite pinpoint it. So we investigated other areas, going outside the building and looking up at the second story windows to see if we could see smoke—and even going into the basement on a "You first."

"No, you go first," basis. (The basement of this early 20th century historical building is affectionately referred to as the catacombs.) As the odor increased we debated about calling the fire department, discussing how foolish we'd feel if it was an overheated copy machine (although we had turned it off and just about dismantled the machine eliminating that possibility), or something equally easily explainable. Then we thought about the other consequence: all our work with this week's issue going up in smoke! We thought Keith (barber shop next door) might want us to call, as would Kim (Ricket's TV) on the other side of our building, and Maxine (the laundromat), and...

So we called. Within seconds the fire department arrived. Their expert investigation found the source: a smoldering ballast (starter) on a fluorescent light fixture in the ceiling. Left, it could have, would have started a fire.

The 1991 Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show is Happening Now!

Subcommittee members will refer to a current land use map, a map provided by the South East Michigan Groundwater Education Program, soil surveys, and population figures and projections to draw up the planning map.

Particular areas of concern are the Mill Creek watershed and the Raisin River floodplains. "Sharon is the headlands of the upper watershed of Mill Creek," Thomson said. "If a significant portion of those wetlands were taken out, it could have possible flooding consequences."

In other business, the Commission discussed whether a site plan review was necessary for the Kleinschmidt property. Upon examination of the zoning ordinance, Commission members found that it was required. Township Supervisor John Savage and Commissioner Ward agreed that the ordinance, which has not always been strictly adhered to in the past, should be observed henceforth. The Board will discuss the question of a fee at the next meeting.
